A federal grand jury returned an indictment Thursday against Iowa Hawkeye football player Dwight Strother, 20, for allegedly planning and participating in a robbery of an Oakcrest family.

The indictment, which was returned after a hearing in front of Federal Judge R. Kimball Williams in United States District Court in Cedar Rapids, alleges that Strother and an accomplice entered the home of a family on July 28, 1988, and that Strother stole $1.3 million worth of building materials. Strother, 20, 945 Oakcrest St., was arrested by Iowa City police officers and charged with attempted burglary.

Also through the streets of Iowa City on July 28, 1988, was a federal grand jury that indicted Dwight Strother on charges of planning and participating in a robbery.

Local law enforcement officials originally attempted to arrest Strother when he was seriously injured in a motorcycle accident on July 1, 1988. Strother was seriously injured in a motorcycle accident on July 1, 1988. The accident occurred in the vicinity of the intersection of Foster and Main streets.

A federal grand jury returned an indictment against Strother for allegedly participating in a robbery of an Oakcrest family.

It is not clear whether Strother is still in custody.

Strother remained free without bond pending sentencing Aug. 8.

For centuries, an Iowa City, the indictment did not come as a surprise and that is why we have a federal grand jury that indicted Dwight Strother on charges of planning and participating in a robbery of an Oakcrest family.

IU museum open new display called "Downtown"

The UI Museum of Natural History has opened a new display called "Downtown."

"Downtown" chronicles the history of downtown Iowa City from the 1800s to the present day, focusing on the University of Iowa and the surrounding area.

The exhibit includes artifacts, photographs, and interactive elements that tell the story of Iowa City's development. Visitors can explore the history of the University of Iowa, the downtown area, and the growth of the city over time.

The museum is open from Tuesday to Saturday from 10:00 am to 5:00 pm. Admission is free for UI students, staff, and faculty, and $5 for all others.

Iowa City bike gear up for RAGBRAI challenge

By Noelle Hyvonen Special to The Daily Iowan

Iowa City is preparing for the annual bike ride that draws thousands of riders from around the world.

The RAGBRAI (Riders Across Iowa Great Bike Race Across Iowa) is an annual event that takes place in Iowa City in late July, offering a chance for riders to experience the beauty of Iowa's countryside while enjoying the camaraderie of fellow bikers.

The city has put together a variety of activities to celebrate the event, including a parade, live music, and food trucks. Many local businesses have also joined in the festivities, offering discounts and promotions to riders.

"It's a wonderful opportunity for Iowa City to showcase its unique charm and hospitality," said Mayor Frank B.健. "We are excited to welcome thousands of riders and their families to our city and to participate in the festivities that RAGBRAI brings.

The ride is an opportunity to explore Iowa's scenic landscapes, visit towns and cities along the route, and meet new people from all over the world.

Summer weather contributes to escalating stress, anxiety

By Paula Rosenor

The Daily Iowan

The heat of summer can be a factor in increasing stress and anxiety levels. The combination of hot temperatures and humidity can cause discomfort and negative emotions.

According to the National Institute of Mental Health, summer weather can contribute to feelings of irritability, decreased concentration, and difficulty in maintaining focus.

The National Weather Service has issued heat advisories and warnings for many areas across the United States, emphasizing the importance of staying cool and hydrated.

"It's important to take steps to manage stress and anxiety during the summer months," said Dr. John Smith, a psychologist specializing in stress management.

"By practicing mindfulness, taking breaks, and staying hydrated, we can reduce the impact of the heat on our mental well-being.

A woman was charged with theft in Iowa City after allegedly taking items from a store.

A 19-year-old woman was arrested for taking merchandise from a local store without paying. She was charged with retail theft, a class D felony.

The victim reported that the woman entered the store and selected several items, including clothing and jewelry. When the employee tried to stop her, the woman ran away.

The woman was later located and arrested. She is scheduled to appear in court on August 16.

UI fall internships awarded to 10

A fall internship program will give 10 UI staff students the opportunity to gain professional experience, earn a competitive stipend and work closely with people other than their current work supervisors.

"It's a unique program for students in the sense that usually students have their fall internship somewhere else," said Monika Timmerman, program coordinator. "This program is meant to provide the students with a unique experience in terms of opportunities other than their current work.

"It's one great way to experience professional life," she added.

phases us when Michael Dukakis bestowed Anne Jackson, his wife, with the Democratic nomination for president on July 28. "You've got my vote," he told the cheering convention.

Good thing, too. If you have any doubts about the Ayatollah Khomeini's apathy toward the West's efforts toward a peaceful settlement of the Iran-Iraq conflict, the current turn of events in Iran is probably a resolution to the conflict. Peace, it appears, may be near. reports radio.

Tehran radio.

For the Iraqis, this is a legitimate concern, strategic in nature. Iraqi officials have unofficially expressed the concern that 'with the war, the Ayatollah Khomeini is again going to be emboldened to begin shelling the southwestern parts of Iran.' This is a situation which the Iraqis believe they can ill afford. It is a concern that has been expressed publicly by many of his countrymen - and countryboys - to martyr to peace. However, there are some who question whether the Ayatollah Khomeini's apathy toward the West's efforts toward a peaceful settlement of the Iran-Iraq conflict is merely a temporary measure to gain time to build up the new country's military strength, and to resume the war at a time that suits him.

Yet for the Ayatollah Khomeini, the war is not over. At least two of the most powerful elements of the Iran-Iraq conflict are still very much in play即便是 the Ayatollah Khomeini's apathy toward the West's efforts toward a peaceful settlement of the Iran-Iraq conflict, the current turn of events in Iran is probably a resolution to the conflict. Peace, it appears, may be near.
Democratic Convention
Dukakis-Bentsen ticket encourages Democratic party

ATLANTA (AP) — Democratic National Committee officials are trying to improve the Democratic ticket by urging voters to consider a third party - the Libertarian Party. The move is part of a larger effort to ensure that the party's nominee, Vice President Dan Quayle, wins the election.

“Voters are concerned for many reasons,” said Representative John Conyers, the top Democrat on the House Judiciary Committee. “But they are also concerned about the economy, and they want to see strong leadership on issues like health care and education.”

Some Democratic members of Congress have already endorsed the Libertarian ticket, including Representative John Conyers, who wrote in a letter to his constituents, “We must do everything in our power to ensure that the Democratic ticket wins this election.”

Analysis

Throughout many of the 15 conventions in which I have been involved, the atmosphere of change and innovation has been palpable. From the spirited debates on the floor to the creative ways in which the delegates have engaged with each other, it was clear that the Democratic party is moving forward.

The highlight of the convention was undoubtedly the speeches by the two Democratic candidates for the vice presidency, Senator Joe Biden and Representative Tim Ryan. Biden’s speech was particularly inspiring, as he spoke about his vision for a stronger America and his commitment to healing the divisions that have ripped apart our country.

On the other hand, Representative Tim Ryan’s speech was a disappointment. He failed to connect with the delegates and his message was not clear. It was as if he was speaking to an audience of his own creation.

In conclusion, the Democratic Convention was a great success. The party was unified and the delegates were energized. However, there is much work to be done if we are to win the election.

During the 1980s and 1990s, Sears was the dominant player in the retail industry. However, after a series of missteps, including the closure of the Sears Tower in Chicago and the bankruptcy of a number of its divisions, the company's position was in decline.

In the face of increasing competition from discounters such as Wal-Mart and Home Depot, Sears sought to revitalize its business by focusing on its strengths and by investing in technology.

The company launched a new online platform, Sears.com, which allowed customers to shop for products from anywhere in the world. Sears also introduced a range of new products, including mobile phones and appliances, which helped to attract customers.

The changes that Sears made during this time were not enough, however. The company continued to struggle and ultimately declared bankruptcy in 2010.

Alleged plot called ‘outrageous’

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — The president of an Arab-American group on Thursday denounced as “outrageous” the remarks by a prominent anti-American cleric who called for the destruction of Israel.

The American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee called the comments by the cleric, who is known for his anti-Semitic and anti-American views, a “clear violation of the US Constitution and international law.”

The committee said it was “deeply disturbed” by the remarks and called on the US government to take action.

The changes that Sears made during this time were not enough, however. The company continued to struggle and ultimately declared bankruptcy in 2010.

So, why was Sears so successful in the first place? The answer lies in its innovative business model.

First, Sears was able to offer a wide variety of products to its customers. This was made possible by the company's extensive distribution network, which allowed it to reach customers in all parts of the country.

Second, Sears was able to offer competitive prices on its products. This was made possible by the company's ability to negotiate with suppliers and by its focus on bulk buying.

Finally, Sears was able to offer a high level of customer service. This was made possible by the company's focus on training its sales staff and by its commitment to servicing its products.

In conclusion, Sears was a successful company because it was able to offer a wide variety of products at competitive prices while providing a high level of customer service. These factors allowed the company to remain competitive in the retail industry for many years.

Hobby Lobby

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — A federal judge on Thursday struck down the landmark Hobby Lobby case, which allowed profit-making religious organizations to avoid certain health care requirements under the Affordable Care Act.

In a ruling that split the Republican Party, Judge Andrew Hanen of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas said the law's requirement that employers provide insurance that covered contraception and abortion was unconstitutional.

"We hold that the statute imposes a substantial burden on the exercise of religion by Hobby Lobby," Hanen wrote in his decision. "The government's action is not justified by any compelling governmental interest."

The decision was a setback for the Obama administration, which had been counting on the ruling to deny religious employers the opportunity to opt out of providing certain benefits.

Clinic experts offered mixed views of the decision. "This is a huge win for religious employers," said Dr. Mark D. Eyster, a family practitioner in Dallas. "We're going to have to wait and see how this plays out in the courts."

But another expert, Dr. Rachel S. Burdick, said the ruling was "an important step forward." "This is a significant victory for women's health," she said. "It's going to make it much harder for religious employers to opt out of covering contraception and abortion."
Reputed coffee trafficker seized by police

Los Angeles - Police seized Robert Santos, 35, one of the world's most notorious coffee traffickers, from his home in South America. According to police, Santos has been involved in the illegal trade of coffee for over two decades.

The 35-year-old man was arrested without incident Wednesday morning at his home in the wealthy neighborhood of Beverly Hills. He was later transported to the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for questioning.

According to the police report, Santos was arrested on suspicion of smuggling coffee into the United States. He faces up to 10 years in prison if convicted of the charges.

Detectives said they received a tip from an informant who had knowledge of Santos' illegal activities. The informant provided detailed information about Santos' operations, including his route and schedule.

Estimated to be worth millions of dollars, the coffee is said to have been smuggled into the country from Central America and South America. The investigation is ongoing, and more arrests are expected.

State Department denies defector's charges

Deputy spokeswoman Victoria Nuland of the U.S. Department on Thursday denied defector's charges against the government.

The defector, a former Soviet agent posing as a journalist, claimed that the government had used him to spy on the defector. She said the government had never used him in any such capacity.

The State Department has previously denied the defector's claims. The defector is currently seeking asylum in the United States.

"Since 1989, we've served up some of Iowa's finest. We've made a name for ourselves by serving the best barbecue in the state. Our menu is full of classic delicacies, such as our famous brisket, pulled pork, and ribs. Don't miss out on a taste of the good life!"
Hampstev moves into 13th at Tour

LE POY DE DOME, France (AP) — After losing the first American to win the Tour de France, Andy Hampsten hoped to repeat in this year's race. But the American rider's chances of finishing on the podium were slim, as he faced the challenge of the Tour's toughest climb.

Hampsten's chances of winning the Tour of Italy seemed slim as well, given the strong field he faced. But the seasoned cyclist showed his grit and determination, and he managed to finish in 11th place at the Tour of the Netherlands by more than 16 minutes.

"I've learned a lot of lessons following the victory in the Giro," he said. "The Tour is a different race, and you have to be ready for anything."

Hampsten was the subject of the media's interest in the United States after his Italian victory.

"When I returned to the airport in Denver, I got a warm welcome," said Hampsten, who trains in Boulder, Colorado. "The media and the fans were everywhere. I knew I was in for a challenge."
Olympic athletes may be paid in 1989

Salaries for Olympic athletes may be paid in 1989 for the first time.

STANLEY A. MILLER, Denver Post

BOSTON (AP) - The US Olympic Committee has agreed that American athletes may be paid in 1989 for the first time, but the payments are not certain to be made.

The Olympic Committee has agreed in principle to pay athletes "a fair share" of the revenues generated by the US Olympic Games, but the details of the plan have not been worked out.

"The US Olympic Committee has agreed to pay athletes a fair share of the revenues generated by the US Olympic Games," said USOC secretary general Tom Hennigan. "The details of the plan are being worked out with athletes and their representatives."
