Moscow visit may facilitate summit

George Shultz

MOSCOW (UPI)—Secretary of State George Shultz left Moscow Wednesday saying an arms agreement on eliminating medium-range missiles in Europe may be "close at hand," but Moscow called the U.S. position an obstacle to an accord.

As Shultz, reporting "quite a lot of progress" toward an accord, left for Brussels to brief NATO allies on the arms talks, Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze predicted a superpower summit might be arranged in Washington before the end of the year.

Referring to eliminating medium-range missiles, or Euromissiles, Shultz told a news conference, "I think we made quite a lot of progress and perhaps we can see that the prospect is close at hand about reaching an agreement, with a lot of hard work and perseverance."

WITHIN HOURS of Shultz's departure, the official Tass and the Novosti news agency described the U.S. position as insufficient.

A stumbling block on medium-range missiles has been inclusion of short-range missiles in a pact. The United States has insisted an accord include short-range weapons.

In a surprise move, Gorbachev Tuesday suggested all U.S. and Soviet medium- and short-range missiles be eliminated from Europe. Shultz reserved public judgment Tuesday, although a Tass news agency account early Wednesday said he had rejected the proposal.

The news agency comments attacking Shultz's position were apparently aimed at Shultz's refusal to signal immediate support for Gorbachev's proposal for eliminating all medium- and short-range missiles.

"WHAT WAS voiced by George Shultz shows that apparently it (the United States) has not yet decided on its attitude to the Soviet proposals," Tass said. "In any case, the views expressed here by the U.S. Secretary of State do not represent a basis for an accord."

However, an agreement on the Euromissiles could clear the way for a signing ceremony during a Washington summit between Reagan and Gorbachev.

At a generally upbeat news conference held before he left, Shultz indicated that his "strong feelings" protesting Soviet espionage at the embassy and the bugging of the new embassy building had not moved the Kremlin.

"THERE WAS a strong discussion both ways," Shultz said, referring to charges of spying by both sides. "There is no agreement of any kind."

Shultz said the new building might require "major structural changes" because it was a "honeycomb of listening devices."

Original memos of Iran scam revealed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal investigators have found the original versions of four White House documents reportedly altered by Lt. Col. Oliver North that detail his secret program to raise money for the Nicaraguan Contras, sources said Wednesday.

Government sources said the congressional committees investigating the Iran-Contra scandal have obtained the memos, written by North and sent to his superior at the time, national security adviser Robert McFarlane.

The Los Angeles Times reported Wednesday the original memos were later changed in "subtle" ways in an apparent effort to conceal the secret operation shortly before it was revealed last November.

North, who was fired by President Ronald Reagan on Nov. 25, is a key figure in the secret sale of U.S. arms to Iran and the diversion of profits to the Contras.

HE HAS REFUSED to testify about the scandal, but congressional committees and the special prosecutor investigating the affair believe they may be able to piece together his story without granting him immunity from prosecution.

The congressional committees reached an agreement to grant North immunity at the end of June, but whether they actually take that step depends on other evidence gathered in the probe.

The committees are expected to grant immunity to another of North's bosses, Rear Adm. John Poindexter, who succeeded McFarlane, and interview him privately about the scandal.

The altered documents are part of a larger probe into allegations that North and his secretary, Fawn Hall, changed, removed and destroyed stacks of National Security Council documents before Reagan dismissed North, the Times said.

THE NEWSPAPER said the altered papers were dated March, April and May 1985, before the United States began selling arms to Iran and before the diversion of the profits from the sale were allegedly funneled to the Nicaraguan rebels.

The newspaper quoted several sources who have seen the original documents as saying they included accounts of "sources of money and uses of money" to North's program to resupply the Contras.

A source told the newspaper that the memos say who was financing North's Contra aid program in the spring of 1985 as well as how North was directing spending of the donations for weapons and other military goods.

Senate OKs new regents

By Shawn Plank
Staff Writer

The confirmation of three new state Board of Regents members by the Iowa Senate may influence the board to pick a new UI president more concerned with the state's economic development plans than with liberal arts, two senators said Wednesday.

Des Moines businessmen Marvin Pomerantz and John Fitzgibbon were confirmed Tuesday by the Senate to fill two of the three spots on the board being vacated by retiring members. Pomerantz was confirmed by 40-8 and Fitzgibbon was approved 42-5. Mary Williams, Davenport, was unanimously confirmed earlier this month.

Sen. Beverly Hannon,

D-Anamosa, who voted against both men, said Branstad appointed them because they will help the state use the three regents universities as tools for economic development.

"WHEN YOU HAVE a governor who seems to be making appointments based on what they will do for economic development of Iowa, it's a great appointment to the economic development commission," she said. "I'm not sure they were the proper choice for the Board of Regents."

Pomerantz is chairman and chief executive officer of Mid-America Group, which is involved in real estate, development, investments and transportation. Fitzgibbon is chief executive officer of First Group Companies, which deals with real estate, finance, construction and insurance.

Sen. Rich Varn, D-Solon, who also voted against the two candidates, said with the new appointments it's more likely the regents will choose a new UI president with an economic development background. UI President James O. Freedman announced Monday he is leaving the UI to become president at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H.

"ECONOMIC development is good, but it cannot be a primary goal" for a university, Varn said.

Hannon said the main reason she voted against the two men was because the appointments violated the gender balance rules passed by the legislature requiring that an equal number of men and women serve on state boards and commissions.

When the new regents begin their terms May 1, seven men and two women will sit on the board. Currently, six men and three women are regents.

Despite Branstad's claim of appointing women to 52 percent of vacant positions, Hannon said the majority of the appointments are on lesser boards and commissions, without any budgeting power.

"He may have 52 percent, but those commissions that have the least control are the ones dominated by women," she said. "The powerful commissions are really lopsided by men appointed to them."

Search begins for successor to Freedman

UI President James O. Freedman said Wednesday returning to his native New Hampshire to become president of an Ivy League college was a "once in a lifetime opportunity" he couldn't pass up.

Freedman made his comments during his first public appearance in Iowa City since announcing Monday he will leave the UI for the presidency at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H. He spoke before a group of about 20 reporters in Old Capitol.

The Dartmouth appointment is effective in July, but Freedman, 51, said he was not sure when he would be leaving the UI.

State Board of Regents President John McDonald said the board will likely appoint UI Vice President for Academic Affairs Richard Remington as interim president. McDonald, who retires from the board May 1, said he's spoken to seven of the eight other regents and all have agreed Remington is an "appropriate appointment."

THE REGENTS WILL meet at the UI next week to name an interim president during their monthly meeting.

If Remington's appointment is approved, he will serve until the new president is selected, a process McDonald said he hopes is completed by this fall. The search process for a new president will begin next week, he added.

McDonald said the committee may sift through more than 100 resumes looking for the right candidate for president.

"There are a substantial number of people who would be qualified, people who would be attracted to a premier university such as the University of Iowa," he said.

The regents will select a search firm to aid them in choosing a new president, McDonald added. A number of firms around the country specialize in searching for highly qualified executive officers, he said. The regents may choose a search firm as early as next week.

SEARCHES FOR the two other departing UI administrators — UI Vice President for Finance and University Services Dorsey Ellis and UI Vice President for Educational Development and Research Duane Spriestersbach — will continue at their normal pace, McDonald said.

"The university will be in good hands all the way," he said.

Freedman said the process for selecting the new vice president for finance is more than half finished and should be finished before he leaves for New Hampshire.

FREEDMAN WHO earns $112,500 annually as UI president, would not disclose how much he will earn at the private New England college. Asked what his salary at Dartmouth would be, Freedman said, "One of the things I'm doing is moving to the private sector. Only the IRS and my wife are going to know that."

Freedman said he will miss Iowa City and the friends he and his wife, Bathsbeba, made while they were here. But he said he plans to visit the campus after he assumes the Dartmouth job.

"We were treated royally, cordially, with as much respect as one could hope for," he said.

Bathsbeba Freedman will join the Dartmouth Psychology Department as a senior lecturer. At the UI she served as an instructor in the College of Nursing.

UI correspondence course wins award

"Autobiography and American Culture," a guided Correspondence Study course offered by the UI, has been awarded the 1987 Distinguished Independent Study Course Award of the National University Continuing Education Association.

The course study guide was written by Cynthia M. Larson, a doctorate candidate in the UI American Studies program, whose dissertation is a study of autobiography as a cultural document. Larson currently teaches at the State University of New York in Oswego.

Ilene Alexander, a teaching assistant in the UI rhetoric program, is the instructor of the course.

Students in the course are given an opportunity to gain a greater understanding of American culture through studying seven American autobiographical writings. Added to the traditional notion of autobiography as the account of an individual life are contemporary views of autobiography as a mingling of fact, history and fiction.

In addition to "Autobiography and American Culture," Guided Correspondence Study offers more than 160 courses from 40 UI academic departments. Since 1980, five of these courses have received the independent study award.

Democratic party announces scholarship

The Iowa Democratic Party is now accepting applications for its seventh annual John Culver Scholarship to be presented this year in the form of two awards, according to the Iowa Democratic chairwoman.

Bonnie Campbell said the party will make available two awards in 1987 — one for $1,000 and the other for $250. The awards are to be used by students to help further their higher education.

Applicants must be residents of Iowa and attend or plan to attend a public or private institution of higher education during the 1987-88 school year. Preference will be given to applicants who have demonstrated an interest in becoming involved in Democratic politics and those who demonstrate a financial need.

To be considered for the award applicants must be nominated by either their county Democratic chairperson or a member of the Iowa Democratic State Central Committee. In addition, applicants must submit a 500-word essay, a teacher recommendation and a financial need statement.

Deadline for receiving applications is June 15. The winners will be announced in early July.

For more information on the scholarship program, call the Iowa Democratic Party at (515) 244-7292.

Parks offering cheap land for gardeners

Garden plots in two Iowa City parks are available for personal use and are already being rented to interested vegetable growers, Iowa City Park and Recreation Department officials said Wednesday.

The plots, located in Wetherby Park on Taylor Drive and Napoleon Park on Sand Road, are 50 feet long and 10 feet wide. They have already been tilled and water is available at both parks. The rental fee is $8.

Registration for a garden plot can be made at the Robert A. Lee Community Recreation Center, 220 S. Gilbert St., Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For further information call 356-5110.

Women's business group to meet April 27

An organizational meeting for an Iowa City charter of Business and Professional Women will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, April 27 in Iowa City Public Library Meeting Room A.

According to Lois Rude, president of the Cedar Rapids BPW, the organization was founded with a commitment to giving women their full and rightful share in the workplace. Rude says each local BPW is unique because each is developed to fit the different needs of its members.

The groups, said Rude, are action oriented to meet challenges, educate and support one another. They aim to develop programs and activities that respond to the challenges facing working women.

Representatives from several BPW locations will be at the meeting to share information and answer any questions.

Guest lecturer slated for speech tonight

John Searle, a University of California-Berkeley professor of philosophy, will deliver the 21st annual E.W. Hall Philosophy Lecture at 8 tonight in Phillips Hall Room 100.

Searle, who has written several books, will discuss "Minds, Brains and Computers."

There is no admission fee for the lecture. Searle will also speak at 4 p.m. Friday, April 17 in EPB Room 304.

Faculty tables foreign language issue

By AnJanette Brush
Staff Writer

A vote on the proposed two-year foreign language graduation requirement for all liberal arts degrees was tabled for further discussion by the UI Faculty Assembly Wednesday.

Several assembly members expressed concern that increasing the foreign language requirements would impose further difficulties on students trying to graduate in eight semesters. Others said many students don't need more than the currently required one year of foreign language for their major.

"Liberal arts students should have some foreign language, but they also have a certain range of work to cover for their field," UI Physics Professor Richard Carlson said. "It is no longer necessary for a professionally or technically oriented person to know a foreign language."

UI English Professor Don Marshall, secretary of the UI Educational Policy Committee that presented the proposal, said these practical obstacles must be overcome to enhance the overall quality of education at the UI.

"THE JUSTIFICATION of the policy is not that it aids professional achievements in any certain area," Marshall said. "It does not serve any particular major or profession, but rather is an integral part of what it is to be a liberally educated person."

The assembly plans to continue discussion and vote on the proposal at its May 6 meeting.

In other business, the assembly approved an Educational Policy Committee proposal to create a Certificate in International Business, which would be available to students in both the College of Liberal Arts and the College of Business Administration.

The joint certification will require the cooperation of both the Liberal Arts and the Business colleges, and would meet the graduation requirements of both, UI Biology Professor Gary Gussin said.

THE CERTIFICATE will emphasize the study of international business while encouraging study abroad, Marshall, who presented the proposal, said.

The Educational Policy Committee also presented a proposal for implementation of a bachelor of fine arts degree in dance. Although some assembly members voiced concern about the high number of required semester hours involved in the program, the measure was approved.

The degree will emphasize performance, with extensive work in studio-related courses to gain the specialized technical skills needed for performance, the proposal stated.

A fire caused extensive damage to an auto maintenance garage in rural Coralville Wednesday afternoon.

The Coralville Fire Department responded to a report of a fire at the junction of U.S. Highway 6 and Highway 965 at about 11:43 a.m. Firefighters arrived at Greer Auto Garage minutes later to find the building engulfed in flames.

There were no injuries reported after Coralville firefighters battled the blaze for about 45 minutes before getting it under control. The fire was extinguished by late afternoon.

No damage estimate was available. The cause of the fire was still under investigation late Wednesday by the Coralville Fire Department.

Fire departments from Iowa City, Tiffin and North Liberty helped shuttle water to the blaze.

Arrest Report: An Iowa City man was arrested on a charge of interference with official acts Tuesday after leaving a local tavern intoxicated, according to Iowa City police reports.

Ronal A. Rarey, 35, of Holiday Trailer Court, Lot 143, was also charged for public intoxication when stopped by police officers near the intersection of Clinton and Harrison streets about 6 p.m.

Accident Report: About $4,000 damage was reported following a two-car collision Tuesday on the U.S. Highway 6 bypass in Iowa City.

Mary K. Baetsie, Marengo, Iowa, was charged with failure to maintain a clear distance after her car ran into the rear of a car driven by Mary C. O'Malley, 1104 Holtz Ave., according to Iowa City police reports.

Both vehicles were traveling westbound on U.S. Highway 6 near Boyrum Street when the accident happened.

Baetsie's car sustained $2,000 damage while O'Malley's car sustained $2,800 damage.

An Iowa City man who was arrested on a charge of sexually abusing a 7-year-old boy made his initial appearance Wednesday in Johnson County District Court.

Brian Keith Anderson, 34, of 209 Teeters Court, was charged with second-degree sexual abuse. Court records state Anderson performed oral sex on the boy last Friday at Anderson's residence.

Anderson was being held Wednesday at the Johnson County Jail in lieu of a $25,000 bond.

Anderson's preliminary hearing is scheduled for April 24.

An Iowa City man who was arrested on a charge of eluding a law enforcement vehicle made his initial appearance

Wednesday in Johnson County District Court.

William James Ruth, 26, of 2502 Bartlett Road Apt. 1A, was charged after he allegedly drove more than 90 mph to elude an officer Tuesday on Highway 1 and a connecting gravel road.

Court records state an officer observed Ruth on the highway driving 89 mph and pursued Ruth when he turned west onto the road. Ruth failed to stop for five stop signs and was exceeding 90 mph during the pursuit, court records state.

Court records state Ruth was stopped when his car slid into mud at a "T-intersection" and the police officer blocked the back of his car.

Ruth was released on his own recognizance. His preliminary hearing is scheduled for April 29.

Plan separating student fees may solve funding problems

By John Bartenhagen
Staff Writer

A proposal to separate mandatory student fees from tuition would ease the burden of allocating funds for student organizations, UI Collegiate Associations Council President Mike Reck said Wednesday.

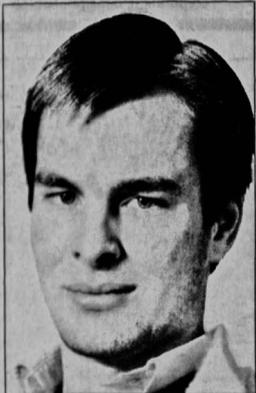

The Budgeting and Auditing Committees of the CAC and the UI Student Senate are having difficulty funding student groups because the amount of money they were given by the UI administration to appropriate was not increased over last year's amount, Reck said.

Although tuition will be raised an average of about 16 percent for the 1987-88 school year, he said, funding from mandatory student fees will not increase. Reck said "it is only fair" that the fees increase proportionately with tuition, but added the administration "doesn't want to see it that way."

"IF WE CONTINUE to try to fund all student groups with the same amount of mandatory student fees, we will not make it," he said. "We are going to have to decide which groups are least in need of funding and cut funding from them."

CAC councilor Alan Tribble, a member of the BAC has made a proposal he says will help eliminate the problem if it is passed by the state Board of Regents, adding the present method of setting student fees is "unfair."

"Right now the regents have increased tuition by 12 and 20 percent and the administration says they need all of the extra money to cover faculty salaries and financial aid," Tribble said. "My proposal is to make tuition separate from student fees. Tuition would be set by the regents and student government would work with the administration. That way, if the university needs more money for salaries, they could take it directly from tuition without touching student groups' money."

"Student groups and activities are a very valuable part of an education. That's why they're called co-curricular and not extra-curricular activities," says CAC President Mike Reck.

IT HAS BEEN a trend over the past 10 years for the regents to increase tuition more than student fees, Tribble said. He added this inequity has diverted more than $750,000 from student groups and into the UI general operating fund.

"The proposal will state that we want fees to be considered separately from tuition," Reck said. "First, because we feel fees should be set and allocated on their own merit and secondly because we don't ever see that (student fees) money."

UI Assistant to the Vice President for Finance and University Services June Davis said the UI is sympathetic to the student governments' financial difficulties, but can do nothing under present economic conditions.

"I'm sorry they're having to cut some programs, but it's not unlike what other departments on campus are going through," she said, adding both academic and non-academic units are experiencing budget cutbacks.

RECK SAID he has no quarrel with making faculty salaries and financial aid a priority but said the administration should not ignore other aspects of education.

"Student fees are the best buy the university can make," he said. "Student groups and activities are a very valuable part of an education. That's why they're called co-curricular and not extra-curricular activities."

UI Student Senate President Joe Hansen agreed with Reck, saying student organizations are part of a total educational experience.

"To limit education to the classroom is to take a very narrow view of the concept of excellence in education," he said.

Davis said the UI is not ignoring co-curricular interests, but has been forced to make many difficult decisions in an attempt to maintain overall academic excellence.

"THE UI HAS always been very supportive of co-curricular activities when the money has been available," Davis said. "But the way times are now, we have to live within our means."

Reck said he doesn't believe the UI administration understands or believes there is a lack of funding for student groups.

"They must think we pad the budgets, but we don't," he said. "We really have to budget down to the last staple."

Reck said Tribble's proposal will be presented to the regents in May and would not affect funding for the upcoming school year, but added he is not optimistic about the proposal's future.

Behind the times

U.S. lawmakers are not keeping up with our rapidly changing society. They cannot operate effectively until they do so.

The surrogate motherhood case involving Baby M is an example of how legislation lags behind technology. The technology making surrogate motherhood possible is a relatively recent development and our governing bodies have not kept pace with these medical advances. While the courts debate, Baby M is forced to live unsure of who her mother really is.

Until the appeal is settled, both surrogate mother Mary Beth Whitehead and adoptive mother Elizabeth Stern believe themselves to be the baby's parent. Both women have visiting rights. One woman calls the child Melissa and the other calls her Sara.

Growing up isn't easy even when you do know your name and who your mother is. Try to imagine how confusing life would be without that knowledge.

The fact that these women and Baby M are facing this dilemma is no surprise since it was almost inevitable that such a situation would eventually arise. Lawmakers should have been armed with ground rules ahead of time to protect whatever innocent baby happened to be the first victim.

Lagging legislation is leaving the door open for another kind of victim as well. The health threat posed by AIDS and AIDS Related Complex (ARC) has not been dealt with in legislation. Health officials in the United States have found cases of people knowingly spreading the acquired immune deficiency virus without informing their partners.

In one such case, a Los Angeles man reported that he had sexual contacts with about 100 people per month without informing them that he was an ARC carrier. He felt that losing his life was bad enough, and he shouldn't have to give up sex. Some of his sexual partners will die, yet there is no law which holds this man accountable for their deaths.

America and its problems are changing as rapidly as ever. In order for the government to do its job properly, lawmakers must learn to keep pace with these changes. Until they begin to do so, people will continue to be unnecessary victims of these growing social problems.

Moral obligation

Although it took nearly two years, the University of Michigan Board of Regents has finally granted an honorary degree in absentia to imprisoned South African dissident Nelson Mandela. The regents had previously refused to extend the degree to Mandela because of his inability to attend the commencement ceremony and because the university has traditionally avoided taking sides on political issues.

While student activists at the university were clearly pleased with the decision and consider it a victory against racism, the university denies that their decision to go against the regents' policy was prompted by student protest.

If indeed the decision to break policy and honor Mandela was not influenced by the actions of students, several other explanations should be considered. First, perhaps the board of regents, after a year and a half of contemplation, finally realized the award should be extended to all those deserving of such an honor and not just those able to attend the ceremony. Or second, the regents may have decided that they would not be taking political sides since apartheid is a human rights issue affecting everyone, not just those involved in the political debate about South Africa.

The regents' reluctance to become involved in such matters is not only typical of the American public in general, but is also one of the main factors retarding the attainment of basic human rights in South Africa. Defining practices of human oppression as "merely political" lessens the gravity of the injustice in South Africa and displays our country's unwillingness to advocate truly important issues such as universal rights.

Whether or not the opposition voiced by campus activists influenced or expedited the decision of the Michigan regents in extending this award to Mandela is simply not the point. The point is that we still live among nations which directly promote, as well as indirectly condone, the continued denial of the most basic human rights. In these situations, it is not only a university's prerogative, but its duty to support those struggling to attain their inalienable rights.

Problems linger for Systems workers

ON TUESDAY, the employees of Systems Unlimited Inc. voted down a union bid by the Teamsters. This vote came after several months of propaganda on both sides — from Systems management and the Teamsters.

I have worked for Systems Unlimited for 5½ years; I saw more reaction and heard more from the management in the short month or so before this union vote than I have seen or heard in the previous five years. I also heard complaints that have surfaced again and again over the past five years articulated once more — but this time through the voice of the Teamsters.

Although the Teamsters were voted down, the issues that emerged so clearly during election remain. Some of the complaints staff brought against management were low pay, poor hours, little recognition and compensation — all of which result in a high staff turnover rate and inferior care for clients.

SYSTEMS IS A COMPLEX organization. It consists of about 40 group homes/apartments for physically and/or mentally retarded children and adults. Most of the houses have live-in counselors or "house parents" who hire direct care workers to help in the daily needs of the clients. Systems serves approximately 200 clients; it employs 327 people — out of that number, 280 non-management-level workers were eligible to vote in Tuesday's election.

Turnover is incredibly high at Systems. In the years that I have been employed with the agency, I have worked with three sets of house parents and literally hundreds of direct care workers. Some people came and went so quickly I had hardly learned their names before they moved on.

This high turnover is not all due to mismanagement. In part, it comes from the fact that students, who make up the large majority of Systems' workforce, come and go. Many are students in some medical, health or educational field who work at Systems for a half year or so simply to get experience.

DIRECT CARE WORK itself also causes high turnover; "burn out" is a common occurrence in Systems homes. Many people find they do not enjoy, or are not able to handle working with physically and/or emotionally disabled people on a long-term basis.

Yet, even though these reasons play a large part in staff turnover, other factors are involved. Workers face an unorganized pay schedule. Some staff receive raises upon recommendation; others are refused on vague grounds of raise freezes, wage ceilings, etc. — all unfounded. Other staff will simply never hear what has become of their raise recommendations — they are lost somewhere, somehow. There is a definite lack of communication between the office management and the Systems homes — a lack of communication that feeds rumors and breeds misinformation.

LIKELIKE, SYSTEMS HAS initiated a new training program for new employees — a program that is complicated, has unclear requirements and vague time limitations. Instead of informing workers, it ultimately seems to confuse them.

Direct care workers also receive little recognition for a job well done. Systems has initiated an annual award, The Amy Jennings Award, honoring outstanding direct care workers, but this award receives very little internal recognition.

The Teamsters were voted down — mainly, I think, not because the majority of the staff were anti-union, but instead because they were anti-Teamsters. The Teamsters backed President Ronald Reagan in the past election; Reagan, in turn, has cut back on social services. It would have seemed ironic for Systems workers to back the Teamsters. But regardless of the election, the fact remains that Systems staff — specifically the direct care workers — need more recognition, more pay and clearer guidelines to follow.

The management of Systems should take this vote as a sign of good faith — that workers were willing to trust the current administration to remedy these problems. Hopefully, Systems management will not see this vote as a sign that all is well, but instead as a warning to improve conditions before a second union vote occurs.

UI needs improved childcare facilities

By Diane Anderson

FACT: Most women work outside the home. Fact: Women still bear most of the responsibility of parenting in the majority of families.

Recognition of and support for women with primary childcare responsibilities would be one way of attracting highly qualified young women to the UI as faculty who might otherwise choose to go elsewhere because of lower salaries; qualified women faculty and staff might be more inclined to stay if their childcare needs are recognized and supported in direct and positive ways.

High caliber graduate students are necessary for continued high quality programs at the UI; most graduate students are of childbearing age, and the availability of quality, affordable child care might be a relatively attractive "carrot" to offer these students in the face of drastically decreased federal aid to students.

AT THE UI, some resources to aid parents in arranging child care are already available. However, these resources are struggling to survive. The UI gives space to the 4Cs Child Care Resource Center which, in return, waves the usual five-dollar fee for university faculty, staff and students. However, 4Cs is rapidly going out of business because the majority of their users are from the UI.

If the UI would, in addition to offering free space, subsidize 4Cs or allow it to continue charging a fee as they do for non-university users, 4Cs could continue to offer their valuable services. Even better would be the expansion of this service to develop a training program for community childcare providers who could then be referred to parents with a recommendation as to quality of care.

At present, the UI Student Senate leases facilities to five daycare centers and, on a year-to-year basis, provides some subsidy to these centers. Because the senate membership and its support change from year to year, and because many centers cater to financially strapped students, the centers suffer from financial instability and struggle along with professional staff being paid less than animal caretakers at the UI (a sad commentary on the value our society places on caring for children). If the UI were to establish the Daycare Commission as a separate department (similar to the Women's Resource and Action Center) under Student Services, stability and continuation of these centers would be assured.

NONE OF THE ABOVE is without precedent or basis in fact. The Parenting Committee from the UI Council on the Status of Women has conducted two major research projects: the first a national survey of 100 colleges and universities to discover both the typical and the innovative policies and programs that are in operation to serve the needs of parent employees and students, and the second an internal assessment of needs of UI employees.

A study conducted by the Iowa Merit

Employment Department resulted in recommendations and priorities very similar to our own. Our report with recommendations was submitted to the UI administration in March 1986. To date, there has been no direct response.

In the amount of space given here, I can only touch the tip of the iceberg with regard to the problems and possible solutions involved with being a parent and working or being a student at the UI. Ultimately, if women are to have equal access to education and to the workplace and equal chances for career advancement, their heavy responsibility as parents must be addressed.

MEN MUST BE ALLOWED to take equal responsibility by direct policies such as: 1) paternity/maternity leave for men and women, 2) flexible working hours for men and women to allow for school schedules, parents-teacher conferences and other parenting responsibilities and 3) more emergency leave for the purpose of caring for sick children.

Support of childcare referral and training services and of licensed daycare centers would allow working and student parents to have access to better and more affordable child care, thus making it easier for them to continue their careers and education while fulfilling their parenting responsibilities.

Women should not be penalized for bearing and rearing children. Both men and women should be able to carry equal responsibility in parenting and in the pursuit of an education or a career.

Health risk from fire seen as low

By James Cahoy
Staff Writer

State and county environmental officials say the Mid America Pipe Line Co. fire, which has been burning since April 4, poses no danger.

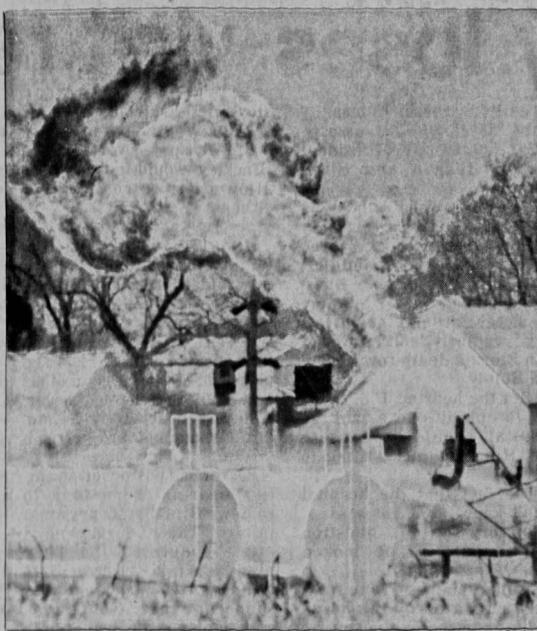

"I would expect that it would have a very minimal impact on the environment," James Patton, an environmental scientist with the Iowa Department of Natural Resources, said Wednesday. "Propane tends to burn very cleanly, and the location of the plant means there is plenty of room for dispersal of the gas," Patton said. "The nearest farm is still too far away from the plant for the fire to have any impact."

Patton said he also doubted the fire would do any damage to the surrounding farmland or to the health of Iowa City residents.

"The type of pollutant that is being released into the atmosphere isn't going to do any damage to farmland even for farmers beginning spring planting," Patton said.

JOHNSON COUNTY Health Director Graham Dameron also said he was not aware of any health dangers posed by the fire.

"If it was a strong pollutant, I

The Daily Iowan/Doug Smith

Because propane puts out few pollutants as it burns, state and county officials say the Mid America Pipe Line Co. fire is not a health hazard.

think we might be in trouble," Dameron said. "I don't see the fire as a health risk."

But Dameron said there might have been a health danger if the fire had spread to the surrounding tanks containing fertilizer and other pollutants.

"There was a potential health risk in the fire," Dameron said. "If we are talking fertilizer or something like that, then yes, there would have been some dangers."

Dameron said that the Johnson County Mutual Aid Association, the group currently monitoring the fire, is making an effort to deal with problems that might be posed by a future fire.

Officials said the blaze is expected to die out this weekend.

City remains 'ideal spot' for business forms firm

By Ellen Meadows
Special to The Daily Iowan

One of the first large industrial employers to come to Iowa City was Moore Business Forms Inc., manufacturer of custom-printed record-keeping forms.

A Moore executive committee chose Iowa City as "an ideal spot" for the plant in 1947 because the city offered "a central location near major Midwestern cities, an excellent labor market and proximity to railroad transportation," according to a company centennial celebration pamphlet.

As the nation's largest and oldest business forms company, Moore employs approximately 35,000 people at 60 plants worldwide, including 38 plants in the United States. Moore is twice the size of its biggest competitor, according to Lee Todd, a Moore account representative.

The Iowa City plant, at 1960 S. Riverside Drive, employs 250 workers, plant manager Richard DeBrie said.

MOORE IS SUCCESSFUL BECAUSE it is the only company manufacturing carbonless paper and using ink-jet technology, which makes an image of information onto a form using a spray-ink technique, Todd said.

"Moore is also a paper-based communication with almost complete data-based systems for processing and the analysis of the mailing process," he said.

The 105-year-old company also has subsidiaries in Japan, Saudi Arabia, the United Kingdom, Argentina, Puerto Rico, Mexico, France and Germany, Todd added. Moore is also negotiating a sale in South Africa.

This is the last in a series examining major employers in the Iowa City area.

IOWA STATE BANK, Oral-B, the Highlander Inn and Economy Advertising also use Moore forms, he said.

"Data processing forms make up 60 percent to 70 percent of business," Todd said.

The Moore products manufactured in Iowa City are shipped to the major cities and towns in the Midwest including Chicago, Des Moines, St. Louis and Minneapolis, DeBrie said.

Moore also offers security features such as color copiers and specialized ink for use with negotiable bonds and securities to prevent duplication and falsification, Todd said.

Moore also prints income tax checks, pension checks and Veterans Administration checks for the government, Todd said.

In conjunction with the Nelson Adult Center, Moore provides work for the handicapped, DeBrie said. The company offers handicapped workers jobs folding forms, opening forms, adding parts to forms such as labels and envelopes and sorting mixed parts such as nuts and bolts.

Thatcher aides receive letter bombs

LONDON — Three close aides of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher received high-powered letter bombs from the Irish Republican Army Wednesday, but police safely defused the devices, authorities said.

The devices that carried Northern Ireland postmarks aroused suspicion when they arrived at the homes of press secretary Bernard Ingham and Cabinet Office Deputy Secretary Brian Unwin. The police bomb squad was called in on each case, officers said.

Later, police disclosed a third letter bomb had arrived at the home in north London of a third high-ranking official and was safely defused. Police declined to identify that official.

Army seizes 1,780 pounds of cocaine

GUADALAJARA, Mexico — The army seized 1,780 pounds of cocaine after a shoot-out at a clandestine airstrip that left four alleged drug traffickers dead, military officials said.

Army officials said the shoot-out occurred Monday night in Tuxpan, 150 miles southeast of Guadalajara, the capital of Jalisco state.

The officials said soldiers from the 5th Military Zone surrounded the light aircraft as it landed on a secret airstrip and commanded the occupants to surrender. As they got off the plane, the alleged drug traffickers began shooting at the soldiers, who returned fire. The soldiers killed four and arrested three others in the group who surrendered, officials said.

The soldiers, operating on a tip, captured 1,780 pounds of pure cocaine with an estimated value of $40 million, the officials said.

Officials report on Three Mile Island

WASHINGTON — About 35 percent of the reactor core melted during the Three Mile Island nuclear accident in 1979 and some molten material flowed down to the bottom of the reactor, Energy Department officials said Wednesday.

The molten flow represents the beginning of one of the worst-case scenarios of a nuclear accident, a "melt-down." In a meltdown, molten material eats through the bottom of the reactor vessel, falls onto the floor of the concrete building housing the reactor and, ultimately, burns through to the environment, releasing huge amounts of radiation.

However, in a briefing on the Energy Department's research program on the Three Mile Island accident, officials said the accident at the central Pennsylvania nuclear plant showed that even a relatively small amount of cooling water can stop the meltdown process.

Woman sentenced in infant's abduction

PHILADELPHIA — Ramona Joan Thompson, sobbing and begging for forgiveness, was sentenced to 18 years in prison Wednesday for kidnapping a baby from a hospital maternity ward last November because she could no longer bear children.

Thompson, 45, who pleaded guilty to kidnapping Feb. 23, cried bitterly and begged the baby's parents for forgiveness in a tearful, rambling statement before the sentence was handed down.

Day-old Phillip Worthington was snatched from his mother's arms Nov. 7 at the Grand View Hospital in Sellersville, Pa. Thompson was arrested Nov. 13 outside a liquor store in Maryland and the baby was recovered unharmed.

Thompson, of Ellicott City, Md., testified that the kidnapping was the desperate final result of her efforts to give her boyfriend a son.

Taxi driver killed on moving bridge

CHICAGO — A taxi driver was killed and his two passengers were injured Tuesday when the Chicago River bridge on which the cab had stopped was raised and lowered because of an approaching barge, crushing the cab.

The driver, 36-year-old Ju H. Bang, was pronounced dead at Northwestern Memorial Hospital at about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday. The passengers, Reva Hawk of Chicago and Jane Williams of Highland, Ind., were listed in fair condition at the hospital.

Bang had stopped on the bridge Tuesday night apparently because "he didn't know where he was going," said Hawk's husband, James, who had spoken to his wife early Wednesday.

James Hawk said the gates were down and the crossing lights were blinking, but Bang told the women the bridge wouldn't be raised because they were on it.

Hinckley loses visit request

WASHINGTON (UPI) — St. Elizabeths Hospital withdrew a request Wednesday that John Hinckley Jr. be allowed an Easter visit with his parents so doctors can "assess the clinical significance" of his writings to a Florida serial killer.

In withdrawing the request, which had to be approved by a federal judge, the hospital superintendent said much of the correspondence was unknown to the staff, which stopped monitoring Hinckley's mail in 1984.

Prosecutors also asked the court to preserve the documents for use in any future proceeding.

"This is not the end of the process," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Roger Adelman. "These are very serious problems in a very serious case."

HINCKLEY HAS BEEN hospitalized at St. Elizabeths since 1982, when he was found not guilty by reason of insanity of the March 30, 1981, assassination attempt on President Ronald Reagan and three other men.

The withdrawal of Hinckley's application for a one-day unescorted visit capped three days of quickly scheduled court hearings on the question, made dramatic by Monday's revelations that Hinckley regularly corresponded with Florida death-row inmate Ted Bundy.

After the hearing, U.S. Attorney Joseph diGenova said the hospital should investigate how Hinckley was writing to Bundy.

"The fact that the hospital didn't know, as it has said . . . is a very serious question which needs to be looked into," he said.

An unaccompanied trip, originally supported by the hospital but opposed by the government, would have been Hinckley's first and could have led eventually to his release. A hospital spokeswoman said Hinckley would not now be allowed an escorted visit either.

HOSPITAL Superintendent William Prescott told U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker that St. Elizabeths withdrew the request for "administrative reasons and in order to further assess the clinical significance of writings and other materials belonging to Mr. Hinckley, which were heretofore unexamined by the hospital staff."

Parker had postponed an earlier hearing Wednesday to review Hinckley's personal letters. The U.S. attorney's office requested the later hearing to ask Parker to place all the documents obtained by subpoena under court seal, with copies made available to prosecutors.

"These materials are critical for the court's determination, not only now . . . but in the future" for any release applications by Hinckley, Adelman said. He also said prosecutors were concerned by the hospital's management of the case.

BUT PARKER SAID he was not inclined to give the government access.

Hinckley's attorney, Vincent Fuller, opposed the court's action to take the letters, saying, "I believe (Hinckley) enjoys the right of correspondence."

Fuller also dismissed as "baseless" a theory of prosecutors that Hinckley's correspondence with Bundy, started after Hinckley saw a television movie about Bundy last year, was similar to his earlier obsession with actress Jodie Foster's character in the movie "Taxi Driver" that led to the 1981 shooting.

Carter, Hoffman acquitted of protest-related charges

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UPI) — Amy Carter, Abbie Hoffman and 13 other activists were acquitted Wednesday of all charges stemming from an anti-CIA demonstration at the University of Massachusetts last November.

The state District Court jury of four women and two men deliberated three hours before returning its verdicts.

"How sweet it is!" Hoffman told a crowd of supporters who waited outside the courtroom all day for the verdict. "This is just the beginning!"

Carter, 1960s anti-war leader Hoffman and 13 others faced misdemeanor trespassing and disorderly conduct charges for trying to stop a CIA campus recruiting session Nov. 24.

Judge Richard Cannon allowed the defense to introduce evidence of CIA activities under Massachusetts court rulings and common law that allow the "necessity defense" — that a lesser crime was necessary to prevent a greater crime.

THE LAW STEMS from the 18th century when shipwrecked British sailors argued they were forced to kill a fellow sailor and eat his flesh to survive in a lifeboat.

"This case was not defended,

Abbie Hoffman

and kissed each other.

At the Central Intelligence Agency, spokeswoman Kathy Pherson said the agency would have no direct comment on the verdict.

BUT SHE SAID, "People should be aware that the CIA is an intelligence agency and not a policy maker. We don't make the policies. People have the right to make their protest. That's what it's all about."

After the verdict, on the steps of the 19th century courthouse, the defendants wore red T-shirts that read "Put the CIA on trial."

Several of them, including Carter, the daughter of former President Jimmy Carter, were holding a sign saying "On to Washington," where an anti-CIA protest is scheduled April 27 at the agency's headquarters in suburban Langley, Va.

Carter, who testified she broke the law to protest the "larger injustice" of CIA crimes in Central America, said her parents phoned her Wednesday morning to "wish me luck."

The defense argued the CIA operates illegally, and that actions by Carter, Hoffman and the others were justified in order to expose CIA actions and prevent greater crimes.

Town elects first female black mayor

HOLLANDALE, Miss. (UPI) — Civil rights activist Helen Perkins was sworn in Wednesday as the first woman and the first black mayor of this Mississippi Delta town and proclaimed that she struck "a double blow to history."

"I don't foresee a lot of obstacles. Anything that can be accomplished, we will accomplish," the mother of three told a crowd of 60 after taking the oath of office.

Immediately after the ceremony, she was swept to a meeting of the Hollandale Board of Aldermen, composed of four black men and a white woman.

"This is something new for the town and it will take time for some of them to adjust," Perkins said. "There is a woman in office that's black and that is something that is not expected."

Perkins, 41, became the fourth black female mayor to be elected in Mississippi.

The board voted to hold a public hearing May 5 to receive public comment on proposals to apply for block grants to improve housing.

Medical examiner calls for probe of pop artist's death

NEW YORK (UPI) — The city medical examiner said Wednesday Andy Warhol's heart began to beat irregularly "a significant time" before doctors were alerted, and called on the district attorney to investigate the pop artist's death at New York Hospital.

Andy Warhol DeBourbon, spokeswoman for the district attorney.

Warhol, 58, died of a heart attack, City Medical Examiner Elliot Gross said in a statement detailing the results of an autopsy conducted the day after the artist died at the Manhattan hospital Feb. 22.

But the medical examiner said inadequate records of Warhol's condition in the hours before his death made it impossible to tell exactly what caused the irregular heart-beat, called a heart arrhythmia.

A spokeswoman for Manhattan District Attorney Robert Morgenthau said prosecutors have received a copy of the autopsy results and would evaluate the document to determine whether an investigation was warranted.

"WE WILL REVIEW all of the evidence to determine if an investigation is warranted, and if one is, it will be done expeditiously," said Mary prior to 5:45 a.m. when the cardiac code was called," the statement said.

Gross did not say whether New York Hospital or the private nurse on duty when Warhol died was responsible for the poorly maintained records.

THE AUTOPSY showed that Warhol was recovering normally from a routine gall bladder removal and was in otherwise good health when the arrhythmia occurred.

The report said Warhol did not die from a reaction to Cefoxitin, a penicillin derivative that state health officials said was given to him despite an allergy to the drug.

Meanwhile, officials at New York Hospital denied charges leveled by the state Health Department in a report released last Friday. The state report said Warhol was given inadequate care by New York Hospital from the time he was admitted until the hours before his death.

"Simply put, the criticisms of the medical care are wrong," the hospital said in its response to the state's charges.

Shuttle commander takes new position

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Shuttle commander John Young, whose criticism of NASA safety policies triggered major controversy, stepped down as chief astronaut Wednesday for a top management post at the Johnson Space Center, officials said.

In his new position, Young, 56, will serve as special assistant to center director Aaron Cohen for engineering, operations and safety. The appointment is effective April 27.

Young, America's most experienced astronaut with a world record 6 flights to his credit, will remain eligible for shuttle missions but he will no longer serve as chief of the astronaut office, a post he has held since January 1974.

"John Young's acceptance of this new responsibility will strengthen the link between operational and engineering elements at the Johnson Space Center," said Cohen.

"JOHN'S EXTENSIVE flight experience, coupled with his engineering background and his solid judgment on flight safety, will be particularly important in returning the shuttle to flight status," he added.

In his new position, Young also will advise Cohen on engineering, operational and safety aspects of the space station and new NASA initiatives, such as the proposed second generation shuttle and "Orient Express" space plane.

Officials said Young's new assignment is a promotion and not related to his frequent criticism of shuttle program safety issues.

"It's like it says," a spokesman said. "The astronaut office job is a division chief job. This job will put him as part of senior management. It gives him direct reporting access to the center director and other senior managers. Before, he reported through someone else."

ASTRONAUT HENRY Hartsfield, Young's deputy, will take over as chief astronaut until a permanent replacement is named.

Young was selected as a NASA astronaut in September 1962 and blasted off on the first Gemini mission on March 23, 1965. He flew to the moon twice and walked on the lunar surface as commander of the Apollo 16 mission in April 1972.

Young served as commander of the first shuttle mission in April 1981 and completed a second flight in November 1983.

In the wake of the Challenger disaster, Young wrote a scathing internal memo March 4, 1986 that raised serious questions about shuttle flight safety and engineering.

Young's chief concern was that NASA management succumbed to pressure to meet a brutal launch schedule at the expense of flight safety.

CHALLENGER WAS destroyed last year by a booster failure and Young wrote that it was "difficult to believe" managers could approve launches given known problems with the solid-fuel rockets.

"There is only one driving reason that such a potentially dangerous system would ever be allowed to fly — launch schedule pressure," Young said.

Libya raid prompts lawsuit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark said Wednesday he is filing claims for millions of dollars against the government for the "terrorist" bombing of Libya a year ago.

Clark said he is representing scores of civilians killed or injured in the U.S. air strike President Ronald Reagan ordered against the Libyan cities of Tripoli and Benghazi in response to what he called terrorist acts on the part of Libyan leader Col. Moammar Gadhafi.

Clark said Reagan ordered the raid in a deliberate effort to kill Gadhafi, condemned as an international terrorist and accused of ordering the April 1986 bombing of a Berlin disco in which a U.S. serviceman was killed.

He said there was no evidence of Libyan involvement in the nightclub bombing and Reagan acted in violation of U.S., Libyan and international law.

"This was a terrorist bombing or a bombing out of control — take your pick," Clark told a news conference.

The administration has said the raid, in which one plane with a crew of two men was lost, was directed against military targets, and Gadhafi was not one of them. Injuries to civilians and damage to private property were unintentional and could have resulted partly from Libyan anti-aircraft fire, U.S. officials said.

Bolivian labor leaders order removal of U.S. ambassador

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—Bolivia's largest labor organization said Wednesday a bomb that injured 12 people outside the U.S. Embassy was thrown from inside the building and demanded that Ambassador Edward Rowell be expelled.

At the same time, union leaders agreed to call a nationwide 24-hour strike on an unspecified date against the center-right government of President Victor Paz Estenssoro, union spokesman Gonzalo Vizcarra said.

The Bolivian Workers Central, which represents 90 percent of union workers in the landlocked Andean nation, is protesting the president's refusal to hike the minimum wage from its current level of $25 a month to $175 a month.

Prosecutors this week charged Juan Lechin Oquendo, Bolivia's most prominent labor leader and bitter foe of Paz Estenssoro, with sedition and conspiracy for urging workers to drive the 79-year-old president from office.

A SERIES OF national strikes forced Paz Estenssoro's predecessor, Hernan Siles Zuazo, to call early elections and cut a year from his four-year presidential term. Paz Estenssoro took office in August 1985.

The union also called on the government to declare Rowell "persona non grata" and order him out of the country to avenge a bombing outside his Embassy on Tuesday in which 12 people were slightly injured.

The organization said the bomb had been thrown from the compound. The State Department called the charge "absolutely false."

Police said someone in a crowd of thousands of union workers who marched past the Embassy shortly before noon Tuesday during a protest threw the bomb against the building. Among the injured were a Bolivian policeman guarding the compound and a U.S. security official, authorities said. No arrests were made.

Superpowers OK space pact

MOSCOW (UPI)—Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze Wednesday signed a five-year treaty for peaceful civilian research in space that gives U.S. scientists access to next year's Soviet probe of Mars and its moons.

The agreement, the first formal space cooperation accord between the superpowers in five years, calls for exchanges of scientists, data and even equipment on future unmanned flights.

In 1982, the Reagan administration allowed a 1972 treaty to lapse because of frosty political relations between Moscow and Washington. Virtually all cooperation ceased.

Working groups established under the 1972 accord in such fields as lunar and planetary exploration, space medicine and biology and meteorology were disbanded.

The most significant achievement of the expired treaty, signed during the height of U.S.-Soviet detente by then President Richard Nixon and the late Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, was the July 1975 Apollo-Soyuz mid-space docking, the first and only international rendezvous in space.

HOWEVER, THE new agreement stops short of providing for a repeat performance of the Apollo-Soyuz linkup.

"This new agreement is really fundamental, nothing fancy and really focuses on large-scale planetary exploration projects that are already on the books. I think American scientists are going to be real excited about this one because under it we will cooperate in the Phobos project," a U.S.

official said.

"It does not go as far as the old treaty. There will not be another Apollo-Soyuz but it is a real good scientific treaty," the official said.

He said one of the keys of the accord was the Soviets agreeing to give the United States a role to play in the Phobos probe, which will provide the closest look ever at the moons of Mars.

The unmanned Phobos is scheduled for launch in July 1988 and U.S. participation will prevent a costly duplication by NASA.

In exchange for access to the Mars probe, the United States will use its deep space tracking abilities to assist the Soviets in their balloon probes of Venus. The United States' ability in deep space tracking is considered far superior to that of the Soviets.

Aquino rejects financial terms

MANILA, Philippines (UPI)—President Corazon Aquino unexpectedly rejected terms of a critical debt restructuring agreement with foreign banks Wednesday and appealed for an accelerated delivery of American helicopters and medicine.

Finance Secretary Jaime Ongpin said Aquino approved a recommendation to reject the pricing terms on a $13.2 billion package hammered out March 27 if an Argentine deal securing more favorable terms on the repayment of that country's foreign debt is approved.

Aquino met Wednesday with a visiting U.S. congressional delegation led by House Veterans Affairs Committee chairman Gillespie "Sonny" Montgomery, a Mississippi Democrat who intended to discuss aid for preserving U.S.-Philippine war memorials.

BUT HE SAID Aquino "moved us into" ways to step up the delivery of 10 UH-1 helicopters under a previously approved U.S. aid package.

He said Aquino also raised the delivery of $10 million worth of medicine for the armed forces, some of which has not yet arrived. U.S. officials have said both the heliicopters and medical deliveries are expected over the next several months.

The rebuilt Huey helicopters, used during the Vietnam War, would support troop and supply movement in operations against communist New People's Army rebels in remote areas of the archipelago. Army offensives have escalated since the expiration of a 60-day cease-fire with the 24,000-member NPA Feb. 8.

At a news conference Wednesday with Central Bank Gov. Jose Fernandez, Ongpin said the government decided to "reserve the right to reopen any other aspect of our (financial) agreement with our (New York) advisory committee."

LAST MONTH'S accord was reached after months of on-again, off-again negotiations during the current round of debt restructuring talks that Ongpin had described as "protracted" and "oftentimes frustrating."

The March deal called for an interest rate of 7/8 point over the benchmark London interbank offered rate for Eurodollar deposits on $9.3 billion in commercial loans and a $925 million new money loan in 1985.

The sudden reversal, Ongpin said, followed the receipt of "still unconfirmed but reliable reports" Argentina had been granted a better pricing scheme on its $53 billion foreign debt.

Ongpin said that based on the reports, Aquino agreed to "settle for no less" than the terms offered Argentina.

The Philippines, suffering from its worst economic crisis since World War II, is saddled with a $28 billion foreign debt.

House approves sweeping tax reform

DES MOINES — The Iowa House approved a sweeping tax reform package Wednesday that would cut overall income tax bills for seven out of 10 Iowans by shifting much of the burden from low-income to high-income taxpayers.

The bill, passed on a 61-36 vote, includes a 12 percent reduction in overall federal and state income taxes paid by people with adjusted, taxable incomes of less than $10,000.

It calls for income tax hikes of at least 21 percent for incomes greater than $30,000 and a 45 percent tax increase for those in excess of $100,000. People in the $10,000 to $20,000 bracket would see little change.

Other parts of the bill would eliminate Iowans' ability to deduct federal taxes from their state income tax bills, adopt the federal standard deductions, maintain the state's current 4 percent sales tax and lower the state's top income tax rate from 13 percent to 9 percent.

Rep. David Osterberg, D-Mount Vernon, the bill's sponsor, said the tax structure based on the ability to pay is much fairer than the 1-cent sales tax hike promoted by the Senate or the regressive income tax plan proposed by Republican Gov. Terry Branstad.

The House bill now returns to the Senate and eventually is expected to end up in a conference committee.

Peace activists protest levy priorities

DES MOINES — More than 60 cents of every tax dollar goes to the military, a group of peace activists said Wednesday in urging members of a Des Moines rally to engage in some type of tax protest.

Kim Hill Smith, coordinator of the Iowa Peace Network, told the sparsely attended rally that it is up to the citizens to let the government know that military spending has gotten out of hand. She said an "alarming" 10 cents of every dollar paid in taxes goes directly to nuclear weapons.

The Peace Network stopped short of saying Iowans should not pay their taxes, but Smith outlined ways in which citizens could make other fiscal protests. One method involves withholding the 10 percent she said will go to nuclear weapons, and another would involve not filing a tax return at all. Of the latter, Smith said the government would eventually collect the taxes due.

Canadian firm may create 4,000 jobs

About 4,000 jobs may be created in Iowa over the next seven years by the opening of 20 manufacturing plants by a Canadian-based automotive-parts supplier, officials with the company said Wednesday.

Wayne German, a spokesman for MAGNA International Inc. of Markham, Ontario, said the company is interested in expanding its operation to Iowa, but the opening of the plants will be contingent upon Iowa's ability to upgrade workers' technical skills.

Dick Vohs, a spokesman for Gov. Terry Branstad, said the governor traveled to Ontario late Monday to assure MAGNA executives that Iowa can provide skilled employees for their factories.

MAGNA and its subsidiary, Dieomatic Inc. of Montezuma, Iowa, would open the plants in small Iowa communities, German said. Each plant would employ 150 to 200 workers, he said.

Court upholds young girl's conviction

DES MOINES — Heidi Gasparovich held back a bedroom curtain to enable her 15-year-old brother to shoot their sleeping father to death with a 12-gauge shotgun last year, the Iowa Supreme Court ruled unanimously Wednesday.

The high court, in a 5-0 decision, upheld the young girl's conviction of aiding and abetting in the murder of Matthew Gasparovich Sr. of Columbia, Iowa.

A juvenile court earlier determined Heidi, who was 12 years old at the time of the slaying, and her brother, Matthew Gasparovich Jr., 15, devised and executed the plan to kill their father so they could return to California to live with their mother.

"The finding of (Heidi's) guilt is grounded on more than mere conjecture. Circumstantial evidence, coupled with (her) lack of credibility, convince us that the trial court correctly found that she participated in her father's murder," the opinion said.

The shooting allegedly was the result of a falling out between the two children and their father. The two had been living in California for more than a year with their mother, then joined their father at his home near Knoxville, Iowa.

Both children initially believed their stay in Iowa would be temporary and became alarmed when their father retained them, court records said.

Grandmother will spend 2 days in jail

HARLAN — A rural Dunlap farm wife will spend 48 hours in the Shelby County Jail starting today rather than pay a court fine for interfering with a farm sale.

Delores Klein was among 14 people convicted last Friday for trying to block a farm sale on Feb. 23 when 200 people shouted and jostled Sheriff Gene Cavanaugh, who was trying to conduct the foreclosure sale of the Dominic Lickteig farm. Nineteen people were arrested that day for blocking Cavanaugh's path.

The convicted defendants were fined $75 plus $41 court costs, but Klein, a 50-year-old grandmother and wife of a Catholic church deacon, says she'll go to jail to continue the protest.

Militant Catholic Priest Frank Cordaro of Logan said supporters plan to hold a prayer vigil in advance of Klein's jailing.

Drug user kills self with bomb

KOKOMO, Ind. (UPI) — An accused LSD dealer wanted to kill a witness against him with a bomb he smuggled into a courthouse, but he said, "We might as well all go now," and blew it up after a suspicious sheriff confronted him, the bomber's lawyer said Wednesday.

Robert Gray, 42, described by his lawyer as a heavy drinker and drug user, killed himself and injured 15 people in the bomb blast in the Howard County sheriff's office Tuesday.

Attorney Charles Scruggs, who was injured in the powerful explosion, said Gray set off the bomb in his briefcase after being confronted by Sheriff John D. Beatty, who had heard Gray wanted to kill a potential witness at his drug trial.

Gray had a record of drug arrests and was facing trial Tuesday afternoon on two counts of dealing in LSD. A jury was impaneled that morning to hear the case against him.

THE EXPLOSION shattered windows and caused damage so extensive that officials said they might have to permanently close the Howard County Courthouse.

Gray's mother, Betty McKinley, said she first heard of his death on the radio. "I don't have an idea about what went through my son's head," she said.

Four of the injured, including Beatty and Scruggs, remain hospitalized. Eleven others were treated at Kokomo hospitals and released.

Scruggs said his client "had a likeable personality, but he had been in the drug culture so long he ceased being a person."

"He drank heavily and used LSD and cocaine for many, many years," Scruggs said. "He said he couldn't go to jail because he would lose 23 years of work at Chrysler."

Scruggs said Gray had talked of committing suicide, but he did not take him seriously.

Michigan readies bid for smasher

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — With little debate Wednesday, the House unanimously approved a bill creating a 20-member commission to prepare Michigan's bid to become home to the world's largest atom smasher.

The Senate last week pushed through similar legislation setting up a 19-member panel.

"I think the state of Michigan is very much in the running for the Superconducting Super Collider," said Rep. Lynn Owen, D-Maybee, whose district has been mentioned as the preferred site for locating the 52-mile underground oval tunnel.

He said the Monroe County area where Michigan officials have proposed putting the $4.5-billion atom smasher — the world's largest and most expensive scientific research device ever — offers access to both the University of Michigan and Michigan State University and is only an hour from Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

STATES SEEKING TO become home to the SSC have until Aug. 31 to prepare their proposals. Some have already spent millions of dollars and up to four years preparing their proposals for the 10-year construction project that is expected to result in 2,500 permanent jobs for the host community.

"It would be a wonderful opportunity for the state of Michigan ... but I really have to wonder if we're a day late and a dollar short," said Rep. Vic Krause. "Illinois is the leading candidate for the super collider. To date, Illinois has spent $4.5 million."

The SSC is expected to turn the state where it is located into an international center for high-energy physics research.

The U.S. Energy Department has said it will select the winning site by January 1989.

College student faces abandonment charges

MACOMB, Ill. (UPI) — A Western Illinois University freshman was charged Wednesday with child abandonment for allegedly dumping her newborn daughter into a residence hall trash can.

Ellen Horn, 19, appeared before Judge James Stewart, who appointed a public defender for her and ordered a May 1 preliminary hearing. Horn was released under $2,500 bond. Her alleged infant, nicknamed "Baby April," was found Monday in a trash can on the lower level of Bayliss Residence Hall, officials said. The girl was about three hours old when she was found.

The baby was in stable condition Wednesday.

Authorities said Horn apparently gave birth in a lower-level restroom.

INTERESTED IN TRANSPORTATION?

Consider taking a 3 hour undergraduate course 102:133 Introduction to Transportation, offered this fall by the Graduate Program in Urban and Regional Planning.

The course draws from geography, planning, economics, business administration, logistics, political science, engineering, and psychology. The scope is broad, covering transport modes such as railroad, highways, air carriage and waterways. Topical areas include social and economic regulations, finance and taxation, physical distribution, public and private sector management of transport providers and energy relationships. Offered MWF at 2:30.

Now there's more than one way to get through college.

If you want to get ahead in college, it helps if you choose a brilliant roommate. Like a Macintosh™ personal computer. And now there are two models from which you can choose.

First, there's the Macintosh Plus—now widely accepted by students at colleges and universities all across the country.

It comes with one 800K disk drive and a full megabyte of memory (which is expandable to four).

For those of you who need even more power, there's the Macintosh SE.

It comes with all of the above. As well as a built-in 20-megabyte hard disk, for storing up to 10,000 pages. Or if you prefer, you can add a second built-in 800K floppy drive.

The SE also gives you a choice of two new keyboards, one with function keys for special applications.

And it has an internal expansion slot so you can add new power without performing major surgery. Like a card that lets you share information over a campus-wide network. Or another that lets you run MS-DOS programs.

With either Macintosh, you'll be able to take advantage of the latest, most advanced software.

Like idea processors that outline your thoughts. Word processors for writing, editing and checking your spelling. And communications programs that give you 24-hour access to valuable information.

So no matter which model you decide on—you'll be able to work much faster, better and smarter.

No two ways about it.

The power to be your best.

Hawkeyes split pair with 'Cats

By Eric J. Hess
Assistant Sports Editor

Softball

Iowa Coach Ginny Parrish is happy her softball Hawkeyes split a doubleheader with Northwestern — quite happy.

Being the nemesis to the Hawkeyes in the form of three wins in the last 22 match-ups, Parrish left the Iowa Softball Complex with a 6-3 win in her pocket after losing the first game, 4-0, on a one-hitter by Northwestern standout Lisa Ishikawa.

The Hawkeyes will now get ready for a Minnesota four-game weekend series. Game time for Friday's first game is set for 3 p.m.

Iowa was rained out Tuesday after play was canceled about 30 minutes before the scheduled game time.

THE DOUBLEHEADER, usually in the Big Ten, is rescheduled for play at Northwestern. But this season the Wildcats set a game up for that rain date, forcing the two teams to play their rain date at the Complex.

"It worked to our advantage, obviously," Parrish said.

And Parrish added that when the Hawkeyes are scheduled to play Northwestern next Tuesday, if the doubleheader is canceled, no games will be made up.

Nevertheless, the Hawkeyes split with the Wildcats with Northwestern taking game one on a stellar performance by Ishikawa, recording 12 strikeouts and one walk.

"You can't take anything away from her," Parrish said of Northwestern's senior hurler. "They're hittable and beatable, but we didn't do it today."

NORTHWESTERN Coach Sharon Drysdale had nothing but good things to say about Ishikawa.

"I thought she threw well," Drysdale said. "There's not much to say about 'Ish.' She's a dominating pitcher."

Iowa's Beth Kirchner centerfielder, rapped the lone hit in game one for the Hawkeyes, a sharp infield roller to third base.

The Hawkeye centerfielder said Ishikawa was hurling her rise ball, a pitch which looked as if it would be in the strike zone but would suddenly pop up over hitter's heads.

Confidence and aggressiveness, two key ingredients to a successful season according to Parrish, were nowhere to be found in at least the first two innings.

Pitcher Pam Brown hurled seven innings for the Hawkeyes, allowing six hits and four runs. Three of the four runs were unearned.

BROWN SETTLED down after second inning, giving up no runs and three hits the rest of the way.

The Hawkeye bats were quiet until the second game started.

Second baseman Carol Bruggeman opened game two with a base hit. She later scored in the bottom of the first on an infield error by Wildcat sophomore shortstop Kerry Muehlenbeck.

Drysdale said Muehlenbeck, who had four errors before being pulled from the line-up, had a broken thumb and may have been pushed too hard to make it back into the starting nine.

The Hawkeyes took advantage of errors again in the third, rallying for four runs on four hits and two Wildcat errors. Doubles by Bruggeman and Kirchner sparked the offensive explosion.

The Hawkeyes added one final run in the fourth as Kirchner cracked a one-out single. Michelle Magyar followed with a double to drive home Kirchner.

Northwestern's Sue Phillips catches a fly ball while almost running into teammate Kerry Muehlenbeck.

The Hawkeyes and the Wildcats split a doubleheader Wednesday at the Iowa Softball Complex.

Brewers' Nieves notches no-hitter

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Juan Nieves pitched the first no-hitter of the season Wednesday night to power the Milwaukee Brewers — baseball's only unbeaten team — to a 7-0 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

The masterpiece was preserved in the final play of the game when center fielder Robin Yount made a diving catch of Eddie Murray's liner. Yount, running toward right-center, caught the ball about 18 inches off the ground and charged toward the celebrations on the pitcher's mound.

Nieves, a 22-year-old left-hander, provided the Brewers with their first no-hitter in the 19 years of the franchise. The victory left Milwaukee with a 9-0 record — the best start in the club's history.

The Brewers mobbed Nieves after the catch, then crowded around Yount, who had run to the mound and presented the ball to the Puerto Rican pitcher.

NIEVES, 2-0, recorded his fourth career shutout. He struck out seven and walked five, effectively mixing a fastball and curveball and throwing 128 pitches. No runner reached second base.

Nieves walked batters in the second, third, fifth, seventh and ninth innings. Eddie Murray, who walked in the seventh, was erased on a double play.

The crowd at Memorial Stadium, urging the Orioles to get a hit in the ninth inning, appeared stunned by Yount's catch.

Twins, Angels both win again, Texas loses 7th

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Mike Smithson pitched six hitless innings and Dan Gladden scored three runs Wednesday to lead the Minnesota Twins to a 5-2 victory over the Oakland Athletics.

Smithson, 2-0, held the A's hitless until Carney Lansford led off the seventh with a double. Lansford later scored on another double by Dwayne Murphy.

The 32-year-old Smithson allowed four hits over seven and 1/3 innings before giving way to George Frazier. Smithson struck out five, walked one and hit a batter. Oakland's Dave Stewart, 0-2, took the loss.

Angels 4, Mariners 0

SEATTLE (UPI) — Kirk McCaskill hurled a five-hitter and Brian Downing and Dick Schofield homered Wednesday, pacing the California Angels to a 4-0 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

McCaskill, 2-0, faced two more than the minimum 27 batters. He struck out nine and walked one.

The California right-hander did not allow a runner to reach second base, and the Mariners had only five baserunners the entire game. McCaskill picked off one man and catcher Butch Wynegar threw out two more trying to steal second.

Red Sox 5, Rangers 4

BOSTON (UPI) — Dwight Evans greeted reliever Dale Mohorcic with a grand slam home run in the sixth inning Wednesday to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 5-4 victory over the Texas Rangers, who have lost six straight games.

Texas led 4-1 entering the sixth. Boston's Ed Romero led off with a single to center and moved to second on Pat Dodson's infield out. Texas starter Charlie Hough then hit Jim Rice on the left arm and Don Baylor looped a single to right to load the bases. After Hough went to 2-0 on Evans, Rangers Manager Bobby Valentine inserted Mohorcic, and on a 3-1 pitch Evans homered into the left-field screen for a 5-4 Boston lead. It was Evans' third career grand slam.

Iowa freshmen Dow, Cousino prove to be valuable tandem

By Brad Zimanek
Sports Editor

Iowa freshman gymnasts Jeff Dow and Keith Cousino faced a difficult task upon entering Iowa last fall.

Not only would they have to survive as roommates, but they would be counted on to contribute to a Hawkeye program that ranks with the nation's best.

The tandem has risen to both challenges.

Dow, a native of Austin, Texas, and Cousino, a native of Erie, Mich., met at several national competitions, including the 1985 National Sports Festival, before they decided to go to Iowa. Hawkeye Coach Tom Dunn, after securing the two high school stars, arranged the Hillcrest Residence Hall rooming assignment.

"TOM DUNN SET IT up for both of us," Dow said. "He (Keith) brought the refrigerator, microwave and stereo and I brought the TV and the VCR. So we're pretty much set."

Dow admitted being homesick for Texas early into his first collegiate gymnastics season, but Cousino, a 6-foot, 170-pounder, fit into college life pretty easily.

"I was (homesick) for about a week, make that a couple of days," Cousino said. "In high school I was always away from home traveling to meets, so it really wasn't that big of a deal for me."

Dow added: "It was tough getting over the initial homesickness but now I'm at home. I'm comfortable to call this home."

Next year Dow and Cousino will again be roommates. One common problem the two freshman athletes have encountered is juggling practice, traveling and study time.

"I JUST DIDN'T expect so much," Dow said. "I would get so far behind the first semester that it was hard to catch up. When the road trips came, I was just dreading that, but actually I got a lot done on road trips. When you take a lot of eight-hour bus rides, there just isn't a whole lot to do."

"It was an overwhelming amount of work," Cousino said. "When school started it wasn't too bad until the homework starting piling up. I thought whoa — college!"

After the initial shock, the gymnastics side of the bargain soon followed.

"I started out kind of slow and I didn't see myself progress. Last year's scores were the same," Dow said. "I felt I wasn't getting any better, but eventually I saw some improvement and I was pretty happy about it."

AT THE BIG TEN gymnastics championships two weeks ago, Dow finished 13th in the all-around competition while Cousino was a few notches back in 17th. Dow also finished fifth on the horizontal bar (9.35) and sixth on the parallel bars (9.25).

Does the combination remind Dunn of a pair of freshman gymnasts from Ohio, named Dan Bachman and Stu Breitenstine, who arrived on the Iowa campus five years ago and later became all-Americans?

"I think I have definitely the potential," Dunn said. "They are even better than Dan and Stu were when they were freshman."

Dunn added, "They are definitely going to be relied on next year and with Chris Stanicek and Joe Thome are going to be the backbone of next year's team."

Thomas stars as Braves clip red-hot Reds

ATLANTA (UPI) — Andres Thomas cracked a three-run homer to back the combined seven-hit pitching of Rick Mahler, Paul Assenmacher and Gene Garber Wednesday night and lead the Atlanta Braves to a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Mahler, 2-0, surrendered six hits over 7 1/3 innings to improve to 10-2 lifetime against Cincinnati. Assenmacher pitched to one batter and gave up a hit, while Garber notched his first save, going the final 1 1/3 innings.

Atlanta took a 3-0 lead in the third off Cincinnati starter and loser Tom Browning, 1-1. Glen Hubbard led off with a walk, went to second on a sacrifice by Mahler and advanced to third on a single by Dion James. Thomas then ripped his first homer over the right field fence.

The Braves made it 4-0 in the sixth off reliever Frank Williams on an RBI single by Hubbard.

Pittsburgh 3, Chicago 1

CHICAGO (UPI) — Jim Morrison's one-out RBI single in the 10th inning snapped a 1-1 tie Wednesday and led the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Morrison's single to left-center came off reliever Dickie Noles, 0-1, after the Cubs had tied the score in the last of the ninth on a one-out homer by Jody Davis.

Andy Van Slyke led off the 10th with a single to center and one-out later went to third on Johnny Ray's single to right. Morrison followed with a single to score Van Slyke and Frank DiPino relieved. After retiring Sid Bream, DiPino walked Bobby Bonilla to load the bases. Les Lancaster relieved and before he threw a pitch was charged with a balk, allowing Ray to score.

Don Robinson, 2-0, got the victory after starter Rick Reuschel had blanked the Cubs on three hits over eight innings. Robinson's streak of 18 1/3 innings of scoreless relief was snapped when Davis hit an 0-1 pitch into the right field stands.

The Pirates took a 1-0 lead in the second on a solo homer by Mike Diaz, who was celebrating his 27th birthday.

Leonard's championship: Was it really worth it?

"You know what boxing is all about, it's about economics. And if middle class kids would go out and become boxers, we wouldn't have people lobbying to abolish boxing."

This was said by the new middle weight champion Sugar Ray Leonard at a 1986 meeting with the Association of Boxing Commissions over the ensured safety of boxers. And since that meeting, many good points have been brought up in defense of and against the abolition of professional boxing.

Personally I feel that anything, especially a sport, in which the sole purpose is to do damage to someone else's brain couldn't be that rewarding. But in the sense of fairness I'll address Leonard's point and those of a few others.

LEONARD HAD A potentially good point about the economics of boxers that is until he contradicted himself recently, prior to the April 6 fight between he and Marvin Hagler. He spoke repeatedly of how this fight, one which has been discussed on an off for five years, wasn't because of the fact that it was the richest in history, although both fighters were guaranteed over $10 million and a percentage of the closed circuit television money totaling more than $20 million a piece.

Nor did Leonard re-enter the world of boxing because of the fact that this fight was to be the most watched in history. Witnessed live by an outdoor crowd of 15,336 at Caesar's Palace and capturing a television audience of more than two million nationally, grossing $60-70 million.

IS A TRUE LOVE of boxing all that it comes down to? A love that all those who are boxing are willing to die for?

By simply watching a few matches on television the after effects of those punches may seem relatively harmless. But after several rounds of repeated blows to the head, brain damage can occur easily.

Just a bit of trivia for all of you pro-boxing fans — every time the skull is struck the brain is thrown against the opposite side of the skull and then rebounds. This causes brain tissue, blood vessels, nerve tracts and other structures to be bruised and torn.

Leonard went beyond those "usual" worries of the professional boxer and re-entered the ring after suffering from a detached retina and receiving doctor advice that future fighting could lead to blindness.

IT ALL MAKES SENSE right? Coming from a professional in the field, Janks Morton, Leonard's trainer summed up the fundamentals of boxing.

"The idea is to hit and not get hit," Morton said.

And so boxers do. Just as Leonard and Hagler did on April 6 — each of them with their own specific intentions.

Leonard looked for the scars of past cuts above Hagler's eyes and used them as targets. This makes perfect sense knowing about Hagler's tendency to bleed above both eyes.

And not surprisingly, Hagler went for Leonard's eye in which he had the surgery.

And as far as after the fight goes, when the final bell sounded, each fighter raised his hands. The question in my mind was what were they actually celebrating?

Wisconsin bicycle trip nearing for UI students

By Cathy Cronin
Staff Writer

Any interest in romance, travel and a basically great time? You can even earn a class credit while doing it. Well if you're free the week of May 22-28 you can have it all.

Just think southwest Wisconsin and if you're one of the first eight lucky people who sign, the Touch the Earth Outdoor program is holding a bicycle trip for the low price of $155. The fee includes camping fees, transportation, camping gear and meals if needed.

Participants should have a good 10-speed bicycle. The trip begins in LaCrosse, Wis., and travel takes place through Black Hills, Elroy, Sparta and through the rolling pine forests and dairy pastures of the state.

CAMPING GEAR will be carried on a sag wagon and the group will be camping in a different location nightly. Bicycle training is suggested as the trip is of medium difficulty.

Intramurals

Register at the Recreational Services office in the Field House E216 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday or call 335-9293 and ask for Wayne Fett or Bob Beals.

Golf instruction will be supplemented by a fee of $25. Each session consists of eight one hour class meetings twice a week for four weeks.

Tennis instruction will be offered for a $15 fee. Each session consists of eight one hour class meetings twice a week for four weeks. All participants must provide their own raquets. Session dates are as follows: session I April 27 - May 21, session II June 1-25, and session III July 6-30.

Recreational Services is also holding a Japanese (Shotokan) Karate Club.

The DI's intramurals Column appears every Thursday. To have information printed in this column contact Cathy Cronin at the DI, 335-5848.

Loughery receives 500th win

United Press International

LANDOVER, Md. — Moses Malone scored 30 points and Washington Coach Kevin Loughery collected his 500th professional victory Wednesday night, a 110-101 triumph over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Cleveland rallied from an 89-80 deficit entering the fourth quarter by outscoring Washington 16-7 over the first 6:36 of the period and tying the game at 96-96 on John Williams' free throw. But Washington outscored Cleveland 14-5 over the final 4:18 of the game.

Terry Catledge, who finished with 22 points, sank four straight free throws to give Washington a 100-96 lead with 3:32 left.

Washington, 41-39, moved a full game ahead of Chicago for the sixth playoff spot in the Eastern Conference. Cleveland fell to 30-51.

Loughery, in his first full season with the Bullets, started his coaching career as a player-coach midway through the Philadelphia 76ers horrid 9-73 season in 1972-73. He compiled a 500-567 record in three seasons with the ABA's New York Nets and 12 seasons coaching five different NBA teams, including the New Jersey Nets, Atlanta Hawks, Philadelphia, Chicago Bulls and Washington.

NBA Roundup

Loughery, who played for 11 seasons, coached the Nets to the ABA title in 1973-74, but compiled only two winning records during full seasons in the NBA.

Jeff Malone added 23 for Washington. Rookies Ron Harper paced Cleveland with 25 points, John Williams added 17, and Brad Daugherty 15 points.

Washington led 56-49 at half-time, as the Cavaliers committed 20 first-half turnovers, and used a 10-1 third period run to lead by nine entering the fourth quarter.

Detroit 118, New York 114
PONTIAC, Mich. — Bill Laimbeer overcame early foul trouble to score 27 of his 33 points in the fourth quarter Wednesday night, leading the Detroit Pistons to a 118-114 victory over the New York Knicks.

Laimbeer, limited to six points through three quarters, scored with 2:32 remaining to put Pistons up for good and sealed the victory by hitting four free throws in the final seven seconds.

Joe Dumars contributed eight of his 20 points in the final quarter as Detroit — leading by 20 points in the first half — came back from a six-point deficit.

Gerald Henderson led a New York rally by hitting two free throws with 6:50 remaining in the third quarter. Vinnie Johnson scored four straight in an 8-2 Pistons spurt which gave Detroit a 77-76 lead.

Bernard King led the Knicks with 30 points, his highest total in four games since returning from a knee injury that sidelined him for two years. Bill Cartwright added 24 points and Wilkins 23.

Boston 108, Indiana 85
INDIANAPOLIS — Larry Bird scored 29 points and Robert Parish added 21 Wednesday night to lead the Boston Celtics to a 108-85 victory over the Indiana Pacers.

Boston, 57-23, remained ahead of Atlanta in the race for the best record in the Eastern Conference. The victory snapped a four-game road losing streak for the Celtics.

John Long led Indiana with 23 points. Chuck Person added 16 and Herb Williams scored 14. Atlanta 136, New Jersey 116. ATLANTA — Dominique Wilkins scored 29 points Wednesday night to rally the Atlanta Hawks to a 136-116 victory over the New Jersey Nets.

The triumph was the Hawks' 56th this year, matching a franchise record set in the 1967-68 season in St. Louis.

The victory kept Atlanta in the race for the best record in the Eastern Conference. By winning their last two games at Chicago and Boston the Hawks would earn the home-court advantage throughout the Eastern Conference playoffs.

Sexual assault charges force Septien out of job

DALLAS (UPI) — Dallas Cowboys kicker Rafael Septien, who pleaded guilty last week to fondling a 10-year-old girl, was released Wednesday by the NFL team.

Cowboys President Tex Schramm, who said last week that the veteran kicker would remain with the Cowboys, said in a statement that public opinion about the incident made it impossible for the team to keep Septien.

"I knew we would receive adverse public reaction when we did not take this action immediately, but we wanted to investigate all the ramifications of our decision," Schramm said. "We cannot ignore the contributions on the field of Rafael during the past 10 years. That is why this has been so difficult."

Septien, the Cowboys' leading career scorer with 874 points, met Wednesday with Cowboys Coach Tom Landry and was notified that he had been placed on waivers, said Cowboys spokesman Greg Aiello.

"I HAVE ALWAYS been inclined to help a player try to overcome his problems within the confines of our team," Landry said in a statement released by the Cowboys.

Septien pleaded guilty April 8 to indecency with a child and was placed on probation for 10 years and fined $2,000.

The veteran kicker had been indicted on charges of aggravated sexual assault but entered a guilty plea to the lesser indecency charge as part of a plea-bargain arrangement.

Prosecutors claim Septien fondled the genitals of the 10-year-old child, his neighbor's daughter, on Dec. 27 in the Denton County suburb of The Colony. Septien had maintained his innocence but signed a statement last week admitting guilt.

Play explores pain surrounding AIDS

By Suzy Price Staff Writer

Media news coverage provides reams of factual knowledge about AIDS but there is little information on the emotional problems it causes.

As Is is about a gay man who discovers he has AIDS and how he copes with the disease and his relationships with his family, friends and lover.

The play was written by William Hoffman and ran for nine months on Broadway in 1985. Hoffman won three Tony nominations and an Obie for the play, one of the first to deal with the subject of AIDS.

THE DIFFERENT emotional reactions to AIDS are explored in the play. Rich, the victim, is angry and frightened. The play opens and closes with a hospice worker who is angry with the way Rich has been treated.

Yet according to Smith the play is ultimately life-affirming. "In the face of the threat of death when nothing can be done, life is good and you have to go on. It is all right to be frightened in a rational way," he said.

SMITH SAID THAT he is not a political person but the play is political in the sense that any play dealing with a current social issue is. "I am using my art form and career as a means of making a political statement about the world today," he said.

Smith said he believes that people in the Midwest suffer from a false sense of security about AIDS. "It's so relaxed and so conservative here that people think it only happens elsewhere. But people are going to start knowing individuals with AIDS. They must come to understand it now so they are not freaked out by it," he said.

THE ACTORS HAVE been rehearsing for about four weeks and have researched the subject. "The first rehearsals were very emotional and frightening," Smith said.

He expects the play will have a strong effect on the audience: "They will experience a catharsis, a purging of emotion. They can feel how devastating an experience it is."

As Is can be seen today, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. and also at 3 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in Theatre B. The production is funded by the Gay People's Union and Iowa Arts Council and co-sponsored by the Lesbian Alliance.

Fox's 'Success' succeeds at box office

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Nothing succeeds like success in the case of Michael J. Fox's new movie The Secret of My Success, which earned $7.7 million to lead the movie box-office parade last week.

In the opening days of spring break weeks across the country, timing was important to The Secret of My Success, depicting the youthful exploits of Fox as a most upwardly mobile business tyro who makes a shambles of corporate protocol.

The Universal Pictures comedy opened in 1,336 theaters and signaled a return to big-screen popularity by Fox, star of TV's Family Ties, whose last picture, Light of Day, bombed.

Plunging from its No. 1 perch last week was Police Academy 4, which dropped 53 percent from the previous week with a take of $4.5 million. In two weeks it has grossed $14.7 million on 1,750 screens.

Blind Date, starring Bruce Willis and Kim Basinger, slipped from No. 2 to No. 3, grossing $4.1 million in its third week in release. Showing in 1,369 theaters, the Blake Edwards-directed comedy has raked in $20.2 million.

Surprise of the week's box-office bell-ringers was the re-release of Walt Disney's animated cartoon The Aristocats. First released in 1970, the felicitous fiction of feline fortunes and fantasies earned $3.1 million in 1,480 theaters.

It was No. 4 in the rankings, in time for Easter week for the kiddie crowd.

No. 5 was Lethal Weapon, starring Mel Gibson and Danny Glover as a pair of Los Angeles Police Department narcs. In its sixth week the violence-ridden action drama earned $3 million in 1,356 theaters. It has totaled $43.5 million.

The Academy Award-winning Platoon dropped a hefty 38 percent last week, grossing $2.9 million to rank sixth. But it remained far and away the biggest money-earner in the top 10 with a 17-week gross of $114.3 million.

Platoon, however, trails Crocodile Dundee among movies currently showing. The Paul Hogan comedy, now in its 29th week and reposing in 13th place, dropped below the $1 million weekly mark for the first time. But its total gross was an impressive $161.6 million.

Theatrical films posted a glowing week with an overall gross of $81 million, more than $21 million above last year's gross for the same week.

So far this year the gross for all films is $964.2 million, bettering last year's $862.8 million for the same period.

The top 10, last week's gross, total gross, weeks in release:

1. The Secret of My Success, $7.7 million, 1 week.
2. Police Academy 4, $4.5 million, $14.7 million 2 weeks.
3. Blind Date, $4.1 million, $20.2 million, 3 weeks.
4. The Aristocats, $3.1 million, 1 week.
5. Lethal Weapon, $3 million, $43.5 million, 6 weeks.
6. Platoon, $2.9 million, $114.3 million, 17 weeks.
7. Raising Arizona, $2.2 million, $5.4 million, 5 weeks.
8. Tin Men, $1.4 million, $18.3 million, 6 weeks.
9. Nightmare on Elm Street 3, $1.1 million, $37.7 million, 7 weeks.
10. Burglar, $1 million, $13.2 million, 4 weeks.

Week highlights sounds of 'new music'

ORGANIZERS of New Music Week at the UI want to introduce people to their evolving art form.

"I'd like people who don't even know they like new music to be interested," said Matt Marth, organizer of New Music Week. "They just have to come along and accept the new sounds for what they are."

New Music Week, currently underway, consists of concerts and performances of different types of new music. But what is "new music?" According to Marth, secretary of Phi Mu Alpha (the professional music fraternity organizing the events) it's hard to describe.

"NEW MUSIC SHOULD be composed in the last 10 or 20 years, but there was a lot of innovation in the '30s, for example, that to most people would be new and different," he said. "We left it to members of the faculty to choose their pieces. Some of the music goes back 40 or 50 years."

The events reflect the different areas new music covers. Philip Glass is one of the most popular new music composers and a four-hour recording of his work Einstein on the Beach will be played today from noon to 4 p.m. in the Music Building Lounge. People will be able to come and go when they please between acts.

"There is a lot of repetition and tonal harmonies. It has ties with pop music," he said.

Some people tend to be put off new music because they feel it is tuneless or formless. "There is a lot of what's called atonal music — disharmony — but even in Mozart's time there was a lot of dissonance and the music's been progressing ever since," Marth said.

THE PERFORMANCES also include some examples of experimental electronic music with synthesizers and recorded and distorted sounds. "This area's getting more important, it's forging ahead, and has some very intense sounds," Marth said.

As part of the New Music Week, Phi Mu Alpha is presenting a recital Friday at 5 p.m., as well as an all-day lecture and performance by Michael Farley. A UI student recital will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. in Voxman Hall. The week will end Saturday night with a concert at 8 in Clapp Recital Hall, featuring the award-winning UI Center for New Music. This will include a piece for four marimba players by a faculty member, Donald Martin Jenni, and a piece for a tape and seven players by the former director of the electronic music department, Peter Tod Lewis.

MARTH HOPES people will attend the events because "new music is important and should be brought out" and because most people are not aware of what it is all about. He hopes that the week will become an annual event; next year New Music Week organizers hope to attract professionals from around the world.

"I'd like people to get so used to hearing new music that when they hear a sound they will intuitively know what the next chord is, as they do now with Mozart and Beethoven," Marth said. "Though as with classical music there will always be surprises. Music's all about the unexpected."
