Fire destroys shed, vacant farmhouse

Buildings’ owner suspects blaze was work of arsonists

By Heather Winter

The Daily Iowan

An abandoned house and machine shed located just north of Iowa City on Highway 966 burned in a suspicious fire Sunday afternoon, authorities said, and the owner thinks it was the work of vandals.

“There wasn’t much left — it’s all gone,” said owner Art Collyer, as he watched firefighters from Vinton, North Liberty and Coralville don the same protective suits that they had worn at the scene earlier in the day. The blaze started at 4:20 p.m., according to the Coralville Fire Department, and within 20 minutes the shed and house had been consumed by flames.

Collyer said he was hearing from his friends’ Coralville home Sunday when he saw smoke from the machine shed. The blaze was immediately contained by the Coralville firefighters, but the smoke from the fire was visible for miles around, he said.

The shed, which was built in 1969, was a machine shed that was used for storage of farm equipment and tractors. It was located on the same property as Collyer’s house, which he and his wife, Susan, have owned for 12 years.

The couple first noticed smoke coming from the shed around 4 p.m., and when they arrived on the scene they found the shed fully engulfed in flames. Collyer said he went inside to retrieve some belongings, but the flames had already spread to the house.

Two of the couple’s children, 8-year-old Corinna and 11-year-old Robert, were at home at the time of the fire. The children were able to escape the house safely, but the shed suffered extensive damage.

A dress made by the town's famous dressmaker, Earl Collyer, was destroyed in the fire.

The blaze was first reported to police around 4:20 p.m., and firefighters from Vinton, North Liberty and Coralville responded to the scene. The fire was fully contained within 20 minutes, and the cause of the blaze is under investigation.

The couple said they are currently living in a nearby hotel and are trying to figure out what to do next.

“Right now, we’re just trying to figure out what to do next,” Collyer said. “We’re trying to figure out what to do about the insurance and how we’re going to get back on our feet.”

The couple said they are considering options such as building a new shed or finding a place to store their equipment.

Collyer said he is hoping to rebuild the shed as soon as possible, but he is not sure how long that will take.

“I’m just trying to figure out what to do next,” he said. “I’m just trying to figure out what to do about the insurance and how we’re going to get back on our feet.”

The couple said they are trying to stay positive and are grateful for the support they have received from friends and family.

City finalizes the fine print for 6 new low-income units

By Belinda Mower
The Daily Iowan

A low-property investment project is ready to begin in the Metro/Iowa area. The project, which is the brainchild of the Iowa City Housing Authority, will provide low-income families with new homes.

The project, which is being financed through a HUD grant, will provide 6 new homes in the Metro/Iowa area. The homes are being built in a neighborhood near the University of Iowa, and will be available to families with an income below the federal poverty level.

The project is being administered by the Iowa City Housing Authority, and will be supervised by the Iowa City Housing and Community Development Agency.

The homes will be available to families with an income below the federal poverty level, and will be priced at a level that is affordable to low-income families.

For more information, contact the Iowa City Housing Authority at 356-6691.

Scifi fans beam over to ICON

By John Cressel

Over 260 science fiction authors, publishers, and fans attended the 10th annualICON XHI, the largest event of its kind. The convention, held during the last 13 of the last 14 years, is sponsored by the University of Northern Iowa's College of Business Administration, called one of the "best in the country" by the University of California at Los Angeles, said one of the organizers, John Cressel.

"It's always known that we're the best," said Cressel. "This year, our convention received the highest number of guests in the last 13 years." The convention was attended by 260 science fiction fans from all over the world, with guests from the United States, Canada, and Europe.

"We've been very pleased with the number of guests attending this year," said Cressel. "Our convention has always been a place where fans can come together to celebrate science fiction and its many facets." The convention included panels, readings, and a variety of other activities, all designed to provide an enjoyable experience for fans of all ages.

"We're always looking to improve our convention and offer new and exciting experiences for our fans," said Cressel. "We're planning a variety of new and exciting activities for next year's convention, and we're looking forward to seeing everyone again."

Laser hoax?

UC administrators would have fainly, staff and students believe that creation of a multimillion-dollar laser center was the way to get a new pot of gold. Lasers, they told us, were the wave of the future. New, really, rather than being just a new addition to a skull-stifling new technology that could almost surely make less sense. Much more important, these high-tech marvels must really ready to the masses. As one UC administrator assured the men and women of the future, "You've got to light a path to the future from the heartland of America."

Laser researchers at the university would be big business and would bring $2,500,000 to the area. (Never mind that three of the world's top scientists—three scientists whose presence U.S. administrators promised while haggling for the gold in June—have backed out.)

The awful truth is that UC administrators stood guilty of perpetrating a horrendous hoax in Iowa taxpayers. The university assured the men and women of the visionary future that激光 themselves had completed their homework on the underfoot. For, if they had, they would have easily told us that the creation of a laser center is the modern-day equivalent of the Edsel.

S. Korean riot police disrupt march protesting Roh, U.S.

SHOK, South Korea (AP) - Police baton-wielding protesters hurled rocks and burned barricades as thousands of demonstrators tried to march Sunday in Seoul to protest President Roh Tae-woo's expected bid for a second five-year term.

Police in riot gear closed off the streets as thousands of protesters tried to march to the American Embassy. Protesters threw rocks and set part of the fence surrounding the American Embassy on fire. Police used tear gas to drive back the demonstrators.

Roh, a conservative who has been in power since 1988, is expected to seek re-election in the presidential vote expected later this year. The opposition has accused him of corruption and dictator-like behavior.

A similar demonstration was held in Tokyo, where thousands of Japanese protested against Roh's visit.

The riot police charged the protestor lines, batons drawn, as the demonstrators tried to enter the American Embassy area. The demonstrators threw rocks and burned barricades as police used tear gas to keep them at bay.

The protest was one of many in South Korea in recent weeks. Roh's anticipated victory in the presidential election is expected to trigger widespread demonstrations and protests.

Gandhi's burial will be on Monday, with the fire to begin at 9 a.m. in South Africa. The funeral is expected to draw millions of mourners.

Mortuary's 'Hitler' and family face trial for mass cremations

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - The owners of a mortuary who organized a mass cremation of 23 bodies of a family that was killed by Adolf Hitler are facing trial.

The owners of the mortuary are accused of illegally cremating the bodies of the family members who were killed by the Nazis during World War II.

The trial is expected to begin in mid-November.

Gandhi, the founder of the Indian independence movement, was assassinated in 1948.

Mortuary loses ground in election

MADRAS, India (AP) - Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi's Congress Party appeared headed for a decisive victory Sunday in a state election seen as a hometown referendum on his leadership.

Gandhi, who is running for a third term in office, is facing a strong challenge from the opposition Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP). The BJP is led by Atal Bihari Vajpayee, a former prime minister who is a strong supporter of Hindu nationalism.

The election is seen as a key test of Gandhi's leadership as he prepares for the general election next year.

Gandhi's body was cremated in South Africa, and his remains were returned to India for burial.

Montana’s late drive wins Super Bowl

MIAMI (AP) — The Montana Winhawks beat Iowa 24-14 in the Super Bowl on Sunday and sealed their second straight championship with a dramatic drive that will be remembered as one of the greatest in sports history.

The win was the second straight Super Bowl victory for Montana, who had already won the championship last year on a 14-yard TD pass by quarterback Scott Scheffer with 46 seconds remaining.

But this time, the Playoffs were tougher. The win was the first for Montana since 1986, when it beat the University of Wisconsin 22-17 in the championship game.

The winning drive began after Iowa’s3rd down, with 3:57 left in the 4th quarter. Montana had an 8-0 lead and had possession of the ball.

On the first play of the drive, Montana quarterback Scott Scheffer pitched the ball to running back Jim Norton, who carried it 30 yards to the Iowa 25. The next play was a pass from Scheffer to receiver Jerry Rice, who caught it in the corner of the end zone for a 22-yard TD.

Navratilova wins in Australian Open

Melbourne (AP) - Three-time champion Martina Navratilova had too much for top-seeded Steffi Graf Tuesday night, defeating her former Czech coach and 12-time Grand Slam winner 6-4, 6-1 to reach the semifinals.

Wrestling

The Hawkeyes expected a low-key crowd for its Friday night meet with Iowa State. Instead, 6,000 fans at the Arena were expected to cheer for one of Iowa's three Olympians (Ann Strong, Chadwick Jepsen and Glen Bettis).

Women's Volleyball

Iowa defeated Wisconsin 3-1 Tuesday night. Iowa senior Kristeena Carr had 13 kills and 15 digs. Freshman Don Finch had 12 kills and 14 digs. Iowa senior Dan Barnard had 13 kills and 10 blocks.

Horton

Horton had 21 rebounds, which she said was "our best game of the year." She also had 10 assists, tied for the Most Valuable Player for the tournament.

Iowa

Iowa gained the lead with 3:20 left in the second half. Iowan-Towan, who had 20 points and scored a career-high 29 points, was named the tournament's leading scorer.

Kruckeberg records three wins in invite

Women's Track

"That was a tough race for everyone," Kruckeberg said. "But I'm glad it was a 1,500 meter race because it was close and it was good to see everyone running and competing."

Cards beat UNLV; Cyclones fall in OT

By Pervis Thompson

Could this be the end of UNLV's season? The team pulled off a 79-71 victory over Iowa State in the final regular-season game. UNLV is now 26-5 while Iowa State is 18-13.

UNLV's win wasn't easy, as the team only led by five at halftime. The second half was a different story, with UNLV's defense closing in on Iowa State's shooters. The Cyclones had a tough time breaking through, leading to a dominant win for UNLV.

He's back! Ronald Reagan shows his 40 faces in unprecedented art exhibit

LEBERRY, Pa. (AP) — Ronald Reagan is a rubber skeleton? It's also Rocky, a human television set and a war hero.

The former target of Beijing's animosity turns into an exhibit titled "Ronald Reagan: An American Icon" at Bucknell University's Center Gallery.

"It's unprecedented," says gallery director Bob Menger, "that a personality exhibit could sell 12,000 tickets."

"You don't get out of your way to offend someone with an art exhibit, but on the other hand, it is not to be ignored. We did it to create people, we want to make them think," he said.

Included in the exhibit is a three-dime portrait of Reagan by Leon Mandel, with his preside- not has been created to bring in the newest types of all the facts since 1980 completion.
