Tuition plan may change

3% increases proposed

Brian Shik
The Daily Iowa

The Board of Regents will reportedly extend an increased proposal to increase student mandatory fees for the 1989-90 academic year from 3 percent to 12 percent. The proposal, which will be discussed at the board's meeting, is expected to be approved by 12 percent. The proposal, which will be discussed at the board's meeting, is expected to be approved by

Fall harvest discovery of more Flight 232 parts encourages further searching

ALTA, Iowa (AP) — The discovery of a second part of an airplane engine that was found in a cornfield east of Alta, Iowa, was reported to news organizations in Iowa on Tuesday. According to the officials, the plane is believed to have crashed in 1989.

Mayor Shiloh Johnson, a member of the Iowa Aviation Commission, said: "We're glad we have found this part of the engine."

Officials of Eastern Airlines said that the plane was a DC-10 that crashed near Chicago in 1979.

"We are very excited about this discovery," Johnson said. "It will help us in the investigation of the accident."
I.C. Magazine - a slick one

Publishes a defies many skeptics, employing critical reviews.

The winning entry in the 9th Annual Brtain Mystery Theatre Tournament, Paul Fladen, Piper Hall, will read his winning play in its entirety at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Union. It is with restaurant reviews, cultural, and political perspectives all around. If you've never heard of Iowa City, but now it means Iowa City.

One thing a newspaper needs to do is identify the people who are going to be the most important factors in the future. The magazine's publisher and editor, David Breathed, says he's happy with the early reaction to the magazine hard to believe. Perhaps it's a piece of Iowa City.

"There's a certain truth in Madison" Berke Breathed, the creator of the comic strip "Duck Soup," said while the magazine's layout and design are more traditional, "you can't once view the Image of the Week, it shows the magazine's concept: something that calls for a certain kind of writing."

"You're a verse in a welcome verse: a reflection of the influence of the magazine, created a problem that in time seemed impossible. Green was succeeded by diversities.

"I guess you never satisfy the skeptics," Green said.

The resignations continue a pattern of resignation in the magazine, as the union, it's been reported, said students have a wide variety of volunteer opportunities to return to school.

"A lot of students don't realize there are no particular limitations on the kind of work we help. William said. "We try to make no particular decisions for our students. We just want to give them a chance."

"I think they understand the attitude, a certain atmosphere of education, a certain belief that, "It's a place for the magazine," Green said.

UI medical researchers to receive $1.5 million

Jenifer Glien
The Daily Iowan

Two University of Iowa researchers have been awarded grants totalling nearly $1.5 million to conduct research on topics related to pregnancy and childbirth. The research will focus on understanding the mechanisms that underlie a range of complications that can occur during pregnancy and childbirth, and the impact of these complications on maternal and infant health.

One of the grants will support the work of Jay Rosenzweig, professor of obstetrics and gynecology, who is leading a study to investigate the role of the placenta in regulating blood flow to the fetus. This research is important because problems with blood flow to the fetus can lead to complications such as preterm labor and stillbirth.

Another grant will support the work of Amy Hamilton, associate professor of pharmacology, who is studying the role of the enzyme NO synthase in regulating blood flow to the placenta. This research is important because problems with blood flow to the placenta can lead to complications such as preterm labor and stillbirth.

Both researchers are excited about the potential impact of their research on improving maternal and infant health.

Moral defense of abortion bolsters cause

Guest Opinion

John Cummings

Chronicler of abortion have innumerable, seemingly and spontaneously the power of morality to oppose of miscarriage. For they have what constitutes their defense, primarily in terms of the formal cause of abortion, the act of nature resulting from the manifestation of the moral law. A woman's right to privacy is a right to choose whether to give birth. However, minimally, politically, morally, or even emotionally, they may be attractive for one's own purposes and as an act of ellen and defend itself for the time being.

The next problem of the abortion movement is the absence of any clear moral defense of abortion.

First premise: It is wrong to kill an innocent human being.

The second premise of the argument states that a fetus is an individual, a human being, and thus has the right to exist. However, the argument does not define who is an individual or what it means to be human. This is problematic because the concept of human identity is complex and multifaceted.

Second premise: The state is justified in preventing abortion.

The next problem is the lack of a clear argument for the state's right to prevent abortion. The argument is often based on the idea that life begins at birth, but this is not a widely accepted view. Additionally, the argument implicitly assumes that the state has a right to interfere with an individual's right to choose.

Conclusion: The argument for the moral defense of abortion is weak and incomplete.

Guest Opinion

John Cummings

abortion is both needed and possible
Peter Singer (Practical Ethics, 1987) states the argument of moral reasons to abortion. He argues that abortion is justified because it prevents suffering and preserves
the life of the fetus.

Abortion pill: Will it be legal in U.S.?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abortion is bound to wither in the United States, with this pill being used to keep the abortion pill from being made or sold, the National Right to Life Committee predicts it could be available as early as 2011. The pill is called RU486 and is used to induce abortion. It was first made available in France in 1992 and has been tested in other countries. The pill is effective only when taken within 72 hours after unprotected sex and is not safe for women who have had a previous abortion, undergone a miscarriage or have a history of blood clots.

87 LatAm presidents meet to discuss expelling Panama

IACA, Peru (AP) - Seven Latin American nations met here Tuesday to discuss expelling Panama from their Group of Eight and support the Andes nations' struggle with drug traffickers. The group is composed of Peru, Colombia, Venezuela, Brazil, Ecuador, Bolivia and Chile.

President Raúl Alfonsín of Argentina, who has been demanding that Panama be expelled from the Andes region because of its drug trafficking, said he would visit the anti-drug nations tomorrow to discuss it with them.

The meeting was held here under the leadership of President Jorge Bornia of Ecuador, who is chairman of the Group of Eight.

The meeting was called to discuss the Panamanian drug trafficking problem and the efforts to curb it. The leaders of the meeting agreed to support the Andes nations in their efforts to control drug trafficking.

In 1989, Panama was expelled from the Andes region by the United States and other nations because of its drug trafficking. Panama has been incorporating its efforts to control drug trafficking in recent years.

OAKLAND, CA (AP) — Spring training gives teams an opportunity to see how their new acquisitions are faring, and it gives fans a chance to see the team the way it will be when the season finally gets underway.

The Athletics have been a model team during the past three years, winning the American League West in each of the past three seasons. They have been one of the best teams in baseball and have been a model for other teams to follow.

The Athletics and Giants played in the last three games of the exhibition season, and Oakland edged their rivals for a total of 21 hours over two days.

"It's a great way to see how they're doing," said Athletics manager Tony La Russa. "We've already played each other several times, and it's a great way to see how they're doing."

Out-of-towners adapt to American lifestyle

(1P) — The two villains and three Yugoslavs are settling quickly into the lifestyle of a typical NBA player.

The foreigners have been here just a couple of weeks, and their days start around 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Alexander Yakov and Sarunas Marciulionis, the usual suspects, are getting ready to hit the weights.

Bo Christensen, Tom Klein and Scott Skiles, who are the only American players on the Portland Trail Blazers, are helping the players adjust to the lifestyle of a typical American player.

The players have been getting used to the idea of coming to the gym and working out together.

Chilton, Pop's 'great loss' returns to soul

Chilton was born in 1940 and grew up in Iowa City, where he formed his first band, the Ibaras, in 1960. He later formed the Butterflies, which became known as Big Star in 1967.

Big Star was influential to many musicians, and their songs have been covered by numerous artists, including Bob Dylan and Elton John. The band's sound was a fusion of rock, soul, and country, and they are credited with helping to define the term 'alternative rock'.

Chilton died in 2003, leaving behind a legacy of music that continues to inspire and influence artists today. His life and music are celebrated in the documentary film 'The Rock and Roll Hall of Fame', which was released posthumously in 2018.

Chilton's music remains a part of the Iowa City music scene, and his influence can be heard in the music of many local artists. His contributions to the world of music will not be forgotten, and his legacy will continue to inspire future generations of musicians.

If you are interested in learning more about Chilton's music or the history of Big Star, you can visit the Big Star website or check out the documentary film 'The Rock and Roll Hall of Fame'.
BY RAMSEY AND THE SLIDERS.

Yacht Club to host
Bo Ramsey tonight

Radisson Larkspur:
The Daily Iowan
Bo Ramsey, the band's lead vocalist and rhythm guitarist, will be performing at the Yacht Club tonight.

Ramsay has taken his deeply rooted blues influences, drawn from the local rich musical traditions of the Midwest, and has mixed them with a solid, rootsy slide-guitar style.

This incarnation of the Sliders is the heaviest and hardest rocking in the band's 10-year history, which has included four albums, the latest of which, "Bo," will be released this fall.

Ramsay's powerful guitar playing, slow and deliberate, with fluid and smooth bending and phrasing, seems to bring out the true character and purpose of the instrument.

Bo Ramsey's power began in 1974, when he carefully studied the styles of blues masters such as Muddy Waters, Howlin' Wolf and BB King, incorporating these into his own voice. From 1977 to 1984, he was a member of the Louie Bien's rhythm section.

The Sliders' sound and presentation have changed frequently from the group's inception to the present. The band now includes guitar, bass, drums, horns, harmonica, and piano.

Guitar and pedal steel guitarist Tony Wilson and bass player Joe Rainley have been an integral part of the band's sound for 10 years.

This incarnation of the Sliders is the leanest and hardest rocking in the band's 10-year history.

The ensemble's guitar work and soft-spoken vocals.

In this present configuration, the band's sound is amplified perfectly with Ramsey's, creating a harmony and a seamless blend. Guitarist Joe Rainley is the perfect foil for Ramsey's voice, one that is unapologetically his own.
