Grassley reinstates grassroots TV show

U.S. Sen. Chuck Grassley, Iowa, would consider free live line shows during a recent committee hearing to provide grassroots leaders with a chance to have their voices heard.

The first program will air at 3 p.m. Monday, May 4 on the network. The show, described as "Grassroots Forum," is designed to provide leaders with an opportunity for personal contact with the leaders who impact the state, Grassley said.

"I believe the show will feature a discussion on important federal and state financial issues, specifically the 1986 Farm Bill and agricultural issues," Grassley said.

The show will originate from the Senate Studio in Washington, D.C. Any Iowa leader who wishes to participate should contact Grassley or his studio for further details.

Exchange program seeking host families

Host families are being sought for high school students from 15 foreign countries for the 1987-88 school year. Those interested should contact the International Center, Jefferson Building.

"Buckle-up" planned for Memorial Day

Traffic accidents claimed 364 Iowa lives in 1986, according to National Safety Council figures.

In an attempt to curtail further fatalities this year, traffic officials exclaimed that seat belts are "the national All-American Buckle-up" to take place May 13-15, challenging individuals, families and business groups to join the buckle-up drive.

Riders, director of Iowa Traffic Safety Now, said: "This is a time when we can really make a difference in this state. Let's get some of these families involved."

UI program sends elderly back to school

A program designed for elderly people who are widowed or will soon become tenants is expected to attract college-aged students.

The program, called "GRANDMOTHERS, will be located on the campus of the University of Iowa. The program offers a variety of endowed programs and enrichment activities, some of which are scheduled for specific ages. The program is designed to provide a variety of educational opportunities to students who are interested in interacting with the elderly.

Thursday's events

Chairman of the Iowa Senate, Bruce Wheaton, director of Continuing Education and Special Programs, will take the core mandate of the day.

Collegiate Cultural Center, Thursday, 12-1 p.m.

Israel, occupied lands discussed tonight

Michael Rahe, a professor at Drake University, will lecture on the use of Israel in historical military and political events.

The presentation will be held on Thursday at the Iowa City Community Welfare Office in the Community Center, Iowa City.

Israel will speak Wednesday, April 28 at the Iowa International Center, Jefferson Building.

A place on the map

"Iowa? Where's Iowa? It's not even on the map! Ha, ha, ha.

Well, it's time to put this little joke to rest. Iowa is on the map, of course. In fact, it is one of the most stable, reliable states in the minds of thousands of people between the Rocky Mountains and the Minnesota border. The state is a staunchly Republican bastion, served by the Meredith Corporation, a Des Moines-based publisher.

Iowa's role in the future marketing data for its new magazine, Midwest Living, Meredith added more than two million new names to its mailing list, including the all-important "Iowa" query. What is it? Answers ranged from Kansas to Wisconsin, but only Iowa was mentioned by all the respondents. In the end, the publishers decided to target the 12 states which make up the Cornhusker-North Central states: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin.

The results of the survey may not seem like much to get terribly excited about, that's true. But on the other hand, it's nice to know Iowa's general location is firmly rooted in the consciousness of a broad cross section of America. This is what the Ranchers state is prepared to confront with Ohio and Idaho, at least on the poll's results side of the room. We're all dressed up for about 10 years ago and was divided up among Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin.

Dear C.A.
How insightful. Yes, I'm surely biding my time until I can find the time to write you a letter about my most recent experiences in the field of education. I would like to express to you my appreciation for your recent letter and to acknowledge the receipt of the additional materials which were enclosed. I hope you will continue to keep me informed of any developments in this field.

Dear C.A.
I received your letter and am glad to hear from you. I hope you are well and that all is going well with you. Please keep in touch and let me know how things are.

Crucial issues surface in 1988

By Bob Hopp

MERICA is at a crossroad. As we did after World War II — when we began the Strategic Defense Initiative, when we went to the moon, when we mounted joint military exercises in NATO — our country is at a historical turning point. The choice of candidates in the 1988 elections which will likely determine national politics for the next several decades.

Do we go along with the Strategic Defense Initiative? Do we commit ourselves to a nuclear arms race that will simply ensure our own destruction? Do we put our faith in the arms control agreements that we have negotiated with the Soviet Union? Do we continue to support the Strategic Defense Initiative? We must continue to support the Strategic Defense Initiative.

The issues aren't just concerned with some far away national policy. They are matters of how we live our lives and what our communities are about.

Guest Opinions

Strategic Defense Initiative, military commitments in the Philippines and Western Europe and a $200 billion defense budget. We spend a lot of money and that's a major proportion of our national income. We are concerned about the future of our country. We are concerned about the future of our children. We are concerned about the future of our grandchildren. We are concerned about the future of our grandchildren's children.

Citizens for a Sound Economy President Richard Pink said, "If the U. S. government should take a line of protestations, we can fully expect other nations to retaliate against American exports." Pink said that just this year, retaliation against U. S. exports affected over 30,000 jobs in U. S. legislation pending in both the U. S. House and Senate has narrowed the window of hope for American exports. Infections of raw material for the American market, said the bill is needed to change the perception of American exporters into the trap of charge and counter-charge on trade, he added.

The New York Times quoted the New York Times quoted Assistant Prosecutor Gregory Waples, who described the case as something out of the "Twilight Zone." Waples said Goetz, 39, has been charged with four counts of murder, four counts of assault, reckless endangerment and illegal weapons possession. Deputy defense lawyer Barry Schwartz followed Waples and described the case as something out of the "Twilight Zone.""If we need a trial of thousands of pages, it is the day to clear up the facts in this case," said Assistant U. S. Attorney Robert Sproule.

Scarfo, the reputed leader of the mob in Philadelphia and in New Jersey, has been charged with two murders for which he is to be tried later. Scarfo also has been implicated in at least a dozen other killings, the law enforcement official said Monday. He is scheduled to stand trial early next year, the official China Daily newspaper said Monday. The newspaper said Monday closed all offices in Egypt as a protest against the PLO leaders who were forced to bow to the demands of the PLO leadership. The Egyptian delegation, Taha Yassin Ramadan, has been implicated in at least a dozen other killings, the official China Daily newspaper said Monday.

Carolyn32 Chiang, the acting head of the PLO leadership, was forced to tell her delegates, "The differences that we are trying to resolve with Egypt are not just in the Camp David accords and in the revision of the Camp David accords and in the revision of the Camp David accords."

Film falls short of potential

By Neil Olsen

EXTREME Prejudice is an exciting, well-acted film, but it falls short of its potential, one critic charges. A well-crafted story of intrigue, the film provides an accurate view into the world of top-secret missions, usually involved with U.S. and Mexican governments. The film revolves around a group of top-secret agents who are sent on a top-secret mission to Mexico to recover a stolen suitcase. The group consists of a group of agents who are all highly trained and experienced. The mission, complete with expensive technology, is an odd mix of espionage, and the requisite, double-cross, ends in disaster.

Unfortunately, Extreme Prejudice doesn't do the same. In this year of movies that don't deliver, Extreme Prejudice is one of the films that doesn't deliver. A group of agents is sent on a top-secret mission to Mexico to recover a stolen suitcase. The group consists of a group of agents who are all highly trained and experienced. The mission, complete with expensive technology, is an odd mix of espionage, and the requisite, double-cross, ends in disaster.

THE FILM COULD ask what is going on here, and supply a preview of the film's raison d'être. It offers no such thing, only a group of agents who are all highly trained and experienced. The mission, complete with expensive technology, is an odd mix of espionage, and the requisite, double-cross, ends in disaster. A group of agents who are all highly trained and experienced. The mission, complete with expensive technology, is an odd mix of espionage, and the requisite, double-cross, ends in disaster.

Naturally, the narrative is long and meandering, making the film's pastime or, at least, somewhat realistic. Unfortunately, Extreme Prejudice doesn't do the same. In this year of movies that don't deliver, Extreme Prejudice is one of the films that doesn't deliver.

Unfortunately, Extreme Prejudice doesn't do the same. In this year of movies that don't deliver, Extreme Prejudice is one of the films that doesn't deliver. A group of agents is sent on a top-secret mission to Mexico to recover a stolen suitcase. The group consists of a group of agents who are all highly trained and experienced. The mission, complete with expensive technology, is an odd mix of espionage, and the requisite, double-cross, ends in disaster.

THE FILM COULD ask what is going on here, and supply a preview of the film's raison d'être. It offers no such thing, only a group of agents who are all highly trained and experienced. The mission, complete with expensive technology, is an odd mix of espionage, and the requisite, double-cross, ends in disaster. A group of agents who are all highly trained and experienced. The Iowa volleyball club competed at the Midwest Championships Saturday at Madison, Wis. Taking third place in their bracket, the team reached the National Championships, finishing in 10th place.

It was the first time the Iowa club ever made a medal at the Midwest Championships, according to Coach Kent. "It was a great performance, the team didn't have much of a chance at the start," added Kent. "But we had a good game."

The Midwest Classic Tournament at Washington University was held last weekend. The University volleyball club placed second, with the Midwest Regional Champions taking first place.

The club will host its only home contest of the season when it faces Wisconsin-Madison and Wisconsin-Milwaukee Saturday in a round-robin tournament at the field by the Hawkeye Drive Apartments beginning at 11 a.m.

The Hawkeye volleyball club placed the Marquette Spartans, 3-0, on the strength of two goals by Les Atrens.

"If you good." Faculty Advisor Real Cott said of the victory which earned the club's record of 1-0. "I think the weights were the biggest in the game."

The club, which practices Wednesdays and Fridays from 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. has practiced in the Hawkeye Drive Apartments for the last three years.

The University volleyball club will play on Sunday at the field by the Hawkeye Drive Apartments. The club competes at a tournament at Waterfall, Ill.

Sports medicine program gives awareness seminar

By Cathy Comen

Many have praised Iowa's athletic program for winning one of the most seven titles in the country. However, many people are unaware of the important role sports medicine specialists play in supporting the athletes who participate in these events.

The seminar, which was held at the downtown Holiday Inn, was attended by a wide range of people, including coaches, athletes, and sports medicine specialists.

"We have a mentality to connect sports medicine specialists with athletes," said Coach Spengel. "It's very important to have a strong relationship between the athlete and the medical team.

The seminar, which was well-received, focused on the importance of sports medicine in preventing and treating injuries, as well as on the role of sports medicine specialists in promoting overall health and wellness.

By retaining the services of a professional sports medicine specialist, athletes can receive high-quality care tailored to their specific needs. This care can help athletes to achieve their full potential and maximize their performance in their respective sports.

The seminar concluded with a session on the latest research in sports medicine, as well as on the role of sports medicine specialists in the future of athletic training and performance.
Iowa takes pair from Drake

Iowa softball pitcher Tracy Langhurst said she did not want a doubleheader sweep of Drake to ruin the Big Ten's last chance to claim a share of the league title.

Langhurst said the Hawkeyes have already secured a berth in the NCAA tournament, but wants to end the Big Ten action this weekend.

"The conference title is important, but I think it's more important to try to win the Big Ten because we have already qualified for the tournament," Langhurst said.

Iowa heads into the weekend with a 34-9 record. Drake enters the weekend with a 29-20 record.

The Hawks are one game behind the Hawkeyes in the conference race, and a four-game series with Iowa would clinch the conference title for the Hawkeyes.

Iowa and Drake will play a doubleheader Saturday at 11 a.m. and a single game Sunday at 11 a.m. at the Iowa Softball Complex in Coralville.

The Hawks won the first game of the doubleheader, 10-4, on a hard single by Langhurst in the top of the fourth inning.

The Hawks were led by Langhurst, who pitched a complete game and allowed only six hits.

Iowa took the second game, 8-5, courtesy of a two-run home run by Iowa's Stephanie Cypret in the bottom of the third inning.

The Hawks were led by pitcher Tracy Langhurst, who threw a complete game and allowed only three hits.

Hawkeyes await NFL draft calls

By Steve Williams
Assistant Sports Editor

The Hawkeyes will headline the names of Iowa football players hoping to be chosen in this year's 1997 NFL Draft.

Tasman was the honor boy for the Hawkeyes in last year's NCAA tournament in two rounds. His performances in 1986 earned him a trip to the Japan Bowl.

"I've been looking forward to the NFL Draft ever since I was a little kid," Tasman said. "I've been dreaming about this for years."

"I've always been interested in the NFL," Tasman said. "I've always been a fan of the NFL and I've always wanted to play in the NFL."

Tasman said he is confident he will be chosen in the first round of the NFL Draft, which begins Thursday.

"I've been working hard to prepare for the NFL Draft," Tasman said. "I've been working hard to prepare for the draft and I'm ready for whatever happens."
