Eastern faces fine following cocaine bust

By Terry Anderson

WASHINGTON, D.C. — America’s drug policy seems to be falling apart, and the U.S. government has little idea what to do about it.

The government is not at war with the airlines. But it’s not enough for the government to do it alone — Robert Gomez, assistant director of the airport customs office.

Gomez said the purpose of the operation was to combat drug smuggling and to prevent drug smuggling over international routes. He said the operation was not to punish the airlines but to make sure that the airlines were not doing business with drug smugglers.

The operation involved the joint efforts of several agencies, including the Customs Service, the Drug Enforcement Administration, and the Department of Justice.

In a letter to Congress, the Customs Service said that the operation was designed to prevent drug smuggling and to prevent drug smuggling over international routes. The letter said that the operation was not to punish the airlines but to make sure that the airlines were not doing business with drug smugglers.

Staff involvement increases student internship awareness

Educating Ellsworth University and staff in the new approach to Cooperative Education. Office is taking in students of students at the programs afford the office.

"We have found that our students have been very interested in the different opportunities that have been made available to them," said Dordt, director of the cooperative office. "They have found that by working with companies and organizations, they are able to learn more about their own career goals and aspirations."

The office is also bringing more attention to internship programs for students who believe they have this potential.

"We need to know," said Johnson, "As a student, if you have a concept, you can get paid and go out after the job is done. No better opportunities, qualifications, or knowledge."

Former deputy reports stolen 'ditch weed'

By Lisa Sewell

Several charges were filed Friday against 25-year-old Dave Corwin, according to court records. Corwin was charged with third-degree assault, including being a minor to commit murder, driving while intoxicated, and third-degree theft Saturday.

Corwin's car, according to the report, was "badly damaged" by the owner of the property, as he was there, and anybody could have stolen the car. The report also states that Corwin's car was "badly damaged" by the owner of the property, as he was there, and anybody could have stolen the car.

The report also states that Corwin's car was "badly damaged" by the owner of the property, as he was there, and anybody could have stolen the car.

"It is very important for faculty and staff to know cooperative education and understand the educational process," she said. "I think this is one of two ways - by involving students in the decision-making process and by helping them make wise decisions."

Wyatt said about 1,500-2,000 students are currently involved in cooperative education, and 95% have completed programs.

School board tackles low teacher morale

By Sara Lengenberg

One of the problems that continue to vex the new president of the Iowa City School Board is teacher morale. A resident of Iowa City for 30 years, Mr. Branstad said Monday he will ask legislators to consider a tax increase that will provide an additional $400,000 from the treasury for teacher salaries. He said the board is in a problem that is not new and that the board needs to do something about it.

"There are many teachers who are leaving the profession, and there are many teachers who are very unhappy with their working conditions," Mr. Branstad said. "It's time to start putting Iowa back on its feet."

Persistence pays

For more than three dozen years Senator William Proxmire, a Democrat from Wisconsin, has won the nation's respect and detestation with dogged loyalty and incredible vision. Bush takes unfair shot at furloughs

Recent events show that Bush is trying to score cheap points against Dukakis. It is unfortunate that such tactics are being used in the campaign. It is important that we remember that the American people want leaders who will work for them, not just score points

A RAINBOW OF OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOU!
COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — South Carolina football Coach Steve Mari­mon Monday said he was told by someone close to former Coach Frank Rege­nelli that he had been offered the head coaching job at the University of Texas at Austin. "I was told he was offered the job, but never confirmed it," Mari­mon said. "The job is not mine. I am not interested."

Mari­mon had become the favorite to succeed former Coach Darrell Royal, who retired Friday after a 35-year career with the Longhorns. Mari­mon was not selected because he was considered too inexperienced, Mari­mon said Monday. "I had to be reassured by a lot of people and I think they were abuzz about me. I don't think it's a serious possibility."

Mari­mon was quoted in The Columbus Dispatch as saying that he had been told by his agent that he was preferred for the job. "I was told the job was mine, but I had to hear it from the current head coach," Mari­mon said. "I am not interested in the job."

Mari­mon said he had been offered the job by someone close to Rege­nelli, who was a running back at the University of Texas in the 1960s. "I was told he was offered the job, but never confirmed it," Mari­mon said. "I don't think it's a serious possibility."

some experience coming back. "There are two All-Americans," Stringer said. "We are in a strong position.

Both Terry and Jeff are extremely optimistic about the future of the Lions, including all-American guard Michelle Edwards.
