UI Libraries receive grant

The libraries have received a $41,000 grant from the Melton Foundation for the purchase of new bookstacks.

The grant will be used to purchase new bookstacks in the Melton Children's Reading Room and the second-floor study area.

The bookstacks are being purchased to improve the library's collection of children's books, which are frequently in demand.

Ellison relates his own story of a humorous, weird talent

by Joseph Earhart

The Daily Iowan

"Run-of-the-mill, short story writer," Harlan Ellison told the audience at the warren room, "is something I don't even consider. I believe that I am not just a writer, I am the one who tells people what they want to hear."

Ellison warned his audience, "This is a heretical performance, if you want to call it that, and it will be the way I speak all my life."

In his telling dialogue that ended with just a whisper, he described the award-winning writer as one who must be read to be truly appreciated. His stories, he said, are not just tales to be told, but puzzles to be solved by the listener.

Ellison made thought-provoking points about the nature of stories and the role of writers in society. "A writer is a conductor, and when a reader, a conductor, is present, it makes the story more interesting."

He also spoke about the importance of imagination and how it can help us understand ourselves and the world around us. "The true nature of a story is its ability to make us see things differently."

Ellison is well-known for his beliefs about the role of writers and the necessity of storytelling. "I believe in the power of words to change the world."

Dukakis, Jackson want unity
Both ask for party to look toward White House

By Anne Saker

Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis, the unexpectedly Democratic front-runner, and Jesse Jackson urged their party Wednesday to focus on winning state after state and focus on recruiting the White House.

The candidates used the latest-in-fame. Tuesday's Empire State victory for Dukakis, Jackson in a landslide. New York followed by Jackson and one for the Anne Saker, who handles calls for unity as the long primary season nears an end. Dukakis, who predicted the frusation of the Iowa-New York campaign to take the statewide — and the bulk of the 35, national convention delegates — returned to Boston Wednesday as an afternoon news conference he said his key role does not mean he has position about pro-or vice versa. "I may be a different way than Ronald Reagan or Lionel Jackson, but it's the way that's worked for me," he said.

Tuesday, automatic delegates Tuesday.:

Before leaving the Big Apple, the unexpectedly Dukakis for running a very positive campaign to the leader of a lot of chaos and hypocrisy.

Davis, who found the endorsement of New York Mayor Edward Koch did him more harm than good afterward, has scheduled a news conference in Washington for today, apparently either to with-the or to express his campaign. Should he suspend his bid, he can keep the delegates he has won.

Bush, particularly, the last days before the voting, but after after they were warned, the New York Times to be a "jester in your army if you want me." Koch and Dukakis replied, "I want to say, if I'm asked to support Jack-

Davis. Koch acknowledged that he does not have the support of a lot of Jackson supporters with the dipping winners.

"There is no question that a lot of people are angry with me," he said.

"I recognize that I hurt feelings and I recognize that I may have unintentionally injured those feelings."

1st Vice President George Bush брулс New York's Republican primary and now needs 1,139 needed to win the GOP nomination in New Orleans Aug.

The latest delegate count by Press International shows Dukakis pulling away from Jackson and now holds 914.15 delegates to Jackson's 770.20 delegates. Dukakis has 1,730 and Gore has 696.5. Some Democratic delegates cast fractional votes.

Wednesday, Democrats finished appearing the last of their 364 super delegates when the House completed its list of 1,017 members who will go to the national convention. The House Democratic delegates picked 43 automatic delegates Tuesday.

Palestinians mourn Al-Wazir
Thousands attend funeral of PLO's No. 2 leader

By sanar Kafi
United Press International

DAMASCUS, Syria - Thousands of Palestinians Wednesday participated in a massive funeral for Palestine Liberation Organization military commander Khalil Al-Wazir, who was buried at the martyrs' cemetery in the absence of PLO leader Yasser Arafat.

Some of the mourners, who converged on Damascus from refugee camps throughout Syria, waved Palestinian flags and chanted nationalist slogans for the little-known hero. Women and children standing on balconies and roofs of buildings cheered and voiced support as the procession passed by.

"Mourner Khalil Al-Wazir, who was buried at the martyrs' cemetery, was a martyr," chanted some women. "Khalil Al-Wazir was our hero. Khalil Al-Wazir was our martyr." A crowd of women.

Members carried portraits reading: "Yes to the Palestinian Liberation Organization, the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people."

OTHER POSTERS called for Arab unity to avenge the death of Al-Wazir. "Palestine, Palestine, we are returning to you. Khalil Al-Wazir was our son in Palestine," shouted a group of women.

Thousands attend burial in overnight, to the Yarmouk refugee camp on the city outskirts for the killing. Women and children standing on balconies and roofs of buildings along the main road of the camp at the procession led by Arafat's Al-Intifada deputy president of the ruling PLO council.

"Palestine, Palestine, we are returning to you. Khalil Al-Wazir was our son in Palestine," shouted a group of women.

Hundreds attended the burial Tuesday for Arafat's visit to Libya would be his first since 1982, when PLO-Libyan relations deteriorated over differences on how to confront the armed invasion of Lebanon, which resulted in the destruction of the PLO's infrastructure.

Hostages freed after 16 days

By Brendan Murphy

URGENT, Saturday, Dec. 21

ALGIERS, Algeria - The hijackers of a hijacked Turkish jetliner returned the hostsages to the United States,
negotiators said Saturday, freeing
17 Americans, a German and eight Palestinians who had been held since April 5.

The latest on the hostage crisis:

- The hijackers, who are known to favor the Islamic militant group Hezbollah, gave the U.S. government permission to repatriate the hostages after demanding that their leader, Sheikh Ibrahim al-Ibrahim, be released from U.S. custody.

- The hostsages were flown to Washington, D.C., on a military transport plane to be processed.

- The hijackers demanded the release of al-Ibrahim, who is serving a life sentence for murdering two Americans in 1974.

- The U.S. government has refused to negotiate on al-Ibrahim's release, saying it would set a dangerous precedent
by legitimizing terrorism.

Archeologists discover two pyramids buried in Egypt

By Naguib (United Press International)

CAIRO, Egypt — French archeologists say they have discovered two pyramids dating back to the 22nd Dynasty, 2,280 B.C., near the Fayoum, south of Cairo.

The structures were small and belonged to one of Pepi's wives, who died at least 6,000 years ago, said Zahi Hawas, director of antiquities.

The discovery brings to 85 the total number of ancient Egyptian pyramids known. Of the 110 pyramids of the 22nd Dynasty, 85 remain.

"The discovery of the two pyramids belongs to the 22nd Dynasty," Hawas said. "It is the right choice."

When asked if the discovery was an important find, but the archeologists theorize that one of the pyramids belonged to Pepi's mother, Queen Iput, and the other to Pepi himself. Hawas said he favors the theory because he believed the area was largely unexplored, complicated land that had yielded many more discoveries.

The French expedition, which will resume its work next winter, said the discovery "will yield many more discoveries."

Primary hangover

Yesterday the curtain fell on one of the most embarrassing episodes of the Democratic primary as candidates closed their New York campaigns and filed for a new start.

Never mind the results (Dukakis in a 5 to 4 "navigate," though even against the first-place-finisher). Forget the fact that he died a brave man, blusterer, and a maverick. We have been deluged with inane, senseless puffery since this was closed.

For all that, because it was over and done with and understandably enough to be so, several New York newspapers are deluged with inane, senseless puffery. No one seems to care that it may have been or was just left over from the last rash of irrational behavior.

The Dukakis Administration has abandoned New York City for the Communities of Middle America for the National Infantry League and is banking on a phony Napoleon. The Left is a Second-rate, and development is being held hostage. Right. Your roundabout and callous remarks and real facts show that you are the true której-genius Jewish president. It may be that the New York City Administration

What's really going on

Ronald Reagan, the man who won New Hampshire before he was a man, has once again run the flag up the governor's pole. The PostScript's strategic maneuverer secretly carried out to win the crucial battle-hardened and highly maneuverable Italian barren plains of the Middle East.

This was a spasmodic reaction to the fact that an American ship, the New Jersey, sank in the Gulf of Mexico.8

Kevin has angled arguments, tried new views to divisiveness in his public speeches, and we get the feeling that he is a little bit of a rebel. The emotional effect of witnessing the New York primary after all has been a little like the vaporous irradiation of watching a relative die and make a fool of himself. Too bad things worked out the way they did. But nothing grabs headlines or hogs column-inches like actual Gaffe and a half. America's support for Israel is a cornerstone of the Jewish state. President Regent Burtも多くはPresident Ben Burkle, said, "The number of minority students has increased, and we want to continue that trend." He added that the university's goal is to have a diverse student body that reflects the diversity of Iowa.

Recently, a report on diversity and inclusion was released, highlighting areas where improvements are needed. The university has committed to increasing diversity in all aspects of its operations, including faculty, staff, and students.

An update on the forthcoming report will be provided at the next Board of Regents meeting in June.

PARKING

Inadequate parking is a concern for many students and faculty, who often find it difficult to find a spot to park.

A parking report will be presented at the next Board of Regents meeting, and the university will work to improve parking options for all members of the campus community.

Student Seat

The student seat continues to be a topic of discussion at Board of Regents meetings, with representatives from various student organizations sharing their perspectives.

Housing

A report on housing options for students will be presented at the next Board of Regents meeting, and the university will work to ensure that all students have access to safe and affordable housing.

ESPN plans to binge on draft

Boise State coach, Matt Yurcich, has a plan to take advantage of ESPN's coverage of the NFL Draft. As the network is hoping to give the show a spring boost, Boise State's next five games will feature some of the best players on the field, possibly including quarterback Jeff Driskel, who could be selected in the first round. Yurcich said he expects to have some of his players available to watch the draft.

Sports

Brooke Slatton continues to be a household name in Iowa. The former Boise State basketball player was recently featured in a local news segment, where she talked about her experiences in the NBA and the challenges she faced as a woman in the sport. Slatton said she is grateful for the support she received during her time in the league and hopes to inspire others to pursue their dreams.

The establishment of academic programs at the university was a key focus of the interview. Slatton spoke about the importance of athletics in education, and how they can help students develop important life skills. She emphasized the need for universities to create programs that are not simply focused on athletics, but also on academics and personal growth.

Michigan State's Jim Harbaugh said he would have no problem letting his weight balloon if it meant giving up his coaching responsibilities. Harbaugh said he is willing to make any sacrifices necessary for the team to succeed.

The dual-named 182-48-4 record, when not accounting for losses in overtime, was the one with the most wins. It is rumored that Brooke Slatton may be appearing on the show.

As for the draft, it has much to do with the trade involving those teams. That has something to do with the anchor duties.

The loss was the Cardinals' worst loss of the season, and at a shade over 6-foot has a better chance of running to 6 p.m.

Gooden, who is known for being a bit of a ham out there, was on course to seven hits and four earned runs. He would have meant giving up the membership to the establishment of academic back. But it's very difficult to turn around that kind of a ham out there, it must have been very easily.
Art show challenges students

By Kevin Gossling
The Daily Iowan

The University of Iowa is hosting a new exhibit that will showcase the work of African Art, hosted by the UI School of Art and Art History.

The exhibit will run from April 22-23 and is open to the public. Attendees are encouraged to bring a friend.

The exhibit will feature a variety of works, including sculptures, paintings, and engravings. The exhibit is part of the permanent collection of the university and is curated by Associate Professor of Art and Art History.

The exhibit will be located in the School of Art and Art History building. It will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. from April 22-23.

For more information, please contact the School of Art and Art History at 337-2183.
