Poindexter: 'buck stops with me'... never told president of diversion

By E. Michael Meyer \nUnited Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Vice President George Bush yesterday said he never told President Ronald Reagan about the diversion of arms sales profits to the Contras and that he had signed a finding approving it.

Bush said he signed a statement approving the diversion of arms sales profits to the Contras because he wanted to insulate Reagan from political embarrassment in Congress.

The vice president said he had been advised by Poindexter that "the diversion was not a political issue" and that Reagan "had been told that the arms sales profits would be used to support the Contras." Bush said he signed the statement because "it was not a political issue" and that he did not want Reagan to be "in the public eye" over the issue.

Robocop

Directed by Paul Verhoeven. Starring Peter Weller, Molly Ringwald, Ronny Cox, Nancy Allen. (Rated R; 129 minutes)

The technology itself is programmed into the film that runs the police force, allowing a clean-up crew up to fix some unforeseen problems. But we see the chief shopper through plates of artificial intelligence, and then (true to the Grimes version of a Grimms' story) a puppeteer watches spectators as he brings life to a robot cop named Weller, brought back to life via a的过程 that makes this film interesting.

For grandmothers, influential Iowa Democrats and the National Republican Pawl, the groundwork for presidential candidates is already under way.

"We have never seen such a disaster in our community," said Patricia Emery, director of the Red Cross field office in Des Moines.

"The floodwaters are expected to peak around mid-week and then recede slowly," Emery said.

"It's a flood that brings tears to the eyes of people, and it's a flood that brings a sense of helplessness," said Emery.

Water levels in Des Moines, Iowa, were expected to rise to record levels this week, with more than 1,000 people already displaced.

"We're not used to this kind of flooding," said Emery.

North Korea given 'final' offer by IOC

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) - The International Olympic Committee was believed to be preparing today to offer a formal amnesty to North Korea, which is being considered for expulsion from the Olympic family. A deal was thought to be in its final stages and the IOC is expected to make a final decision on the matter today. North Korea has demanded eight of the 12 sports included in the Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea. The four-round joint talks ended Wednesday with the IOC offering North Korea six sports, table-tennis, women's volleyball, the men's 100 meters, the men's 200 meters, the men's 400 meters, and a tennis tournament. The talks are expected to continue until Sunday, and an agreement is expected to be reached before then. North Korea has said it will not participate in the Games if its demands are not met. The IOC has said it will consider other options if the demands are not met, including a decision to expel North Korea from the Olympic family. A decision is expected to be made by the IOC executive board on Friday.

Ohio State loses Carter for season

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) -- All-America wide receiver Cris Carter was thrown off the Ohio State football team Wednesday for accepting money and signing a contract with controversial New York sports agent Tony Bruce.

Ohio State Athletic Director Bill Barhydt declared Carter ineligible for his senior year, an announcement the NCAA was expected to repeat.

"Ohio State University will not appeal the NCAA's comparable penalties at this time," Barhydt said in a news conference. "As far as I know, Carter will never play football again for Ohio State University."

Barhydt, 39, held a televised press conference at Ohio State and reportedly decided to take the action after receiving a tip that Carter was involved in persuading Cris to sign the note and represent a contract, which was dated Jan. 2, 1988.

Bruce refused to reveal the name of the reported agent involved in persuading Cris to sign the note and represent a contract, which was dated Jan. 2, 1988.

Ex-Iowa swimmer wins gold medal

By Steve Williams

Iowa's Becki Mostook took the first step toward Olympic gold Wednesday when it was learned that she had been selected to run on the national sprint relay team.

Choosing Becki, who had been second in the 60-meter hurdles and third in the 100-meter dash at the national trials, was an easy decision for the Olympic selectors, according to track coach Bob LeBarron.

"It's time our relay teams got a world-class sprinter," said LeBarron, who has been coaching at the University of Oregon for 26 years.

"We've had some good sprinters over the years," he said. "But we've never had a world-class sprinter on the national relay team. We've been waiting for someone like Becki."
