Drought effort

Sweetheart of Council Bluffs, carries a fish from a favorite fishing pond which has been dried up by the continuing drought. Sweetheart and two others decided to save as many fish as they could and take them to a nearby lake. A severe water shortage continues in much of southwest Iowa.

U.S.EMONIES (AP) _ Iowa's saving and loan institutions made a dramatic turnaround in the first quarter of this year, recording a total profit of $3 million for the quarter. This is a record for the state, and it is a welcome change from the losses that have plagued thrifts in the past.

The report showed that thrifts in Iowa lost $2.4 million in the first quarter of the year, and lost $2.45 million in the final three months of last year. This is a significant improvement, and it is a testament to the efforts of thrift officials to keep the industry afloat.

Iowa thrifts lost $3.4 billion in 1983, and the government's wanted list of insolvent thrifts had eight insolvent thrifts. In Iowa, thrifts have been under the conservatorship of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation for two years. Thrifts are classified as "underwrite" by the government. Savings and loan associations are "underwrite" by the government. Big banks are "underwrite" by the government. Food as weapon

Under the guise of humanitarianism, President George Bush has launched a new anti-drug campaign that aims to stop the drug trade and aid certain U.S. military equipment from being sent to China. However, it is apparent in this effort to carry on the so-called "war on drugs," that the Bush Administration, much like its predecessor, chose not to use U.S. wheat supplies because "that would hurt the Chinese." On the surface, this seems to be a humanitarian policy. Yet, some historians point out that as long as the drug trade goes on, so will the death toll.

If the Bush Administration really cared about innocent people, then that concern would be bedrock of U.S. foreign policy.

Take the example of Nicaragua, where our raging government with Bush's full support stopped a coca museum in 1982 by cutting off the U.S. wheat supply. And last month, Bush continued Reagan's long tradition of trade embargoes of Nicaragua.

This policy of non-enforcement should not be used as an example of world democracy, but as a way to enable the Chinese government to continue their war against drug traffickers.

Enforced equality

Tuesday's U.S. Supreme Court ruling to allow anyone to contest an employer's hiring decision as "reverse discrimination" is a step toward equal rights for women and minorities.

But what is most important about this new ruling is what it does not say -- affirmative action has not worked and is not working.

The intent of affirmative action was to increase the employment opportunities of women and minorities and give legal backing to fighting discriminatory decisions in hiring.

It was a last-ditch effort of the most qualified person for the job.

Unfortunately, the results were shown, and minorities and women were exempted from the enforcement.

Finally, the only way to enforce employment equality is to give women and minorities the same opportunities and an equal chance to succeed.

That cannot be achieved at the cultural level of the Third World.

Affirmative action has to be achieved in both the workplace and women's equality in equal or lesser measure.

A forced equality gives white males ample opportunity to cry "reverse discrimination." A true equality cannot be achieved at the contrived level of the Third World.

The intent of affirmative action was to prepare racial groups for their sport as well as to give them an equal chance at winning.

If affirmative action has to be considered a success, it has failed. And if affirmative action has to be considered a failure, then affirmative action has probably been telling them the truth.

I hope that their pitfalls will not be too deep and dangerous, but deep and dangerous enough to teach them about life -- probably one I've been telling them for years.

If we teach our children to be good and do well, but let them get very depressed if they fail, that's not a good recipe for success.

The only way to stop the use of drugs should realign their goals.

The Bush Administration and the drug companies will face severe penalties if they do not change their ways.

Wage

Appraoches $3.00 an hour, and potential to advance another hill toward a livable minimum wage is not yet in sight, according to a new report being released today. The study - directed by John Mitchell, associate professor of economics at the University of Iowa - found that 22 percent of all full-time workers in the state make less than the Federal Government's official poverty line of $3,000 a year.

The study also found that the average hourly wage for all workers in the state was $1.77, an increase of 4.3 percent over last year. The study also found that the average weekly wage for all workers in the state was $54.60, an increase of 5.2 percent over last year.

Deficit increases 7 percent after consecutive decreases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deficit in the broadest measure of the trade widening sharply in the first three months of the year as government in the sale of American mark-up was cut.

Pentagon funds TV research

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon formally joined a high-stakes battle technology battle with Japan on Tuesday when a Pentagon agency picked five companies to receive government grants to develop high-definition technology.

The Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency announced that it would spend $276 million over 15 years in an attempt to capture a share of the $9 billion market for high-definition television.

The new research program was expected to attract the participation of major electronics manufacturers, including Sony, Panasonic and Philips, which are leading the way in developing high-definition television technology.

The program will focus on developing the key components of high-definition television, such as the liquid-crystal display, the projection display and the high-definition television receiver. The goal is to create a working high-definition television set that can display images in 1080 lines of resolution, as opposed to the current 480 lines.

The Pentagon's primary goal is developing an American-made technology that can compete with Japanese products in the global market. The agency said it would not predict how many American companies would emerge from the research program.

The Federal Trade Commission, which regulates the television industry, has expressed concerns about the potential for foreign competition, saying that American manufacturers could lose market share and jobs if they do not develop their own technology.

Meanwhile, the government also reported Tuesday that retail sales, which had fallen for two consecutive months, improved in April, narrowing the deficit in the current account.

Analysts held back by weak auto and electronics sales, which had fallen for two consecutive months, improved in April, narrowing the deficit in the current account.

First quarter 1989

Breakdown by category:

- The deficit in the current account, which measures the balance of payments, increased from $27.63 billion to $28.9 billion, primarily due to a widening in the merchandise trade.

- The deficit in the services category, which includes tourism and other services, improved from $1.4 billion to $1.2 billion, due to an increase in tourism.

- The deficit in the investment category, which includes direct investment and portfolio investment, narrowed from $1.5 billion to $1.2 billion, due to a decrease in portfolio investment.

- The deficit in the financial account, which includes official flows and private capital flows, widened from $0.5 billion to $0.8 billion, due to an increase in official flows.

The deficit in the United States Current Account widened 7 percent to $27.63 billion, mainly due to the high deficit in the current account.

Some analysts viewed the setback as disturbing evidence of how America's trading problems, which had fallen for two consecutive months, improved in April, narrowing the deficit in the current account.

Argentina: Early inauguration

BUDRUS, Argentina (AP) — President-elect Carlos Menem has declared his intentions to resign because of the worst economic crisis in Argentina’s history.

"We are willing, totally willing, to assure creation of the Argentine Republic," Menem said Tuesday.

Menem, the first civilian leader to be elected in Argentina’s recent history, was sworn in Thursday as the country’s president.

Menem, who has promised to end political killings, intimidation and economic crisis in Argentine history.

Menem’s change of heart Tuesday appeared to resolve the political support to resolve the crisis.

At least 14 people were killed and 13 others injured in an attack on a police station in Buenos Aires, the country’s capital.

Menem has promised to end political killings, intimidation and economic crisis in Argentine history.

Druse militiamen rekindle firing in Beirut; 9 wounded

BEIRUT. Lebanon (AP) — Syrian and Christian leaders exchanged fire for five hours Tuesday in an artillery war that has killed hundreds of people in the past three months, both sides said.

Syria's army, which is under pressure at home, was trying to keep the war that has cost it 3,000 soldiers in a separate war with Israel in southern Lebanon.

The fighting began between the main Christian enclave east of Beirut and the nearby Druse suburb of Rassine, where a U.N. peacekeeping force was stationed.

The shooting was the latest round in the civil war that has killed 15,000 people in Lebanon, a country of 3 million, and has driven hundreds of thousands of people from their homes.

The fighting has been going on for months, most of them civilians.

A Syrian official said the war has been going on for a year, and that there was no way to stop it.

The official said the shooting was the result of a dispute over the control of a border area.

Aid workers have reported seeing children among the dead and injured.

The shooting started with shelling from the north and lasted for several hours, with artillery shells ricocheting off buildings.
