Branstad promises budget
confirms financial priorities
By Henry livelihood
The Daily Iowan

UI President P. J. (Desi) Branstad will put his money where his mouth is this week when he presents his fiscal 1992-93 budget to Iowa's 192
Legislators in Des Moines Tuesday night. Financial spokesman John Lach said Wednesday that Branstad will emphasize:

- Consolidation of the university's six health sciences centers
- Faculty salaries and investment in research space
- A strong focus on undergra-tuate education
- Increased support for minority
- Programs at the university

These priorities were also reflected in the governor's speech, and the press release accompanying the budget summary, which asked faculty and student leaders to support the new financial priorities. An official with the state budget office said: "We're looking at the programs that the governor wants to fund. The impact is that they want the legislature to consider those priorities and give them the funds necessary to make those programs happen."

Jobs in sight
$11.3 million pharmacy building in the works
By Andy bromerstein
The Daily Iowan

An effort is under way to construct a new pharmacy building on the UI's blocks at the corner of 11th and Linn streets. The building will be the third in a series of three new pharmacy buildings that will be constructed over the next five years. The first building was completed in 1986 and cost $11.2 million to construct. The second building will be completed in 1989 and will cost $8.7 million. The third building, which will be completed in 2001, will cost $3.6 million.

By the time the third building is completed, UI's pharmacy school will have a total of 11,000 square feet of usable space, compared to the 10,000 square feet of space that the existing building has. The new building will also include a new lecture hall, a new library, and a new computer lab.

President-elect Bush appoints Watkins, Bennett to Cabinet
By The Daily Iowan

WASHINGTON (AP) - President-elect George Bush will appoint Bennett, who has a reputation for being both genteel and efficient, to be his top economic aide, but he is expected to keep Bush's economic team intact. Bush said he would work with his economic team to help implement the president's economic plans.

Informational campaign begins for $2.3 million enrichment tax

By Noelle Hytop
Daily Iowan

The Iowa Senate Iowa School Board
campaign Tuesday for its propposition Thursday for the propsition which will go before voters Febr.
14 is up in the Senate. The board of the school district. Under the proposition a new tax would be generated that would provide additional money for enrichment programs.

The board of education hopes to fill part of general fund budget shortfall that is expected to increase to 30 percent, along with the need for additional educational services.

"Currently, funds donated for the enrichment fund at the school district are limited, and a new tax would allow us to take advantage of the state enrichment tax,
" said the president of the board of education.

The purpose of the tax is to provide funds for educational programs and services that are not covered by regular state funding.

Education task force probes student needs

By Page Sturtevant

Iowans with college aspirations might be finding it tough to afford classes, loan money is tight, and as a result, the state's education systems are under intense scrutiny.

Avenson, who is the House budget committee chairman, said the state's higher education system is in transition, and the House wants to see what kind of options are available.

"We want to make sure that we have a well-rounded education system," he said. "It's important that we have a variety of options available to students." Avenson said he hopes to see more funding for higher education in the future.

County committee studies new 911 emergency system

By Lisa Swingle

The Iowan County committee for emergency management and communications has begun to look at the possibility of a new 911 emergency system for the county.

"We need to make sure that our emergency system is up to date," said committee member Melinda Hess. "We want to make sure that the system is working as efficiently as possible." Hess said she hopes to see new technology incorporated into the system soon.

Highlander fly to Inauguration Parade on Silverwings

By Kenneth Brit
The Daily Iowan

The University of Iowa's Silverwings will roar over the capital city this January, carrying the school's Student Government Association to the inauguration of President George Bush.

"We're excited about going," said Bruce De Block, the group's head. "This is the group's second trip to Washington-D.C."

The Silverwings will send 22 members of the group to the nation's capital to perform. "Silverwing" is the its official band name.

"The goal of the group is to promote the University's heritage," said De Block. The group was formed in 1971 as a part of the University's Student Activities Division.

In addition, the group has a rigorous schedule in school to be devoted to Silverwing activities. The group is well-organized and ready to perform. The Silverwings are experienced, disciplined, and well-trained.

Bruce De Block is an expert on Silverwing activities. "We are very well known for our music and dance," he said. "We have been chosen from a pool of 300 applicants and will perform in the parade of about 200 groups."

The Silverwings are the only University of Iowa band to perform at the inauguration. They have performed at the inauguration of President Reagan and President Carter.

The Silverwings' performance will include a variety of songs and dances. The group will perform at the opening ceremony of the new White House.

"We are very excited about our trip to Washington," said De Block. "We have been looking forward to this for a long time." The Silverwings are a tradition at the University of Iowa, and their performance will be a highlight of the inauguration.

For more information, contact Bruce De Block at the University of Iowa Student Activities Division, 1220 University Station, Iowa City, IA 52242-1220. Phone: 319-335-2140.

On-air Raab continues to stir up controversy

By Paige Horner
The Daily Iowan

Some people would consider writing the political columns in the Daily Iowan as a hobby, but Scott Raab finds it to be his duty to complain. Raab's columns have come to be known for their raucous and often abrasive nature, and Raab himself has always been known for his weekly column, "Making Waves." The column is known for its controversial topics andRaab's sharp and often caustic writing style.

Raab's latest column will be published on Saturday, January 13, 198... (continues)
The '80s president

Many Americans realized for the first time in the 1980s that Ronald Reagan was — and still is, for a handful of days — the president of the '808, and with bookeeping and interdepartmental accounting policies. The Republican National Committee, which one would never expect, has been taking care of Reagan's hands-off administration. We're in the midst of a tax cut down to a mere $20,000 for all of his time there after two years of thick skin. Is it any wonder why Reagan's hands-off administration could not help business, his staff and his fellow American to be the leader of the country, and should not be a president?

Learning lessons by enduring the Ronald Reagan presidency

No one had to be at the end of the 1980s to see the effects of the recession. People spoke of Reagan's "vision" and "leadership" — going against the tide of the public, the nation — the "vision" of a man who has already cut his teeth on the federal level. We've learned not to confuse the Reagan's ideas with the realities of the American government. It's high time to get real, and as no one expected, the president's name in the public eye is an asset to get us where we need to be. The president's name in the public eye is an asset to get us where we need to be. The president's name in the public eye is an asset to get us where we need to be.

Warning: Remember, these things are not just for the president. A new tool in your kit can make you feel good, or even make you feel silly asking this, but you can be the one to give us the answer. It's a simple question, and, for the president, it's a simple question. I'm not saying it's a simple question, but it's a simple question. WASHINGTON — President Ronald Reagan will increase the fiscal year’s quota of Soviet and Eastern European refugees by 15% if the current rate of approvals is maintained, a senior State Department official said Thursday.

The current rate of 8,500 refugees per month is expected to continue for the rest of this year, and the quota will be raised to 9,700 per month for the fiscal year 1987, which begins next October.

The official said the increase is based on the current rate of approvals and the number of refugees arriving in the United States.

He also noted that the increase will benefit non-refugees who are not eligible for resettlement assistance, as well as those who have already been resettled.

The official said that the increase will be effective immediately, and that it will be followed by a review of the program to ensure that it is meeting its objectives.

He added that the increase will be reviewed periodically to ensure that it is meeting its objectives.

Hawks, Gophers feature top rebounders

OFFICEHOWS in the Iowa Athletics Department are saying that the Hawkeyes’ basketball team, which is more than just a game, is one of the most winning teams in the country.

Whatever they call it, Sunday’s 8:20 p.m. contest in the State Coliseum is a big game. But before Iowa, which is two and 5-4 overall, can use to play at Iowa this weekend, the two teams will go on to win a national title.

However, if you want to make Iowa a better team, you can start by rebounding against the Gophers.

Just another game for The General

LOOMINGTON, Ind. — John Wooden is the greatest basketball coach of all time. He is considered one of the most successful coaches in the history of the game, and he has led his teams to more than 800 victories, including 10 national championships.

But what is the secret to Wooden’s success? What makes him so good? And what can we learn from his coaching methods that we can apply to our own lives?

Michigan holds off Minnesota

Michigan senior halfback John Makowsky had his first start after a three-game suspension, scored 20 points and No. 4 Michigan held off No. 15 Minnesota 80-78 Tuesday in the Big Ten.

Jim Lowry had 12 points for Michigan and Russell Robinson added 10 for the Wolverines. Minnesota's Rachel Lynch had 15 for the Golden Gophers, 4-3 in the Big Ten.

McMahan may seek new career

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim McMahan's agent says the quarterback got a rare deal from the Chicago Bears this season and might not walk away from football to pursue another career — perhaps in the NFL.

"We're pretty happy with how things have turned out," said agent Steve Tucker. "It's been a rough year the way the team has been going, but he did get his degree and there will be nothing left for him to do."

McMahan, who led the Bears in the Sugar Bowl title game three years ago, has been the starting quarterback until he sprained his right knee four games ago.

When he returned from the injury, he was benched behind Mike Holmgren and Timmy Davis, but when McMahon entered the starting role in Chicago's 25-20 loss to San Francisco 49ers in the NFC championship game Friday, McMahan earned the starting job.

McMahan, whose father Matt played for the Chicago White Sox for five years, said a contract under discussion includes multiyear guarantees, worth $2 million per season.

"We appreciate the support and leadership shown by the NCAA in addressing the issues of fairness and integrity in college sports," Fisher said.

"It's been a rough year the way the team has been going, but he did get his degree and there will be nothing left for him to do."

"He's been a great leader this season and might not walk away from football to pursue another career — perhaps in the NFL."

"We're pretty happy with how things have turned out," said agent Steve Tucker.

Hawkeyes brace for meet with powerhouse Illinois

By Mike Polisky

The defending Big Ten champion Illinois men’s gymnastics team and Iowa are both ranked in the top 10 in this week’s national poll, and No. 2-ranked Illinois will face fourth-ranked Iowa Friday night in the Women’s Gymnastics Center.

"Illinois is the favorite to win the Big Ten," said Iowa coach Gelinda Grogg, who now enters this meet with Iowa having won its season opener at the Farmer Golf and Country Club in Champaign, Ill. "Illinois is the team to beat. Right now, we’re just trying to enjoy the ride."

By Ann Jasper

With several new faces in the lineup, the Iowa men’s gymnastics team will open its season at the Hope Classic tomorrow night in the Women’s Gymnastics Center.

"I think the team is ready to roll," said coach Gelinda Grogg, who has high hopes for the team’s performance. "I think we’re ready to roll."
Demolition in store for I.C. Yacht Club

By Rachel Dorsett

The Daily Iowan

A new owner has purchased the iconic Iowa City Yacht Club, and the club will undergo a major renovation and expansion.

McKethan, the previous owner, met with the new owner to discuss the future of the club. "I'm excited to see what the new owners will bring to the club," McKethan said. "It's been a great place for locals and visitors to enjoy the outdoors and socialize with others."
Adlon's 'Bagdad Cafe' paints silver screen shades or red

By Katie Wolfe

D ector Percy Adlon has used the parks of his film, 1987's "Bagdad Cafe," to create a character study of the place and time of the Middle East. The film portrays the Arab culture on the verge of a new century. The characters, representing different forms of life and the future, are part of this evolving culture.

Many Arab characters are presented in popular and mass media, but Adlon's film offers a unique perspective on the Arab world. He has selected six characters to represent this culture's diverse experiences. They include Jaima, the beautiful and mysterious star of "Bagdad Cafe," and her lonely lover, the aging and wise man, Ibrahim. The film also presents characters such as the young boy, Saleh, and the young woman, Mariam, whose lives are shaped by the Middle East's political landscape.

Adlon's film is a powerful exploration of the Arab world, combining humor and drama to create a compelling portrait of a culture in transition. The film's themes resonate with the current concerns of the Arab world, offering a glimpse into the future of this dynamic region.

The film is available on DVD and Blu-ray and can be watched online. It is recommended for adults due to its mature content. The film's themes and characters will appeal to all audiences interested in Middle Eastern culture and its evolution.
