Stones give it to 54,000 fevered fans

Jay Cambi

The Daily Iowan

AMES — More than 54,000 sweating faces got their first taste of '70s deja vu Saturday night at The Rolling Stones "Sticky Fingers" tour opener in Truax Field. The "Huey" less song in Iowa will be a memory as quick as the concert, as its sponsor, The Daily Iowan, has no relation to the San Francisco band of the same name. The event was publicized as the Rolling Stones' only Midwest concert, and it was. And that's a contest.

After England's West Ham, the aging goings-on proved that they're "on the way. "The Rolling Stones and a Bank Hall" has seen its own, and if anyssa were entering the gates three hours before the band took to the stage, the line was at least half a mile long. Mick Jagger zoomed across the stage in his signature jumpsuit through several songs as tens of thousands of fans thumped to their most obscure hit of the last few years, "Street Fighting Man." With the '70s in the air, Deborah Harry (Blondie citizen) had to be pulled off the stage by police. The Stones' music has not changed in the last 10 years, and the fans were just ready-for more.

Blissful Richard's embodies rock 'n' roll at Stones show

Loxie Peterson

The Daily Iowan

In a word, it was ecstatic. The freshness in Ames Saturday night didn't begin with the marquee, "The Rolling Stones," but with the upstart band of teenyboppers who followed them in the opening slot, Blissful Richards. The smallish Panamanian leader of the band, Cesar Zelaya, said Iowa City's Morning Newspaper was "the only song from the first visit to Iowa."

The Stones' lone stop in Iowa Wednesday was an afternoon event. The band was to play Iowa before the opening, but the show was rescheduled for Sunday. The Stones' last appearance in the area was a three-day event in 1975. Notable fans included a group of kids who sneaked into the concert and were later fingerprinted by police.

Bush OK'd non-military action to arrest Noriega

Ralph Wisse

The Daily Iowan

WASHINGTON — The Bush administration on Wednesday approved congressional requests to send a Panamanian leader, Gen. Manuel Noriega, during a recent visit last month, for military action against him if he was found to be in the United States, a defense official said Wednesday.

The reaction was the result of the final decision by the end of the failed military operation led by Panama, in March, he told the congressional leaders of a Panamanian invasion and was found to be in the United States.

After the invasion, he ordered the military to arrest Noriega, an order that was carried out by a Panamanian officer who had been arrested by the junta. The decision was made after a meeting with President Bush and Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney.

The decision, made public Thursday after the meeting, was based on the recommendation of the Department of Defense that the decision be made and that it be made public.

Friday hotel death spurs investigation

GOLDEN, Colo. — A woman found dead at the University Inn, Highway 5 West, Saturday, April 16, is being investigated by police, who have no preliminary information on the death. The coroner's office is investigating the death, which occurred in a room.

The investigation is being handled by the Boulder County coroner's office, which has not released any information on the case. The Boulder Police Department is also investigating the death.

Hungary's communists disagree and start anew

The Daily Iowan

BUDAPEST, Hungary — Hungarian Prime Minister Janos Kadar on Tuesday announced that he will dissolve the government and call early elections, ending a bitter feud with the Communist Party's leader, who had opposed Kadar's call for multiparty elections.

The new government was formed after a deal was reached between Kadar and the opposition Socialist Workers Party, which has long been a mainstay of the Communist Party, and the Hungarian Democratic Forum, a new party that emerged from the opposition movement. The new government is expected to be headed by a new prime minister who will be chosen by the Socialists, who control the majority in parliament.

Kadar's decision to call elections follows months of political turmoil in Hungary, where the economy has been struggling and the country has been under pressure to hold free and fair elections.

The new government will face a number of challenges, including the need to address the country's economic problems and to build trust with the international community.

The new government will be led by a coalition of smaller parties, including the Socialists, who have long been the dominant force in Hungarian politics. The new prime minister will be chosen by the Socialists, who control the majority in parliament.

$150,000 awarded to study cancer

Annie Marie Williams
The Daily Iowan

Two graduate students from the University of Illinois have received a $150,000 grant to continue their research on cancer. The grant was awarded by the National Cancer Institute.

The grant will be used to study the role of the gene responsible for a particular type of cancer. The researchers plan to use the grant to purchase new equipment and hire additional staff.

The grant is the latest in a series of awards received by the University of Illinois for cancer research. The university is one of the leading institutions for cancer research in the United States.

The researchers plan to use the grant to conduct more experiments and gather more data on the role of the gene in cancer.

The grant is expected to support the researchers for the next five years.

Briefs

Federal workers will take Monday off

The federal government will be closed on Monday, according to a memo from the Office of Personnel Management. The closure is due to the federal government's partial shutdown.

The shutdown affects all federal employees, including those working in the Department of Justice, the Department of Agriculture, and the Department of Education.

The shutdown also impacts federal facilities, such as the National Archives, the Library of Congress, and the National Park Service.

The shutdown is expected to continue until a new budget is passed or a deal is reached to end the shutdown.

The shutdown will have a significant impact on the economy, as federal employees will not be paid during the shutdown.

The shutdown is the result of a disagreement between the White House and Congress over funding for the Department of Homeland Security.

Hoover museum to discuss presidents

Topic: What to do with ex-pres

Speaker: Gerald Olenick

A discussion of “What We are to do with the Presidents” by former Hoover Library and Museum Director Howard Taliaferro is being planned in a series of meetings to address the role of former presidents in American life.

The sessions at the Hoover Library will attempt to divorce the question of what to do with former presidents from the question of the role of former presidents. The sessions will begin Thursday, October 10, and will be held weekly. The sessions will try to provide an environment in which people can think about the question and answer questions that they want to ask before they receive a tour of the Hoover Library.

The state of Iowa Area Educational Television will hold a series of educational forums at the museum on the topic. The forum will be held Thursday, October 10, at 9:00 p.m. and will be broadcast on WDCB 91.5 FM and KSUO 90.5 FM. The forum will be held weekly.

It’s a bird! No, a plane! No, a drug drop! No, just luggage from a TWA jet

SHARI PULLIS, 19, AND her son, 15, were looking out the window of a bus while traveling to Sioux Falls Regional Airport when they noticed a piece of luggage fall onto the runway from a TWA jet.

“I don’t believe this is just a reporting phenomenon,” said Dr. Ulrich, a professor at Drake University. “We are essentially seeing more and more favorable events for women among adults. The figures represent over 15,000 rapes for every 100,000 people. Only North Dakota had a lower rate.

“The rise in figures reflected similar trends in Iowa, says Michael Gevera, researcher and statistical manager for the state’s public safety department.

“THERE IS some good news, but a lot of very troubling news,” he said.
Prevalence of Alcohol Use

Alcohol prevalence of binge drinking for age 18 to 24.

Binge drinking varies by age and gender. Men are more likely to binge drink than women, and young adults are more likely to binge drink than older adults. Binge drinking is defined as consuming five or more drinks in a row for men and four or more drinks in a row for women.

Alcohol is a depressant and can have negative effects on the body and mind. It can impair judgment, coordination, and decision-making abilities. It can also lead to addiction and dependence, as well as other health issues such as liver damage, heart disease, and cancer.

Stones

Stones form in the kidneys as a result of decreased urine flow, which allows minerals to crystallize and form stones in the renal tubules. Stones can be small and pass through the urinary tract on their own, but if they are large, they may need to be removed surgically.

The stones can cause pain and difficulty urinating, and may require hospitalization for treatment. Treatment options include medication, shock wave lithotripsy, and surgery.

As certain as death and taxes is the obligatory October release of the "Halloween" movie. And once more, the release date is little more than a month after "Halloween 5" plays in the theaters, it will be followed by November's "The Ghoul." But if a new Missouri law takes effect, children in that state who are found to have viewed "Halloween" - or any other horror movie - in the privacy of their homes, last month's vote by the Missouri House of Representatives to enact a law barring children under 14 from watching "The Ghoul." The law has been temporarily blocked by a U.S. District Court judge who has asked the Missouri attorney general to show that the law poses a threat to the free exercise of religious belief. The law would allow the Missouri attorney general to seek a court order that would bar children under 14 from watching "The Ghoul." The law is expected to be overturned on constitutional grounds.

Bakker's 'reward'

Jim Bakker was convicted Thursday of tax fraud, a federal judge in St. Louis found. The verdict was a stunning reversal for the televangelist who had been accused of cheating his followers out of millions.

Bakker, 64, was convicted of income tax evasion and conspiracy to defraud the IRS. He was found guilty on two counts of income tax evasion and one count of conspiracy to defraud the IRS.

The trial lasted for three weeks, and the prosecution presented 50 witnesses. Mr. Bakker, who is currently serving a 15-year sentence in federal prison, was convicted of income tax evasion and conspiracy to defraud the IRS.

Lee true to life

To the Editor:

I have always been a fan of the television series "The West Wing," but I feel that the show is very inconsistent with the actual life of the president. In the series, the president is often shown making very difficult decisions, and his staff is shown working very hard to find solutions to these problems. However, in reality, the president is often shown making very easy decisions, and his staff is shown working very little.

Lee's message

To the Editor:

I read the two recent articles criticizing the Right Thing. Gregory Galloway attempted to make the point that 'The Right Thing' was a bad idea. However, in truth, the Left's plan was even worse. While Leftist Pottawattamie County's plan was wrong in terms of the Right, their plan was even more wrong. The Right Thing was a bad idea, but the Left's plan was even worse.

Columbus Day misses the boat

We note, however, that Columbus Day was first to be observed in the nation, when several state legislatures passed resolutions in honor of the explorer. Although the movie focuses on the American Viking settlers rather than the actual history of the New World, the movie's scenes are not entirely accurate.

J.L. McCurie

Imagine the look on Columbus' face when several hundred years later he dropped anchor off a lush tropical beach crowded with burly blonde Norns playing Calypso music.

Those few precious pages on which this is printed, if any are exchanged, are not cursory. It is not even the traditional media that are sensibly curtailed, but rather by the newly installed "national cultural guards." Columbus Day, the celebration of the discovery of the New World, will be observed in several states.

Burmese students demand democracy

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - A statement from three Burmese students in exile attacking the military regime in Rangoon said July 30 that nearly 3,000 students and other dissidents are being held in prison and that citizens increasingly fear for their lives under the regime.

"Their demands are identical to those of the people of Burma and those demanding reform in China and Vietnam," the statement said. "The regime is inherently tyrannical and has no respect for human rights."

The statement said the students had asked the officials in charge of the Burmese Embassy in Bangkok for assistance, but they had not been heard from since they wereBeta

The students said they had presented lists of Burmese students held in prison in Rangoon and other areas, but the officials had not replied.

The military regime in Rangoon had ordered the students to present the lists to Thai officials or face arrest.

The students said they were willing to present the lists, but had been denied permission by Thai authorities. They said they were willing to go to any length to make their demands heard.

The students said they had been held in prison for several days and that they feared for their lives under the regime.

The students said they had been held in prison for several days and that they feared for their lives under the regime.

"We will not back down. We will continue our struggle until democracy is achieved," the statement said.

The military regime in Rangoon has continued its crackdown on dissent since the February 1988 coup, which ended the 20-year rule of the pro-American government of Gen. Ne Win. The regime has arrested thousands of political opponents and imprisoned hundreds of them.

NASA to launch shuttle, despite threats

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Technicians packed in two atomic generators aboard space shuttle Atlantis on Monday, in preparation for the planned July launch.

The agency decided to begin the shuttle mission, long delayed despite a decision in 1992 to build a new space station, after discovering that one of the generators was not working properly.

The generators, containing 274.8 pounds of highly radioactive plutonium dioxide, were installed in the shuttle's fuel tanks for a previous mission in December.

The decision was made after the agency decided that it would be safe to use the generators despite the risk of radiation exposure.

The launch is set for July 8, with astronauts seated on the orbiter and orbiting the earth for a few days.

Congressional whispers are pay-raise plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has not yet made a public decision on whether to seek a pay raise for federal workers, but some members of Congress are pushing for one.

A poll released Thursday found that 58 percent of those surveyed thought Columbus landed in the Western Hemisphere at least 50 years ago, while 42 percent believed it happened between 1450 and 1500.

The poll, conducted by the Gallup organization, was based on a sample of 1,000 people.

The results suggest that the concept of Columbus being an explorer who discovered the New World is changing, with more people believing that the land he visited was not discovered by Europeans until later.

The poll also found that 80 percent of those surveyed thought Columbus landed in the Western Hemisphere at least 50 years ago, while 20 percent believed it happened between 1450 and 1500.

Florida coach resigns

e canned the head football coach at Nebraska Saturday amid charges made anonymously by at least 20 players that the coach was physically abusive to them. The players, who spoke to The Associated Press on condition that they not be identified by name or affiliation, said they were threatened with harm to their careers if the information was released.

The university's president said she was unaware of any formal complaints about Pat Nebraska's coaching style, but said she was not surprised by the charges by the players.

The charges, which are also alleged by four assistant coaches, are the latest in a string of bad publicity for Nebraska since the 1986-87 season. The players said they were threatened with harm to their careers if the information was released.

The AP was unable to contact Nebraska coach Pat Nebraska for comment.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Kansas State rallied from a two-touchdown deficit in the second half and beat Missouri 35-28 on Saturday for its first win of the season.

Missouri (2-3) had already blown a two-touchdown lead in the first half of the game. The Tigers (2-3) were down 21-14 at halftime after Kansas State scored 17 points in the final seconds of the half.

K-State (2-3) scored 21 unanswered points in the fourth quarter to take control of the game.

"It feels great to get a win on the road," Kansas State coach Chris Klieman said. "We've been working hard all season and it feels good to finally see it pay off."

Missouri quarterback Drew Lock completed 17 of 33 passes for 273 yards and two touchdowns but also threw three interceptions. Kansas State's defense limited him to 116 yards passing and 15 carries for 60 yards.

The Tigers had scored 75 points in their previous two games but couldn't keep pace with Kansas State.

"We didn't execute offensively today," Missouri coach Eli Drinkwitz said. "We need to find a way to score more points and take advantage of our opportunities."

Arthur T. Shuler's "Freedom" won an Academy Award nomination for best picture, a fact that made it a competitive entry in the race for the most prestigious prize in the world. The film was directed by Lee Daniels and starred a group of prominent actors, including Denzel Washington, Morgan Freeman, and Liv Tyler.

The film is a biographical drama that tells the story of a man named John场 who, after being wrongfully convicted of murder, spends 20 years in prison before being released on a technicality. John's struggle to clear his name and find justice is the central theme of the film, and it is told through a series of flashbacks that capture key moments in John's life before, during, and after his incarceration.

Despite its critical acclaim, the film struggled at the box office, grossing just $7 million in domestic theaters. It was nominated for three Academy Awards, including Best Picture, Best Director, and Best Actor (for Washington), but ultimately lost to "Shine" and "Shrek." It did, however, win a Golden Globe for Best Picture, and Daniels was nominated for Best Director at the Golden Globes as well.

In the years since, "Freedom" has become something of a cult classic, with many fans admiring its message of hope and perseverance. It has also been praised for its depiction of the criminal justice system and the difficulties faced by those who are wrongfully convicted.

Neil Young, the legendary Canadian singer-songwriter, released a new album this week that has been met with mixed reviews. The album, titled "Freedom," is a departure from Young's more polished, arena-rock style, and instead features a more stripped-down, folk-inspired sound.

Many critics have praised the album's raw, unpolished feel, with some calling it a return to Young's early days. Others, however, have criticized the album's lack of innovation and its reliance on cliches.

"Freedom" is the 34th studio album of Neil Young's career, and it was released on Friday, April 12. The album features 12 tracks, and was produced by Young himself, along with Roy Harus and David Mountain.

In the weeks leading up to its release, the album generated a lot of buzz, with many fans anticipating a return to Young's roots. However, when the album was finally released, it received mixed reviews from critics and fans alike.

Young's previous album, "Levon," was released in 2011 and received generally positive reviews. It marked a return to Young's more traditional rock sound, and was praised for its emotional depth and honesty.

The new album, "Freedom," was recorded in Young's home studio in rural Ontario, Canada, and features collaboration with his long-time band, Crazy Horse. The album's sound is a mix of folk, rock, and country, and it features guest appearances from a number of well-known musicians, including David Gilmour, Joni Mitchell, and Bruce Springsteen.

"Freedom" was released on Friday, April 12, and is available for purchase on all major streaming services, as well as on physical formats like CD and vinyl.

Neil Young himself has been working on new material for several years, and has expressed a desire to continue exploring different sounds and styles. He has said that "Freedom" is a departure from his previous work, and that he is excited to see what kind of reaction it will receive from fans and critics alike.

Neil Young has been a force in the music world for over five decades, and his influence can be heard in the works of countless other musicians. He continues to tour and record, and is expected to release new material in the years to come.
