Reagan reportedly makes offer to Noriega
Administration said to be divided over president's proposal

IN A REFERENCE to the Panama Canal, the official Press Pool said, "To Panama, there have been rumors of a possible deal. Noriega is denied any deal at all. No agreement has been established to the president's knowledge." Panama government sources then said it would take not more than a few days. Panama government sources received what was described as an official message from the Defense Secretary of State Elliott, who had his first secret meeting with Panama on April 10 and 12.

He has an old personal relationship with some of Noriega's chief admirers and is regarded by Panama officials as a man capable of guessing other U.S. officials who have not met Noriega. Panamanian authorities have received a request from President Raúl Castro of Cuba for the repeated meetings on the subject. "We were informed of the possibility," Mr. Carnahan said.

NBC: SAID REAGAN approves the plan after national security adviser notion that a deal should be worked out with the Noriega government. NBC News: "This is a critical moment." Panamanian officials reported that a meeting is expected to take place between President Bush and the Panamanian leader. While those responsible for the decision to work with the Panamanian government, the talks have been ongoing for some time, and the U.S. government has maintained that the talks are on going.

School board likely to put athletic complex on hold

By Deborah Ode

Iowa City West High School will likely go without an athletic complex in the near future if a group of Iowa City school board members recommend the project, which received approval by the Iowa City School Board last year. The recommendation follows a recent plan proposed by the Iowa City School District for a new athletic complex on a property at 705 Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd. that would serve as a Central Athletics Facility for students in grades 9 through 12.

The proposal would include construction of a new field house, renovation of an existing gymnasium, and the addition of a new outdoor track. The facility would also provide space for team meetings and storage. The total cost of the project is estimated at $12 million, with construction expected to begin in 2023 and be completed in 2026.

The school board is expected to vote on the proposal during its meeting on Tuesday, January 10th. If approved, the project could be funded through a bond referendum. However, the board may choose to delay the decision until more information is available about potential funding sources and timelines.

Fire at phone station causes ruckus for Illinois residents

by Cathy Jackson

The Daily Iowan

Thousands of UI residents from the Chicago area panicked Monday through their usual phones and were unable to get through on any AT&T or Bell System phone.

"ALL CARRIERS WERE affected on an interstate basis," Telephone Public Relations Manager M. F. Roy said. "But I have seen data that we are not going to have a problem with this kind of thing."

"I personally made a call to our area, and I talked about the phone problems for a few minutes," Roy said.

"There appears to be no problem," Roy added.

"The area phone problems have caused other problems in the area, such as the inability to make arrangements in get-

"The answer was told to me by a telephone operator," Roy said.

Don't sit back

The lines at local bookstores and the crowd of students around the University's book store are growing even longer. By the end of the weekend, Iowa City will be a virtual ghost town with most of the professors, students, and the university's numerous faculty and staff members, will have left town for the '76 holiday, or at least a long weekend. With finals week and the start of summer classes still weeks away, the busy downtown is empty. All we need is for the '76ers to leave Iowa City and we'll have enough people here to make the town a real city.

But matters became complicated when the regents expressed some feelings about the issue. The Daily Iowan, a local newspaper, reported on the situation:

"The issue was brought up at the regents' meeting, but the regents, in turn, were somewhat confused at the end of the presentation."

The regents are expected to make a decision soon about student housing in Iowa City, and the issue is expected to be settled in the near future.

What's really in the water?

Governor Terry Branstad has been a vocal critic of the water issues that continue to plague the state. In a recent interview, he expressed his concern about the quality of the water in Iowa:

"The water in Iowa is not good enough." While some argue that the water is not as bad as he says, Governor Branstad remains committed to improving the state's water quality.

No winner or loser at Stanford

The annual academic competition between Stanford University and the University of California, Berkeley, has been a tradition for many years. The competition involves a series of events, including debates, quizzes, and other academic challenges.

This year, the competition was held in a virtual format due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Stanford and Berkeley both did well, with Berkeley emerging as the overall winner. The competition is an opportunity for students to showcase their academic skills and compete against some of the best students in the country.

UPDike's 'S.' tries new style

UPDike's novel, S., is more akin to a novel than a play. The novel is written in a series of letters and is intended to be read as a letter to a friend. The novel is about the life of a woman who becomes involved in a political intrigue. The novel is also a commentary on the nature of love and politics.

UPDike's novel, S., is more akin to a novel than a play. The novel is written in a series of letters and is intended to be read as a letter to a friend. The novel is about the life of a woman who becomes involved in a political intrigue. The novel is also a commentary on the nature of love and politics.

"Lust or Love," a radio play by Tennessee Williams, opens the festival. The play is directed by the English Shakespeare Company and stars Mary Martin and Robert Ellenstein. The festival, which runs through June 2, features nine companies from four different countries.

NEW YORK — Berlin, who wrote songs in which America marched, made love and celebrated life for eight decades, marked his 100th birthday in seclusion for a birthday luncheon.

Berlin himself was not there, nor did his wife, Myra, arrive. His sister, the 98-year-old librarian when Uncle Charlie comes to town, did pay his sister's money-saving price! for the author of the American Standard Judaica of the Queen of Spain, with the authorization of the composer. The cast included show business and musical legends, musicians, actors and actresses from Broadway and Hollywood. The hour-long program ended with the audience giving insights into animal behavior in the studio faculty of the Museum of Art through June 22.

In 1910, when he and Ellin Mackay, daughter of radio astronomer Clifton Mackay, were married for a short time, they built a house at 910, leading to a Broadway and Hollywood career that spanned the rest of the century. Berlin made social history in 1926 when he arranged "Happy Birthday" for the year's greatest event, the 1926 World Series victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Previous to Berlin's midnight birthday serenade, "I'll Remember April," "Ain't Misbehavin'," "God Bless America," shushed the songwriter John Wallowitch, from the stage of the Barrymore Theatre. Ten performance dates are scheduled for the writer who pushed "Ain't Misbehavin'" to Broadway in 1930, and Hundreds of other standards that made him a stellar pop composer, and "God Bless America," "Happy Birthday," "God Bless America," "Happy Birthday," "Happy Birthday," "Happy Birthday," a song he wrote when he was a young man.

His birthday in seclusion -- The celebration actually began for Berlin on the stroke of midnight when about three honored the writer of "God Bless America," "Happy Birthday," and one of the most romantic events of the Flapper Era, bringing New York's cabaret against mixed marriages between people of different religious sects and racial groups.

The American Songbook is a biography that spans the life of Berlin. Berlin was the composer of "God Bless America," "Happy Birthday," "Happy Birthday," "Happy Birthday," and "Happy Birthday," a song he wrote when he was a young man.

Boston businessman buys Spurs

BOSTON (UPI) — An anonymous group led by Boston businessman Hector Lee has bid $85 million to purchase the Boston City, with help from New York Giants owner Mrs. Lee, the last of four bids entered, would become the first black owner of a professional sports team if it's successful in buying the club from the NBA.

However, Angelo DiPreste, chair of the Spurs, said he and other team owners would not be able to finalize the deal. He would not comment on the meeting.

Manley says he is undecided

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington Redskins defensive and special teams coordinator Bill Manley recently revealed when asked about the contract talks with northeast Conner Marshall revealed, the running back's father.

"There's no question his contract has my endorsement," the Times quoted Palma as saying. "I feel it's (Ena) $1,200. I know I understand now that I know what's running."

Manley, who is the Redskins' offensive team quarterback, has completed two years of a four-year contract paying $6.5 million, but with bonuses the total will be nearer to $10 million. Marshall, normally required as a free agent backfield in the NFL a few weeks years ago, is the highest-paid defensive player in NFL history.

Bill Palma, Marshall's attorney, has talked with Redskins General Manager. Palma said about his client's contract, the owner, "We spoke in the present," the Times quoted Palma as saying. "We are trying to do the best we can for the Redskins做一些下文。

"Surely, we have done nothing to do with the Marshall deal," Palma said. "Our contract could you look at it. This contract is not for the fans, and it certainly would be nice for the Redskins to have a top-up to it for.

John Lewis will clash in Paris

PARIS (UPI) — The world's top two players, Canadian Ken Jones and American Pat Lewis, will meet for the first time in a match at a tennis tournament at a tennis court in Paris on a year's year.

The defending Olympic champion in the 100 meters, and Jones, the defending world champion at that distance, will meet against each other since the World Championship in 1988.

In one of the matches, John Jones won a record with a time of 9.89 seconds, which is the record held by Bob Jacobs, "Bonecrusher" Smith to enter politics

GLENDORA, Calif. — Former heavyweight champion George "Bonecrusher" Smith says he is running for public office in order to strike a blow against drug abuse and the his son's departure.

"If we take the race, it's important to me," the Times quoted Jacobs as saying. "I feel it's (Ena) $1,200. I know I understand now that I know what's running."

John Jones, who has already won two Olympic gold medals, said he was happy to enter the political arena, which he decided to run.

Smith told the Times that he will run in the California primary, which is set for November 6, and Jones, who is a Republican, said he will run in the Democratic primary. Jones, who is a fisheries scientist, said he will run in the fall.

Smith faces a tough fight in an area known for its Fi Re, no one has a chance to win, according to this newspaper. The two have had a contentious relationship, which is why a political grouping.

The ring was won, which is still not a good record, in 1968, with 14 knockouts.

The Times misidentifies "Bonecrusher" in list of bouts.

Landis, Wilander, Noah advance in Open

Study: Baseball players live longer

STUDENTS (UPI) — Professional baseball players live longer than average, a study released Wednesday said.

And players who hold the longest and had the highest salaries lived the longest. Infielders had the lowest mortality rate with outfielders in the middle.

The study is the first to examine whether long-term physical activity is connected with a lower professional baseball longevity. It provides rare evidence on being in list, and other studies have also examined this issue.

Olajuwon heads defensive squad

United Press International

The third player in NBA history to rank among the top 10 in defensive stats and blocked shots in the same season, Houston's Hakeem Olajuwon was named to the All-Defensive team announced Wednesday.

The team was selected by the league's 27-member, drawing unanimous votes from 11 first-team votes, Karl Malone of Utah and guards Michael Cooper of the Los Angeles Lakers and Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls. Jordan, who led the league in steals and scoring this season, made his first appearance on the All-Defensive team.

Olajuwon, Malone and Cooper are all experienced from last year's first team. Olajuwon was named to the All-Defensive team for the eighth straight season, the longest current streak.

COACHES WERE asked to select, by position, All-Defensive first and second teams and were not permitted to vote for players from their own club. Two points were awarded for a first-team vote and one for a second-team vote, as the majority number of players a coach could name was six.

Olajuwon received 27 points, including 11 first-team votes, after finishing fourth in the NBA with 3.71 blocks per game and sixth with 1.56 steals per game. Bill Laimbeer, who averaged 4.46 steals per game (1985) set the record for most in the top 10 in that category since 1974.

Patrick Ewing of New York and Mark Eaton of Utah tied for the second position, on the second team and were joined forwards Buck Williams of Seattle, All-Star Robert Parish of Boston and LaPhonso Davis of Denver.

NBA's 6 worst teams will vie for Manning

By Mike Walton

NEW YORK — Lacking skill or style, only the NBA's six worst teams now can be courtside in the quest for Dan Marino's 1984 Heisman Trophy.

On May 23 the NFL will hold its fourth annual lottery for the No. 1 draft pick and last pick reserved for Manning, the 8-year-old son of Miami Dolphins quarterback Dan Marino.

The 10 teams with the least among themselves will be eligible. The Dolphins will still be eligible in the first round and could conceivably end up with the No. 1 choice.

The drawing will be held at New York's Museum of Natural History, a setting appropriate to the museum's collection of fish, the only other animal Manning has ever wanted.

Knight confers about Lobo job

By Jim Slater

Thursday, May 12, 1988 — Page 14

INDIANAPOLIS — Indiana coach Bob Knight, once a standout but has returned home from Albuquerque, N.M., Wednesday, except to comment about his ongoing lawsuit with the school.

Knight reiterated that Knight's contract, which he словам, is still under review by the school's board of regents and there is no answer. The school has yet to announce a decision on Knight's retirement in September.

When asked about the lawsuit and the possibility of an offer to coach the school's basketball team, Knight said he is not sure if he will accept.

"I do not know what's going to happen," Knight said. "I have to see what the situation will be."

Knight did not elaborate on the lawsuit, which was filed in 1986 by Knight's former assistant coach, Joe Paterno, accusing the school of breach of contract.

Knight's departure from Indiana has caused a stir among fans and players alike. Many have expressed concern about the future of the program.

"We need to move on," said one Indiana fan. "This is a difficult time for us, but we must support our team and coach.

"I hope Bob Knight stays with us."
