District report praises schools
By Craig Barrett

A commission of professional school teachers, aided by a dedicated support staff, helped create a quality education in the Iowa City Community School district. The district is one of three in the state to receive a recommendation that the school board adopt a new teaching philosophy and method of operation.

The school board held a work session Tuesday evening to discuss the report of the committee of four educators who were appointed to study the philosophy and practice of education in the district.

Mrs. Sabot said he thought some of the schools in the district did not arrive at a final decision at the conclusion of the session. She hoped the work session would be held again in May to allow teachers from all schools involved to attend.

The report from the committee will be submitted in June to the school board for final decision.

The committee will make recommendations to the school board on the following:

One of the committee's 15
members said he was pleased that the property tax, which was to be a major revenue source for many school systems, would probably be an additional to the property tax increase

Locksmiths provide easy UI access

Campus service shop opens more doors than the Avon lady

By D.M. Miller

"Yes! The first thing we noticed at the job was how many open doors for students to get into," said Jed Call, manager of the UI Student Services 24-hour Emergency Locksmith service. "The job requires the maintenance of the building and fire doors and windows, and it is not uncommon for them to be locked at night."

"We have several million doors on campus," said Call, "and only one in six weeks is unable to get into it."

The key shop provides UI Parking Services along with the UI Student Services 24-hour Emergency Locksmith service.

The UI builds its own master key system, something not many places do, said Call. "We use it for security purposes and the system is based on the University of Iowa key system."

Until recently, locksmiths were required to pass key security consults to get into any campus building, said Call. "We had to have a special consultant on campus," said Call, "and it was a very involved process." Call Miller, a key employee of the service, and expressing the locksmiths to work together.

"We learned from the best, but also from others at the side of the fence," said Call. "We all have unique information about what we do and it is important to use that information to benefit the community.

At 10 a.m., because they had worked on hundreds of doorways in the UI, Call and the team needed to get to the next location. "We will be on the road for the next two weeks," said Call. "We can help you with lock troubleshooting as well as lock repairs.

This week the locksmiths have been working on several locations, including the Administration Building and the Life Sciences Library. "We are currently working on the Life Sciences Library," said Call. "We will be working on locking systems that are currently in use.

Until recently, the UI used a master key system to gain access to campus buildings, but now the system is being replaced with a centralized access system. "We are currently working on the centralized access system," said Call. "This will allow us to have a master key for the entire campus.

"With the centralized access system," said Call, "we will be able to provide quick and easy access to campus buildings.

"But the job does have its problems," said Call. "We have had to work on some problems with the centralized access system.

"Most of the problems encountered are related to the centralized access system," said Call. "We have had to work on some issues with the system that have caused some delays.

"The key shop takes part in the UI's best of the best automatic doors, which are designed to provide easy access for disabled students," said Call. "This is a great improvement for the campus.

"The UI now has half of the doors openers installed across campus."
Glass remains hostage despite warning

BEIRUT, Lebanon - Syrian authorities Thursday demanded the release of American Charles Glass and the hostages held by the Islamic fundamentalists against the release of the American prisoners. For the fourth time, talks between the two sides failed to yield results. The Islamic group demanded an unconditional release of the American prisoners. The Syrian government agreed to negotiate with the Islamic group, but demanded that the hostages be freed first. The Syrian government also demanded that the American prisoners be released without any conditions. The talks between the two sides are expected to continue on Friday.

The Islamic group has been demanding the release of the American prisoners for the past few weeks. The group has threatened to kill the hostages if the Syrian government does not meet its demands. The group has also demanded that the United States pay a ransom for the release of the American prisoners.

The American government has rejected the demands of the Islamic group. The United States has been trying to negotiate with the Syrian government to secure the release of the American prisoners. The American government has also been trying to negotiate with the Islamic group to secure the release of the hostages.

Rain halts, Wimbledon gets rolling

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) - Boris Becker, still getting used to the idea of being a world No. 1, could not have been too upset when the rain Thursday caused the postponement of his match with Romania's Ion Ivanisevic.

Neither could he have been too upset when the result was announced: two more days off.

Becker, with his flashy style, had dominated his second-round match with the 15th-seeded Romanian. Becker had won the first two sets and was ahead 2-1 in the third when the rain forced another postponement.

Becker, who needs to win this tournament to complete his grand slam of the four majors, said, "I'm really looking forward to the third round. I've never been in the fourth round before in the world, so I think I'm one of the few players who have a chance to win the tournament."

Becker is scheduled to face fellow German Thomas Muster in the third round. Muster beat Becker during the Open era to upset a world-class match when Becker was the favorite.

Becker, a quarterfinalist at Wimbledon the last two years, has defeated American Martin Fernandez, 6-3, 6-3, and Russian veteran Yevgeny Kafelnikov, 7-6, 6-7 (7-4), 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. Becker closed out his match with a 2-0 lead and second set with an ace.

LINDSAY, the London final, is tied 1-1 heading into the third round.

"I've been trying to get out of the rain for over an hour and the only place I can get out is in the world, where the rain came to two points of dropping the fourth set, which is a break in the 11th game.

Order would be out during a program administered by rain storm.

Payne sees future for Lohaus, Gamble

By Steve Williams

Brad Lohaus and Kawan Gamble have passed the first test on the road to the NBA reality.

But according to Brad Payne, they are not the only two who have passed in recent years.

In 1985, Lohaus (Brigham Young) and Gamble (Idaho State) were two of three prospects from the Rocky Mountain West to test themselves at the NBA Pro Tryout in Denver for professional contract NBA.

Payne, who has coached three rooms to fulfilling NBA contracts, did not consider the two of them a success in a very respect for the NBA at all.

Payne was surprised, however, at the potential for much brighter future.

"I don't know what Lohaus would do in the NBA, but I can't see him playing in the NBA. I don't see him getting any offers. I think it's a lot better now, because other pros are more comfortable with the NBA."

Payne added, "That's the key to success. These young men are more comfortable with the NBA."

Lohaus and Gamble will get another chance to prove themselves.

The Oneonta boys have been practicing with the team in Boston.

"The pressure is on all the time. We're working every day and we're looking for the opportunity," said Payne. "And if they make it, they would have a good shot with Boston."

Martin says Jackson isn't needed

"He's got a lot of experience," said Tony Gwynn. "I don't think he needs a lot of help. There's no need for him to be here." But Jackson's presence on the roster may be more symbolic than anything else.

Pippen may strengthen Bulls

CHICAGO—Scottie Pippen may be a major adjustment to the Bulls' lineup when the basketball season begins.

Pippen, a 6-foot-8-inch, 235-pound, left-handed shooting guard, is being bought by the Bulls as a full-time starter.

The Bulls have had Pippen on their team since the 1987-88 season, but Pippen has not played for the Bulls since the 1989-90 season.

The Bulls have been searching for a shot blocker and Pippen, who is considered one of the best shot blockers in the league, has been a priority for the Bulls.

"The Bulls' coaching staff has been very patient with Pippen," said Bulls head coach Doug Collins.

"He has been working hard in the gym and on the court and we believe he can contribute to our team this season."
Hampton sentenced for drunken-driving

HARWOOD HEIGHTS, Ill. (UPI) — Chicago Bears defensive end Dan Hampton was placed on one-year court supervision, fined $500 and ordered to undergo alcohol education and individual supervision Tuesday to drunken-driving charges.

Hampton, 30, of Cobal, Ark., was arrested last May for speeding, resisting arrest and possession of marijuana, the Illinois Department of State Police said.

Assistant Cook County State's Attorney Robby Tondre said the state agreed to drop those charges in exchange for the drunken-driving plea.

Hampton, who fields a mustache and a clean BLOD low, left court without commenting on his sentence.

"I have no regrets," Hampton's lawyer, Thorne, said in January because he refused to take a Breathalyzer test at the time of the incident July 8.

Hampton's wife, Tanya, and two other people in the car pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying open alcohol in a motor vehicle. They were given three months probation and fined $125.

The fourth player taken in the draft, Hampton, who played college in Iowa City, lowa, was the fourth player taken in the first round of the NFL draft.

Hampton, who played college for Arkansas, was named Southeast Conference defensive player of the year after his senior season.

Astaire's memory, technique inspire Joffrey Ballet troupe

By Franzi Converse

The memory of Fred Astaire will live on in a new way for one of the world's great dancers.

Joffrey Ballet dancers of all ages said they felt a mutual inspiration from the late dance legend who is currently rehearsing with the troupe.

"The memory of Fred Astaire will live on in a new way for one of the world's great dancers," said Joffrey Ballet dancer John MacMillan.

Joffrey, a 1988-89 season, the dancer's memory will live on in the minds of those who saw him, he said.

"If a person was a sort of hero to people, will probably live forever in their memories," MacMillan said.

Joffrey is a young dancer who will be 88 years old this month, he said.

"I think that because he died fifteen years ago, his memory has been a sort of hero to people," MacMillan said.

"He was an all-around artist who had an impact on the world of dance," MacMillan said.

"He also said he loved ballet, because it was a beautiful dance," MacMillan said.

"I still study Astaire's most effective technique in hopes of gaining some insight into his brilliance," MacMillan said.

"That knowledge has some of the younger Joffrey dancers interested in seeing his films and understanding his technique," MacMillan said.

"I should look at the Des Moines Register for more information," MacMillan said.

Penn gets 60 days, probation for assault, reckless driving

LOS ANGELES (AP) -- Actor Pennsatucky McBride, who was sentenced to 60 days in county jail on Wednesday for a fourth conviction of drunken driving, will probably live forever in people's memories, said a mutual friend.

"The memory of Fred Astaire will live on in a new way for one of the world's great dancers," said McBride.

"I think that because he died fifteen years ago, his memory has been a sort of hero to people," McBride said.
