FBI wiretaps Pentagon in fraud probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two high-ranking Pentagon officials whose offices were tape-recorded and sealed in a former government fraud probe have been called to testify in the investigation, their lawyers said on Wednesday.

U.S. Attorney General John Ashcroft said Tuesday that the investigation into the office of Victor Conte, the critic of official responsible for breaking up the major drug-trafficking organization, is too sensitive to be discussed publicly.

The lawyers said, speaking on condition of anonymity, that the five people who have been told by the FBI to testify about the probe are: Army Secretary John K. Merseth, the department's first legal counsel; Army Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld, the former leader of the investigation; and Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy, the former chair of the investigation.

Law enforcement sources said the investigation involves the alleged sale of information by Pentagon officials to contractors or federal agents for money.

The Iowa City School Board got its first peek at a proposed program designed to establish a drug and alcohol-free environment in Iowa City schools.

The board gave its preliminary approval to the program proposed by the Iowa City School District. The program is expected to be implemented at the elementary level next fall, according to Johnson, who said the program will be expanded to the middle and high school levels in the future.

This is a positive first step in the program to establish a drug-free environment in Iowa City schools. The board is working with the Iowa City School District to develop a comprehensive drug-free program for the district.

Sackett remembered in fifth annual Iowa City celebration

By Sara Langberg

Today's P Fr. Langberg 4.J. "Children's Breakfast" with the Church of the Gesu - Jesuit Ministry celebration of an Iowa City man who interpreted the right to education as a fundamental belief for all.

The event was held at the Church of the Gesu in Iowa City on Saturday morning. The event featured the annual "Children's Breakfast" with the Church of the Gesu - Jesuit Ministry, which has been held for the past five years.

"He was a wonderful guy," Davis said. "He was gritty, and I was saying he was a wonderful guy."

Sackett's family was present at the event, and his children spoke about their father.

"T'm always going on about how much I love my dad," said one of Sackett's children. "He was a great guy, and I'm going to miss him a lot."

Sackett's wife, who is also present at the event, said she was proud of her husband and his work.

"I'm so proud of my husband," she said. "He was a great guy, and I'm going to miss him a lot."

The event was also attended by family members of Sackett, as well as friends and colleagues.

"We all miss him a lot," said one of Sackett's friends. "He was a great guy, and we're going to miss him a lot."

During the event, Sackett's children also presented a certificate of appreciation to the family of Sackett.

"We wanted to show our appreciation to the family of Sackett," said one of Sackett's children. "He was a great guy, and we're going to miss him a lot."

After the event, Sackett's children and their families left to continue their day.

Councils act on public transit in county

By James Colby

The Iowa City Council took the first step towards creating a county-wide transit system on Monday night.

The council decided to "start the process of exploring" the possibility of creating a county-wide transit system.

"We need to start the process of exploring," said one council member. "We need to see what's possible, and then we can make a decision."

The council also approved a resolution authorizing the city to enter into negotiations with the county for the creation of a county-wide transit system.

"We need to start the process of exploring," said another council member. "We need to see what's possible, and then we can make a decision."

The resolution will now be sent to the county, and the city and county will begin to negotiate on the creation of a county-wide transit system.

Police

By Beth Solow

The Iowa City Police Department has had a busy summer, with several high-profile cases.

A local woman has been charged with murder, and her trial is set to begin in the coming weeks.

"This is a very sad situation," said a police spokesperson. "We are working very hard to solve this case, and we will not rest until we find justice for the victim."

Police departments across the country are working to solve similar cases, and they are all hoping to bring justice to their victims.

Youth dies in freak baseball accident

RUTHERSFORD, Iowa (AP) - A privately owned little league stadium in a small town here in rural Southcentral Iowa has become the scene of a bizarre baseball-related death.

It was just a freak accident," said Linda Leech, a pharmacist, of Matt Lottman, 13. The boy was playing catch at a friend's house last Thursday when he was hit on the side of the head. A friend said the parent, Linda and her husband, Matt Lottman, 36, who were right-handed, were playing catch with the ball when he was hit.

"I called 911 right away," Lottman said. "I was here in the room when he died. It's the worst of the worst. Nobody knows why.

"I've known the Leech family for a long time. My son, who was 13 years old, was killed in a car accident last year. But it's not quite, not yet. But it's hard to believe," she said.

The boy had been playing baseball for about five years. He was a good player, according to his mother, because he had a .430 batting average.

The family said they were shocked and heartbroken. "I don't know how to explain it," Lottman said. "I'm just trying to take it one day at a time."
Iowa high court orders new trial in murder case

DEB MOORE (AP) — The Iowa Supreme Court has ordered a new murder trial for Jerry Dean Broughton, who was convicted of murdering a man and his girlfriend's son more than 17 years ago.

The court said Monday that Broughton's trial attorney erred in allowing the jury to consider his mental health as a factor during deliberations.

"The court notes," the court said, "that the evidence used to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Broughton committed the crimes charged, if the defense had not introduced the mental health issue, may have been more persuasive on jury deliberations.

"The court also recognized that the conviction in the guilt phase of the trial was affirmed by the Iowa Supreme Court," the court said.

18-year-old found guilty in murder

DEB MOORE (AP) — An 18-year-old man was convicted in the shooting death of a 19-year-old man and his girl­friend's son.

The trial ended with a guilty verdict for the defendant, who was 18 at the time of the crime.

"We're pleased with the result," said the defendant's lawyer. "It's a tough case to win, but we're happy with the outcome.

Drought continues

Drought continues to be a crisis for livestock farmers in some parts of Iowa, according to a report from the Union of Concerned Scientists.

"There's not a disaster as of yet," the report said. "However, livestock farmers are already feeling the effects of the drought."

Palestinian battles despite cease-fire

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Fighting broke out in the port city of Tyre yesterday, despite the latest round of efforts by the United Nations and the PLO to end the fighting in Lebanon. A Palestinian official and Libyan military observers will be at the scene of the clash today.

Also on Wednesday, the conservative Ad-Diyar newspaper offered an olive branch to the PLO, asking it to call off its offensive against Israeli targets in Lebanon. The newspaper said it was prepared to support any cease-fire agreement in Lebanon. The daily has given details and there was a 10-mile cut into the coastal area.

State police said six people were injured at the Chatta and Bari sabi area, and asked that showers be allowed for civilians in the area.

The military said 31 wounded and 31 wounded against the new round of fighting in Lebanon. The UNIFIL forces have also been hit by Palestinian Liberation Organization land mines.

A top official of the UN Mission in Lebanon said there is no law and order in Lebanon anymore as the army had withdrawn to his area.

Israel soldiers see brutality on film

TEL AVIV, Israel — Israeli soldiers will see a film documenting their use of force in Lebanon. The film was produced in answer to demands that they document such behavior.

Maj. Gen. Uri Biton, head of Israeli ninth Division, said the film will be sent to all soldiers in the next fielding phase. It is expected to be released in Israel later this month.

Peruvian agitators execute LIMA, Peru (AP) — Leftist subversives reportedly killed six Peruvians in Lima and the capital city of Lima.

The frontier rebellion was the result of a dispute over sugar cane and other agricultural products.

About 2000 Peruvian residents and supporters held a rally Sunday night at the northern Lima University. They alleged that "Washington" is trying to "erode" the LIMA area and that a new university is being built there.

The rally was held in response to a threat by the United States to build a university in Lima.

The officers of the Peruvian University Libre were ready for a showdown today with federal officials at LIMA in order to save their jobs.

Vice president responds to polls

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bush on Wednesday blamed his proposal for cutting 55 percent of the Drug Enforcement Administration's budget for holding up the nomination of his running mate.

"We ought to be making every effort for the rebel Contra forces in Nicaragua," Bush said Wednesday that he would not make any changes in his administration's policy of supporting the Contras.

Bush's stance on Contras has been a source of political tension between himself and his Democratic rival, Governor Michael Dukakis.

"We need to continue to support the Contras," Bush said. "But we also need to be careful about what we're doing."

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ronald Reagan suggested Wednesday that the people should also be asked to work to bring about a drug-free society.

He said that it "would be silly to think that anyone can make no contribution" to fighting drug abuse. "Every individual would be expected to make a contribution," he said.

Reagan also said that it is important for the federal government to do its part, but that the goal is to involve the entire nation in the battle against drug abuse.

Playwright Joe Orton's work featured in summer festival

By Steve T. DeYoung

(UPI) - London, England, July 8, 1986 -- Joe Orton's work is being revived in Britain this summer with a festival to celebrate the playwright and his two most famous plays, " Loot" and "What the Butler Saw." The festival, "Joseph Orton Summer Festival," will run from July 8 to August 3 and is being organized by the Joseph Orton Society, which was founded in 1980.

Joe Orton was a British playwright, actor, and poet who is best known for his two most famous plays, "Loot" and "What the Butler Saw." Orton's work was known for its dark humor, macabre subject matter, and its frankness about sexuality and social taboo.

The festival will feature productions of Orton's works, as well as panel discussions and other events to celebrate the playwright and his legacy. The festival will be held at the Theatre Royal Haymarket in London and will feature a variety of productions, including a new production of "Loot." The festival will also include a screening of the 1981 film "What the Butler Saw," which was directed by Ken Russell and starred Rula Lenska and Maggie Smith.

The festival is being organized by the Joseph Orton Society, which was founded in 1980 and is dedicated to preserving and celebrating Orton's work. The society has been instrumental in bringing Orton's plays to a new generation of audiences, and this summer's festival is expected to be a major event in the celebration of Orton's legacy.

I'll take the prior category now and hope to enter the latter someday. But this addition doesn't favor the more physically demanding sport. Golf is a game that requires a combination of mental and physical abilities. The Woods, however, have a different perspective. They believe that the mental game is just as important as the physical one. They also believe that the mental game is a learned skill that can be improved with practice.

Dantley

Johnson, however, has his own way. He enjoys playing golf in the winter because he feels it's easier to focus on his swing. He also enjoys playing golf in the dark, which is one of the things that makes him a great competitor. His experience helps him handle pressure, which is something that is very important in the sport of golf. When he took just two strokes on the 17th hole, he realized that he had made a mistake.

For me, the most important thing about winning or losing is that I still have fun. I'm not going to stop playing golf even if I win or lose. I'm going to keep playing and just enjoy the game. I don't want to lose my passion for the sport. I want to keep playing and just have fun.
