DeSantisio sentenced to 25 years

By Anna Handren

Calling the summer shooting of Jon Slinger "an obvious crime," a judge sentenced Barton Joseph DeSantisio II to 25 years in prison.

Fired guilty in January for the murder of Council Bluffs, afflicted with no injuries when Johnson County District Court Judge William Dearden sentenced him to prison.

DeSantisio was charged in 1987, and his family members are among the 10 people who were killed in the shooting.

DeSantisio, who had previously been found guilty of murder, was sentenced by Judge Dearden for his role in the shooting.

"We're pleased with the sentence," DeSantisio's attorney said.

"The case is over," the judge added.

Iran panel ends memo speculations

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Tower Commission released its final report Thursday, concluding that President Reagan's administration was involved in the arms-for-hostages deal.

The commission found that Reagan, as well as his National Security Adviser, Robert McFarlane, and other top advisors, were aware of the deal from the beginning.

"We found that the president's supervisor, the National Security Adviser, was aware of the arms-for-hostages deal at the time of the hostage release," the report said.

"It was clear to us that the president was aware of the arms-for-hostages deal as early as 1980," the report added.

The commission also found that Reagan ordered the arms-for-hostages deal to be kept secret.

"The president did not make a determination to keep the arms-for-hostages deal secret," the report said.

President Reagan was not asked about his role in the arms-for-hostages deal, the report said.

"We found no evidence that the president was involved in the arms-for-hostages deal," the report concluded.

Lee Hart speaks to students on long-term policy solutions

By Carol Naglehan
Staff Writer

The wife of Democratic presidential hopeful Gary Hart lured many UI students by surprise when she spent an hour in Iowa City last Friday.

Lee Hart told an audience of more than 200 hungry hearers, mostly UI students, at Downtown Lahontan on Linn Street in downtown Iowa City that the former Colorado senator is on long-term policy solutions.

"We can't wait for the future to come to us," she said. "We must prepare for it." Hart went on to explain that if she runs for the nomination, "the focus will be on long-term policy solutions to address problems.

"In order to prepare for the future, we must prepare for the future," she continued. "Until we take care of the problem, dot your i's and cross your t's, no one is going to listen to you.恐怕 you need to talk about our future, not our past, we need to talk about the future so we can prepare for the future." Hart said.

Lee Hart, wife of presidential candidate Gary Hart, spoke questions from a small group of students Friday afternoon.

"We can't go back to the Vietnam-style draft, which was obviously a class draft," Hart said. "There has to be a mixture of things, for those conscientious objectors to war, both men and women."

Hart went on to explain that if she runs for the nomination, "the focus will be on long-term policy solutions to address problems." She said that if she runs for the nomination, "the focus will be on long-term policy solutions to address problems.

"I was very impressed with the way she handled herself," Edward Ross, UI junior, said. "I thought she did a hell of a lot better job of handling the situation than the woman who hopes to be the next first lady."

"We're very excited about it," Ross said, who added that he

To the Editor:
The foreboding of a presidential disaster which the American people have demonstrated in their March 11th editorial and their rightful demands on the President clearly show that the out-of-control "President of the USA" has been characterized by a false and dangerous rhetoric. His inability to get the hostages released made him look weak. That penchant for story telling and Hồ Chí Minh's vigorous stand against the war of his country revealed the President's weakness.

Reasoned argument

To the Editor:
In the CIA, the President, in a paper on his visit to Britain, questioned the ethics and intentions of the CIA's actions and its targets. Your statement that the CIA "is not an aberration" is only partly correct. The CIA has always been an aberration in the sense that it does not obey by general law and of course, doesn't have to. However, in another sense it was on the outer edge of America. In this sense, statements by the President, the Senate, and against South Africa are the same as the CIA. The public -- the American people -- is not weak. They should have raised unswerving support for the President. They should have raised their unswerving support for the President.

The real problem

To the Editor:
Regarding the CIA protesters and the Reaganadian deputy, it's not understandable that the Reaganadian deputy and his role were not "indulged" people. As in the case of the Iranian-Contra affair, the President is in a situation of great economic, political, and social justice toward the American people.

Ronald Reagan must prove himself once again

By George F. Will
With less than five months to the primaries, the president will, on Wed­nesday, respond to the findings of the Tower Commission. To which he should have responded first. The President has misunderstood at least two of his problems. The first is his "management style." The President's "management style" is what the Tower report shows to be the President's "management style." The President's "management style" is a flawed one. "It is not a management style," the Tower report says. "It is not a management style," the Tower report says. "It is not a management style," the Tower report says.

The second problem is the Reaganadian deputy, the "management style." The President is well aware of his "management style." He is well aware that the system of the Reaganadian deputy is a flawed one. The President's "management style" is a flawed one. "It is not a management style," the Tower report says. "It is not a management style," the Tower report says. "It is not a management style," the Tower report says.

Shultz's China trip will stress stability

WASHINGTON - Secretary of State George Shultz begins a nine-day trip to China today on what promises to be one of the most important missions of his 15-year relationship with the People's Republic of China. Shultz, who is accompanied by Undersecretary of State Elliott Abrams and three State Department officials, will seek to underscore US commitment to improving relations.

Shultz's visit comes at the end of a period of rapid change in China, where President Zhao Ziyang has promised to accelerate economic reforms and political liberalization. Shultz said the US wants to strengthen its ties with China to help ensure stability in Asia.

Shultz's visit is likely to be overshadowed by the March 28 elections in Taiwan, an issue that could complicate efforts to improve relations.

80 injured, 8 killed in skilift accident

LE ROLLE, Switzerland (UPI)-A skilift cable tower collapsed March 28, killing eight people and injuring 80 others. The accident occurred on the slopes of the Mont Blanc mountain near Grenoble in the French Alps.

President Ronald Reagan said the US would continue to support the People's Republic of China, and urged Beijing to maintain its progress toward greater openness.

Economic

Furthermore, officials do not expect the accident to be a federal government action. The US government does not support the People's Republic of China, and urges Beijing to continue its progress toward greater openness.

Japanese protest proposed sales tax

TORONTO (AP) - Japanese protesters blocked a proposed sales tax cutout at a massive downtown rally and called for the end of other anti-Japanese rallies and demonstrations organized around the country.

The rally is the latest in a series of anti-foreigner outbursts in Canada that have been stoked by a government move to impose a sales tax cutout scheduled to take place in March. The cutout is designed to raise revenue to help fund the construction of a new airport in Toronto.

The protest was organized by the National Anti-Racism Committee, a group that has been active in organizing rallies against what it sees as a rise in anti-Japanese sentiment in Canada.

IBM completes pullout from South Africa

The IBM managing director in South Africa, the International Business Machines Corporation, said Sunday he plans to withdraw from the country's apartheid government, effectively ending IBM's involvement in the country.

He said every IBM employee will be a co-owner of the new company and will own a share of the profits.

Clarke said IBM had negotiated to provide computers to South Africa for at least three years and parts for five years.

Protestors jamped Tokyo's Meiji Park, where they denounced Nakasone as a "false" leader.

The stations, four on the North and Northwest sides, two on the South Side, and two on the West Side, are the first to protest the planned pullout.

Teamsters upset with court order

The Teamsters Union has filed a petition to overturn a court order that would force the union to end its boycott of Nippon Steel.

The union succeeded in court in obtaining an injunction in a boycott that would ensure that Nippon Steel would not sign a collective bargaining agreement with the union.

The union is currently seeking a court order to end the boycott.

Farm poll gets mixed reactions

The proposals to levy a 5 percent sales tax on most goods and to impose a 10 percent sales tax on imported products have been met with mixed reactions.

The proposals are the result of a government decision to increase spending on social services and to reduce the budget deficit.

The proposals have sparked a nationwide debate, with some people arguing that they are necessary to ensure that the country can meet its social obligations, while others argue that they will burden ordinary people.

The proposals have also been met with criticism from some business groups, who argue that they could harm the economy.

Illini shake Indiana from Big Ten lead

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.. Ken Nunn scored 24 points as Illinois pulled away to victory over Indiana 63-49 Saturday in a game that was as much about strategy as scoring.

The Illini (18-6, 9-3 Big Ten) regained the top spot in the Big Ten, which had been held by Indiana for the past three seasons. The Hoosiers (15-9, 8-4) dropped to second place, marking the first time since 1988 that Illinois has led the conference.

IU’s five-game winning streak was ended as the Illini took control of the game early, building a 10-point lead by halftime. Illinois continued to dominate in the second half,扩大ing its lead to 19 points with less than five minutes left in the game.

Nunn, who finished with 24 points, 10 rebounds and six assists, said the game was won in the first half.

"It was a matter of getting the lead back early and keeping it after halftime," Nunn said.

Indiana had been riding a 23-game winning streak against Illinois but couldn’t keep up with the Illini’s offensive efficiency. Illinois shot 56 percent from the field and outrebounded Indiana 36-28.

The Illini have now won 11 of their last 12 conference games and are poised to make another deep run in the Big Ten tournament and the NCAA tournament.

The Hoosiers, on the other hand, are now 1-3 in conference play since losing to Illinois, which has put a dent in their hopes for a conference title.

Illinois basketball

THE NITTANY Lions were expected to cover the spread in the first three games of the season, but they found themselves on the wrong side of the line for the first time in program history.

Penn State played host to Illinois Saturday and managed to knock off the No. 3-ranked team in the country. The Nittany Lions (22-5, 10-3 Big Ten) pulled off the upset with a 63-49 win over the Hoosiers (20-6, 11-3 Big Ten).

Penn State’s triumph was all the more impressive considering they were playing their first game in overtime of the season.

Taking the lead after the first half, Penn State went on a 14-0 run to open the second half and never looked back. The Nittany Lions shot 53 percent from the field and outrebounded Indiana 38-28.

Penn State head coach Colette Williams said her team’s defense was the key to the victory.

"We had a great defensive effort," Williams said. "We did a great job of limiting Indiana to just six three-pointers and holding them to a season-low 63 points.

The upset win has placed Penn State in the Top 10 of the Associated Press poll for the first time since 1982. The Nittany Lions now have a 10-3 record in conference play and are in contention for a share of the Big Ten title with two games remaining.

Gymnastics Results

THE NITTANY Lions hosted the Colonial States Conference meet Saturday and came away with a decisive victory.

Penn State (198.60) outscored Virginia (196.875) and West Virginia (196.60) to win the meet 198.60-196.875-196.60. The Lions were led by Ali Krieger, who won the all-around with a score of 9.925.

The Lions’ victory was their third in a row and solidified their position as the conference’s dominant team. Penn State now leads the CAC standings by five points over Virginia and six points over West Virginia.

Next up for the Nittany Lions is a dual meet against Ohio State on Friday, followed by a trip to Notre Dame on Saturday. The Lions are looking to hold onto their conference lead heading into the postseason.

SMU's Hitch knew of illegal payments

DALLAS (AP) — Former Southern Methodist athletic director Jacks Hoover said Friday he knew a fund had been set up to pay players, the Dallas Morning News reported in its weekend edition.

The NCAA suspended SMU's football program for the last two seasons in 1987 and 1988, and this season as well, after the NCAA probation will allow the school to keep its most valuable game date and allow the Mustangs to recruiting 15 scholarship players before that season.

Blackhawks down hapless Los Angeles Kings.

CHICAGO (UPI) - Murray Baronian scored both of the Chicago Blackhawks' goals in a 9-7 victory over the Los Angeles Kings on Saturday night to help the Chicago Blackhawks to a 4-1 lead in the Western Conference.

Baronian, who has scored the second goal of the game in both of his previous games, opened the scoring in the second period. Baronian, who always seemed to have the knack of scoring in big games, almost scored his second goal of the game in the third period, but was stopped by Los Angeles Kings goalie Gary Nylund.

The Hawks, who have been struggling to get past the 0-0 mark, were able to get past the Los Angeles Kings in the third period, as they were able to keep the puck on the Kings' end of the ice for the entire period.

The Hawks' first goal of the game was scored by Murray Baronian, who put the Hawks ahead 1-0 in the second period. The Hawks took a 2-0 lead in the third period, as they were able to get past the Los Angeles Kings in the second half of the game.

So it is with George, Lennie, and a few characters that are, in the old classies illustrated comic book series. These Regionals and their junior high friends. We knew them, and we knew that their existence was limited.

But these characters are, in each of the old classies illustrated comic book series. These Regionals and their junior high friends. We knew them, and we knew that their existence was limited.

As every Hamlet is marked by its diffusion, every Of Mice and Men is marked by its reassuring presence. From high school productions to the annuals of the 1950s, Of Mice and Men remains a staple of curriculum. In the 1960s, it was even more popular. The 1969 movie adaptation, directed by Robert Altman, was a critical and commercial success. It was the first film to be released by the independent studio, American International Pictures (AIP), and it was a box office hit, grossing over $5 million in the United States.
