Reagee convicts in Atlanta kill 1 and injure 30 in revolt

ATLANTA - Cuban refugee convicts facing deportation revolted Monday at the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary, killing one person, injuring 30, taking up to 75 hostages and torching three buildings at the stone-walled prison.

The victim was not immediately identified and there was no official word whether he was a guard or inmate, officials said.

Dozens of weeping relatives of the rioting inmates gathered across the Cuban youngster carried a hand-scrawled sign pleading, "Please, don't kill my daddy."

About 7:30 p.m., about 10 Cuban women raced across the street and tried to crash through the prison gates, which were partially opened to allow three fire trucks to enter the prison and try to run a water supply line into the facility.

Police closed the gates and subdued the women, who were shout-ing in Spanish. They were not AT LEAST 11 people were hospitalized for treatment of injuries sustained in the rioting, which began in the food service area of the fortress-like prison about 10:20 a.m. and spread quickly. Officials indicated as many as 30 people had been injured.

A prison spokesman said shots were fired twice during the day -"warning shots" at noon and another round of unexplained shots at about 3:30 p.m.

There are about 1,600 inmates in the half-century-old prison in southeast Atlanta - 1,400 of them Cuban refugee detainees. Some of the Cubans have been imprisoned since the 1980 "Freedom Flotilla" brought 125,000 refugees to the See Atlanta, Page 6

OAKDALE, La. - Cuban prisoners controlling a federal detention center for a third day and holding 28 hostages met Monday with Sen. John Breaux, D-La., who delivered the government's offer of a moratorium on deportations if they end their uprising. Breaux said the 1,000 Cubans at the Federal Alien Detention Center had no immediate reaction to the offer by Attorney General Edwin

Meese, but he did not believe the hostages were in danger and negotiations were continuing.

Late Monday night, campfires were seen burning on the fireravaged prison grounds. The perimeter was illuminated by truck headlights and generator-powered spotlights, while hundreds of helmeted prison guards with riot shields and flak jackets stood by.

BY MONDAY NIGHT the prisoners had allowed four fellow inmates to leave the facility because of ill health or injury.

Cubans threatened to kill their captives if an attempt was made to rush the prison, but Breaux said after speaking to the inmates' spokesman, who was identified as "Angel," he felt the hostages were not in danger.

"They communicated just the opposite to us, that they had no intent to harm the hostages.

While denying he was the official government spokesman to the rioting inmates, Breaux said he was authorized "to communicate the seriousness of the (government's) offer."

"Meese's offer has given them something to consider," Breaux said. "The main thing it looks like they have demanded is a request

Lowering grades may be illegal

UI realizing needs of older students

By John Bartenhagen The Daily Iowan

As the median age of students on college campuses climbs higher and higher, a new constituency of students are finding the need to make themselves known - non-traditional students. Non-traditional students are those who are continuing their education after intermissions ranging from one year to two and three decades. Generally, undergraduates over the age of 22 are considered nontraditional, and according to statistics from the UI Office of Academic Affairs, more than 4,800 UI students fit that description. Thanks in large part to the initiative of three UI staff members, those students will soon be able to voice their concerns through a UI student organization.

UI STAFF MEMBERS Susan

Beadle, Lynnea Halberg and Beth Hill, themselves non-traditional students, realized that the needs of non-traditional students are in many cases not met by current UI services and began holding unstructured, bi-weekly meetings for returning students.

Road may open for traffic

Iowa Avenue west of the Pentacrest will be opened up to traffic Wednesday if plans to reconstruct the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railroad overpass proceed as expected, a company official said Monday.

"I'm hopeful that in a couple of days it will be open," Bob Peterson, general manager of the railroad, said.

Repairs to three of the bridge's concrete pillars were undertaken last week after a truck crashed into the bridge Nov. 12, inflicting extensive damage to the bridge and the truck.

Iowa Avenue, running under the bridge, was closed while workmen undertook repairs on the bridge and the tressel that held the railroad overpass.

The impact of the crash was so great that parts of the bridge's platform were moved as much as 10 inches. Peterson said after the accident he had never seen a truck-bridge collision that moved the bridge.

The underground cable, located near the intersection of Capitol and Lafayette streets, broke down at 5:32 a.m. for an unknown reason, Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. Lead Operator Dick Bock said.

"There's any one of a number of reasons," Bock said. "It's a cable that has been in service for a couple of years."

A lightening bolt may have hit the wire in the past, weakening it, he said.

The Veterans Administration Hospital on Highway 6 and the Iowa City Water Treatment Plant, 330 N. Madison St., were both cut to half power temporarily as a result of the outage.

Ten arrested at Minnesota game, goal post damaged

Ten people were arrested by law enforcement officials at Kinnick Stadium Saturday during the Iowa-Minnesota game on a total of 11 charges ranging from public intoxication to criminal trespass to disorderly conduct, according to Campus Security reports.

Campus Security officers arrested eight people and the Iowa State Patrol arrested two, UI Campus Security Director William Fuhrmeister said Mon-

Dole addresses deficit, taxes

By James Cahoy The Daily Iowan

Republican presidential candidate Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said Monday the recent deficitreduction cuts approved by a joint U.S. House-Senate committee were "just a little package," but said they were the best congressional leaders could do.

Dole, who spoke Monday afternoon before a crowd of about 200 people in the Union Main Ballroom, said he would support the package, which will cut military spending and raise some taxes, despite his dissatisfaction with it.

"It wasn't the bold step we needed," Dole said. "We should have done more. We didn't send a strong signal to Wall Street or to the world, but it was all we could

DESPITE HAVING previously declared his opposition to raising taxes, Dole said he would support the tax increases in the deficitreduction bill.

They are not changes in the individual rates for taxpayers," Dole said. "We ruled out most of the taxes I would have objected to. I can support the taxes in the bill."

About 10 demonstrators attended Dole's speech, holding up signs which accused the Kansas senator of supporting the South African government, a charge Dole denied in a question-and-answer period following his speech.

"There is not a racist bone in my body," Dole said. "I think apartheid is reprehensible. I oppose apartheid, and if I were in office I'd be a bit more aggressive about said he will examine the treaty fighting it."

DOLE ALSO SAID he had a "spotless" civil rights record, and said he received the support of Coretta Scott King in his 1986 senate re-election campaign.

"I'm very proud of my civil rights record," Dole said.

Also defending his record of supporting the Contras in Nicaragua, Dole said he supports the Arias plan but questions Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega's intentions of following the plan.

"I would hope the Arias plan works," Dole said. "I hope Ortega complies with the plan, but I don't know if he will."

Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, refused Monday to rule out the possibility of a bid against Iowa Gov. Terry Branstad in 1990.

"I can't predict the future," Grassley said. "That's three years away, and I don't know what will happen between now and then."

Grassley, who was in Iowa City Monday to introduce Republican presidential candidate Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, declined comment on a recent Des Moines Register poll indicating that he would defeat Branstad in the Republican primary if the election was held

The poll stated if Branstad and Grassley opposed one another, Grassley would win the support of 48 percent of registered Republicans compared with 35 percent who would support Branstad. Seventeen percent of those polled said they had no opinion.

Grassley, who has hinted in the past he might run against Branstad, holds a 2-1 lead over Branstad among respondents who describe themselves as "very con-

Many reasons to be grateful

After going down to the wire, congressional budget negotiators and President Ronald Reagan finally reached agreement Friday on a package of spending cuts designed to reduce the federal deficit by $76 billion during the next two years. The proposal, if it is approved by both houses of Congress, will stave off the across-the-board cuts of the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law, but still slashes some $30 billion from the fiscal 1988 deficit. The difference between the compromise plan and Gramm-Rudman is the intention to raise $9 billion in new taxes under the compromise.

Naturally, there are problems with the package of spending cuts proposed by the legislators and the president. For one thing, the compromise deletes only about $12 billion from the Pentagon's budget, leaving $285 billion for the continued build-up of the nation's war machine. Additionally, certain "gimmicks" — such as the sale of $5 billion in federal assets and the hope of raising $1.6 billion in extra revenue through more IRS audits - make the plan less than perfect.

In the end, however, approval of the compromise proposal is important for the nation's economic health. As evidenced by the panic in the world's markets, continued deficit spending in the United States can only invite an international financial disaster. By approving serious cuts in the American deficit, the message to the markets will be clear: Excessive borrowing will not be continued indefinitely.

Yet, this is only one in a series of steps to reduce red ink hopefully, future cuts will include the more difficult step of drastically reducing military spending.

Time to pay up

The United Nations is going through hard times and the U.S. government deserves a large share of the blame. It's not about U.S. recalcitrance in regards to the Central American peace plan and Contra aid. Nor does it have much to do with our unpopular "constructive engagement" with South Africa.

The U.N. is in trouble because it can't pay the bills. And the United States owes $342 million in back dues, or 75 percent of the total debt owed by member nations. Last year, the United States reneged for the first time, only paying half of the $206 million it owed, and this year held back even more.

Many people in Washington believe the international organization is too often opposed to U.S. interests. While it's true that votes in the U.N. assembly frequently stack up against the United States, it is also true that our government often stands on the wrong side. "Communist propaganda" cannot be the sole explanation for Third World perceptions of U.S. imperialism and buttressing of unpopular governments.

U.S. officials are also concerned that some of the U.N. budget is wasted by spendthrift administrators and peeved that they don't have more control over how the sizable U.S. contribution is spent. At the same time, lawmakers and Cabinet members have been trying to trim the U.S. deficit.

The fact remains that the U.N. was basically an American creation and - in spite of 40 years of frustrations and inadequacies — the organization still embodies a worthy ideal. And we should never give up on that ideal.

If the United States feels the time has come to change U.N. spending habits and rewrite the budget process, fine. With impending payroll shortages, the point is already well-taken. And since the Soviet Union appears ready to fill any vacuum in the U.N. left by the United States, perhaps it's time to put a check in the mail.

Responsibility?

Nine former students of the Iowa School for the Deaf were recently awarded $2 million in state taxpayers' money because of physical and sexual abuse they suffered while attending the school. According to court records, the students were abused for several months despite their repeated attempts to convince school officials of the abuse. Unfortunately, state and school officials alike are continuing this denial trend. Rather than accept the blame for such gross imcompentency or focus attention upon the people who allowed such abuse to occur, officials have been quick to blame the students themselves or gloss over the situation entirely.

Former Superintendent C. Joseph Giangreco - who conveniently retired three months ago - offered two simple explanations for such abuse: 1) The students making the accusations were known liars, therefore officials had no choice but to dismiss their claims; 2) The students visited the homes of house parents despite a school policy that forbid such visits, therefore the students, not school officials, were at fault.

State Board of Regents President Marvin Pomerantz offered little more in his brief statement: "State officials regret any past incidents and now will strive to place the school among the best in the nation."

Instead of assuring the public that all is well, Pomerantz would be wise to direct strong criticism and encourage immediate legal action against the person who is ultimately responsible for those who committed the abuse — Giangreco.

Panel: Shuttle boosters need more tests

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. - Despite an already tight schedule, the space shuttle's redesigned booster rockets should undergo further testing before the first post-Challenger flight, a National Research Council panel said Monday.

In a letter to NASA Administrator James Fletcher, panel chairman H. Guyford Stever said the agency's booster redesign program, in general, is proceeding smoothly. But the panel recommended additional tests to prove new O-ring booster joints will work as advertised.

Additional testing could pose a threat to NASA's launch schedule, but an NRC panel member said he believes the suggestions can be implemented without significant impact.

WASHINGTON - The Rev. Jesse Jackson Monday became the first Democratic presidential candidate to receive Secret Service protection, just in time for a tour of the Persian Gulf.

"We must be able to have in our country open, free and fair elections without the threat or actual occurrence of terrorism," said Jackson, the only one of six declared Democratic candidates to receive Secret Service protection so far.

Vice President George Bush has protection because of his office but none of the other Republican candidates do.

NBC wins race to interview Gorbachev

NEW YORK - Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev has agreed to an unrehearsed one-hour interview with NBC News one week before his superpower summit with President Reagan in Washington, the network said Monday.

NBC "Nightly News" anchor Tom Brokaw is scheduled to fly to Moscow this week to conduct the interview with Gorbachev on Nov. 29, NBC spokeswoman Mary Lou O'Callaghan said. The taped interview is scheduled to be broadcast Nov. 30

The exclusive interview with the Soviet general secretary is considered a major victory for NBC over the other two major American networks, CBS and ABC. The three have been scrambling to win the prized audience in the weeks preceeding the summit.

Gorbachev and his wife, Raisa, are scheduled to be the guests of Reagan and first lady Nancy Reagan in Washington Dec. 7-10 and will be staying at the Soviet embassy.

Blanche Moore, 82, has been on the waiting list of a nursing home for at least three months and should be discharged in a month or two, said Christy Cacciapaglia, coordinator of a special projects team handling unusual discharges from Western State Hospital. The story of Moore and her wrongful commitment came to light

Monday in a Washington Post dispatch that detailed past failings of the mental health system and the current problems with deinstitutionalization. Moore was originally placed in the state Colony for Epileptics and Feeble-minded in Lynchburg, currently the Lynchburg Training Center, with a diagnosis of "psychosis, equivalent of epilepsy," said Cacciapaglia. She was transferred to the Staunton mental hospital when she was 24.

Reports: Subway escalator caught fire before

LONDON - Subway passengers who have traveled through the city's busiest station where 30 people died in an inferno last week said the escalator that burned had caught fire twice before this month, reports indicated Monday.

On Sunday, a British Transport Police spokesman said authorities had a "good idea" on the cause of the blaze and planned to release the details Monday. But transport police said Monday they had decided to delay an official announcement regarding the cause of the fire.

"No details about the cause of the fire will be given," a spokesman said, until all work by various teams of investigators was completed.

Officials report progress in talks

By Don Oberdorfer Washington Post

GENEVA - Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze made progress in "constructive" talks on arms control and other issues but did not finish work on the intermediate-range nuclear forces treaty in the first of two days of scheduled talks.

The sketchy report on a long day of discussions, which centered on unfinished aspects of the treaty to be signed at the Dec. 8-10 Washington summit meeting, came from State Department spokesman Charles Redman. He said he was authorized by the Soviet as well as the U.S. side to describe the discussions as constructive.

A U.S. OFFICIAL said one of several points still not finally agreed involves the details of an on-site inspection arrangement: U.S. monitors are to be stationed in the Soviet Union for up to 13 years around a missile assembly site, while Soviet personnel are to be stationed around a missile plant in the United States.

Shultz and Shevardnadze met for 61/2 hours in several sessions, and then were dining together at Shultz's invitation at the residence of U.S. Ambassador Joseph Petrone. In addition to the INF treaty, the two ministers concentrated on detailed plans for Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's stay in Washington, Redman said.

A "WORKING GROUP" of arms-control officials headed by U.S. arms adviser Paul Nitze and Marshal Sergei Akhromeyev, chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces, met intermittently through the day to exchange ideas on remaining disagreements, Redman said.

Neither the two top diplomats nor their arms advisers were reported to get past the remaining INF of strategic arms, which is the next arms accord on the U.S.-Soviet agenda and is expected to be the focus of negotiations in Washington between President Reagan and Gorbachev.

REDMAN INDICATED that the preparatory strategic arms discussion might take place Tuesday. This is the fourth round of talks between Shultz and Shevardnadze in a little more than two

While the INF talks continued, another set of aides headed by Assistant Secretary of State Rozanne Ridgeway and Deputy Foreign Minister Anatoly Adamishin met on regional issues, human rights and bilateral ques-

Following Monday's talks, Redman expressed continued confidence that an INF treaty will be completed but declined to predict if the current meetings will end Tuesday evening as scheduled.

Inmates in a courtyard threatened shortly after noon Monday to send burning laundry carts into the administration building near the front entrance of the prison where negotiations were taking place. Two sharpshooters were positioned on the top of the building in response, but the incident ended in 15 minutes with no carts being burned, officials said.

OFFICIALS SAID THE remaining hostages were held in buildings scattered around the prison. "We're not sure where the hostages are at this point," prison official Jim Stevens said.

Although the Cubans were not calling 50 American prisoners at the facility hostages, Breaux said, the American inmates were not being allowed to leave.

The Cuban prisoners went on a burning rampage late Saturday following an announcement Friday of an agreement between the United States and Cuba to deport 2,500 undesirable Cubans. The agreement also allows 20,000 Cubans per year into the United States. Johnson said 1,035 inmates remained inside the facility.

THIRTEEN EMPLOYEES and inmates from the center, which holds undesirables transported to the United States from Cuba in the 1980 Mariel boatlift, remained in stable condition Monday with minor injuries, said Louis Deumite, a spokesman at Humana Hospital in Oakdale. Thirty-one people have been treated for minor injuries caused during the riot, he said.

Breaux said he was "extremely upset" by the manner in which the State Department released the agreement between President Ronald Reagan and Fidel Castro.

"Many non-trads think they have to be supermom or superdad plus being superstudent and they fall into the trap of overextending themselves," Murphy said. "The peer mentor program has worked very well for us - many of last semester's mentees are volunteering to be mentors.'

Murphy said one of the greatest obstacles to be overcome in beginning a program for non-traditional students was a lack of administrative interest.

'80s version of '50s style unites crowd

By Kevin Goulding The Daily Iowan

outbreak of 'contagious enthusiasm' occurred last night as The Nylons wowed a sellout crowd of 1,500 at the Paramount Theatre in Cedar Rapids Sunday night.

Performing its unique style of doo wop, occasionally referred to as 'rock capella,' the group responded to the spirited audience reception with a rousing performance. In to make an announcement addition to exquisite singing voices the group established a marvelous rapport with the audience, continually joking and telling stories and exhorting the fans to clap along, style is rooted in the U.S. The sing along, get up and dance and, in general, have a good time which is exactly how the audience, obviously very familiar with the group's material, responded.

THE GROUP PERFORMED a combination of original songs and inspired new versions of pop, soul and rock classics, including Sam Cooke's "Chain Gang," The Tur-tles' "Happy Together," Steam's "Kiss Him Goodbye" ("...hey, hey, hey, goodbye — "), The Pointer Sisters' "Fire" and The Tokens' "The Lion Sleeps Tonight."

The Nylons have only recently gained recognition in America, having previously performed in its native Canada, Japan and Europe, which creates an interesting irony in that the origins of its musical group's break came with its move to Windham Hill's Open Air label, which released its American debut, One Size Fits All, in 1985.

Prior to its current worldwide tour, the group opened for acts like The Pointer Sisters and Hall and Oates and appeared on television on such shows as "The Tonight Show."

THE GROUP PERFORMS without musical accompaniment, save occasional drum machine, but fills the auditorium with its fourpart harmonies. Although unaccompanied vocal music has been virtually absent from the pop scene since the '50s, they make it a point to distinguish their style from doo wop. Says group member Paul Cooper, "It's good music and everything, but we just use it as a jumping-off place. Our music is not doo wop. It's not like we're trying to preserve an ancient art form here or anything."

The Nylons appear to be living out a Canadian version of an 'American Dream.' What started out as three friends singing at parties for fun has snowballed into strong record contracts and sellout performances on a worldwide tour. And, although enthusiasm can be rehearsed, this group appears to be having a blast performing.

THE GROUP IS composed of three former actors and a former Platter member (Arnold Robinson). Their singing style and much of their repertoire hearkens back to the '50s, but their appeal crosses age barriers. The audience was a rare mix of '60s generation 35- to 40-year-old yuppies and 17- to 22-year-old puppies. As soon as the music started the response was united. The audience clapped along to virtually every upbeat song and continually rose to their feet, often dancing in the aisles.

The show was presented by radio station KCCK, out of Kirkwood Community College in Cedar Rapids, an area leader in the presentation of jazz and 'new age'

UNTIL THIS YEAR, about 75 to 80 percent of Marvel's production work came out of Japan. "We've pulled three-quarters of our work out of Japan and put it in the Philippines and Korea," said Loesch, adding that the company also sends work to Brazil and is considering Malaysia, Thailand and Australia.

U.S. animators began their emigration to Japan from North Hollywood - the center of the U.S. animation industry - about 10 years ago because labor-intensive, technical tasks like inking and painting could be done cheaper by production houses such as Toei Animation and Tokyo Movie In most cases, however, the writing, designing, directing, development of story boards and postproduction work generally is done in the United States.

costs. "This yen valuation going up, it kicked everybody in the butt," says Fred Wolf of Murakami Wolf Swenson Inc. in Hollywood.

If Marvel, for example, continued to use its Japanese sources, its overseas costs alone would have risen $30,000 to $50,000 per half hour show, according to Loesch.

Adds Wolf: "When you start to think 13 shows at a clip, or in some cases 65, that 40 percent factor (the dollar's drop) turns into millions and millions of dollars."

Hanna-Barbera, whose work continues unchanged in Japan, has moved into Poland and the Philippines mostly because of a big workload, according to a spokeswoman. But at the same time, she added, the company is trying to bring back some production to the United States - to a computer, that is. About 30 percent of the Hollywood company's cartoon production this year has been done with computer-assisted coloring and camera work systems in the United States.

attempting to be more flexible. "The Japanese want us back, and we say, 'How is that possible?' So we'll go to the bargaining table," Loesch says.

In at least one case, the Japanese are keeping work by subcontracting some tasks out to another Asian country. Wolf, for example, is working with Toei on a new syndicated cartoon series.

"They managed to keep prices competitive and I'm fully aware that 60 percent of the work is done in Korea with Japanese supervision. What I gain is the comfort level of working with a wellestablished Japanese company without risk of working with Korea directly, because Korea has not shown me, or many others, production stability and consistency."

Indeed, work returning from overseas still needs some touching up. "A lot of our employment for years and years has been doing corrections from overseas production," says Bud Hester of the Motion Picture Screen Cartoonists Union, whose membership is down to 1,250 from more than 1,600 four

Tchou, Richards named all-American

Iowa field hockey players Liz Tchou and Erica Richards were named to the College Field Hockey Coaches Association/Penn Monto 1987 all-America team released today.

Tchou, a senior midfielder from Medford Lakes, N.J., was named to the first team, while Richards, a sophomore forward from Pennsauken, N.J., received honorable mention honors.

The Hawkeyes finished the season with a fourth-place finish at the NCAA Tournament Nov. 21-22. They were 17-5-2 overall and Big Ten Conference champions with a 8-0-2 mark.

Big Ten honors Tupa, Dewitz

Ohio State quarterback Tom Tupa and Indiana free safety Brian Dewitz were named players of the week, the Big Ten Conference office announced Monday.

Schembechler: Bruce's lawsuit no shock

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) - Former Ohio State coach Earle Bruce's suit against the school that fired him came as no surprise to Michigan coach Bo Schembechler. 'He told me he was going to do it after the game Saturday," Schembechler said Monday at his weekly press luncheon. "It hurt to think that they could just fire a guy of that caliber. "I'm sure they knew when they did it the guy was a competitor.

He was not going to just sit back and say, 'See you later.' Schembechler was commenting on the $7.44 million suit Bruce said he filed against Ohio State and its president, Edward

Jennings. He was fired one week ago, the same week his team went out and recorded a 23-20 upset victory over Michigan. "The tough thing about all this is that he'll be a 57-year-old trying to get a job," Schembechler said. Bruce was rumored a year ago to be interested in the Arizona vacancy after Larry Smith quit to go to Southern California. "The only reason he was thinking about that was because of the things that were going on even Schembechler prefaced his remarks about the Bruce suit with the quip, "I guess they'll think twice before they fire me.'

Kansas football coach fired . . .

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) - Bob Valesente, an academic disciplinarian whose team won only four games in two years, Monday was fired as football coach at Kansas Valesente's record was 1-9-1 this season and 4-17-1 in two years.

Kansas did not win a game in the Big Eight Conference during The remaining two years on Valesente's contract - worth $72,100 a year — are to be honored.

Kansas Athletic Director Bob Frederick reportedly was pressured to replace Valesente by alumni. However, the faculty supported the coach. The grade-point average of Kansas players rose almost half a point last spring.

In its annual college football issue this season, Sports Illustrated called Kansas football a "joke."

... and so is Idaho State coach

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Jim Koetter, Idaho State football coach for the past five seasons, Monday was fired after the Bengals compiled a 3-7-1 record this year. "The search for a new head coach begins immediately," said

Glenn Alford, Idaho State sports information director.

After posting an 8-4 record in his initial season, Koetter compiled a 15-28-1 mark in the last four years.

Koetter has been offered a position with the Idaho State athletic department for the coming year, Alford said.

Both Koetter and Idaho State athletic director Tom Jewell could not be reached for comment.

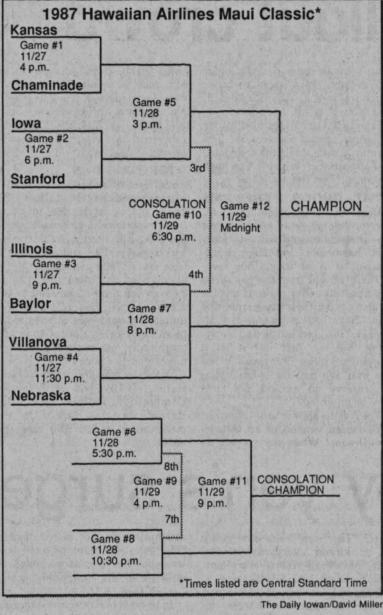

Arkansas captures cross country title

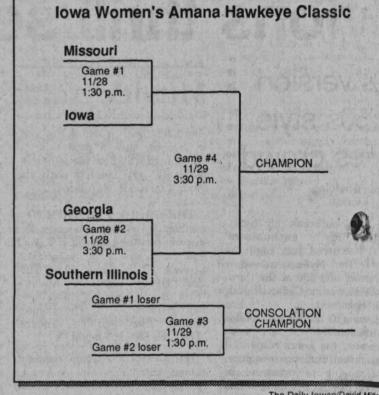

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) - Defending champion Arkansas won the NCAA men's Division I cross country championship Monday and Oregon captured the women's title.

Arkansas' Joe Falcon, last year's runner-up, took the individual title with a time of 29:14.97. John Scherer of Michigan was second with 29:20.56, followed by Harry Green of Texas (29:21.16), Eric Carter of Penn State (29:21.38) and Scott Fry of Wisconsin (29:23.26).

In overall team competition for men, Arkansas earned 87 points. Dartmouth was second at 119, followed by Wisconsin at third with 120, Virginia Tech with 184 for fourth place and North Carolina State fifth at 234.

Shoppers thankful for turkey war

United Press International

CHICAGO - A war is brewing between grocers this Thanksgiving to see who can sell turkeys for less, but as prices tumble the big winners seem to be consumers who can pick up a bird for as little as 17 cents a pound.

"We've got three: a 17 pounder; a 14 pounder; and an 11 pounder;" said Berwyn resident Mary Anne Tronchetti, 45, who bought her turkeys at Cub Foods for a mere 18 cents a pound.

"If they're good turkeys, we'll eat them for Thanksgiving and then use them for sandwiches. And if they're dry, we'll feed them to Muffin, our dog, because they're cheaper then dog food," said Tronchetti, who got a total of 42 pounds of turkey for $7.56.

LOCAL GROCERS say they've been pricing their birds low to try to entice customers to do all their Thanksgiving shopping at the store. But they blame the price war on Cub Foods, which started the battle on Nov. 2 when it broadcast a radio spot touting a "temporary price reduction" along with the prediction that "every supermarket in the area will be running ads for so-called sales on turkeys. But the advertisement ploy turned against Cub when it had to lower its 28 cents a pound price to keep up with Dominick's and Jewel, whose turkeys were going for 19 and 29 cents a pound respectively.

Men spikers lose in tourney semifinals

By Hugh Donlan The Daily Iowan

An improved Iowa men's volleyball club opened its season at the Two Rivers Volleyball Club Tournament in Des Moines Saturday. The club finished 5-3 in pool play and lost in the semifinals to North Central Volleyball Club, 15-9 and "I thought they played well,"

Coach Judy Young said. "When they were passing they played well, they played like a team."

The Two Rivers Tournament is a United States Volleyball Association-sanctioned event and the first Division BB tournament the Iowa club has participated in. The club finished second in the Division B regional last year and moved up to Division BB this year.

MIDDLE HITTER BILL Dorner was pleased with the team's performance against the more experienced competition.

"That's a pretty good showing for our first tournament at the BB level," he said. "Overall we did pretty well. We had some streaks where we played smoothly. Then again, we played teams we knew we could beat, but we let down."

Although the club is in only its second year of competition, it has improved "200 percent," according to Young, and the more the club plays together the better it will get. "We need time to play together," she said. "We're a little too predictable (on offense) and we need to mix up our attack. They're still relatively new to the (offense and

"Once we get the fundamentals

down pat we can throw in a few more options in our offense." • The sailing club will compete in the 41st Annual Timme Angsten Memorial Regatta Nov. 27, 28 and 29 at Belmont Harbor in Chicago. Iowa sailing has not qualified for the Timme Angsten Memorial, the most prestigious Midwest intercollegiate regatta, since 1972. "I treat it like a bowl game," sailing club Coach Bob Woodward said. "The idea is to prove you're worth it." Sailors from Michigan, Purdue, Navy, Tulane, Washington, Stanford, California-Berkeley and Springhill will compete at the regatta, which is sponsored by the Chicago Yacht Club.

"We're taking it real seriously," Woodward said. "We know it is a chance to show some of the other teams that we are a Top 20 team.

"The way to do that is to perform well in a major regatta, and this is definitely a major regatta."

Because Iowa sailing is just beginning to be recognized on the national sailing scene, a strong finish at the Timme Angsten would support their chances of a national ranking. The rankings are determined by the coaches of Navy, California-Irvine and Tufts.

"How we do in this regatta will affect whether or not we get in the top 20," Woodward said.

Sportsclubs is a weekly feature in The Daily Iowan. If you would like information included, please contact Hugh Donlan at the DI sports desk.

Twins' Kelly named top manager by UPI

By Steven M. Peristein United Press International

MINNEAPOLIS - Tom Kelly of the Minnesota Twins, who parlayed an understated style and a band of no-name players into a championship in his first full year at the helm, Monday was named American League Manager of the Year by United Press Interna-

Kelly received nine votes, beating Detroit's Sparky Anderson by a vote. Tom Trebelhorn of Milwaukee received the other three votes in the poll of 20 UPI baseball corresponents. The poll was taken before the playoffs and reflects only regular-season performance.

Kelly, 37, took over from Ray Miller at the tail end of the 1986 season. He led the Twins to an 85-77 record in 1987, good enough to win the AL West. The team had gone 71-91 in 1986.

"THERE ARE A LOT of good managers out there, and I've got to attribute my winning to having good players," Kelly said by telephone from his Parlin, N.J., home. "They really did the job for me."

Kelly's relaxed managing style and sense of humor was evident before the playoffs when he was asked how he kept 24 major-league egos in check

"I tried until about a month ago and then I realized it was pretty Tom Kelly much impossible," he said.

Buoyed by the strong performances of such players as third baseman Gary Gaetti and center fielder Kirby Puckett, and by fan support of record proportions, the Twins clinched their first Western Division title since 1970 with the best home record and worst road record in baseball. THE TEAM QUIETED skeptics who bemoaned the weakness of the AL West and the Twins' shabby road play by trouncing the Tigers in five games to take the pennant.

Oklahoma, Miami rank 1-2 in ratings

By Joel Sherman United Press International

NEW YORK - Oklahoma captured 48 of 50 first-place votes Monday to vault back to No. 1 in United Press International's college football rankings while Orange Bowl opponent Miami moved to No. 2.

The Iowa Hawkeyes, after posting a 34-20 victory over Minnesota last Saturday, fell from the top 20 poll. Alabama also dropped from the Florida State, 10-1, advanced a place to No. 3 and Syracuse, 11-0, moved up two slots to No. 4.

Oklahoma fell from No. 1 for the first time this season last Tuesday, dropping to second behind Nebraska. But the Sooners dispatched the Cornhuskers 17-7 Saturday in Lincoln, Neb., and appear certain to be the top-ranked team in the nation when they play their next game, Jan. 1 in the Orange Bowl against Miami.

THE SOONERS claimed 748 of a possible 750 points in balloting by the 50-member UPI Board of Coaches. Miami received two firstplace ballots and 691 points.

The Hurricanes, 9-0, play Notre Dame Saturday and South Carolina Dec. 5, and if they finish with a perfect record, the Orange Bowl Jan. 1 in Miami will be for the national title. Oklahoma completed its regular season 11-0.

No. 8 Michigan State (Rose Bowl) and No. 9 South Carolina (Gator) both leaped three places. UCLA (Aloha) plummeted five spots to No. 10 after being upset by Southern California.

No. 11 Notre Dame sank four places with a loss to Penn State, but still gained a Cotton Bowl berth. Oklahoma State (Sun) slid a slot to No. 12. No. 13 Clemson, which lost Saturday to South Carolina, fell five places and will meet Penn State in the Citrus.

No. 14 Southern Cal shot up four slots and earned a Rose Bowl game against Michigan State by beating UCLA. No. 15 Texas A&M, which stepped back a place, plays Texas Thanskgiving night for the Southwest Conference title and a Cotton Bowl bid against Notre Dame.

No. 16 Tennessee (Peach) and No. 17 Georgia (Liberty) both dropped a notch. Penn State rejoined the ratings at No. 18 and Pittsburgh (Bluebonnet) slid two positions to

5 Hawkeyes named to all-conference team

By Randy Minkoff United Press International

CHICAGO - Big Ten champion Michigan State, paced by running back Lorenzo White, placed six players on the 1987 all-Big Ten team announced Monday by United Press International. The Spartans, bound for the Rose Bowl after winning their first Big Ten title in 22 years, had three players each on the offensive and defensive units. Voting was done by the 10 conference coaches.

Doyle finishes 40th in NCAAs

By Eric J. Hess The Daily Iowan

Renee Doyle, searching for her second all-American finish, took 40th place Monday at the NCAA Women's Cross Country Championships in Charlottesville, Va.

Doyle, who finished seventh last season, was not among the 33 runners who were named to the all-American team. Her time on the 5,000-meter course was 17:06.

Cross Country

The Sioux City, Iowa, native said last week that she had tendonitis in her left foot that caused her to miss two days of practice. But she didn't expect that to hinder her chances at the NCAA meet.

Both Doyle and Iowa Coach Jerry Hassard were unavailable for comment Monday night.

DOYLE STARTED the season in a flurry, winning the Iowa Open as the Hawkeyes swept the first five places.

Her performances were consistent all season. She finished second at Iowa State, second at Minnesota, third at Virginia and fourth at the Big Ten Championships. Indiana's Kim Betz won the individual championship in 16:10.85, a course record and an NCAA Championships record. The old record was set by Cathy Branta of Wisconsin in 1984. Her time was

Men open vs. Stanford in Maui Classic

By Marc Bona The Daily Iowan

Despite several banged-up players and a tough upcoming Thanksgiving tournament, Iowa men's basketball Coach Tom Davis said Monday at his weekly press conference in Carver-Hawkeye Arena his outlook is positive.

"We're a long way away from being a good ball club," Davis said. "We've still got a lot of room for improvement.

Guard Rodell Davis, a freshman from Harvey, Ill., will be the only Hawkeye definitely ruled out for the Hawaiian Airlines Maui Classic. Forward Roy Marble will see "limited" action and center Ed Horton is due back from a sprained ankle.

"Our status going into the tour-nament is good," Davis said. "I think Roy Marble is going to be pretty healthy. I don't think he's going to be favoring that leg much by Friday. Eddie Horton will play in the tournament, (but) he's far from being ready.

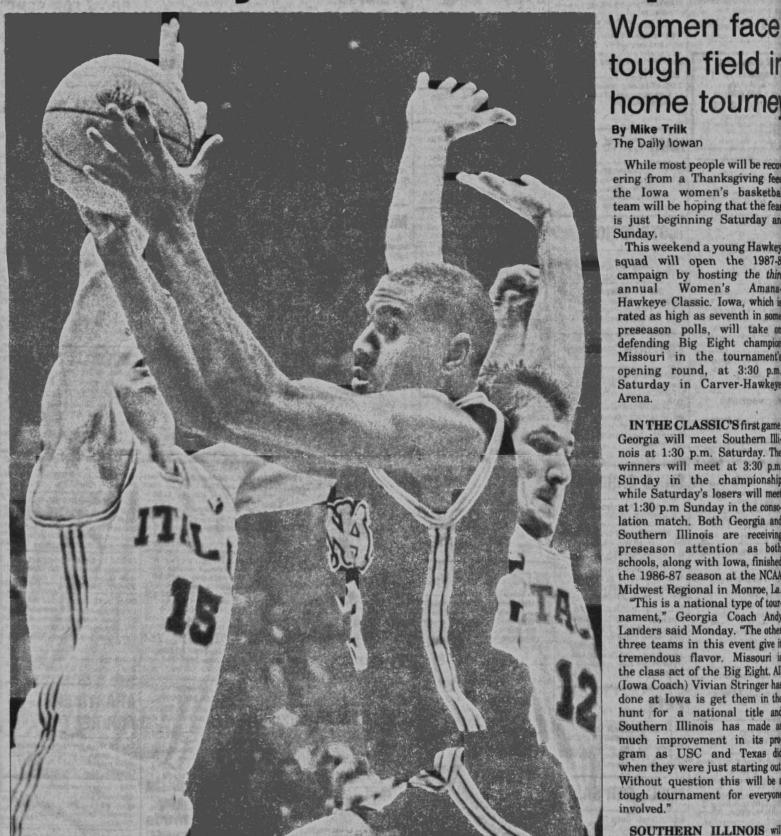

"WE WILL GO WITH the same starting lineup as we went with against the Italians." Davis named guards B.J. Armstrong and Jeff Moe, forwards Bill Jones and Al Lorenzen and center Kent

Davis, though, said he's prepared to utilize the team's depth. "Michael Reaves is continuing to play well, and we're going to have to play some other inside people - Mark Jewell, Les Jepsen and the possibility of one or two of the freshmen. And Michael Morgan has been playing well."

The Hawkeyes open the tournament Friday against Stanford. Tip-off is slated for 6 p.m.

The Cardinal were ranked third and fourth in the Pacific 10 conference in preseason polls, said Davis, who coached Stanford from 1982-86.

"We think they have the potential to go higher," Davis said.

tough field in home tourney By Mike Trilk The Daily Iowan While most people will be recovering from a Thanksgiving feed, the Iowa women's basketball team will be hoping that the feast is just beginning Saturday and Sunday.

This weekend a young Hawkeye squad will open the 1987-88 campaign by hosting the third annual Women's Amana-Hawkeye Classic. Iowa, which is rated as high as seventh in some preseason polls, will take on defending Big Eight champion Missouri in the tournament's opening round, at 3:30 p.m. Saturday in Carver-Hawkeye INTHE CLASSIC'S first game, Georgia will meet Southern Illinois at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The winners will meet at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the champion while Saturday's losers will meet at 1:30 p.m Sunday in the consolation match. Both Georgia and Southern Illinois are receiving preseason attention as both schools, along with Iowa, finished the 1986-87 season at the NCAA Midwest Regional in Monroe, La.

"This is a national type of tour nament," Georgia Coach Andy Landers said Monday. "The other three teams in this event give it tremendous flavor. Missouri is the class act of the Big Eight. All (Iowa Coach) Vivian Stringer has done at Iowa is get them in the hunt for a national title and Southern Illinois has made as much improvement in its program as USC and Texas did when they were just starting out. Without question this will be a tough tournament for everyone involved."

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS will bring the most experienced team into the tournament as the Salukis return four starters from last year's team that went 27-2.

Georgia will enter the Amanasponsored event with only one starter from a year ago but with a tradition that has the Lady Bulldogs coming off seven straight 20-win seasons and six

Northern Open will challenge wrestlers

By Scott Wingert The Daily Iowan

Iowa wrestling Coach Dan Gable has some questions about his lineup that he does not want to answer himself.

"I want the team to show me what to do about my lineup," Gable said. "Pretty soon, though, within a month, I'll have to start making some decisions about some people." Gable hopes to at least partially answer some of his questions this Saturday when the team travels to Madison, Wis., for the Northern Open.

"I don't want to make any irrational decisions," Gable said. "I'll still put it all on hold if I have to."

IOWA CURRENTLY has six of its wrestlers ranked among the Amateur Wrestling News' top fif-teen at individual weights — (118) Steve Martin, 15th; (126) John Regan, 10th; (134) Brad Penrith, 2nd; (158) John Heffernan, 2nd; (167) Royce Alger, 1st; (Hwt) Mark Sindlinger, 3rd.

Gable said Wisconsin and Minne-sota should provide the secondranked Hawkeyes with their stiffest competition, though no team scores will be kept. Top-ranked Iowa State will not send any of its first team to Madison. "We have two tough duals in North Carolina this weekend,' said Iowa State Coach Jim Gibbons, whose team barely escaped sixth-ranked Edinboro State (Pa.) last Thursday, 19-18. "We'll just send over some redshirts and guys who are ineligible for regular com-

Wisconsin Coach Andy Rein said he has committments from three of the seven Big Ten teams ranked in the AWN's first top 20 rankings.

TENTH-RANKED Wisconsin, 11th-ranked Michigan and 16th-ranked Purdue will be among about 20 teams trying to knock off Iowa. Seventeenth-ranked Minnesota is expected to commit to the tournament field later this week.

for third place in conference By Anne Upson

The Daily Iowan

The Iowa volleyball team finishes season on the road this weekend with final matches against Wisconsin (9-7) and Northwestern (8-8). Both of the contests will be deciding factors in Iowa's (8-8) final standing in the Big Ten conference.

The last time the Wildcats faced the Hawkeyes, Iowa suffered a three-game loss. Iowa Coach Sandy Stewart anticipates a reversal in the upcoming match.

"We have a good possibliity of beating them," Stewart said.

Even though Northwestern has lost its last three matches, Wildcat Coach Jerry Angle doesn't forsee another defeat.

"We need to play tough when we play Iowa," Angle said. "Iowa has a scrappy offense. We will be looking at Ellen Mullarkey as a big BOTH IOWA ANDNorthwestern are two of several teams battling for third place. Coach Angle is taking a realistic approach to this weekend's crucial matches. "We are going to play one match at a time," Angle said. "Whatever happens, happens. There is no type of planning that can be done.

Stewart said her team would have a better chance tying for third if they win both its games this weekend and if Minnessota (10-6) loses both its games.

Ironically, Stewart is more apprehensive of the match against Wisconsin — a team Iowa has already defeated once this season.

"We are more leery of Wisconsin," Stewart said. "We beat them easily before, but they have had a lot of improvement. This a really crucial Wisconsin Coach Steve Lowe sall the match should be close.

"I HOPE FOR A great match Lowe said. "Both Iowa and Wiscon" sin are evenly-matched teams. just hope we are ready for it."
