Tenants gather to protest trailer park living conditions

By Jame Cahoy

Tenants gather to protest poor living conditions at the Regency Mobile Home Park in Iowa City. The trailer park, located on Old Capitol Center Drive, has had numerous problems with its water system, which was previously tested negative, the tenants association did not represent them adequately.

Tenants are frustrated with water quality and drainage issues. Greg Evans, a member of the tenants association, said the park is still being used even though the water system has not been properly maintained. He added that the management's response was slow.

The assistant city manager also visited the park and met with tenants to discuss the problems. However, he could not provide a definite solution.

ACCORDING TO Greg Evans, a member of the tenants association, the trailer park has had numerous problems since it opened. He said that there were water leaks and drainage issues that were not properly addressed.

Currently, the water system is being tested by the Iowa Department of Health. The water was previously tested as safe, but the tenants association did not believe the tests were reliable.

While the tests conducted by the city council have not yet returned results, the tenants association has already taken the initiative to fix the water system. The park manager decided to ignore the tenants' concerns and continue using the water system.

The tenants association plans to pay $1500 to test the water monthly, while the city council is being asked to spend $5000 to correct the problem.

In addition to these issues, the tenants association plans to ask the city council to stop the sewer in order to stop the never-ending drainage problem. The tenants' association is not satisfied with the city council's response and feels that they are not being heard.

The primary campus activities of the tenants association flesh out to prove their point. They plan to make Public Relations, Distributing pamphlets on the campus, and phone canvassing to identify Republican voters and get them registered.

The Iowa Student Government has been somewhat slow to develop. While Student Secretary for State organizations has been slow, the University Democratic Senator state board has been more effective in developing new programs. The membership of the student government is still small and not many Republicans involved in the management.
Survey wins jobs for Iowans

By Mary Brown

I am pretty sure that I could be the jobless person to be first hired in Iowa. I know that the jobs I want are out there, but the local government agencies and the Chamber of Commerce have not seen fit to call me about any of them.

The Iowa Department of Labor has published a report that shows that unemployment in Iowa is among the lowest in the nation. However, I am not aware of any job openings that are available to me, and I have not been contacted by any employer who is interested in hiring me.

The report also states that Iowa's unemployment rate has decreased by 0.2 percentage points since the previous report, which was in December. However, I am not sure how these numbers are calculated or how they are relevant to my personal situation.

I am actively looking for work and have applied for several jobs, but I have not had any success so far. I have also spoken to several friends and family members who are currently employed, but they are not willing to help me find a job.

I believe that the government needs to do more to help job seekers like me. They should be more proactive in connecting people with potential employers and providing resources to help with job searches.

I am committed to finding work and I will continue to look for opportunities, but I also believe that more needs to be done by the government to support job seekers like me.
Mississippi River towns brace for record floods

PAPANTONIO, IL (AP) — Floods along the Mississippi River were endangering homes, businesses and farmland in Illinois and Missouri in late April as the river continued to rise. The Illinois and Missouri River valleys were at risk for flooding. The previous record high crest was 193.9 feet at St. Louis, Missouri, in 1999.

The Mississippi River rises in Rock Island, Illinois. The river level was expected to peak at 15 feet in Rock Island on April 14.

Sailing Club grabs second regatta title

By Marc Bessa

The UC Sailing Club won its second title this year in as many weeks when it topped a field of eight teams in the Bellingham Invitational '86 at the Waterfront Club on October 3.

Steve Kline, a UC senior and Commodore of the club, said, "The win was a real team effort, but we can't attribute it to one person.

The club placed first in both the fall and spring regattas this year. Next year, Kline said, the club hopes to win a national championship.

The Bellingham Invitational included teams from five states. It was sponsored by the Sailing Club at the University of Washington and the Westcoast Sailing Club.

Campus parking is available for visitors, and registration is required.

Recreational Services provide active weekend for UI students

By Mike Tels

It's the week before the Hawkeyes' football home opener, and the Hawkeye Recreation and Services Center is buzzing with activity. The center, located in the basement of the Student Union Building, is open from 8 a.m. to midnight on weekdays and from noon to midnight on weekends. It offers a variety of fitness and recreational activities for students, faculty, and staff.

Intramurals

"We are open for the weekend. In fact, we're open for the entire week. The center is a great place to relax and enjoy some leisure time," said Tels.

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI)—As NCAA eligibility and rate requirements continue to be debated, sports club members feel they are being left out. They are being left behind, and they are not happy about it.

The problem is a lack of funds. The NCAA has been criticized for its handling of the funds, but has been defended by some. "I don't think it's a problem," said one member. "I think it's just a lack of funds."

The solutions are many, but the most common is increased funding. "We need more money," said another member. "We need to be able to function properly."

Vlasco earns top collegiate

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—The nation's top two quarterbacks based on ESPN's list of the top 100 players are both from Iowa.

The Hawkeyes have already been ranked No. 1 by ESPN this season. "We are excited to have these players on our team," said Vlasco. "We are confident that we will win the Big Ten this year."

The details of the game are hotly debated, but one thing is certain: the players will be on top of their game. "We are ready to play," said Vlasco. "We are ready to win."

The team's schedule includes games against Nebraska and Ohio State. "We are ready to face any challenge," said Vlasco. "We are ready to win."

The team's performance in these games will be closely watched. "We are ready to prove ourselves," said Vlasco. "We are ready to win."

The team's success is likely to determine the outcome of the season. "We are ready to win," said Vlasco. "We are ready to make history."
