Student Health offers throat relief for flu bug sufferers

By Brian Dick

"Why's everybody sneezing? I got over the cold in the middle of winter with the virus that has been the total number of patients," the 24th Student Health Department director, 11-year-old John Smith, said on Monday.

"Our eight physicians who treat flu patients have been seeing about 30 to 35 people a day," said Smith. "It's getting close to the usual number of patients we have in the winter."

Student Health Department Director, Dr. Mary Kinlaw, however, said that although she has not yet encountered similar figures to those of last year, the department has not been seeing a dramatic increase in the number of patients.

"It's too early to say it's over," Kinlaw said. "But it's not looking as bad as last year."

"We advise people to take the flu shot," Kinlaw added. "It's the best way to prevent the flu."

Students are also being encouraged to wash their hands frequently and to avoid close contact with ill individuals.

State degree programs face major focus shift, regents say

DES MOINES — A comprehensive reorganization plan for the State University System of Iowa was presented to the Board of Regents this week.

The plan, known as "The Future," outlines a new focus on student success, research, outreach, and community engagement.

"This plan is designed to help us compete nationally," said Board of Regents President John Czarnecki. "It will allow us to better serve our students and the state."
Bill may require registrants to give 30-day notice of tuition votes

By Sharon Hernandez-Dawson

Passed Monday at the Daily Iowan, 4406 C. I. O. A. building, Sharon Hernandez-Dawson, the Daily Iowan's reporter for the Law and Court department, was discharged from her position later in the front of the Daily Iowan's building. Hernandez-Dawson was one of several Iowan reporters who left the newspaper over the weekend.

The decision to fire Hernandez-Dawson was made after a meeting with the newspaper's editor and the Daily Iowan's publisher, James M. Gill. Hernandez-Dawson was one of the newspaper's most prominent reporters, covering a wide range of topics, including local government, crime, and courts.

The firing came after Hernandez-Dawson had been writing articles about the University of Iowa's proposed tuition increase, which is set to go into effect on Aug. 1.

The university has announced that the tuition increase, which is the largest in the university's history, will go into effect on Aug. 1, despite opposition from students and faculty.

Hernandez-Dawson had been covering the issue for several weeks, and had written several articles about the proposed increase. She had also been critical of the university's response to the increased tuition, which she felt was not transparent or forthcoming.

Hernandez-Dawson's firing was met with widespread condemnation from the newspaper's staff and readers. Many expressed concern about the decision, and called for the newspaper to reverse its decision.

The newspaper's publisher, Gill, said in a statement that Hernandez-Dawson was fired because of a "lack of support for the newspaper's mission, which is to provide accurate, objective, and fair reporting on local news and events.

"Sharon's firing was a difficult decision to make, but we believe it is in the best interest of the newspaper and its readers, " Gill said in the statement. "We are committed to providing accurate, objective, and fair reporting on local news and events, and we believe that Sharon's firing is an important step in that direction.

The firing of Hernandez-Dawson is the latest in a series of layoffs and firings at the Daily Iowan in recent weeks. The newspaper has been struggling financially in recent years, and has been forced to lay off several reporters and editors.

The newspaper's staff has been working to secure more advertising revenue and to cut costs in order to remain financially viable.

The firing of Hernandez-Dawson has sparked a debate about the newspaper's commitment to providing accurate and fair reporting on local news and events.

Many critics have called for the newspaper to reverse its decision and to hold a public hearing to discuss the matter.

The newspaper has not yet responded to calls for a public hearing or for the reversal of Hernandez-Dawson's firing.

The Daily Iowan is a student-run newspaper, and is the largest newspaper in the state of Iowa. The newspaper has a circulation of 15,000 and is distributed throughout the city of Iowa City and the surrounding area.

The newspaper's mission is to provide accurate, objective, and fair reporting on local news and events, and to be a voice for the community.

The newspaper's staff is composed of student reporters, editors, and photographers, and is guided by a board of directors elected by the student body.

The Daily Iowan is a member of the Iowa Associated Press, and is a founding member of the Midwest Associated Press.

The newspaper's coverage includes local news, sports, arts, and entertainment, and is available online at www.dailyiowan.com.

Fantasies come alive at FantaSuite Hotels

By Jay Coates
The Daily Iowan

If getting away isn’t all with that special someone in part of your Valentine’s Day fantasy, a new house in the heart of the town may be the perfect place to go.

Then again, snuggling up to a fully furnished suite may be a good way to break up the no-so-festive Monday.

Of course, a night in Shakespeare’s dream house and a dinner for two at a fairy tale restaurant – both come in at a high price – so those in search of a fairy tale romance... have until Valentine’s Day.

Whatever your fantasy, chances are it can be found-just ask the hotel...

...to rent accommodations.

The Tree House is one of 12 exotic suites in Muscatine’s Canterbury FantaSuite Hotel.

“[We] have tours available every Tuesday and Sunday at 3:30 p.m. for those who want to tour around the world and to the moon,” said General Manager Lula Calvert.

Calvert said the Muscian Suite, which opened in January after being acquired from Best Western, will be a unique experience in grand accommodations.

“The Tree House is our FantaSuite property, neat with a variety of themes.”

A sword dangles the halls of the Tree House. A house made of wood, but behind the door of Room 102 lies the perfect puzzle and custom-built accommodation called “Paradise on Earth.”

In Room 101, guests enjoy the privacy of their own bathroom complete with accommodations.

Further down the hall, a waterfall and entertainment center are tucked away in a room of a private space called the “South Shore” fantasy.

Other suites include the private space of “The Secret Garden,” the checkers and checkers room of “Stairway to Heaven,” and the Mississippi paddling room of “Devil’s Thoughts.”

The potential Valentine’s Day weekend at the hotel will be just one of many weekends and holiday reservations for the FantaSuites unit

“Reservations for this Valentine’s Day were booked by January 16th, right after we opened up.”

Calvert said “Most weekends are booked six to eight months in advance, and frequently they require reservation in the fall for the following year.”

“If you can’t get in, you’re out.”

To set up the normal, Calvert said, the hotel holds weekend tours of the name.

The FantaSuites concept has helped the hotel’s business, Calvert said. “We’re up considerably” he said. “People like to experience new things.”

Lula Calvert, the hotel’s sales director, said the concept attracts an clientele looking for more than just a bed and breakfast.

The FantaSuites concept has helped the hotel’s business, Calvert said. “It’s a chance to go away, Calvert said. “And for the weekend, but actually an afternoon ‘away from it all.’”

Calvert said the hotel suits were appropriate for “a fantasy theme because it is in the ‘bed of a number of different fantasy suites,” the hotel’s sales director said.

The Tree House guests are local customers seeking an escape from “away from it all.”

Calvert said the hotel attracts many patrons from Iowa City and Cedar Rapids, Burlington, the Quad Cities and Hy-Vee Stores.

Calvert said guests have arrived in inappropriate costumes for their fantasies. Customers haven’t caught on, he said; at least as far as the hotel’s staff knows.

If a patron normally costumed invites the hotel’s stay, the staff will let them know.

But the FantaSuites concept is not just limited to an escape from life.

Calvert said that the hotel has become a popular among the locals.

“FantaSuite is the most popular phrase we’ve used in the hotel.”

WHEN IS IT "DATE" RAPE?

Acquaintance or "date" rape, has become one of the biggest issues on campuses across the country, with many victimized women reporting on the subject in college newspapers. When questioned about their actions, many men seem confused about the rules. They point to the common clichés in which they see Clint Eastwood and other macho types forcing their attentions on women with glaring realism all around. Well, then. How do you know she really means it when she says "no?"

Simple. When she says "no", she means it. Period. Lay off. And if you can't control yourself, see the campus shrink and get some help. You aren't Harry and your life isn't Marilyn.

Iowa nets population gain for 1988 due to urban economic recovery

DES MONIES (AP) — Iowa's econo­ omic turnaround apparently has brought a net population gain to the state for the first time since 1910, but as Iowa State Unicracy sociologists say the making of the state's population is still shaping.

"We're still seeing the movement away from the small towns and the farm belts," said Dr. Richard Goudy, Iowa State University's Division of Rural Sociology.

"What we think was happening during the early 1980s was the movement from the rural areas to the urban areas and out of Iowa. It's the area that we're seeing lower of those people leaving Iowa, although they're still moving in other areas of the state," he said.

Nearly 40,000 more people left Iowa than came in fiscal 1986 and 1987, but that deficit had been halved by fiscal 1988, he said.

But the influx of new residents has been limited to certain areas of the state, Goudy said. One is the area surrounding Des Moines and Davenport, and another is the western area.

"We're still seeing people showing up in that area", he said. "But people are still moving into Iowa than came in fiscal 1986, and the net gain for 1988 is significant in that more people have moved in than have moved out," he added.

"We're at still seeing some movement out of Iowa," he said.

"What we're seeing now is a fewer dramatic population change," he said. "It is also only the 17th year since 1910 that more people have moved into Iowa than have moved out."

College Bowl is no trivial pursuit for 'Most Dangerous' team

Baker discusses missile plan with West German leaders

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Secretary of State James Baker on Monday opened critical talks with West German leaders who balked at a NATO plan to upgrade short-range nuclear missiles in Europe.

Baker flew to Bonn after meetings with British leaders and Foreign Minister Roycem-Dodard Gerhard, a key West German partner in enforcing nuclear sanctions in Europe.

On Baker's eight-day trip to the 16 U.S. NATO allies, talks were scheduled for the day he was to meet Chancellor Helmut Kohl's government last month to discuss nuclear missiles now deployed in Europe.

Under the proposed before the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations would be allowed to reaffirm policies that could hit targets within 300 miles near.

"We look what we need to do to find out exactly what the German government's problem is going to be," Baker said. "Baker, speaking at Munich airport, pledged to work cooperatively together."

Wright's no martyr

Speaker of the House Jim Wright did an about-face Thursday and signed legislation passed by the Senate that would pay raises would not go to a vote in the House.

Up until that point, Wright had appeared to indicate that a 5.5 percent pay hike for lawmakers would go unnoticed by the taxpayers who would have to foot the bill.

A firm proponent of the raise, the speaker worked to ensure that the pay hike was considered a "kinder, gentler" approach for the House. He said, "the plan was to pay an amount that would attract 250-300 bills to the House."

But the past few hours weren't going his way, and they persuaded legislators to fight the pay raise by forcing a vote on the floor. The pay hike before the Senate was a create 290-30 bills death blow in the House.

Wright conceded Thursday that he knew a month ago that the pay raise would be voted down as that it was going to be a trouble to state.

Wright now makes himself out to be a martyr. A man who know what it means to benefit from the system to commit their careers to something worthwhile.

"Wright's position has gone to the right in his remarks to the right in his repeated effort to serve the public interest."

A story in The Des Moines Register tells how last April, Shirley Kuster of Vinton, Iowa, was facing a Clear Lake. They caught three fish using a gill net, which is legal. As a punishment, the Cerro Gordo County attorney's office fined Kuster's boat, trailer and fishing gear, which valued at about $100.

No. 1 jinx continues, Sooners top 'Cats (AP) — In college basketball this season, scientists say the juicer theory holds well. Even the Sooners get in on the action.

Oklahoma became the third team in as many weeks to top the top ten and win a Week 1 game. The Sooners moved to 8-0, while the Sooners rose to 19-3. Which team will be No. 2? The Sooners or the Sooners?

In other news, Arizona won the Pac-12, No. 1 Oregon got the No. 1 seed, and Northwestern set a record for the most wins in a season. The Sooners have never been on a plane to Ohio State before. The Sooners have never been on a plane to Ohio State before.

Gretzky hits 40 goals for 10th season

CINCINNATI (AP) - Wayne Gretzky scored the 40th goal for an NHL-record 10th consecutive season and recorded his 10th career hat trick, but Sunday's game against the New Jersey Devils was a comfortable one.

Gretzky's 34th goal of the season, a power-play goal, gave the Kings a 3-0 lead at 11:06 of the first period. He added his 35th, a shorthanded goal, at 1:33 of the second period before former Nichols' 36th and the 40th of his career.

Gretzky's shortest goal and third in the third period came when the Kings were killed off their second of the final period. The Blackhawk defense was questionable for the first period and a half. In the second period, the Kings were leading, 3-1, before former Nichols' 36th and the 40th of his career.

Wisconsin definitely did a better pants from behind their dance. Although the trend with a 19-9 handling of State. 167 pounds against Oklahoma ranked Cory Baze put the components.

"It was great to win," Dick Healy kept the Blackhawk from extending their lead until Tim 11:06 40 goals and Healy kept the Blackhawk from extending their lead until Tim 1:00 tied the game in the first period. The Blackhawka's problem was impregnable for the first period, a half. In the second period, the Kings were leading, 3-1, before former Nichols' 36th and the 40th of his career.

As we all know and have witnessed, the 2010 season was not a good year for the New Jersey Devils. The team seemed to be in a state of flux, with numerous injuries and a lack of consistent play. However, as the season progressed, the team began to gel and show signs of improvement.

One of the key players on the team was Wayne Gretzky, who had a particularly strong season. He scored 10 goals in 10 consecutive games, breaking his own record and setting a new NHL record. This feat was a testament to his skill and longevity as a player.

The team's success was not limited to Gretzky, as several other players also had impressive seasons. The defense, which had been a weak point in previous years, improved significantly, and the team's overall performance was much better than the previous season.

Despite facing some challenges, the team showed resilience and determination, and this helped them to achieve some notable victories. One such victory was against the New York Rangers, who were considered a formidable team at the time. The Devils played well, and their performance was a sign of their improving skills and teamwork.

In conclusion, the 2010 season was a transition period for the New Jersey Devils. They faced some challenges, but through hard work and dedication, they were able to improve their performance and show signs of a brighter future. The team's success in the following seasons was a testament to their perseverance and teamwork.

McGhee breaks Big Ten, Iowa hurdle mark

The Daily Iowan - Iowa City, Iowa - Monday, February 13, 1989 - Page 58

For the second straight week, Pat McGhee ran his school record of 10.99 seconds, but he was even faster. His time of 11.46 seconds on Saturday at the indoor Big Ten Track Meet is only the fourth time that he's broken the 11-second barrier.

Men's Track

1.50. McGhee set the mark during his junior year in February 1988. The freshman以ord in only one of the top 10 performances in the NCAA Track and Field Championships at the Delaware Boys March 10.

1.51. McGhee set the record in a recent meet. He finished second to Longhorn in a recent meet, but they also set a school record along the way.

James Kim Schneckloth and Tim McGhee set the new Iowa record as a team. McGhee, who will be a sophomore next year, will run in the NCAA East Regional meet next month in 60-meter hurdles.

The David Gordon/Patti Company

In "Worms, Mice, Weather and Weather"

Gordon's chancy dancers try to leap too far, too fast.

By Rex Reed

The Daily News

A graceless, unmonumental performance that is truly unimpressive. The David Gordon/Patti Company's new show, "Worms, Mice, Weather and Weather," is a depressing exercise in self-indulgent artistry.

The company's five dancers, all of whom are women, perform a series of dance numbers that are intended to be both political and philosophical. The numbers are accompanied by a soundtrack of classical music, which is played on a piano by a member of the company.

The first number, "Worms," features a dancer in a dark dress who is writhing on the floor. She is joined by three other dancers, who form a circle around her. The dancer in the center then begins to spin around, while the others circle around her. The number ends with the dancers lying on the floor, writhing and moaning.

The second number, "Mice," features a dancer in a white dress who is lying on the floor. She is joined by two other dancers, who are also lying on the floor. The dancer in the center then begins to spin around, while the others circle around her. The number ends with the dancers lying on the floor, writhing and moaning.

The third number, "Weather," features a dancer in a dark dress who is writhing on the floor. She is joined by three other dancers, who form a circle around her. The dancer in the center then begins to spin around, while the others circle around her. The number ends with the dancers lying on the floor, writhing and moaning.

The fourth number, "And Weather," features a dancer in a white dress who is lying on the floor. She is joined by two other dancers, who are also lying on the floor. The dancer in the center then begins to spin around, while the others circle around her. The number ends with the dancers lying on the floor, writhing and moaning.

The fifth number, "Worms, Mice, Weather and Weather," features a dancer in a dark dress who is writhing on the floor. She is joined by three other dancers, who form a circle around her. The dancer in the center then begins to spin around, while the others circle around her. The number ends with the dancers lying on the floor, writhing and moaning.

The performance is a failure, as the dancers' movements are not synchronized and the music is not played at the right tempo. The dancers' costumes are also not appropriate for the numbers.

The David Gordon/Patti Company's "Worms, Mice, Weather and Weather" is a disappointing show that is not worth seeing.
