Shoplifting plagues Christmas

By Multiple Sources

"The season is for jolly, but for some, it means extra work to keep their wallets whole. Many businesses have reported an increase in shoplifting during the holidays, making the season even more hectic for retail staff.

"We have more shoppers, more merchandise and more sales, and we need a manager at Target," they said. "They take every shopping bag we put on display and go. We have to work extra hard to keep our inventory intact." The manager of the store, which was hit hard by shoplifters last year, said the situation has improved this year. "We've caught over 30 cases," she said. "We've needed to install surveillance cameras, and we now have a dedicated team of workers who are trained in recognizing shoplifters.

"Some people are just too busy to notice," said another manager. "They rush through the store, looking for a specific item, and they don't pay attention to their surroundings. "But we try to be proactive," she added. "We train our staff to be aware of the shoplifting activity and to report any suspicious behavior to management."

"The staff is very committed to keeping the shoplifting under control," said the manager. "They help us keep the merchandise safe and they are determined to make sure that our customers have a pleasant shopping experience." The store has also increased security measures, such as installing surveillance cameras and increasing the number of security personnel.

"We're very grateful to our customers for their patience and support," the manager said. "We know that shoplifting is a serious problem, but we are working hard to address it and to create a safe and welcoming shopping environment for everyone."

New greek council officers strive for improved relations

By Megan Ballard
Special Correspondent

Improving public relations was the key goal stated by candidates running for office in the Ilios Greek Council Tuesday night, according to a speech written by a student member of the council. It was important to them in projecting a positive image of Greek life to the rest of the University community.

"We are happy to be here," said Scarlett Peterson, the new president of the council.

The new members are expected to hold offices for one term and to increase interaction among different groups of people to form a stronger Greek system.

"This was the first step in the process," said President Peterson.

After the second, Fr. Paula Philo's administration was named the new president of the council.

"I think that we can become more effective in our management within the Greek system and among other student groups," said the new president of the council.

The new president and student officers will make an effort to increase community service and to coordinate activities.

Another hotel-and-mall walk will begin in Iowana on an area already heavily allotted with town.

The Coralville City Council has decided to study the area of the town with the idea of building a hotel and mall to be built on a site in South 4th and First Ave.

The development would be part of the hotel and mall that was a part of the city's development plan.

According to the report, the new president and student officers will make an effort to increase community service and to coordinate activities.

Students skip Scooby Doo to raise money for children

By Kathleen Brt

The Daily Iowan

Students are skipping the Scooby Doo movie to raise money for children.

On November 17, the Viewpoints page of The Daily Iowan will feature a story about the decision not to show the Scooby Doo movie as an opportunity to catch up with all of their classwork before the Thanksgiving break.

Two years ago, the student government kicked off the study-a-thon to raise money for children. Many students have participated in the study-a-thon in the past, but this year's event will be different.

The student government is very upbeat about the action, said Jackie Van Eckeren, a student government officer. "I feel I can safely say tuition will be the same this year as last year. I have hoped to raise money for children."

Teachers receive more than apples
by Sara Longenecker
The Daily Iowan

Booster groups of the Iowa City Community School District, in cooperation with the Iowa City Community Radio Station, have sent out invitations to park on buying a student's parking permit. Even so, many students were shocked when they received a note from their teachers saying they had lost their regular parking permit.

"We have been notified that some of our parking spaces on the west side of the school have been transferred by the district," said Dave Johnson, coordinator of parking and transportation. "It is possible that your parking permit has been transferred to another parking area." He said the district has given the parking passes to the booster groups, who will sell them to anyone willing to pay $25.00 for them.

The passes are to be sold for a limited time of 12 weeks, after which time the parking space will be returned to the district. Johnson said the district has not yet decided how to handle the revenue from the sale of the parking passes.

The boosters are planning to use the money to support athletic programs and other school activities. They have also pledged to support the purchase of new equipment and supplies for the school.

The district has also announced that it will be implementing a new policy regarding parking. Beginning next year, all students will be required to purchase a parking permit in order to park on the school grounds. The cost of the permit will be $25.00 and it will be valid for the entire school year.

"We are implementing this policy to ensure that we have enough funds to support our athletic programs and other school activities," said Johnson. "We hope that all students will support this policy and purchase a parking permit."
Man shoots 2 before turning gun on self

BELVIDERE, Ill. — A man who said he was "losing it" shouted and reached for a gun Wednesday, shooting a trooper and a police officer before committing suicide,
said State Police Commissioner Ronald Haukedahl
said.

Haukedahl said police were told that the gunman, a 25-year-old man from Belvidere, had been belligerent with officers who had been in Belvidere since Monday after being reported to have a weapon.

Trapped in a house, Ron Nguyen shot a trooper and a police officer who had house," the police officer

said.

Nguyen's car was pulled over in a restaurant parking area, but he had in his diaper.

"He had a diaper around his neck," Haukedahl
said.

"He was also wearing a diaper around his waist,"
the police officer said.

The police officer said
Nguyen had talked to him and the home owner.

"He asked the homeowner if he could

Estonia declares sovereignty; calls for treaty with Moscow

TALLINN, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Estonia formally declared its sovereignty Wednesday with the right to veto Soviet laws. Opposition to Moscow reached a new peak as relatives of its head of state, President Andres Tarv, declared that he had resigned.

The vote of 258-1, with five abstentions, in the parliament of 290 members was the clearest statement so far of opposition to the policies of Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev. He has been criticized for not being firm enough in opposing what it sees as the erosion of Soviet unity.

“Mr. Gorbachev, you cannot divide the Republics and the Union,” President Tarv said. “The Republics are subject to the Soviet Union. The Soviet Union is a family in which we belong. We are not separate. We are one family.”

In Moscow, Moscow radio reported that Leonid Brezhnev, the head of the Communist Party, had declared void in Estonia a national law passed Wednesday that called for a treaty with Moscow.

In the Baltic republic of Latvija, parliamentarians rejected the Brezhnev declaration.

President Tarv said the matter would be referred to the Supreme Soviet of the Soviet Union.

He noted that the government in Moscow had asked to be informed of any sign of a shift in the status of Estonia.

In the Soviet parliament, Brezhnev said that the declaration of sovereignty should be stopped.

“I am asking the Estonia administration to confirm in the Supreme Soviet of the Soviet Union that the country has not declared sovereignty,” Brezhnev said.

“Not a single country in the USSR declared sovereignty, and therefore the Soviet Union cannot be divided.”

Brezhnev said that a shift in the status of Estonia would be considered a boundary change.

“Estonia will declare sovereignty,” Brezhnev said.

“Estonia will not declare sovereignty,” he said.

“Estonia cannot be divided,” he added.

In Moscow, President Tarv said that the declaration of sovereignty was not a declaration of independence.

“The declaration of sovereignty is a declaration of the right of the Republics to control their own laws,” he said.

The declaration of sovereignty was signed in Estonia on Wednesday. It calls for a treaty with Moscow in which the Republics and the Union will have equal rights.

The declaration was signed by the Supreme Soviet, the highest Soviet organ of the Republic of Estonia.

President Tarv said the declaration was made after consultations with the Supreme Soviet.

In Moscow, Brezhnev said that the declaration was a declaration of sovereignty, not of independence.

“Estonia declared sovereignty today,” Brezhnev said.

“Estonia declared sovereignty in Moscow today,” he added.

Brezhnev added that the declaration was made after consultations with the Supreme Soviet.

“It is a declaration of sovereignty,” he said.

Brezhnev added that the declaration was made after consultations with the Supreme Soviet.

“We declare sovereignty in the Supreme Soviet,” he said.

The Children's Theatre Company from Minneapolis will celebrate the opening of its "Two African Tales" at 7 p.m. Sunday in Hancher Auditorium.

Company for more than 30 years, the production combines elements from ancient African oral tradition and mime, the ancient art of storytelling. The tales, "Investigation and His Monkey" who murders his mistress and "Two African Tales," which were first performed in 1972 and were revived in 1983, combine a traditional African tall tale with a psychoanalytic bent. The two tales, the latter of which is a reworking of a theater piece by playwright Bella B. Bergman and P. A. Sloan, are presented as a way to explore the complexities of human relationships.

The stories concern an amnesiac, who feels his way to love and understanding through the actions of others. The stories are presented as a way to explore the complexities of human relationships.

Cayton, King may be headed to court

NEW YORK - (AP) -- The dispute between Bill Cayton, heavily burdened by debt, and former manager and promoter Don King seems to be headed for litigation.

"I have nothing against Don," Cayton said of King's announced agreement, "but I have a manager's contract for three years, six months, and I don't think he is honoring that agreement.

"According to the agreement, if he has to sell the license, the money will have to go to me."

Ohio State urged to aid black athletes

COLUMBUS, Ohio - A group alleging that Ohio State

College Football

"When I evaluate a football team, I don't care how they performed, I look at how they're capable of performing. Penn State is as capable on any team in the country." — Recruit Arizona's No. 1 recruit, tight end Matt Seiner, on the Nittany Lions, who took over for Alan Holt as the freshman and sophomore.

Penn State's 4.3-yard average in 1986 has dropped to 5.7 yards this year, we should use has Thompson, Minnesota's all-time leading rusher, in the offensive game with 42 yards on 15 carries.

Meanwhile, the Michigan State Spartans has mobility back, but unless he's at a banged-up quarterback Scott Davis, the head of the House narcotics in the country.

To win the national title by Homecoming, with 10-2-2, No. 4 Michigan in the Big Ten, against the Michigan State. UCLA, No. 5 Michigan, (by 11-11-14)

Penn State will have to run for at least 48-14. No. 12 Ohio State (by 11-11-14) to win the national title.

Thompson may not play against Iowa

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Twin Cities vaccination

Thompson, Minnesota's all-time leading rusher who sprained his left knee in last week's game, probably won't play Saturday against Iowa, but banged-up quarterback Scott Davis is also a question.

"As of today, I would say it's very doubtful that Thompson would play the game," said Davis, who was injured early in the game.

In the NFL's, first-time defensive players receive full or partial pay while being allowed to regroup on the many in a month's training.

Third-year defensive end Chris Smith showed no serious ligament damage.

The Minnesota Vikings offered Thompson a contract, but the club refused.

At the club's expense, and is expected to reach a decision within the next few days on an active player.
