U.S. strikes tentative bargain with Noriega

By Lou Cannon
Washington Post
WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration has reached a tentative agreement with Panamanian Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega on a U.S.-Panamanian treaty of mutual assistance that would allow the U.S. to station up to 2,500 troops in Panama for several weeks.

Administration sources said the deal calls for a 21-day maximum for U.S. presence. The treaty would go into effect if it is approved by the Senate. The Senate will meet in pro forma session Thursday to consider the treaty, sources said.

Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman, said he favors the treaty, but that it would go through a "thorough review." Administration sources said they could not predict how soon the treaty might be approved.

In a separate move, officials said, the U.S. government is considering giving Noriega $500 million in trade credits, military equipment, construction materials and the like. "We're simply trying to do everything we can to help him," one source said.

The sources said the treaty would be extended for an unspecified period if Noriega is able to stem the flow of drugs throughout Central America.

In recent months, the administration has moved away from its position of refusing to deal with Noriega. Last week, for example, Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, said the U.S. would extend its current assistance for another 30 days.

An administration official said the agreement might include a commitment to use military force if Noriega is not able to root out drug smugglers. Noriega has been accused of protecting drug dealers.

Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, D-N.Y., said he welcomed the move but added, "I am going to to try to stop it. It's not a test of our faith — it's a test of our morals."

"We will work as a cohesive group to try to stop it," he said. "There is no issue that's more important to this country than the war on drugs."

"We're not going to unrealistically set a time limit on how much time we're going to give Noriega to try to eliminate the drug traffic," another source said.

Jerusalem Post reporter speaks on Mideast crisis

By Joe Wiltshire
The Daily Iowan

Despite the continued war between Israel and its Arab neighbors, the Israelis want peace and would support a realistic proposal by U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, according to Wolf Blitzer, Washington bureau chief of The Jerusalem Post.

Blitzer spoke about the prospect for peace in the Middle East at Illinois State University before a crowd of about 150 people in Pulley Hall Thursday night.

"The Israelis are not thrilled that they have been living in a state of war for the last 40 years," Blitzer said. "Peace in Israel's primary concern." He said the Israelis would rather do more productive things than defend their country.

"THE ALTERNATIVE is hav­ing no state," Blitzer said. He said the Israelis want to have peace with the Arab nations but are concerned about the lack of security among Arab nations.

"The first problem is that they are living in a dangerous part of the world," Blitzer said. "When Israe­lis see things like the Iran-Iraq war and to see the Iranians as our neighbors, they must themselves, If Israel's adversaries are capable of committing these crimes against our own people, what are they capable of committing against the Israelis?"

He said the Israelis are also influ­enced by the impact of the Holoc­aus, according to Blitzer.

"They understand man's evil," he said. "They understand man's evil and how it leads to horror and destruction, according to Blitzer.

Blitzer said he got depressed when he saw there was an overwhelming majority of the Israeli people who wanted peace with the Arabs.

He said the Israelis want peace because they are depressed when they see the lack of security.

He said Sadat came to Israel to challenge Arab states to make peace, which is now realized in a peace treaty between the Egyptians and the Israelis.

"BUT NO doubt that if the Israelis were again challenged by any Arab leader with a realistic challenge of peace, the Israelis would rush to sign a peace treaty with the Arabs," Blitzer said.

He said Israeli leaders and the public are tired of the war.

"Even though Israel made many mistakes, we have to understand the importance of why Israel must exist and thrive," Blitzer said. "If Israel were to disappear, we would have to reexamine the importance of why Israel must exist and thrive."

"We are not desperadoes at all," said Jones. "We just want to cover their responsibilities. Some years there are hundreds of students who don't try out for the band because they don't think they can make it.

"This is the notion that we've been fighting for years," he said, adding that members don't have to be "first chair" players to make the band.

JONES SAID "SPRING" auditions had been done in the past and were started again last year on the band would be ready for the 1987 Kickoff Convalescence.

"This will be the second trial try," said Jones. "If we hire well and this year, we will continue having spring auditions."

The process will take approximately 12 months. Jones said, with all of the instruments playing. Play tryouts will be held today and May 6 from 3 to 6 p.m.

"I don't question the extra time," said Jones. "The programs are not new."

Support grows for Polish steel workers

By Bogden Turek

WASHINGTON - Leaders of prominent groups including Solidarity rallied their followers Thursday for a massive workers' strike in southern Poland, a week after thousands of workers at the nation's biggest steel plant seized control of the facility.

Polish authorities have used a growing number of wage rejections in the strikes as a wedge into the workers' economic reforms. President Lech Walesa has said that if the government's economic reforms are adopted, they would be ready for any investment the workers would make in growing unrest. The strikes came as a sign of the workers' growing dissatisfaction with the government's economic policies.

At the industrial center of southern Poland, 70,000 workers threatened to go on strike after the government rejected their demands that the steel plant be nationalized.

At the Zawidawa steelworks in southern Poland, 30,000 workers threatened to go on strike after the government rejected their demands that the steel plant be nationalized.

Najibullah tries conciliation

Afghan army: The Soviet-led Afghan army continues its efforts to reconcile with the Afghan People's Republic, according to reports. The army is planning to resume talks with the government, hoping to find a peaceful resolution to the ongoing conflict.

By William Todcy

BRUSSELS, Belgium — The United Nations Security Council Meeting on May 2nd to discuss the situation in Afghanistan. The meeting is expected to discuss the importance of a negotiated settlement and the role of the United Nations in supporting the process.

The food crisis in Afghanistan continues to worsen, with over 40 million people facing food insecurity. The UN is appealing for $3 billion in emergency aid, including $1 billion for the immediate relief of those affected.

The situation in Afghanistan remains volatile, with ongoing fighting between government forces and Taliban rebels. The United Nations is calling for a resumption of talks to bring about a peaceful resolution.

The Afghan government has announced plans to hold elections in October, with the aim of forming a new government. However, the opposition is calling for more time to prepare for the elections.

The situation in Afghanistan is complex, with competing interests and a lack of international support. The United Nations is urging all parties to engage in a peaceful dialogue to achieve a lasting solution.

NATO concerned about Danish resolution

By David M. Doyen

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is concerned about a Danish resolution that seeks to impose sanctions on the Taliban. The resolution, introduced by the government, is seen as a violation of the international community's efforts to find a peaceful solution.

The Taliban, who control large parts of Afghanistan, have repeatedly rejected such resolutions, stating that they only serve to undermine their legitimate government.

The case has sparked a debate in the Danish parliament, with some calling for a stronger stance against the Taliban and others arguing for a more conciliatory approach.

NATO is urging all parties to engage in a dialogue to achieve a peaceful resolution and avoid further sanctions.

Prevention ideas

The United Nations has launched a campaign to raise awareness about the importance of prevention in dealing with the ongoing conflict in Afghanistan. The campaign aims to promote peacebuilding and reconciliation initiatives, as well as the provision of basic services to those affected.

NATO Secretary-General Jens Stoltenberg has condemned the resolution, saying it is a violation of international law and a violation of the rights of the people of Afghanistan.

What if men were actimized?

There are not many ways a universe could end, so when a universe actually does end, you have to think that the people in the universe are actimized. This is the idea that they are not in control of their destiny, but that they are being acted upon by some higher power or force.

The universe was created by a higher power, and the rules of the universe were set in place by that power. The people in the universe are not in control of their actions, but are instead being actimized by the higher power. This idea is supported by the fact that the universe always ends in the same way, and that the same events always happen in the same way.

There are many different theories about what happens after the universe ends, but the most common theory is that the universe is actimized by a higher power. This theory is supported by the fact that the universe always ends in the same way, and that the same events always happen in the same way.

FORMAL PART. I say "formal" because it's just a formal introduction. Iowa invites travel to 79th Drake Relays

Hawks' Taylor looks to qualify for Olympic Trials in sprints

By Bruce Miller

Iowa track coach Paul Steele said his athletes have what it takes to qualify for the summer's Olympic Games, but they need to step up their game for the upcoming meet.

Steele said the track team has been preparing for the Olympic Trials since the beginning of the season, and he expects to have several athletes qualify for the Games.

The meet will be held in Eugene, Oregon, and the top three finishers in each event will advance to the Olympic Games in Beijing.

The meet is the penultimate step in the qualification process for the Olympics, and Steele said his athletes are ready to take on the challenge.

The Drake Relays are scheduled for April 18-20 in Des Moines, Iowa, and Steele said the meet will be a great opportunity for his athletes to shine.

The Relays have a long history of producing Olympic champions, and Steele said he is confident that his athletes will be able to perform at their best during the meet.

Calgary '88 committee gives $2.2 million to Olympic group

Unusual move shares surplus with athletes

By Mike Myser

The Calgary Olympic Committee has made an unusual move by sharing its surplus with athletes who qualified for the Olympic Games.

The committee has set aside $2.2 million from its budget to distribute to athletes who competed in the Winter Olympics in Calgary.

The money will be distributed to the team's athletes, with the amount ranging from $5,000 to $25,000 per athlete.

The committee said the move was intended to recognize the hard work and dedication of the athletes who represented Canada in the Winter Olympics.

The move is a departure from the usual practice of keeping surplus funds for future Olympic committees.

The money will be distributed to the athletes through a special fund set up by the committee.

The committee said it hoped the move would help athletes fund their training and transition to life after the Olympics.

Caps keep series alive, skate by New Jersey 7-2

By Guy Menoug

The Capitals kept the series alive with a dominant 7-2 win over the New Jersey Devils in Game 6.

The Capitals had virtually no answer to the Devils, who dominated the game from start to finish.

The Devils scored four goals in the first period, including a pair by center Rod Langway, to take a 4-0 lead.

The Devils continued to pile on in the second period, scoring three more goals to make it 7-0.

The Capitals scored a late goal to avoid a shutout, but the game was over.

The Capitals will now have to regroup and try to force a Game 7 on Sunday night in New Jersey.

Blevins hopes good showing saves "disappointing season"
By Scott Wingert

Iowa's Coach Gayle Blevins thanks she has seen the future of her team today and is expecting big things from her team in the future. She attributes much of her success to the hard work and dedication of her team.

Softball

"At the end of last season, I was disappointed," Blevins said. "We had a great season, but it was filled with ups and downs. We have to work on our fundamentals and our hitting." Blevins believes her team is ready to make a run at the Big Ten conference title.

Tennis squads look to Big Ten tourneys

Despite 1-8 mark, women seeded 9th

By Hugh Deman

Though it's often difficult to win a Big Ten tourney, the Hawkeyes have a chance to become the first team to win back-to-back titles. The Hawkeyes (1-8 in the conference) pass for the first time since 1985, when the team was seeded 9th and four-time Big Ten champion in 1986. Catherine Wilson, No. 3 singles, and Robin Gerstein, No. 5 singles, are the third and sixth seeds, respectively. The third and sixth seeds can tie a record. Houghton said.

UI Opera Theatre performs Mozart

Mozart's rarely encountered masterpiece, "The Magic Flute," is to be performed in its entirety in the UI Opera Theatre on Saturday, April 21. This opera, composed by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, is set in the ancient city of Teurnia and tells the story of Tamino, a young prince who is saved by Papageno, a birdcatcher, from the clutches of the evil Queen of the Night. The opera is known for its beautiful music and intricate plot, which unfolds through a series of supernatural events.

The Opera Theatre is located in the Grainger Hall of Music on the University of Iowa campus. Tickets are available at the box office or online through the UI Opera Theatre website. For more information, please contact the UI Opera Theatre at (319) 335-5685.

"The Magic Flute" is a must-see for music lovers and opera enthusiasts. Don't miss this opportunity to experience one of Mozart's greatest works in all its glory.
