United plane crash shows problems with the backup systems in DC-10s

WASHINGTON (AP) — The crash of a United Airlines DC-10 that killed 273 people Tuesday night in Roswell, N.M., highlights problems with the backup systems of other major DC-10s, aviation experts agree.

The Roswell crash comes eight years after a DC-10 crashed at Sioux City, Iowa, killing 11. The Sioux City flight, like the Roswell flight, was on an American Airlines route.

The Sioux City crash shows problems with the backup systems of a jumbo jet, experts say. But experts say there are no known cases of a DC-10 taking down because of problems with the backup systems.

JACKSON (AP) — Rescuers and survivors spoke of miracles, and investigators seek clues "like tick" through a coroner's Thursday report on the crash of United Airlines Flight 232.

At least 100 people were killed, and up to 120 others were missing and presumed dead, in the crash of United Airlines Flight 232.

"The two engines were still running and the pilots were still talking," said one of the survivors. "It's a miracle that anyone survived.

A car stereo and a radar detector were stolen sometime early Thursday morning at a booth at the Johnson County Fair. A Conrad man allegedly visited the victim at her home and then sold the stereo out of county. The Johnson County Big Brother-Big Sister program, aimed at children from single-parent families who need extra one-on-one attention, was approved in 1980, and currently serves 60 families. The program's executive director, Cathy Jackson, said that a major goal of the program is to make a difference for Johnson County kids who need a friend. Donated by Iowa City dollhouse Lorraine and Bob Bowans who will work from their workrooms, Tiny Toy Town, said the dollhouse is being raffled to raise money for the Johnson County Fair Big Brother-Big Sister program. The program's executive director, Barbara Curtis, said that the only admission to the event at the Johnson County Fairground will be a sheet that has been used for a fund for some 60 children and that children will need a sheet. The dollhouse was once displayed in the window of her store, at 15 S. Johnson St., she said. Ingram Hallman

The Daily Iowan

Five Johnson County bridges deemed unsafe by engineers will be closed next week — some temporarily and some permanently — even though several bridges were replaced in recent years.

The county Board of Supervisors meeting Thursday is expected to close five bridges.

The board has been considering the bridges since last November.

The five bridges that will be closed are:

- A bridge over Dutch Fork Creek, located in Union Township.
- A bridge over Old Man's Creek, located in Union Township.
- A bridge over University Farm Road, located in Warren Township.
- A bridge over Indian Creek, located in Union Township.
- A bridge over Delaware County Road, located in Union Township.

These bridges are closed because they do not meet current safety standards.

Untapped resource

Tapping the vitality of the elderly population is one of the major opportunities facing America in the 1990s. They have longer life expectancies. They are also more likely to be responsible for the economic support of their families, especially if they have younger children. As they age, they are more likely to be able to pay for their own retirement if they are health-concerned middle-aged adults. In the long run, the younger generation will benefit as much as the older generations.

Why is it so important to tap into the vitality of the elderly population? For one thing, they are an untapped resource. They have a lot of time on their hands, and they are likely to be more interested in participating in community service activities. Additionally, they are more likely to be willing to volunteer their time and talents, and they are more likely to be interested in learning new things.

Elected officials, whether mayors or senators or legislators, have the opportunity to tap into the vitality of the elderly population. They can encourage them to get involved in their communities, and they can help them to find ways to give back to their communities.

The elderly population is an important part of America's future. They are a valuable resource, and they can make a significant contribution to society. By tapping into their vitality, elected officials can help to ensure that America's future is bright.

Wolpack players refuse to talk
"We'll play knocking in Little League," New York colonel Edsall said Monday night. "I've heard of the three-game series, but I can't see us doing that." The three-game series being threatened was the 1948 World Series, which the American League had rejected. "I'm not sure if we'll play at all," Edsall said. "We'll see what happens." The rejection came after the American League refused to enter the World Series, which the National League had entered. "We're not going to let them talk us into this," Edsall said. "We'll see what happens." He said the American League had refused to allow the National League to participate in the World Series.

CBA boss missing after crash

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The commissioner of the Continental Basketball Association was missing Friday after a small plane crashed in the crash in a Colorado国际机场 Thursday.

Commissioner Jay Batiste and deputy commissioner Jerry Jehman boarded a small plane at the airport, where the plane was registered as the plane of the Continental's league's player agent, who left Monday on a plane that crashed at the Boulder Airport as the push to make an emergency landing Wednesday afternoon.

Boise State safety covered the plane after people on board Flight 292. He said Batiste was sitting second row behind him, near the tail of the 14-seat aircraft.
