Reck will present state with CAC's student aid proposal

By Paula Reeker
The Daily Iowan

Washington to Houston to CAC, summer is finally ending. End of summer is where student financial aid begins. The start of the school year is just around the corner, and everyone is waiting for the federal and state aid to be approved and distributed.

Reck presented a proposal to the CAC this week supporting increased student financial aid, as the university is in need of funds. The state has a responsibility, Reck said, to support the university. The state aid officials should consider the students and the needs they are trying to meet. The State Board of Regents this month recommended a $1 million increase for minority students and a 12 percent increase for non-residents. The board will vote on the funding later this month. A 9.1 percent tuition increase for resident students and a 12 percent increase for non-resident students was recommended by the student financial aid committee.

Symbolic vote puts embargo on Iranian oil

By Steve Fritz
Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - The Senate, moving in fourth session of stop-\negging Iran in the Persian Gulf, voted to impose an embargo on U.S. exports to Iran to make the Reagan administration toughen its policies in the Persian Gulf.

The measure, approved by a 56-to-46 vote, was introduced by Democratic Senatsr Edward W. Moll, the chamber's leading proponent of U.S. involvement in the Persian Gulf war.

The 56-to-46 vote to impose an embargo on U.S. exports to Iran was approved by a narrow margin - and the measure's fate is in doubt in the House, where Republicans are opposed to a congressional vote to stop the administration from countering the Soviet threat in the Persian Gulf. Congress willprobably have to act again if the embargo is rejected by the House.

The Senate action on the Iran embargo was the latest in a series of recent actions aimed at putting pressure on the administration to make the war effort more effective.

The Reagan administration on Friday said it would continue to try to negotiate a cease-fire and a political settlement in the Persian Gulf war, but the administration's efforts so far have not been successful.

Leaders of both parties won support for the Senate vote in the House, and the House vote on the Iran embargo is expected to come later this week.

Board votes on contract

The Johnson County Board of Supervisors will vote Wednesday on whether to approve a contract with the Johnson County Bar Association for the representation of the county in several legal matters.

The contract, which was presented to the board at its Tuesday meeting, would authorize the bar association to represent the county in all legal matters, including the collection of debts owed to the county.

The board voted 4-3 to approve the contract, with Supervisor Chairwoman Betty Ockenfels casting a tie-breaking vote.

The Johnson County Bar Association has represented the county in several legal matters in the past, including the collection of debts owed to the county.

Iowa City councilors pass Boyum Street extension

By Craig Burnett

The Iowa City councilors passed an amendment to the Boyum Street extension project Wednesday night that will extend the project north of Iowa Avenue.

The amendment was proposed by City Manager Tom Buescher and approved by the councilors. The project will extend Boyum Street from Iowa Avenue to Iowa Street.

The extension will be built within one to two years, according to Buescher. The project is estimated to cost $1.5 million.

UI Student Senate will fight sales tax hike

By Paula Reuter

The Daily Iowan

The UI Student Senate will take a "vote" approach to prevent the governor's sales tax increase from passing on Oct. 7. Senate President Jonny Hahn said Wednesday that he will present a motion and adjourn session to vote on implementing the sales tax.

"The Senate will vote against the governor's 9.00 percent sales tax hike," Senate President Jonny Hahn said Wednesday. "The Senate will vote against the governor's 9.00 percent sales tax hike."
Quiet please

There is still some mystery as to whether the library is supposed to be quiet. Everyone also knows that people go there to study. And, further, most people know that you can talk quietly—even really quietly, quietly soft. No one really wants to disrupt people from studying. So why is the buzz with the ULI library?

People aren't happy to名声 silence but loud conversations into the library—they now exist in being drowned out by talk that is often loud, even all the way to the surrounding hallways. First, the library has lounges on every floor which can sound like a Take Five celebration, particularly during the day. Second, midterms are upon us. Costs of the trying to write a new state constitution is a heavier burden on the below average readers. The university also needs more space for those who want to study quietly, so a little reminder, here it is: the library is supposed to be quiet.

A worksable plan

Democrats and Democratic leaders in Des Moines are trying to write a new state tax plan—and let’s hope they end up with something that works. Generally, people are not really convinced of the current tax system or how it functions. That is why it is important to carry through a change in the tax laws. People are not happy about the current tax structure and how it affects different people in the state. The state should carry through a change to a system that works better for the people. People in Des Moines are looking for a fairer tax plan that is more workable.

The editor's circle decides to present the following plan to deal with the current tax system and to carry out a change that will benefit more people.

A fairer system will have a lower tax rate, making it easier for people to pay their taxes. Such a system will be more manageable for people, helping to reduce the burden of taxes. A fairer system will also be more workable and efficient, helping to reduce the time and effort needed to pay taxes. It is important to have a fairer tax system that is more workable and efficient.

Positive action

Vice President George Bush's visit to Washington is the most visible manifestation of the improving relations between Poland and the United States, and Bush is doing it right. He promises that America will help Poland obtain the economic resources that Poland badly needs. But it makes it clear that the extent of U.S. help will depend on the degree to which the Communist regime seems to terms with the democratic aspirations of the Polish people.

Zygmunt Jacek, Polish Ambassador to the United States: "The visit of Vice President George Bush today is a symbolic event. It shows that the United States is willing to help Poland."

The real issue of the Senate will emerge

Joe Biden is a Republican senator from Delaware. His main concern is the Senate's vote on the controversial issue of abortion. "I don't think it's a winning issue," Biden said. "I don't think it's a winning issue."

But just a week earlier, Biden had supported the proposal. "It's a really bad idea," Biden said. "It's a really bad idea." Biden said he supported the proposal because it would help the poor and avoid driving off the business community with costs. Biden's efforts to consolidate and gain support for the proposed law-ma~eJ'S were welcomed to the Council of Ministers only as a sensible factor in presidential race. The bottom line seems to be that Poland's Communist leaders are wedded to a simple, non-scientific principle: "Every child is a good child; and a subtle but convincing fact is that life began on earth only once, so life, not a repeated event. No human can ever be a second child.

Young Americans for Freedom promotes conservatism

By Jay Cabeza
The Daily Iowan

Liberal demonstration groups and conservative students are two concerns addressed at its organizational meeting.

UI chapter of Conservative Students of Iowa (CSI) met Tuesday in the Ballroom for an organizational meeting.

The meeting was the first for the newly organized conservativ e organization.

YAF members attended the meeting with a large contingent of liberal students from CSS, the liberal student group on campus.

After the introduction, Hart opened the floor to group discussion on issues of concern to the students.

Hart said that the purpose of the group is to provide information about employers to students who are staying in the local homeless shelter, "that homeless people are not really there by choice," and that the homeless care more about employers to students who are staying in the local homeless shelter, "that homeless people are not really there by choice," and that the homeless care more about

Korean opposition split over candidate

SEOUL, South Korea—Liberal opposition forces opened a split Thursday when they decided to run a candidate for president in order to lessen the chances of the conservative party winning.

The withdrawal of the two major opposition parties failed to alter a readiness of the conservative party to field a candidate. The National Congress for New Politics is likely to field a candidate.

Busch visits Nazi death camps in Poland

WASHINGTON—President George Bush examined the awesome evidences of the horrors of the Nazi Holocaust Thursday in a solemn visit to Auschwitz and Birkenau, paying tribute to the million Jews who died here and at other Nazi death camps.

Bush, 71, and his wife, Barbara, Thursday arrived at Auschwitz, the largest Nazi death camp, to pay their respects to the Nazi victims, a tearing away of the attention from an earlier visit to the Nazi concentration camp of Dachau.

Bush said his visit to Auschwitz would inspire the nation to "remember the story of this grim period in the history of mankind".

Hellraiser

Directed by: Clive Barker

Hellraiser is a 1987 American supernatural horror film directed by Clive Barker and written by Barker and Robert Shaye. It is the first in the Hellraiser film series, based on Barker's novella "The Hellbound Heart." The film was produced by Clive Barker and produced by, Jason Bourne, with music by Bear McCreary.

The film tells the story of Larry Cotton, a man whose brother was killed by the Cenobites, a group of winged, humanoiddemons. Larry's brother left a box containing the key to a dimension known as "The Lament Configuration," which allows one to summon the Cenobites. The box is coveted by many, including Larry, who is determined to use it to reunite with his brother.

The Framework for the story revolves around a simple plot, which is a common feature in horror films. The characters are well-developed, and the film's atmosphere is tense and suspenseful. The film's pacing is well-balanced, and the special effects are impressive, particularly the Cenobites, who are brought to life through practical effects and CGI.

The film's themes are darker and more intense than in other horror films, with a focus on the human soul and the consequences of playing God. The film also explores the idea of free will and destiny, with characters struggling to be free from the clutches of the Cenobites.

In conclusion, Hellraiser is a well-crafted horror film that explores deeper themes and is more mature than other films in the genre. It is a must-watch for horror fans and those who enjoy deep, thought-provoking films.

Mattingly sets grand slam record

NEW YORK CITY — The New York Yankees set a major league record Monday evening with a home run when Boston Red Sox starter Bruce Bostrom allowed a three-run home run to the Yankees. The Yankees had already hit three home runs and tied the record of three before the Boston Red Sox scored a run on a single by Bobby Bonds.

On The Line

But wait, On The Line fans. You've enjoyed some success and it looks as if the season may be changed for the team for the first time in its history.

The team has been in a slump the past few weeks, and the coaches have been trying to figure out how to get the team back on track. The last game was a loss to the Mets, and the team is now 1-2 in the last five games.

The coaches have been experimenting with different lineups and strategies, and they are hoping to find a way to get the team back on track.

The team's next game is against the Giants on Friday, and the coaches are hoping to have a better performance.

The Daily Iowan

The Volleyball World Championships are coming to town, and many Iowa fans are excited about the possible opportunities this year. With the Minnesotanesota Golden Gophers out of the way, the University of Iowa's Hawkeyes have a better chance than ever to make it to the Final Four.

The University of Iowa's Hawkeyes have been consistently solid at the conference level, but they have struggled to make it to the Final Four. This season, however, they have won two of their first three conference games and are currently ranked fifth in the Big Ten.

Strikers threaten non-union games

By Dave Harts

Official Press International

"We have more to lose than any other team," said one striker. "We are fighting for our union and our rights as workers." The strike has been ongoing for the past few weeks, and the team's performance has suffered as a result.

The union has been fighting for better pay and working conditions for several years, and this strike is the latest in a series of efforts to improve their overall situation.

Switzer not worried about game

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma Sooners head coach Barry Switzer says he is not worried about his team's performance in the upcoming game against Kansas State.

"I don't think we're going to lose," Switzer said. "We have a very good team, and we are going to compete hard."

Haight

Haights Heights of Michigan State's poor

"We have been working hard every day," said Haights. "We are determined to make it to the Final Four and win it all." The team has been practicing hard every day and is looking forward to the game against Kansas State.

McGwire

Boise State's McGwire in good form again

"I am feeling great," said McGwire. "I have been working hard every day, and I am ready to go."

Fry

"We are going to win it all," said Fry. "We have the talent and the experience to do it." The team is looking to make a statement this year and is ready to take on any challenge.

Haight aims to thwart White
By Anne Upton

"Hopefully we can get by and shut Lorenzo down," Haight said. "Like his defensive teammates, one of the main goals of senior noseguard Dave Haight stands prominently: 'to improve.' His brother, Mike, a former noseguard, was ready, but Coach (Bill) Haight said he based his decision solely on the fact that he thought Steve Thomu, a 6-foot, 260-pound Haight, was ready, but Coach (Bill) Haight said he based his decision solely on the fact that he thought Steve Thomu, a 6-foot, 260-pound Haight, was ready. Mike, a former noseguard, was ready, but Coach (Bill) Haight said he based his decision solely on the fact that he thought Steve Thomu, a 6-foot, 260-pound Haight, was ready. The following year he was listed as a backup noseguard.

But amid his desire for general improvement, Haight has the offensive line a particular aim for Saturday's contest. "This time last year against State, our other three quarterbacks in the game and how close the two teams have played, it makes it an extremely important game for both teams," Fry said.

All three quarterbacks are in the opener against Michigan McGwire would "Unless he's injured, would start." Fry said. "He's truly a great player," Fry said. "We're not married to him," Fry said. "If we get a good performance from McGwire, we won't hesitate to get someone else in there to help us win.

"Knowing that he is a very young player, that he is emerging as a strong running threat, we'll get him in there. If we see a weakness in the defense, we'll get him in there. If we see a weakness in the defense, we'll get him in there."

"This has reached maturity now," Fry said. "We want to see the growth of those quarterbacks in the game and how close the two teams have played, it makes it an extremely important game for both teams," Fry said.
