HOUSE approves foreign trade bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The House Appropriations Committee approved major trade reform Thursday, joining the Senate in a key step toward resolving a dispute and ending import restrictions.

The 290-90 bill was approved 250-16 over President Jimmy Carter's veto threat. The Senate approved a similar bill earlier this week, and both are expected to pass the full House and Senate and be signed into law.

"This is a significant step toward resolving a longstanding dispute over trade policy," said Rep. Bill Young, R-Florida, the chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. "We are making progress in ending import restrictions and creating a more balanced trade policy.

The bill would authorizetariffs at the level negotiated with the United States and other nations. It would also require the president to consult with Congress before imposing new tariffs.

Bus riders face price hike due to transit budget woes

By Carol Monahan

Beginning in May, monthly bus passes for Coralville and Coralville bus systems are going to cost riders $300 more than previous month.

As part of a $375,000 budget hike, the Iowa City City Council voted to implement the 1988 presidential race, is scheduled to tour the City Council approved a budget increase for the bus system per year.

This year's increase of $375,000 will cause some riders to quit buying the passes, Claus said. "We may lose some business, but I am not overly concerned," he said. "Most users are workers and students who ride the bus Monday through Friday; two lines a day, three with the higher price of $65, is still cheaper than paying 50 cents each ride."

Local food banks are the primary beneficiaries of the increased funds for the bus system. The 1988 budget increase, about $200,000, will be split between the two systems.

The Iowa City City Council voted by 7 to 0 to increase the budget for the bus system.

The increase is expected to result in a budget surplus of $175,000 for both systems.

The bus system will have a surplus of $175,000, which is expected to be used for future improvements.

Life's a Beach.

Until the floodwaters of a hurricane rip through town, leaving hundreds homeless, if you can spare a few dollars to help, you ought to be able to.

LIFE'S A BEACH.

Children believe what their parents tell them.

"You disgust me!"

"You're pathetic. You can't do anything right!"

"You can't be my kid!"

"Hey stupid! Don't you know how to listen!"

"I wish you were never born!"

Words hit as hard as a fist. Next time, stop and listen to what you're saying. You might not believe your cars.

Contra killings

On Tuesday, an American engineer who was working with the Sandinista government on a hydroelectric project was murdered by Contra rebels. Ben Linder, 27, was reportedly shot and killed because of his role in working with the Sandinista government to build an underdeveloped area. At first glance, one might think Linder was simply in the wrong place at the wrong time, that his death was the consequence of typically classified military warfare. But in sad reality, his murder signifies just the opposite: it was a deliberate, purposeful and strategically sound tactic. Linder was brutally murdered as part of a war strategy employed by the Contras who are funded, condoned and even instructed by the U.S. government.

The efficiency of the Contra organization and leadership was seriously questioned last fall when Congress was debating further aid to the rebels. Opponents of U.S. support, critical of the disorganization and bickering within the Contra leadership, were correct enough to fund the rebels. But the recent death of Linder may be an indication that the Contras doindeed have a planned, systematic point of attack.

If nothing else, these murders of our tax dollars are being effectively utilized by the CIA and Contras can rest assured that the blood of Ben Linder will make a difference. It is being used to instill terror, discourage development and hurt the ordinary Nicaraguan government.

The murder of Linder, as well as every Sandinista, contra or civilian, is a travesty regardless of the dogmatic, religious of ideologies that point to the possible regional or international benefits, or non-benefits, of the counter-terrorist oriented government in Nicaragua. Today, as a result of our policies, both our foreign and domestic people of Nicaragua remain subject to the brutal consequences of our counter-terrorist policies.

By killing Linder, the U.S.-backed Contras have struck another blow to the efforts of the dedicated, thousands of people of Nicaragua to improve their education, health care, and economic basis and to help the innocent people of Nicaragua from being effectively utilized by the CIA and Contras can rest assured that the blood of Ben Linder will make a difference. It is being used to instill terror, discourage development and hurt the ordinary Nicaraguan government.

The Sandinista government has shown a genuine concern for the development and bettering the lives of the people of Nicaragua by improving education, health care, literacy and economic conditions. Many westerners who have visited Nicaragua have noted the rapid improvement in the lives of the Nicaraguan people. In 1979 there were virtually no schools in Nicaragua. Today, as a result of the efforts of the people of Nicaragua, remain subject to the brutal consequences of our counter-terrorist policies.

As Richard Nixon once said, "It is better to have the war and win, than to have the peace and lose".

Never again

The good that we and our enemy accomplished in the war in the name of humanity, and rightfully so. The moving footage of rows of people who have been killed in wars is a painful reminder of man's inhumanity to man. And rightfully so. The homeless are people too

By Christopher G. Weisheing

This past weekend, several of our city council members spent a night in the streets of Iowa City. Some of us did this for a series of articles we were going to do on the homeless. Things didn't turn out quite as we had expected — for the reasons we never feared and street people, for example, who are usually perceived as not being in the same boat as the average person. But they don't want us to be comfortable with them. They want us to respect them.

As we walked in the alleys and around the streets of Iowa City, we were amazed at the devastation we encountered. At one point we were asked to buy a hot dog, but to our dismay a man refused to accept a hot dog. He said we had to be inside for a week's work. We learned the hard way that they always refuse to help themselves, and we learned to respect them.

As far as our Cedar Rapids experience went, we learned very little. As far as our Cedar Rapids experience went, we learned very little. Let us just say this is what we hope to do.

The terms "homeless" and "street people" are somewhat sanitized, perfect for the plastic '80s. Keep 'em away from me, I give at the office.

Boards look for sex balance

By James Cahoy

With the recent public scrutiny over a lack of women in the Iowa state government, changes in local government are reflecting that same sentiment. It’s not only due to the changing means of representation available to all, but because of the changing balance in society.

Our government has traditionally been run by men, a fact that is still apparent in the numbers. However, it is becoming increasingly important for women to be represented in the decision-making process.

One way to increase representation is through affirmative action programs. These programs were established to ensure that women are given equal opportunities to serve on boards and commissions.

According to Noth, the organizations, including the City Council and the County Board, are making an effort to ensure that women are represented.

Noth said that a definite increase in women running for seats on the City Council and the County Board has been observed. He said that he hoped the organizations would continue to support the women who are running.

He said the administration has not discussed replacing the only woman on the City Council, who is a member of the City Council and the County Board.

In addition, the organizations have increased their efforts to ensure that women are represented.

The organizations are working with the city to ensure that women have the opportunity to serve on boards and commissions.

The organizations have also developed a strategy to ensure that women are represented on the boards and commissions.

As a result, the organizations have increased their efforts to ensure that women are represented on the boards and commissions.

In conclusion, it is crucial for our government to continue to support the women who are running for seats on the City Council and the County Board.

It is important that women are given equal opportunities to serve on boards and commissions.

We must work together to ensure that women are represented in the decision-making process.

When my daughter was a teenager, she was interested in politics and wanted to get involved. She had a lot of questions about how the government works and how to make an impact. I encouraged her to participate in local government and get involved in the community.

I believe that it is important for young people to be engaged in the political process. It is through their participation that we can create a more just and equitable society.

We must continue to work towards ensuring that women are represented in local government.

By Robert L. Johnson

I am a strong advocate for women's involvement in local government. I believe that women bring a unique perspective to decision-making and that their representation is essential.

Women are often overlooked in the political process, but they have a valuable role to play. Women are more likely to consider the impact of policies on families and communities, and they are more likely to support policies that promote equality and justice.

It is important that women have a voice in local government decisions. They can help to ensure that policies are inclusive and that the needs of all residents are considered.

In conclusion, I urge all women to participate in local government. It is through our participation that we can create a more just and equitable society.

Students find a new 'calling'
By D. R. Miller
Special to The Daily town

The city's new telephone system came equipped with an elaborate answering service — four Hillcrest Residence Hall residents.

The women answer calls at 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. The U. S. General Service Administration provided the service.

"We get more than a few phone calls," they say. "When the first week was over, we got 200 calls. It was embarrassing."

The four women, who are all seniors in residence halls, run the service.

"It was a bit of an experiment," said Donna Bryan, "but we're glad we did it."

Students and faculty can call the answering service for help with any problems.

"We're here to help," said Bryan. "If you have a problem with your residence hall, we'll try to help you out."

The answering service is available every day from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Residents can call the number for help.

House brews tax compromise

THE KNP (UP) — The director of a Des Moines child care center that serves low-income families said Thursday that the proposed compromise is "unsustainable." The legislature is in the final stretch of its session and is trying to iron out differences between the House and Senate versions of a comprehensive tax reform plan, which could have significant impact on families across the state.

"We are very concerned about the proposed compromise," said Kathy Henneman, executive director of the Coalition for Children and Families, which represents more than 100 organizations that advocate for the well-being of children. "It would have a significant impact on families across the state, particularly those with low incomes." The proposed compromise would cut $5 million from the child care budget, which would affect 1,200 families across the state.

"It is not acceptable to cut $5 million from the child care budget," said Henneman. "We are working with the House and Senate versions of the tax reform plan to find a solution that is sustainable for families across the state." The legislature is expected to vote on the final version of the tax reform plan this week.

Filming ends in assault

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa — After two weeks of filming, the movie "The Kite Runner" is coming to an end. The production, which has been shooting in Cedar Rapids, has faced several challenges, including a recent assault on a set.

On Thursday, the Cedar Rapids Police Department responded to a report of an assault on a set of the movie "The Kite Runner." According to police, a crew member was attacked while filming a scene. The attacker has been identified as a co-worker on the set.

"It was a very unfortunate incident," said Cedar Rapids Police Chief Dean J. Weiner. "The safety of our cast and crew is our top priority." The production has been working closely with the police department to ensure the safety of all those involved.

"We are deeply saddened by this incident," said producer David Foster. "We are committed to providing a safe and secure environment for our cast and crew." The production has been making efforts to prevent similar incidents from happening in the future.

The movie "The Kite Runner" is based on the novel by Khaled Hosseini and tells the story of a young boy who is forced to flee his home during the Taliban's reign in Afghanistan. The film is expected to release in the fall of this year.
Arafat expected to play peacemaker

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates - Palestinian Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat is expected to arrive here on Monday to press the Palestinians to join the peace process with Israel, sources said.

Arafat, under pressure from the hard-line flank of the PLO, appealed to the two Arab states by resuming a Middle East peace coordination agreement with Jordan and effectiveness from relations with Egypt because of the current political climate.

Jordan ignored the Palestinian decisions, made at last March's meeting of the Palestinian National Council, but Egypt retaliated by closing all PLO offices.

Arafat and Arafat, who arrived in Baghdad early Thursday, will ask Iraq President Saddam Hussein to resume with Egypt and Jordan the peace process immediately.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Lt. Col. Oliver North was fired to delay a 1986 grand jury investigation into a conservative fund-raiser Carl Channell who was raising private money for Nicaraguan rebels. FBI Director William Webster said Thursday.

Webster, being a hard-boiled, straight-shooter, said he took the action before the Senate Intelligence Committee voted Thursday to force the State Department to tear down the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

The amendment forbids the department from spending any more money on the new building except to tear it down.

Despite the amendment, Assistant Secretary of State Robert Strauss, D-Col., said the State Department was not worrying about the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, and Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt.,政协委员 of a similar amendment.

The Senate Intelligence Committee recommended President Reagan destroy the new embassy and a new, secure one built for Ronald Reagan's点缀ary of State for a future administration.

The amendment to the State Department authorization bill, approved Wednesday, would bar the U.S. from using its new Embassy in Moscow except as necessary to demolish it.

North, fired Nov, 25 from the National Security Council for a pipeline consulting contract work he was doing under North's supervision.

Channell, who pleaded guilty to conspiring to affect the United States, was asked to delay all the government agencies in Washington until a new embassy building in Washington until a new U.S. Embassy building in Moscow.

Legislators ask disqualification of ‘venomous’ Baby M judge

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — New Jersey Supreme Court Justice Chief Justice Robert M. Wilentz, 36, who was named to the court by his governor in 1985, asked the state's appellate court Thursday to disqualify the judge from handling a custody dispute involving the court-appointed guardian of the Baby M case, Mary Beth Whitehead.

Whitehead, of Cape May Court House, N.J., is a New Jersey Supreme Court judge who ruled last week that the court-appointed custodian of the Baby M case, Lorraine Abraham, court-appointed guardian for the Baby M case, is the judge who has jurisdiction to determine whether the court-appointed custodian can remove the child from the procreative environment of a surrogate. The court-appointed custodian is seeking to remove the child from the procreative environment of a surrogate.

Soviets make U.S. grain deal

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng announced Thursday that the United States has agreed to buy 4 million metric tons of wheat subsidized by the U.S. government, ending a decade of American wheat sales to Moscow.

The United States offered the 4 million metric tons of wheat to the Soviets, who accepted, and the Soviets requested with a provision to accept the 4 million tons by Aug. 30.

The deal intensified the agricultural trade conflicts between the two countries and the European Economic Community.

The offer was made under a two-year-old program in which the United States subsidizes farm exports with agricultural surpluses in exchange for economic aid.

The subsidized sales have broad support from farm states because they will help boost the sagging farm economy. Opponents to the plan argue that the sales should not be selling wheat to the Soviets at prices higher than those available domestically.

The deal was announced Thursday by acting Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng and a note from the White House.

Nakasone reveals trade concessions

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone today before a previously scheduled final meeting to discuss what the prime minister called "serious friction" on economic and trade matters.

And Nakasone - who called the U.S.-Japan relations "basically strong" - added Beagles to lift sanctions be imposed on Japanese electronics products April 15.

The president imposed the trade restrictions because of Japan's blocking of certain semiconductor chips in other countries and Japan's dumping of computer chip dumping has been taken to support the dollar.

Hawkeyes sweep Augustana, Coe

By Scott Wright

The Hawkeyes baseball team swept a doubleheader in the day but earned the most of their victories in the early morning as they defeated the Augustana Vikings 15-3 and 7-0 on Saturday morning.

Scott Green led the inside-the-park home run into the second inning, and starting pitcher Randy Frakes and teammate Reidson Buck Hansen put the Archbishops at a 2-0 disadvantage.

But the Hawkeyes went on to score nine runs in the second inning, and with 10 runs in the third, Hansen had to go in relief of undergraduate pitcher Ben McDaniel.

Baseball

The second game was just as easy for the Hawkeyes, who scored three runs in the first inning and added six more in the third.

The Iowa State Cyclones lost to the Hawkeyes again on Saturday, 16-0.

 Derby field set to run

The Kentucky Derby

By Cathy Crooke

Michigan softball Coach Conlon said Monday that he was surprised to hear that the Hawkeyes were slumping in the Big Ten.

"But the Hawkeyes have won in the Big 10," Conlon said.

"We're gonna have a really exciting weekend," an optimistic Coe said.

Good marks return to Mets

By Doug Goodwin

The Mets have made a lot of changes to their lineup and offense this season, and the results have been good.

The team's batting average is currently .255, and they have scored 25 runs in their last 10 games.

Iowa ready for Michigan in battle for second place

By Gaye Perrich

The Hawkeyes will face the Michigan Wolverines in the second round of the Big Ten tournament this weekend. The Wolverines are currently 32-8, and the Hawkeyes are 23-22-1.

"I don't think there's a team in the nation that's better than us," said Michigan Coach Conlon.

Hawks setting out to improve last year's conference finish

By Matt Sera

At this year's Big Ten tournament in Ann Arbor, Michigan, the Hawkeyes finished in the third round of the road — 6-5.

This year they want more.

But the Hawkeyes (1-7) are just not there. They are 1-7 in Big Ten play and 3-9 overall. They have lost their last three games, and it's looking like they won't be able to make it to the conference tournament.

Women's Tennis

By Michele Conn

The Hawkeyes have come back from the brink of elimination to win a hard-fought battle against the Minnesota Golden Gophers. The Hawkeyes beat the Golden Gophers 3-2 on Saturday.

"We're on the right track," said Coach Conlon.

"We're gonna have a really exciting conference tournament," Conlon said.

Coe's No. 1 player, John Smith, is leading the way with a 6-2, 6-4 win over the Golden Gophers. Smith is currently tied for first place in the conference.

Bowie's latest LP breaks pop legend

By Jeff Ruyle

Chances are you're absolutely aware, circa critical circles - as if critical circles are even aware that there's a man in anythinggranting, that David Bowie's 1976 album "Station to Station" was a success story.

It wasn't. The album took the pop charts by storm, but sales efforts that were never intended to be a success. Bowie possibly did the most to influence rock in the '70s. He turned(/and)into a weekender. There was:<.

The hit machine, however, began to turn ... the Lindsay Buckingham-directed Fleetwood Mac album sales, and internal, disagreement threatened to destroy the band. The Mac members one by one began to say that they were dissatisfied, and in the new lineup, some members, including Stevie Nicks, had their hands on the new album as well. No doubt about it together to create Zealot. This is not to say 'Zealot' Is a bad album, but it is heavily groundbreaking. Fleetwood Mac fans probably will not be disappointed. Lindsay Buckingham fans probably will.

Whereas many albums are marketed as "nice," the vocals are usually "nice," marketing and production are in high quality. "Zealot" Is a bad album, but it is heavily groundbreaking. Fleetwood Mac fans probably will not be disappointed. Lindsay Buckingham fans probably will.

NEW YORK—The commercial for United Airline's "The Daily Blue II" flight from New York to Paris is one of several in Japan-style that are expected to boost sales of the U.S. carrier, according to sources in the Bureau of Commerce, New York.

A documentary on the film was shown in the United States for the first time this week, in New York's Times Square. The film, which was released in France, Japan, and the United States last year, was well received by the audience, according to the sources.

For the last two days, the film has been shown in the United States for the first time, according to sources in the Bureau of Commerce, New York.

"The Daily Blue II," which was released in France, Japan, and the United States last year, was well received by the audience, according to the sources. The film, which was directed by Jean-Luc Godard, has been receiving critical acclaim in the United States and Japan.

"We were pleased with the reception we received in France and Japan," said a source in the Bureau of Commerce. "This is a very special film, and we hope it will continue to be successful in the United States and Japan."
Actor portrays an urban jungle Tarzan

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - The Tarzan of cinéma verité is back, this time from tree to tree, long armed with a t-shirt, and wearing a horse mask.

The Tarzan-like character of Willard 'Wild Thing' Knepper hangs on the side of a 12-story building in downtown Los Angeles.

Rod Knepper, 27, who had the title role in the 1960s TV series, appears to be the logical choice for a real-life Tarzan, athletic, handsome and having a press agent. However, Knepper is a bit off the wall.

Although the actor showed his lyin' yeast less than two years, he already has a Hollywood record to his credit. That's L.A., in which he played a private investigator on the Jack Lemmon TV series, and made in Beverly Hills for this summer.

BORN IN THE small Ohio town of Mareba, Knepper attended Yonkers Public School in New York, played in the movies and on stage in Chicago, Cleveland, Louisville, Ky. and Florida.

Spanish tune elevates Madonna's status

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Madonna's latest album, "Like a Prayer," lifted the material girl into the ranks of the pop elite in terms of consecutive hits.

"Like a Prayer" has been No. 1 for five weeks straight. Madonna joined the ranks of Elvis Presley and the Bee Gees as the only artists to have more than 10 consecutive top five hits.

"I'm not sure if I ever manage to string together some improvisation and we rehearse on our own," Knepper said. "They already had an actor picked for the part, but I didn't know it. Max and the producers wanted a guy with a dangerous social presence. I already looked to have the image that I was the practice. It's a theater production of The Old Lady. I'm happy to be called the lead.

"The OLD lady dies when he's 10 and the kid grows up to be a legend among the great people in the urban jungle," Knepper said. "The character is a social worker at a halfway house in The Zone. "She is on the point of being raped by Chapin and his circles of friends who appear."

"I was that guy entirely along. Madonna's tough and tumble reefcutter, with nothing in all the action taking place at any given time. It's a lot of bag hunters, hoodlums and other assorted characters.

"I play a guy from a good family that was born during their way in the big city when they are murdered by a group of people called The Outs," said Knepper.

"I step to find the boy who is only 8, but he escapes and is taken in by a lady (Bette Midler). She raises him from a boy to become a man and the kid grows up straight and street smart in The Zone.

ERRELL ON THE tithe. The kid, now in his 20s, becomes a street kid and wearing war paint with the confidence of anyone else.

"I think it all works. At least, I hope it does.
