U.S. ready to resume talks with Ortega

By John M. Goshko

Senior Washington correspondent

President Ronald Reagan said Monday that it is time to resume high-level talks with Nicaragua, signaling a significant easing of the U.S. government at war with the Sandinistas, the leftist forces that have run Nicaragua since 1979.

In a statement to reporters Monday, Reagan said the United States would begin the week after Nicaragua President Daniel Ortega comes here as an official guest of the United States.

The administration's new-found flexibility about dealing directly with the Sandinistas is another round of regional separatist upsurges causing concern for the Central American nations.

Dole officially enters race for presidency

By Patricia K. Allen

Washington correspondent

WASHINGTON — Vice President Dan Quayle entered the Republican presidential contest Monday, describing his intention to run for president in 1988 with the support of his brothers.

The decision, announced without previous notice, dealt a setback to the Reagan administration and its efforts to find a successor for the president.

The vice president said he would take his campaign to the average American and represent "the forgotten man and woman," he said, citing his role in sustaining Reagan's veto of sanctions against Nicaragua.

Reagan administration spokesman David G. Shultz, who has been conducting a search for a successor, has been caught off guard by the announcement.

President Reagan, who told his aides he would announce his choice on Tuesday, expressed his shock at Quayle's decision.

"I was told this morning," Reagan said, according to a source in the Reagan administration. "I was shocked. I was surprised."

The vice president, who entered the contest without warning, said he had "no idea" when he announced his intention to run for the presidency.

"I had no idea when I first announced my candidacy," he said, according to the source. "I never thought I would run."

Thus, the vice president's role in找了 the White House will now be diminished, as the president has decided to choose his successor before the end of the year.

County Attorney denies cover-up

By James Calley The Daily Iowan

Johnson County Attorney J. Peterson said he is hopeful the investigation of a deputy who was involved in a December driving incident will be completed by November 30.

"I think we'll be able to make something public within the next week," Peterson said Monday night.

After reports of the deputy driving a stolen vehicle, Peterson said the investigation is "framed as an unusually long" because the "case came under an object of scrutiny last week after a Cedar Rapids television station, "Outspoken, Iconoclastic, Iconoclast,"

"It's a nationwide thing," Peterson said, "but it really means nothing if it's not in your face." The resolution gave other emphasis will

"I don't have any idea what's going on in the investigation," Peterson said Monday.

M y conservative friends are computing the long-range advantage of the new president. They believe that the Department of Justice may be a bit more respectful of the constitution under the new administration. They are looking forward to the day when they can walk down the street without being accosted by a person with a menacing scowl.

But there are those of us who believe that the Department of Justice under the new president will be no more respectful of the constitution than it was under the old one. We believe that the Department of Justice is an integral part of the executive branch of the United States government and that it is the duty of the Department of Justice to enforce the laws of the land.

The new president is likely to have a team of lawyers who are not only dedicated to the cause of law and order, but who are also committed to enforcing the laws of the land. They will be guided by the principles of the law and will not be swayed by political considerations.

Buy a printer with your Macintosh and conserve paper.

A Macintosh personal computer and an Apple ImageWriter II printer will save you hours of time. Not to mention gallons of correction fluid and reams of paper. And, if you buy both now, the first ream of paper you will save will have a lovely green glow with Presidents on it. You'll save a bundle of cash when you purchase an ImageWriter II printer along with your choice of a Macintosh SE or a Macintosh Plus.

Either way you'll be able to turn out beautifully written and beautifully printed papers. And we'll even try to help you with a variety of financing options.

We feel compelled to tell you, though, that a deal like this can't last forever. So it's a good idea to see your campus microcomputer center today. And join the paper conservation movement.

Celtics overcome Knicks' rally

By Jon Lane

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

NEW YORK — When Boston Coach KC Jones went to New York for the conference tithe last week, he was thinking more of the Knicks than the Nets.

The Aces were on his mind. The Aces and the Nets. He had to get his team ready for the next day, and his team was good, but the Aces were better.

Jones was convinced that the Aces were going to win the conference title. And he was right.

The Aces won the conference title. And they won it by a score of 115-108.

Cyclone wrestlers look to repeat

By Bill deKanter

The Cyclone wrestlers are looking for another conference title this year. They have a tough schedule, but they are determined to come out on top.

The Cyclones are scheduled to face off against the Aces on Friday night. The Aces are the reigning conference champions, so the Cyclones will have their work cut out for them.

But the Cyclones are confident. They have a strong team and they are ready to show their mettle.

"We are ready," said Coach Bill deKanter. "We have been preparing for this for a long time."

The Cyclones plan to use a combination of speed and power to overcome the Aces. They will rely on their wrestlers to bring the heat and their coaches to provide the strategy.

"We will use our speed to our advantage," said deKanter. "We will attack and force the pace."

The Cyclones have a strong lineup, with several wrestlers ranked in the top 10 in the conference. They will rely on their depth to wear down the Aces.

"We have a lot of talent," said deKanter. "We have wrestlers who can win matches at any weight class."

The Cyclones are looking for a repeat of last year's conference title. They are confident that they can achieve their goal.

"We are hungary," said deKanter. "We want to be the best."

The Cyclones will be facing a tough challenge, but they are determined to come out on top.

"We are ready," said deKanter. "We will give it our all."

The Cyclones are looking forward to the conference title. They are confident that they can achieve their goal.
