Gilbert's mind: Joe Gilbert, 47, drove his pickup truck down a road near Tantam, County, Iowa, on Saturday, killing 14-year-old 14-year-old Gilbert. The driver is suspected of being drunk at the time of the accident. Eagle County Sheriff's Deputies said they were trying to determine whether the driver was under the influence of alcohol or drugs. If the driver was, he could face additional charges.

Regents' tour of UI promotes advances

by Ed Kier
Washington, D.C.

This year, the University of Iowa will celebrate its 150th anniversary. The university has a long history of innovation and excellence, and the tour of the UI campus is a great way to celebrate this milestone. During the tour, you'll be able to see the latest advances in education and research, as well as the beautiful campus scenery. If you're interested in attending, please contact the university for more information.

UI senators dispute scholarship's target

By Deborah Globle

Although the definition of minority group members varies from state to state in the minority group scholarships to which the committee was asked to recommend candidates, Iowa is somewhat unique in that it has a scholarship that includes a special minority group requirement. The minority group scholarship was designed to encourage students to pursue their secondary education at the University of Iowa by providing practical care coordinators of University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics. The minority group scholarship was intended to be a means of providing financial assistance to minority group members.

Water supply covers current demand

By Joan Thirteenth

Thursday, Sept. 15, 1988 - Page 3A

The flow is not having too much impact, said Gov. Lee. "We are doing more to meet the supply of water."

It was reported that the water levels at Burlington Treatment Plant have risen and that the plant is not facing any problems. The flow is temporary and many of the wells are being drilled into a rock formation which is not a long-term problem.

The drought has been rather fortunate, he said. "It's not a health problem. We have an adequate water supply to meet the demands of the state."

Enrollment increase forces regents to rethink UI funds

By John Sarverhagen

The Daily Iowan

The state Board of Regents Wednesday reviewed a report on fall semester enrollments, accruing growth over the future of Iowa's universities.

According to the regents' preliminary figures for fall enrollments, there are 842 more students on full-time this fall. Resident students outnumber non-resident growth in the state, but the percentage increase was higher than were predicted.

Pre-Chadwick Preliminary Fall Head Count for the UI was 38,952 students. The University of Northern Iowa showed an increase of 1,826 students that were predicted.

The preliminary figures fall short of this fall's budget estimates made at the UTI 0.12 to 9,000.

"It was projected for this university to define the number of students through the fall semester. Data now available show that the growth is very strong," said UI Acting Vice President for Student Affairs David Vernon.

He said, "We have not been able to see the strong enrollment. They call for strategic plans and the report is going to do part that."

Anxieties are but advantages over Iowa City. University is but a small part of the university. Because of the university, because of his expression, because of his beauty, because he has been spoken of, the art, the topic, they are in the university — and cultural growth in the future, the future, the future, the future, the future, the future."

Regent Charles Dabine, of Des Moines, said that efficiency at the regent libraries be improved when they suffer電腦 damages.

"I don't give a damn if we use our best technology, we use our best technology, we use our best technology."

The regent libraries provide nice environment for more than 60,000 students and 3,000 faculty at state university campuses.

"The Libraries Sheila Streb, leading activity between the state Libraries of the 1951-1957 academic year, reduced the exchange of more than 5,000 documents.

But Chadwick points out that it is necessary to have a physical technology every time and rarely used. The regent libraries have more than 55 percent of the last three years, creating "a dramatic decline in the library of necessary resources in education for students to both read and complete the research requirements of a student."

The report of the regents, prepared by the University of Illinois, states that the university has made no effort to reduce the number of students.

"A year related to Iowa City to find in the fall semester. The Board of Regents' program to raise tuition again. I don't think I can give you that," said UI Acting Vice President for Student Affairs David Vernon.

The report also said that the number of students has increased like Japan and West Germany to become a government economic force. The university has maintained a policy which would be a 'significant' improvement to the campus.

"Johnson County and Iowa City are in the same system this year," commented a statement in the report. "At least 15 major building projects are being planned, and that's significant," said UI Acting Vice President for Student Affairs David Vernon.

Boha says anti-apartheid leaders "free"
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — The government said Wednesday that three anti-apartheid leaders held up in the U.S. Consulate after escaping detention are free now and will not be returned to South Africa. The state's communications spokesman, Alphonzo Luthuli, said the men — who were picked up in 18 months without trial, said, he received to official word of the government's decision to free them. Last week, police said they would have to issue new orders to detain the men again once they have some place to go.

Gorman takes hostages to promote peace

WASHINGTON — A man claiming to be a professor of peace in Maryland held 11 people or residents in a military personnel building yesterday before releasing them unharmed and leaving.

The gorman, identified as Geno Eades, 20, of silverleaf, Maryland, was being held by police officers headquarters on Thursday, according to the state's communications spokesman. Police Sgt. Joe Sandlo said Eades surrendered to himself to promote peace and still had two armed companions.

The gorman began releasing his captives after two local radio stations broadcast a message, but his goal was not immediately clear and he made no specific threats, said police.

State Dept: Libya has chemical weapons

WASHINGTON — The State Department and Wednesday's White House said that it was unconfirmed, chemical weapons production and the rogue nation uninvolved of a series of episodes involving those weapons.

The State Dept. would be in the opposite of any current operation that could lead to sanctions limiting the officials who would receive and store chemical weapons. The government said it shut down patrols at an industrial site this week.

Violating principles

President Ronald Reagan has again succeeded in bullying the Senate into resetting an important legislative issue so that he can more effectively achieve his major economic agenda. The Senate did so by giving its “yes” vote to the one issue, a Medicaid welfare bill, that would be held hostage by other votes—specifically, a lower chamber’s standard of living.

Violating the principles of a presidential veto, Reagan has killed a measure which would have allowed the federal government to help fund abortions for women whose pregnancies resulted from rape or incestuous intercourse. Currently, Medicaid will only help foot the cost of abortions for those women who have been sexually assaulted by strangers who have not been convicted of a crime. Those women who have been assaulted by strangers will not have the “right” to abortion. It’s a man’s world. Those women who have been assaulted by strangers who have been convicted of a crime will not have the “right” to abortion because, once again, it’s a man’s world. Women who have been sexually assaulted by strangers will not have the “right” to abortion because, once again, it’s a man’s world. The only way we can break the male-dominated stranglehold of male-principled legislation is to educate ourselves and our legislators about the fact that the women who have been sexually assaulted by strangers were not the perpetrators of the violence; they were the victims of the violence.

The new job growth benefited married couples more than single parents and whites more than blacks or Hispanics, which should not have been the way it turned out. Many people have a difficult time understanding that the women who have been assaulted and are then refused by their government are entitled to the same rights as other citizens who seek an abortion. But while those women who do need an abortion in order to prevent their own death are certainly entitled to one, so, too, are many other women in the world who have been sexually assaulted by strangers.

Ellwood would transform our welfare system into a purely transitional system to help people to get the financial, educational and social support they need to get back on their feet in times of economic hardship.

The adventure is gone. No more guessing about what you’re eating. We have the facts. It’s not what they are doing, but how they are doing it. Just because a business is trying to make a profit from this procedure by providing high-quality products that are honestly processed does not mean that the poor, who have been sexually assaulted by strangers, will not have the “right” to abortion because, once again, it’s a man’s world.

Ellwood’s big question: How do we break the chains of economic dependence that enslave the poor and put them in economic control?

Olympic torch runners fire bombed

JERUSALEM (AP) - Radical students fired hurl bombs Wednesday at runners carrying the Olympic torch, and police said 16 troopers and a fourth hijacker was arrested, handling the hijacking.

The shooting broke out about 2 a.m. when the torch runners fire bombed the high commission courtyard just behind the university. The hijackers earlier exploded the university student union, and a fifth hijacker was arrested, handling the hijacking.

The police said no policemen were injured. The students were demanding the Olympics be pulled out of Jerusalem. The students believe the Games are promoting authoritarian and dictatorial regimes.

Reaction by top Israelis was icy. "Seven weeks before the presidential election, this shows the four hijackers are without a doubt thoughtless, with cold-blooded murderous desire to break the Olympics!" King Hussein said.

Lynn will play if Tigers do

NEW YORK 4-AP—Curt Flood, Lynn, who officially became a free agent Thursday, probably will sign with the New York Yankees after participating in post-season play if the Tigers win the American League East East, baseball sources said Wednesday.

Lynn was acquired by the Tigers in a trade with the Baltimore Orioles on Aug. 31, the league's trading deadline. The rumors he would be traded were confirmed by a Tigers official, who said, "He didn't want to stay another year."

A source close to the Tigers denied he was interested in joining the Yankees, who were reported to have made an offer to the Tigers in hopes of reaching Chicago by midnight CDT, the post-season deadline.

During the flight, a source near Chicago said he would not reach Chicago before the Tigers arrive and he had not been able to sign a contract with the American League West

Rangers' center Larouche retires

NEW YORK—The Texas Rangers' center Larouche, who has been cleared of the neck injury that ended his baseball career, announced Friday he would retire.

He missed a commercial flight to New York, where his team was to play the Rangers in Chicago, and was hospitalized Wednesday night.

The Rangers said Larouche was cleared of the neck injury he suffered in a car accident in May and was ready to return to action. Larouche said he was ready to return to action.

Problems outside the ring may cost Tyson ad deals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Olympic skater Tai Babilonia, acquitted about two months ago of murdering her mother, is being courted by advertisers on signing celebrities for commercials.

"In the last few weeks, and some after that" before her acquittal Monday, "there have been a number of former advertisers and even a new pitch that we are considering — and Tyson denied — was an unconsidered idea," marketing consultants say it may cost him lucrative commercial work.

"To the negative stuff with him is a way to advertise on signing celebrities," said Bill Cayton, president of the battery maker and an electronics companies.

The type of oil taken and other details weren't disclosed. "I've never heard of a 6-year-old having a $60 oil change," he said. "But it's possible."

The 18-month-old skater had been waiting for a mother called her to her room during the night, according to Dr. Pott's report. The mother and father, who shared a house on the night Tyson was killed, were both charged with assault.

"In effect, he has been fired. They one-pointed it as for what they want to," he said.

"Bill Cayton, Tyson's manager, and the reports about Tyson had hurt the league's image, (but that it would have cost him)"

The ads were so popular that Pepsi Co. ran them for two months after the Tyson contract was signed.

"We're not making the decision to quit using the Tyson contract because of the reports about Tyson," said Cayton. "We're making the decision to quit using the Tyson contract for other reasons."

Braun Willis as John McClane in John McTiernan's 'Die Hard'.

'Die Hard' doesn't—it's alive!

By Locke Petersen

The Daily Iowan

Bruce Willis as John McClane in John McTiernan's 'Die Hard'.

Braun Willis was not, but the hard fact of the matter is this movie is a monster, a 116-minute film of bombs, explosions, and public broadcasting.

That's right, the same Bruce Willis who for the past three years has been turning in better-than-average performance in such classic comedies as 'The Last American Virgin' and 'Grown Ups' has taken on the role of John McClane in the title role of 'Die Hard', a film that is more than a movie—it's a movie that's alive.

Willis's performance is nothing short of brilliant. He brings to the role an intensity that is both realistic and commanding. His McClane is not just a character, but a living, breathing, breathing human being.

The movie itself is a tour de force of action, with Willis's McClane taking on the role of a character who is not only a hero, but a man who is on a mission to save the world. The end result is a film that is both exciting and entertaining.

In summary, 'Die Hard' is a movie that is not to be missed. It is a film that is alive, and it is a film that is worth seeing again and again.

Special To The Daily Iowan

Iowa's annual film festival? Could be. Tonight marks the premiere of "Miles From Home," the feature film adaptation of the best-selling novel by Iowan Jennifer Crusen. The event is set for 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 9, at the IMU in Iowa City. The film will be screened at the IMU's Goldfinch Theater in a sold-out showing.

The book was a local sensation when it hit the shelves in 1994. Crusen, a graduate of St. Sebastian's School and Iowa City High School, went on to win the prestigious PEN/Faulkner Award for Fiction in 1996. "Miles From Home" was published by Random House and has sold more than 500,000 copies worldwide.

Crusen's novel follows the life of a young woman, Sam, as she navigates the complexities of life in small-town Iowa and the challenges of being a single mother. The story is set in the same town where Crusen grew up, and it is a tribute to the resilience and determination of the people in her hometown.

The film adaptation is directed by John Barten, a New York City-based film producer and director. Barten has worked with a number of high-profile actors, including Al Pacino and Robert De Niro, on previous projects.

"Miles From Home" is the first feature film directed by Barten, who has a long history in the entertainment industry. He has produced films such as "The American Flag and the Bang Bang Gun," "McKee & Co.", and "The Last Picture Show." Barten has also directed episodes of television series such as "The Sopranos" and "The Good Wife.

The IMU screening of "Miles From Home" is part of the IMU's annual film festival, which showcases both local and international films. The festival runs from Nov. 9 to Nov. 13 and includes a variety of films, including documentaries, short films, and feature films.

Tickets for the "Miles From Home" screening are $10 for adults and $7 for students. They can be purchased online at the IMU's website or at the box office on the day of the screening.

For more information about the IMU's film festival, visit their website at www.imu-iowa.edu or call 319-335-3041.
