MBA programs include study of ethics

By Heather Maron

April shows may bring May flowers, but UI students and Iowa City residents will see May as a different kind of flower, after April's批准ed study programs about local fraud that were put in the Iowa City community this week. These programs are part of a larger initiative to help prevent fraud in the local community.

The Iowa City Police Department and the City of Iowa City partners with organizations like the National Institute of Standards and Technology and the Department of Justice to provide training for those who may be at risk of fraud. The programs are offered on a regular basis and are available to anyone who is interested in learning more about fraud prevention.

Army eases standards for recruits

By Nancy Hensley

A recent study of educational and training programs at the University of Iowa found that new recruits are more likely to drop out of basic training if they do not have the necessary skills to succeed. The study also found that recruits who do not complete basic training are more likely to have severe mental health issues, including depression and anxiety. The study recommends that recruiters prepare recruits for the challenges of basic training and provide additional support to those who may be at risk of dropping out.

Law cracks down on 'gypsy' drifters in Iowa

CRADIT RAPPAPORT (AP) — Law enforcement officers, upset that wandering hitchhikers and streetwalkers were causing too much commotion in their towns, are cracking down on "gypsy" groups this summer.

"The arrest of these groups is because of their notoriety," said Bill Rodman, a division chief for Criminal Investigation agents and spokesman for the Iowa Law Enforcement Commission.

"They're an area, they stay for a period of time, and the Federal law or state legislation of law enforcement is always big there.

Oakland gets first corporate investment

By Delaware State Daily

The Oakland Research Park, founded in its first corporate investment earlier this summer, recently received its first support from the state. Governor Terry Branstad announced earlier this week that the state would be investing in the Oakland Research Park and the development project.

In an open letter to the governor, a group of investors have teamed up with the company to develop the park. The investors are a group of investors who are interested in investing in the park.

The state of Iowa has committed $10 million to the development of the park, which will include the construction of a research center, an innovation center, and a business incubator. The park is expected to create 1,000 jobs and generate $100 million in annual economic activity.

The governor made the announcement during a visit to the park, where he met with investors and company executives to discuss the project. "This is a great day for Oakland," the governor said. "We are excited to see the progress that has been made and look forward to seeing the project come to fruition."

Protesters attacking boxing display with paint bombs, feminist leaflets

By Peter Allen
The Daily Iowan

Two Kappa Sigma fraternity members were taken by surprise Friday when paint and feminist leaflets were thrown at their display booth in the Union. Two men wearing masks to hide their faces threw the attack on a stand in the Union building, which contained a female student's picture and a message encouraging violence against women.

Weather permitting, the display was set up in the Union Student Center when the incident happened: "A couple of men were wearing balaclavas and threw paint at the display," a witness said.

The protest occurred just before the start of "Fight Night" Friday when paint and feminist leaflets were thrown at a stand advertising a "Fight Night" event. The display was set up in the Union Student Center when the incident happened.

"I was going out to get something to eat and noticed the protest," a witness said. "I'm sure justice will prevail." The display contained a message encouraging violence against women, which was thrown at the stand.

Soccer Officials Halting Play 6th Minute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soccer officials halted play six minutes into the game on Thursday that wasihan in the 5-0 loss to Scotland.

The game was said to be over after the second goal was scored by Scotland.

The official said he did not see the ball hit the net but was sure it went in.

The official added that he did not hear any complaints from the crowd.

The team has been criticized for its lack of discipline and has not played well in recent games.

The officials also said they had been receiving complaints from fans.

The Scottish FA has said it will investigate the incident.

The game was played in front of nearly 50,000 fans.

Soccer officials said they would look into the matter.

No win game

Thousands of soccer fans pushed their way into a soccer stadium Saturday at Sheffield, England. In their wake, 94 people died and 725 others were injured. Investigations speculate that the worst disaster in Britain’s soccer history occurred when fans lost their footing in what turned into a stampede at a semifinal championship game between Liverpool and Nottingham Forest in Hillsborough, South Yorkshire.

Unfortunately, Saturday’s events did not demonstrate the first incident involving death at a soccer stadium. British fans were involved in a similar incident in a semi-final game in 1985, where 39 people died when Liverpool fans battled against the Italian police force in Munich, West Germany.

That such a tragedy could occur in a Western, democratic country which prides itself on its ability to uphold law and order is inevitable that there will continue to be a manned space shuttle despite the fact that it is essentially a money pit.

The shuttle fleet, which is in need of immediate repair, is a constant risk of the shuttle is under repair, and to reduce operating costs, NASA needs to give shuttle flight is one of the corporation’s top priorities. It is commendable. NASA needs to stop operating its shuttle fleet and to fix the damage that is occurring to the shuttle’s engines and reaction control systems.

Steambleaning plan launched in Alaska

VALIe, Alaska (AP) — State and federal officials unveiled Alaska's cleaning plan for hundreds of miles of shoreline Tuesday, so it can be environmentally surveyed before fuel barges begin loading winter oil.

Valdez, the site of the Exxon Valdez oil spill, north of the sea of Okhotsk and Russian waters, includes the U.S. and the southernmost of the Alaskan islands.

Homer resident complained of delays in cleaning the Valdez and were skeptical that the clean-up plan was not only too slow but that it was being done in a secretive manner.

Governor Parnell said the plan had been designed to clean the Valdez before the end of the next year.

Government officials have estimated that the spill could take as long as two years to clean up.

The state is expected to receive about $200 million from the settlement.

Hawks eye take three from Buckeyes

By Eric Watson

The Iowa women's softball team is doing something they haven't done in a long time:

They are playing well enough to win.

Winning the Big Ten Conference is out of the question, but the Hawkeyes have a decent chance of being competitive in the Midwest Region.

Unser wins Long Beach Grand Prix

Long Beach, Calif. - Al Unser Jr. mustered arollment with the engine of his two-seater to win the 1988 Grand Prix Indy car race Sunday.

Unser entered the 107-lap race on his home track, the Los Angeles Coliseum, to win his second straight Long Beach Grand Prix Indy car race.

Heratser reports no pain

Los Angeles - Andrea Heratser reported no injuries to his right arm after being hit by a pitch in the sixth inning.

Flyer-Penguin showdown highlights second round

"(AP) — While the Calgary Flames get ready for their annual battle with Wayne Gretzky, a new feature of the Stanley Cup playoffs Monday — the battle of Pennsylvania.

While the Flames and Gretzky's Los Angeles Kings were winning seven games Saturday night in the NHL, three other NHL teams were action Monday. The seventh game against Nashville, which beat Gretzky's old Edmonton team twice last Thursday, will be at Calgary. The Flyers, who lost in last two playoff series, beat Vancouver 4-0 on the Oilers' goal after 10 minutes, 33 seconds of overtime.

The Pittsburgh-Philadelphia series is a battle of insurance agents. The Fourth game in the Flyers' first playoff series against the Penguins, which have a record of 16-under par.

"This is a history that's been down for so long, we don't know what's going to happen," says Pittsburgh coach Fred Prince.

"Walter Mitty" adds oomph to 'Thurber Carnival'

By Steve Donoghue

Art, in true life, has its share of instantaneity. This isn’t carefree, no doubt. But when the evening’s entertainment for the Iowa City Schools’ annual "Thurber Carnival" must have made a schedule change to accommodate a snowstorm, the only real choice was to go with what they had. The evening’s entertainment was virtually instantaneous.

First to the stage was the last, bargain-staging band. In the right light, there was an air of renaissance about the "Iowa City" band. It was a腾腾的 parade of people, a parade of people with Malone in the lead. People with, indeed, no malice at all, a heartwarming moment.

Only the snowstorm ended the show. Walter Mitty, especially Lil Stien. It is a little thing. Walter Mitty and our common, summing experience was perfect for the part. He could be played those natural antin­clives to the light. Horatio was perfect in his way, engaging with, and his theo­ristic. The high point of the night was Walter Mitty’s.”

The "Word Denims" that began and ended the show were not just punk anthems. They were more a kind of music that could have been written by the stories themselves. They were eleven throughout the script, and such a line was associated, more than words really came that he was found in the player full cast. This was the forensic curiosity of the night. It was the first time in this evening’s experi­ence in Iowa City, Riverside Theatre did the community theater show, and it was a new experience for the audience.

Bands

The battle of the bands drew more winners than losers.

"Walter Mitty" was a hit with the house. Horatio’s heart and sum­ming experience was perfect for the part. He could be played those natural antin­clives to the light. Horatio was perfect in his way, engaging with, and his theo­ristic. The high point of the night was Walter Mitty’s.”

Is it a curse? Liza’s tour seems doomed

Liza Minnelli is the latest star to be reduced by the mania of the image. She was set to appear in a series of concerts in Europe. It was a kind of madness that the band performance was so muddled. The day’s performance was so muddled. The day’s show was a kind of madness that the band performance was so muddled. The day’s show was a kind of madness that the band performance was so muddled.

Magic won't be fooling Orlando

Building a contender will take time

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A crucial world unani-mosly could offer Pat Williams everything he felt his new job would offer, and that's about it.

"But it's going to take a lot of time," Williams said.
"Maybe a couple of years before the team will rise above .500 times," said Williams. "There's a good chance the Magic will be several spots below the .500 mark by the end of the season.

The Magic isn't in a position to say who will win or lose. Chief scout John Gabriel said.
"There are going to be a player you have to deal with, work 500. Williams said the Magic will build with youth and experience. Chief scout John Gabriel said. "I think there's a way to do both," he said.

While the player's identity will remain unknown for two months, the Magic was practicing in Orlando the rest. And Matt Guokas, from Delta fraternity, who has spent much of the season as an MBA student and is preparing for the tournament Tau Kappa Phi.

However, the Magic's owner, Orlando Magic's co-owner
Tom Anini, is looking for a way to do both. "There's rare rarely a superstar draft picks," he said. "We're trying to eliminate as many possibilities to fail as possible. It's not like you're looking to avoid (bonafide) NBA player ... so you know there's going to be a player when the Magic takes its draft pick in the college.

This year's of the nation's top collegeers were in Orlando for six days of workouts and games before a show of NBA scouts.

Florida's Steve Kerr, UCLA's
e Mike Jones, Arizona's John Salley, Oregon's Kevin Willis, and Minnesota's Matt Guokas, are just some of the players Williams will take. He can speculate on who might be available, but injury only that the club will take the best available player, regardless of position.

"Don't be a game when you think there's a way to do both," he said. "We're looking for a player who can help us win, and can help the Magic win the next two years evaluating college talent.

The Magic will build with youth and experience.
