Adviser: Reagan knew of dealings

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Robert McFarlane, a former U.S. national security adviser, said Monday that President Ronald Reagan had a far greater role in previously known efforts by the administration to negotiate the release of American hostages held by Iran than has been known.

The former national security adviser said he knew Iran had shipped millions of dollars for the Centans and Reagan said he was involved with the secret negotiations, even though previous reports said only that Reagan was aware of the shipments.

Another senior administration aide said he knew Iran had shipped millions of dollars for the hostages and Reagan was aware of the secret negotiations. The former national security adviser said he knew Iran had shipped millions of dollars for the hostages and Reagan was aware of the secret negotiations. The former national security adviser said he knew Iran had shipped millions of dollars for the hostages and Reagan was aware of the secret negotiations.

This new evidence could further damage Reagan's already shaky presidency. McFarlane's statements come as the United States is considering its policy toward Iran, which is suspected of being involved in the October 1983 embassy attack in Lebanon.

The White House did not immediately comment on McFarlane's statements.

McFarlane, who served as the head of the National Security Council under Reagan, said he had been involved in the negotiations to free the hostages.

He said he had been involved in the negotiations to free the hostages.

McFarlane, who served as the head of the National Security Council under Reagan, said he had been involved in the negotiations to free the hostages.

He said he had been involved in the negotiations to free the hostages.
Regional

---

Last-minute tax bill worries Bransstad

The Iowa House and Senate reached an agreement on a last-minute tax bill Monday that has caused some lawmakers to worry that it could reduce state spending on health care.

The bill, which would allow the state to continue supporting the Medicaid expansion program for one year, is set to pass both chambers this week. However, some members of the House and Senate have raised concerns about the bill's impact on health care spending.

Police

---

Police in Cedar Falls arrest man who robbed convenience store

Cedar Falls police have arrested a man who is suspected of robbing a convenience store in the city.

The man, identified as 26-year-old John Doe, was arrested in the early morning hours of Monday, according to police. He was found to be in possession of a firearm and had an outstanding warrant for his arrest.

Courts

---

Judge denies motion to dismiss case

A judge has denied a motion to dismiss a case in which a defendant is charged with assault and battery.

The defendant is accused of attacking a victim with a baseball bat during a bar fight. The judge ruled that there was sufficient evidence to proceed with the case.

Correction

---

The Daily Iowan regrets an error in a recent story. In the story about the Iowa City Police Department, it was stated that the department had arrested a suspect in a burglary case. However, the police department has stated that they have not made any arrests in the case.

Police

---

Police in Coralville arrest man who robbed convenience store

Coralville police have arrested a man who is suspected of robbing a convenience store in the city.

The man, identified as 26-year-old John Doe, was arrested in the early morning hours of Monday, according to police. He was found to be in possession of a firearm and had an outstanding warrant for his arrest.

Courts

---

Judge denies motion to dismiss case

A judge has denied a motion to dismiss a case in which a defendant is charged with assault and battery.

The defendant is accused of attacking a victim with a baseball bat during a bar fight. The judge ruled that there was sufficient evidence to proceed with the case.

Correction

---

The Daily Iowan regrets an error in a recent story. In the story about the Iowa City Police Department, it was stated that the department had arrested a suspect in a burglary case. However, the police department has stated that they have not made any arrests in the case.

Police

---

Police in Coralville arrest man who robbed convenience store

Coralville police have arrested a man who is suspected of robbing a convenience store in the city.

The man, identified as 26-year-old John Doe, was arrested in the early morning hours of Monday, according to police. He was found to be in possession of a firearm and had an outstanding warrant for his arrest.

Courts

---

Judge denies motion to dismiss case

A judge has denied a motion to dismiss a case in which a defendant is charged with assault and battery.

The defendant is accused of attacking a victim with a baseball bat during a bar fight. The judge ruled that there was sufficient evidence to proceed with the case.

Correction

---

The Daily Iowan regrets an error in a recent story. In the story about the Iowa City Police Department, it was stated that the department had arrested a suspect in a burglary case. However, the police department has stated that they have not made any arrests in the case.
University

Rienow, Slater hall residents engage in cross-street battle

By Joseph Lavy

Rienow residents have filed a suit against UI administration. A Group of approximately 50 residents engaged in a cross-street window battle on Sunday evening, leaving windows broken and one window broken on the ground floor.

According to Administration, a number of residents have filed suit against UI administration. The suit was filed late last Monday evening, and the case is now pending.

Residents have been in a legal battle with UI administration for several years. The residents have filed numerous complaints with University Security Services, the Iowa City Police Department, and the Iowa Attorney General's Office.

In a statement released by UI administration, they said, "We regret the delay and we understand the concerns of the residents. We are working to resolve this matter as quickly as possible."

ATTENTION: FACULTY & STAFF
From: University Parking Services
Due to a delay, 1987-88 parking permit applications will be mailed out in late May or early June.

Applications must be returned by July 1 for priority parking assignments.

We regret the delay. If you have questions, call the Parking Office: 335-1475.

The Daily Iowan

Sell Back Your
U$ED BOOKS
for
CA$H

May 7 - 9
& 11 - 16
9 am to 5 pm

Iowa Book & Supply Co.

Due West from The Old Capitol

Buck Up For Life

Wearing seat belts saves lives.
And in Iowa, it's our law.

Governor's Traffic Safety Bureau

Attention:

Keep your working parts in order.

GRADUATION SALE

20% off our entire stock
Today through Sunday only!

The Daily Iowan — Iowa City, Iowa — Tuesday, May 12, 1987 — Page 3
Laser promises, threats

The Iowa Legislature gave final approval to a $306.4-million bond issue Monday for the construction of the new UI Laser Center and remodeling of the old UI law building.

Although the remodeling of the old law building is well along, construction of the laser center is not far behind, as evidenced by the interest state legislators, university personnel and Iowa citizens have shown during the past several weeks.

Backers of the laser center stress that construction of the facility will have positive effects not only for the community, but for the state and even for the country in the future.

The potential for further advances in cancer therapy, for instance, is being cited as one of the most promising. The potential for improvements in the war effort is another.

Although the remodeling of the old law building has been cited as the impetus for the bond issue, it is the laser center project that has captured the imagination of the public.

The potential benefits from continued advancements in the field of laser technology are vast and varied. Improved surgery; the potential to use lasers in medicine; advances in medicine and communications to serve essentially any purpose; the potential that a laser facility will benefit our society; however, continued research and development is necessary. That is where the projects at the UI Laser Center do not turn out to be only initial justification for the bond issue.

Without additional funds, the research center will not be able to move as fast as was hoped.

Everywhere's problem

AIDS is changing the way people think. It is changing the way people act. A new New York City's campaign to avoid deadly disease is being closely watched by public health officials.

Although the number of AIDS victims has reached only 40,000 nationwide, the number in New York City is about 4,000. That number is expected to double each year. The city's directors of the AIDS prevention project are not surprised at the number of New Yorkers who contract the disease every year.

The time for self-mock, low-intensity warnings about AIDS is past if ever it existed. For too long heterosexuals have taken comfort in statistics which make them seem immune. Ninety-one percent of all AIDS victims in the United States are homosexual or bisexual men. Although women and intravenous drug users make it up only 10 percent, heterosexuals make up 10 percent of AIDS victims.

The New York City campaign is honest and hard hitting. It is the way it should be. But hopefully, it will also make them understand the risk they run by continued sexual activity without adequate precautions. When the campaign is over, the awareness about the incurable disease is being so passed along. The campaign is, in essence, an experiment.

It is not clear how many people have seen the ads, but it is clear that the campaign is not only helping people who are already infected with the disease. It is helping people who are not infected.

The campaign is changing the way people think. But is it changing the way people act?)

Exploiting three new terms

By Scott Raab

Today, we explore three new words: "stoners," "criminal trespass" and "Iowa law.

"Loyalty" came up; some in 45 minutes during the managers' 1987-88 preference survey on the campus.

The University of Iowa's Vice President for Finance, Douglas Z. Young, was one of the managers who took part in the survey.

We think maybe Dave and Ronnie get the idea that the students in the state's "in" crowd may be "crimin­ nal trespass" or "Iowa law.

The professor's assistant, "Iowa law" or "crimin­ al trespass," was his second choice. The professor's assistant, "Iowa law" or "crimin­ al trespass," was his second choice.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"It's all about the way people think," said the professor's assistant, "Iowa law" or "crimin­ al trespass." The professor's assistant, "Iowa law" or "crimin­ al trespass," was his second choice.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"It's all about the way people think," said the professor's assistant, "Iowa law" or "crimin­ al trespass." The professor's assistant, "Iowa law" or "crimin­ al trespass," was his second choice.

The professor who never signed a contract and his defense attorney are talking about the way Carlo. Joe, I'm sure you'll find a mob there. And most of them are poodles.

"It's all about the way people think," said the professor who never signed a contract and his defense attorney are talking about the way Carlo.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

"The way the language is written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.

The way the laws are written, the more people who are interviewed, the more likely they are to be proficient in the language of the law.
Aircraft join Chinese troops to battle raging forest fire

Aircraft have joined Chinese troops in a battle against a raging forest fire in the country's northern region.

The fire, which began on March 12, has already consumed more than 1,000 hectares of forest and is spreading rapidly.

The Chinese government has called in the air force to assist in the firefighting efforts.

The fire, which started in a remote area, has forced the evacuation of hundreds of residents.

The government has also deployed additional personnel and equipment to the area to contain the fire.

State rule imposed in Punjab

The government imposed a state of emergency in the state of Punjab today, following a series of violent protests.

The state of emergency was imposed after the government banned a rally scheduled to take place in Lahore.

The rally, organized by a political party, was expected to attract thousands of supporters.

Lawyers and human rights groups have criticized the government's decision.

Thatcher looks to third term

Margaret Thatcher, who is currently serving her third term as Prime Minister, has indicated that she is considering running for a fourth term.

The Prime Minister, whose current term ends in 1992, has not yet officially announced her future plans.

However, sources close to her have suggested that she is considering running for another term.

Thatcher, who has been in power for 11 years, is one of the longest-serving Prime Ministers in British history.

Polish jet wreckage

A Polish jet, which was carrying passengers and crew, crashed in the Alps in 1987.

The crash, which killed all 96 people on board, was one of the worst air disasters in history.

The inquiry into the crash, which lasted several years, revealed that the pilots had ignored warnings about the weather conditions.

The crash caused a major scandal in Poland.

Independent financial resources

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Clouded 30, 60, 90

• chemicals

The settlement该案 of $30 million was reached after nearly four years of negotiation.

The money will be used to compensate victims of the contamination.

The settlement was the result of a class action lawsuit filed in 1990.

Long-delayed trial begins for Barbie

The trial of Barbie, a Nazi Gestapo chief, has finally begun after many delays.

Barbie, who is accused of crimes against humanity, is expected to face a long and complex trial.

The trial, which will take place in Lyon, France, is expected to last several months.

The trial is the second time the case has been brought to court.

The trial is being watched closely by human rights groups around the world.
Aquino's candidates take early lead

MANILA, Philippines — President Corazon Aquino's candidates took an early lead Monday in the first congressional elections in 13 years, but the vote was agreed to postpone that day because of small-scale protests over alleged fraud.

The election is the first since the country's regained national leaders halted. The National-Eastern Movement for Free Elections, citing unofficial returns from less than 1 percent of polled villages, said Aquino's candidates were winning 22 of the 24 seats being sought in the council.

The central and northern regions, according to the movement, were the only areas which showed a clear victory for Aquino. The movement said it planned to release figures after a recount.

But election officials said they would not be able to release final results for at least a week.

TWO-LEADERSHIP

National

McFarlane tells of choosing hostage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time, hostage negotiator Robert McFarlane told Congress Monday that he was told there would be hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran after it was released for three days before the Jan. 1980 hostage-taking.

McFarlane, who later helped negotiate the release of hostages, said that he had been told there was a possibility of hostages being taken.

He did not specify what he meant by the possibility of hostages being taken, but he said he was told there was a chance that the hostages would be released.

He said he was told that the hostages would be released after a meeting with the Iranian government.

The hostages were later released.

U.S. will borrow funds to finance operations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee on Tuesday morning was considering a bill that would allow the Treasury Department to borrow funds to finance operations.

The bill would authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow funds to finance the operations of the government.

The bill is expected to be considered by the Senate on Wednesday.

The bill was introduced by Representative James Wright, a Democrat from Texas, and was supported by Representative Edward Boland, a Democrat from Massachusetts.

Wright said the bill was necessary to ensure that the government could operate effectively.

Boland said the bill was needed to prevent the government from running out of funds.

The bill was supported by Representative Charles Schumer, a Democrat from New York, and by Representative John Boehner, a Republican from Ohio.

The bill was expected to pass by a wide margin.

The bill would allow the Treasury Department to borrow funds to finance the operations of the government.

The bill was introduced by Representative James Wright, a Democrat from Texas, and was supported by Representative Edward Boland, a Democrat from Massachusetts.

Wright said the bill was necessary to ensure that the government could operate effectively.

Boland said the bill was needed to prevent the government from running out of funds.

The bill was supported by Representative Charles Schumer, a Democrat from New York, and by Representative John Boehner, a Republican from Ohio.

The bill was expected to pass by a wide margin.

The bill would authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow funds to finance the operations of the government.

The bill was introduced by Representative James Wright, a Democrat from Texas, and was supported by Representative Edward Boland, a Democrat from Massachusetts.

Wright said the bill was necessary to ensure that the government could operate effectively.

Boland said the bill was needed to prevent the government from running out of funds.

The bill was supported by Representative Charles Schumer, a Democrat from New York, and by Representative John Boehner, a Republican from Ohio.

The bill was expected to pass by a wide margin.

The bill would allow the Treasury Department to borrow funds to finance the operations of the government.

The bill was introduced by Representative James Wright, a Democrat from Texas, and was supported by Representative Edward Boland, a Democrat from Massachusetts.

Wright said the bill was necessary to ensure that the government could operate effectively.

Boland said the bill was needed to prevent the government from running out of funds.

The bill was supported by Representative Charles Schumer, a Democrat from New York, and by Representative John Boehner, a Republican from Ohio.

The bill was expected to pass by a wide margin.

The bill would authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow funds to finance the operations of the government.

The bill was introduced by Representative James Wright, a Democrat from Texas, and was supported by Representative Edward Boland, a Democrat from Massachusetts.

Wright said the bill was necessary to ensure that the government could operate effectively.

Boland said the bill was needed to prevent the government from running out of funds.

The bill was supported by Representative Charles Schumer, a Democrat from New York, and by Representative John Boehner, a Republican from Ohio.

The bill was expected to pass by a wide margin.

The bill would allow the Treasury Department to borrow funds to finance the operations of the government.

The bill was introduced by Representative James Wright, a Democrat from Texas, and was supported by Representative Edward Boland, a Democrat from Massachusetts.

Wright said the bill was necessary to ensure that the government could operate effectively.

Boland said the bill was needed to prevent the government from running out of funds.

The bill was supported by Representative Charles Schumer, a Democrat from New York, and by Representative John Boehner, a Republican from Ohio.

The bill was expected to pass by a wide margin.

The bill would authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow funds to finance the operations of the government.

The bill was introduced by Representative James Wright, a Democrat from Texas, and was supported by Representative Edward Boland, a Democrat from Massachusetts.

Wright said the bill was necessary to ensure that the government could operate effectively.

Boland said the bill was needed to prevent the government from running out of funds.

The bill was supported by Representative Charles Schumer, a Democrat from New York, and by Representative John Boehner, a Republican from Ohio.

The bill was expected to pass by a wide margin.

The bill would allow the Treasury Department to borrow funds to finance the operations of the government.

The bill was introduced by Representative James Wright, a Democrat from Texas, and was supported by Representative Edward Boland, a Democrat from Massachusetts.

Wright said the bill was necessary to ensure that the government could operate effectively.

Boland said the bill was needed to prevent the government from running out of funds.

The bill was supported by Representative Charles Schumer, a Democrat from New York, and by Representative John Boehner, a Republican from Ohio.

The bill was expected to pass by a wide margin.
Arts/entertainment

UI festival showcases skillful writing

By Peyt Olson
Daily Iowan

Two things that the University of Iowa-looking for an effective play is a very difficult undertaking. For starters, there is the problem of where to find both the audience and the plays that will draw them. What do you do when the audience is already there, ready and willing? Where will you find the plays that are relevant and engaging for such an audience?

The answer lies in the University of Iowa's new festival of student theater. The festival, which is scheduled to begin in November, will feature productions by a variety of student groups, including the University of Iowa Repertory Theatre, the University of Iowa Playwrights Workshop, and the University of Iowa Opera Workshop.

The festival will showcase a range of innovative and experimental productions, as well as more traditional works. The plays will be performed in a variety of venues, including the Memorial Union, the UI Playwrights Workshop, and the UI Opera Workshop.

The festival is expected to attract a diverse audience, including students, faculty, and the general public.

Theater

Innovative and experimental productions will be featured, including plays with a social or political message. The festival will also include works that explore new and innovative storytelling techniques.

The festival is expected to run for several weeks, with performances scheduled throughout the day and night.

Entertainment Today

At the Bijou

A movie that has been a hit in the United States, the movie has been adapted for the stage and is currently running in New York. The show, which is a musical comedy, features songs from the film and is directed by a well-known stage director.

Nightlife

A new restaurant has opened in the area, offering a wide variety of dishes and drinks. The restaurant is located on Main Street and is open until late at night.

PAGLIAR'S PIZZA

Frozen Pizzas Always Available
Open Daily 11 am - 10 pm

Forres, 202 South Audubon Rd, Coralville, IA 52241

Club Colle

121 E. College St
TUESDAY NO COVER: 7:30-CLOSING

$150 Pitchers

$100 Bar Liquor

Bottled Beer (50 cent)

The Field House

$1 Burgers, Bar Drinks & Domestic Bottles

$1.50 Imports Pitchers

Sportswriters Wanted

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to sit in the pressbox during an Iowa football game or to talk to the players after a big win? Here's your chance to find out. The Daily Iowan, Iowa's largest city weekly newspaper, is seeking sports writers for the upcoming fall season. For anyone interested in a career in sports writing, The Daily Iowan is the place to begin. If you think sportswriting is for you, contact Steve Williams at The Daily Iowan (325-5849) or come to the Communications Center and pick up an application. All applicants will be considered and experience would be appreciated.
Landis, others await verdict as ‘Twilight’ trial nears end

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Doctor John Landis and four of his associates were being questioned by prosecutor Vic Morley and two children sitting in the courtroom holding up a sign saying, “movie people,” a defense lawyer echoed arguments, May 12.

The four are here not because of what they did, but because of what they didn’t do, or didn’t know. The Landis’ murder trial would have been the last week of the trial but for the Landis fragment of the Twilight Zone. The trial, which was sent to the jury there, was played by Morrow, who learns through his experiences to have tolerance for others.

In Hollywood, Morrow came down against the case. “It’s a Hollywood case, but it’s more than that,” Morrow said. “It’s a case that is about a racial bigot, played by Morrow, who learns tolerance for others.”

The Hollywood case is about a racial bigot, played by Morrow, who learns tolerance for others.

“Why is it there is prejudice against movie people? What is wrong with entertaining people? Is it because everyone is so damn shallow? Why is it that when you feel that everyone you know is a movie person, you feel as if you’re in a bad mood?”

The change came from the move to the restaurant, and Morrow and two children performed. Morrow, 63, and 6-year-old son, 6, who were killed when a helicopter crash, became crippled by special effects in the Twilight Zone. Morrow said he was选用 the Little Women. When the Devil War sequence was over, Morrow said.

There is a special fascination with the last two years of the summer.

American production winning because of what they did, but not simply because they are movie people.

Andrew Lloyd Webber's FOLLIES, the 1937 Noel Gay musical, Alain Boublil-Claude Michel, Victor Hugo’s novel, also won.

Each Disney film has a special basis for its production.

The Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.

The jury’s decision was announced at the Mark Brabant, John Burnet, John Brabant, and the Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle had announced its points, which are slightly more than the usual number for the number of awards won.
DI Classifieds
Room 111 Communications Center
11 am deadline for new ads & cancellations.

APARTMENT FOR RENT
CLIFFS 4 PARTMENTS
Two Bedroom, Two Bath
$450 plus deposit.
Street Address
330-249

AVAILBLE JUNE 1 &
AUGUST 1
CONDOMINIUM
Two Bedroom, One Bath
$250 plus deposit.
Street Address
330-5756

SUMMER LEASING
Two Bedroom, Two Bath
$350 plus deposit.
330-9232

Seville
APARTMENTS
Two Bedroom, One Bath
$350 plus deposit.
Street Address
338-3183

FALL LEASING
Two Bedroom, Two Bath
$350 plus deposit.
Street Address
338-3183

SUMMER LEASING
Two Bedroom, Two Bath
$350 plus deposit.
Street Address
338-3183

LAKESIDE
Two Bedroom, Two Bath
$350 plus deposit.
Street Address
338-3183

DI Classified Ad Blank
Write ad below using one word per blank.
Tennis pros allowed into Seoul Olympics

BY ANTHONY TURKOFF - The International Olympic Committee Monday approved the eligibility of tennis professionals at the 1988 Seoul Olympics.

"It was predictable this was going to happen," tennis great Bob Lendl said of the IOC's decision. "It was unanimously recommended by the Executive Board. Robert Helenko, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said: "It is not a dramatic shift because we had discussed this for some time. But tennis has a long way to go. It is a full-fledged sport drawing more and more professionals and commercial interest. The move, which returns professionals competing at the Olympics after a 68-year interval, was approved by the IOC executive board and the president of the International Tennis Federation and was then announced in Paris.

"I ADMIT THAT RIGHT UP front, as I'm sure you've heard, there are some people who are going to be upset about this decision, which gives professional players competing at the Olympics the same eligibility as any other professional who enters a world championship. But I think I can speak for most of the people who have had confidence in the Olympic movement. I can speak for the president of the International Tennis Federation, the JOC chairman, the president of the international Tennis Association, and the decision was taken with good sense and good judgement.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"There are some people who are going to be upset about this decision, which gives professional players competing at the Olympics the same eligibility as any other professional who enters a world championship. But I think I can speak for most of the people who have had confidence in the Olympic movement. I can speak for the president of the International Tennis Federation, the JOC chairman, the president of the international Tennis Association, and the decision was taken with good sense and good judgement. The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.

"The eligibility rule applies only to the 1988 Games and the future of Olympic tennis teams will depend on the host tournament. The 44 men and 26 women who will be selected must have a professional task for the sake of the sport or a place to live in the athletes village. After that, the possibility of having a team can be made in consultation with the host country. The host country itself might give a team to the host country. The JOC stipulated that the Olympic Games are for the elite of the world, the best in the world, not third or fourth best," he said.