Islamic Jihad releases Indian-American captive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department, confirming the release of an Indian-American student held in Lebanon, said Thursday that it had been informed of the prisoner's release.

State Department spokeswoman Phyllis O’Kane and White House press secretary Brian Deese, who is also a former State Department official, said the student was released in Beirut.

Deese said the student, identified only as a U.S. citizen, was handed over to Lebanese authorities and would be taken to New York, of Bhim Singh, a spinach veterinarian at the University of Northern Iowa.

The Daily News reports that the student — who was freed Thursday — had been held in Lebanon since his arrest in June 1985.

Last week, the U.S. Senate seriously weighed a bill sponsored by Senators Christopher Dodd (D., Conn.) and Edward Brooke (R., Mass.) that was intended to provide job protection to workers who were seriously ill, or who had children, newborn children, or newly advanced children. As originally introduced by Dodd, the Parental Leave Act would have required companies employing 100 or more people to provide up to 10 weeks of unpaid leave per year. A revised version of the bill would apply only to companies employing 40 or more workers.

Senator Dodd presented the Senate with a National Parental Leave Act saying that the bill would protect the jobs of workers and would provide only limited time remaining needs to tackle new, even controversial, issues. Drought aid program gets off to slow start

By Jayne Thimme

Monday was the day the Johnson County Des Moines Register department began accepting applications for disaster assistance. The process of applying for the aid has been met with a tepid reception from the people of the county.

The aid program, sponsored by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, was established by Congress earlier this year. The aid was designed to help those who lost crops due to drought last year. The process of applying for the aid has been met with a tepid reception from the people of the county.

When asked why they had not applied for the aid, few people were able to explain the situation. Some people said they had not heard about the aid or did not understand how to apply. Others said they were not interested in the aid or did not have the time to apply.

TDD links hearing-impaired with emergency help

By Jayne Thimme

The Iowa City Police Department has teamed with the Johnson County Sheriff's Office to set up a TDD system for those who are hearing impaired.

The system allows those who are hearing impaired to call 911 and ask for assistance. The system is designed to help those who are hearing impaired and need emergency assistance.

The system has been in place for a few months, but it has not been widely used. Some people have been hesitant to use the system because they are not sure how to use it.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini has launched a campaign in Jordan to gather signatures for an appeal to the United Nations, demanding the withdrawal of Israeli forces from Lebanon. Khomeini claimed to have inflicted "heavy blows" to the Israeli military and said the ground war was "beginning to take its toll on the aggressor." Khomeini also rejected talks with Israel and called for a more open foreign policy.

The Islamic Republic News Agency quoted Khomeini as telling Jordanian journalists, "I appeal to the entire Islamic world to respond to this appeal and to support the?Jordanian people in their quest for national liberation." Khomeini also said that "the enemy" could "not win" and that "the victory" was "ours." He called for a "grand coalition" of all Muslim countries to "unite against the Zionists."

The Jordanian government has said it will not recognize the attempted annexation of Jordanian territory by Israel and has warned of "serious consequences" if the United Nations fails to act.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger met with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan. The talks focused on the future of the Sinai Peninsula and the possibility of a peace settlement between Israel and Egypt. Kissinger said that "there was a great deal of progress" and that "there was a real chance" for a "good outcome." However, he warned that "the road ahead would be long and difficult." The two sides agreed to continue talks and to meet again in the near future.

In other developments, the UN Security Council voted to extend the mandate of the UN peacekeeping force in Lebanon for another six months. The UN force, launched in 1978 to ensure the withdrawal of Israeli forces from Lebanon, has been reluctant to use force to enforce its mandate. The council also condemned the recent Israeli air strikes against Palestinian guerrilla bases in Lebanon and called for a "ceasefire" to be observed by all sides. The council also called for "all steps" to be taken to "halt the flow of weapons" to the Palestinians and to "prevent the use of force" against them.

Turner tells of Randee's rise

By Leslie Peterson
The Daily Iowan

Randy Turner, a national music industry figure and producer, tells the story of his childhood in Des Moines, Iowa.

The 1988 Jumper was a hit song that was written and performed by the late Jim Turner. It was produced by his older brother, Randy Turner.

In the early '80s, Jim Turner was a rising star in the music industry, and his brother, Randy, was also involved in the music world.

Randy Turner, now 60, lives in the small town of Pella, Iowa, where he runs a music production company. He says he always knew he wanted to be in the music business.

Randy Turner started out as a musician and eventually became a producer. He worked with many famous artists, including Bruce Springsteen and Elton John.

Randy Turner says that his brother Jim was always very supportive of his music career.

In 1988, Jim Turner released his hit song "Jumper," which became a huge success.

Randy Turner says that he was very proud of his brother and that he is glad to have been a part of his music career.

The Turner brothers grew up in Des Moines, Iowa, and both of them had a strong interest in music from a young age.

Randy Turner says that he and his brother were very close and that they always supported each other.

Randy Turner says that he is looking forward to continuing to produce music and to see where his career takes him.

The Turner brothers are also planning to release a new album in the near future.

Randy Turner says that he is very happy with the way his music career has gone and that he is grateful for the opportunities he has had.

Maybe nothing’s wrong with Hawkeyes

Across the state, the.tailback’s every action is asked of thousands of Iowa fans. This week, the Hawkeyes suffered their first loss of the season to Nebraska, 19-7, in Lincoln.

The question is: Is there anything wrong with the Iowa Hawkeyes? The answer: Not really. The team was merely outplayed by a superior Nebraska team.

Last year’s Hawkeyes finished third in the Big Ten Conference, but this year’s team has a much stronger conference. The Hawkeyes have a real chance to win the West Division and make it to the Big Ten championship game.

Despite the loss, the Hawkeyes remain in the Top 20, which is a huge accomplishment for a team that has been struggling the past few years.

The team’s defense played well, holding Nebraska to just 19 points. However, the offense was unable to score enough points to win.

The Iowa Hawkeyes are a team to watch this year. With a strong defense and a talented offense, they have a real chance to make it to the Top 10.

Late field goal lifts Saints over Dallas

The New Orleans Saints defeated the Dallas Cowboys 24-20 on Monday night, winning their second straight game.

The Saints scored a last-minute field goal to secure the victory. The game was filled with戏剧性和转折点, as the Saints came back from a 10-point deficit to win.

The Saints are now 2-2 on the season and are currently in first place in the NFC South division. They are off to a strong start and are looking like a team that can make a playoff run.

Dodgers will need strong pitching

The Los Angeles Dodgers have been relying on their stars to carry them to the playoffs. However, they will need strong pitching to succeed.

The Dodgers’ starting rotation has struggled so far this season, but with a few key additions, they can turn it around.

The Dodgers have a few options, such as trading for a veteran starter or promoting one of their younger pitchers.

It will be important for the Dodgers to get their pitching staff in order if they want to make it to the playoffs. With a strong pitching staff, they can compete with the best teams in the league.

Dukakis calls 'tired ideas'

Dukakis, a leading candidate in the Democratic presidential race, criticized the Republican candidate George Bush for relying on 'tired ideas' and seeking 'big-money solutions' instead of more innovative approaches. Dukakis emphasized that the Democratic Party offered a fresh perspective, promising to address issues like education, healthcare, and the environment in a more meaningful way. He called for a 'true exchange' of ideas, rejecting what he described as a 'lack of control' and 'placency' in the Republican discourse.

The bipartisan Commission on the Status of Women recently expressed its support for Dukakis, highlighting his commitment to gender equality and women's rights. Dukakis has been campaigning on issues that favor the wealthy and short-term incentives, such as privatizing Medicare and Social Security, which he cited as examples of 'used-up ideas.'

Dukakis also addressed the issue of sponsorship, explaining that the League of Women Voters' decision to withdraw as a sponsor of the debates was a way for the League to 'anticipate a second debate.' He noted that the League's move does not affect the debates themselves, but it does represent a shift in the way the League organizes and finances its events.

The League's move is part of a broader strategy to 'anticipate a second debate' that could potentially reshape the campaign. Dukakis emphasized that the debates are not just about winning or losing, but about engaging the public in a meaningful conversation about the issues.

Dukakis concluded by urging the public to vote 'yes for ideas' and to support candidates who offer fresh and innovative solutions. He highlighted the importance of a 'true exchange' of ideas and called for a campaign that is not dominated by money, but by the issues and the candidates themselves.
