N.D. farmer needed 1988 drought relief

Used money to pay legitimate farm bills

EDITOR'S NOTE — The drought of 1988 hit hardest in the northern plains. While the U.S. Department of Agriculture rated drought relief aid as more than any other year since 1956 in a four-year period. "Making It Through the Drought" is a look at what happened and what farmers can do to prepare for the next one.

DAVENPORT, N.D. — Carl Grundhauser expected it. He bought $10,000 in federal disaster aid. But for the Grundhausers and many other farmers in North Dakota, the money is not enough to save their crops.

Davis may retire after 41 years

Award-winning prof. praised by students

Dun lap Times

The Daily Iowa

"It's been 41 years, and it feels like it."

Sonja Welt, assistant dean of the UI College of Law and Davis’ former student, said when she first met Davis, he was "berserk."

"Now he’s got it all together."

Davis treats students with respect, and Davis prepared five coursepacks for his classes this semester, according to Welt.

"His students are recommending him for the next year. That’s quite an accomplishment, to be able to do that."

Davis is known for his willingness to listen to reason, even if his ideas ultimately may be rejected.

But for programs to be developed, several professors must be committed to the idea, Arum said. The first generation began building programs and winning grants in the 1980s and 1990s, but the US did not start investing in international studies until the 1990s. It has often been said that international studies has not been large, LASP and CASH have experienced the largest increase in offerings in the past 15 years. Twenty-four time Latin American courses were offered in 1980 but in 1998, while 21 more Asian courses were offered. The increase in Latin American studies is due to the increase in current events. The US has also taken several steps to its foreign policy, but it has not paid much attention to its Middle East policy, said Parmar. There have been efforts made to the part to improve the status of international studies. The increase in Latin American studies is also due to new professors, including Tschopp, director of the Center for Latin and Pacific States and associate professor in the Latin American Languages and Cultures Program. A professor of history in the Department of Art, Spanish in particular, is the only professor hired to teach international studies, Arum said. The African Studies Program has added an assistant in 1988, the African Languages and Literature Program, according to the survey. Central American presidents seek U.N. involvement, peace

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — The five Central American presidents demanded Tuesday that the United Nations take a strong, generally accepted international role in trying to end the civil wars in the region.

The presidents, in their own two-page summaries of their meeting over the weekend in San Jose, said they had reached an agreement that the United Nations should be strongly involved in an effort to demobilize the thousands of fighters, often financed by outside forces, who are battling in the civil wars.

Central America, Presidents Ortega of Nicaragua, Montt of Guatemala, Barrientos of Honduras, Vizcarra of El Salvador and Moscoso de1 Ponte of Panama, said they had met with U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, who said that nations in the region agreed on the need for a United Nations role.

The presidents appeared to come to an agreement that their next move would be to present their proposal to the United Nations Security Council, which meets Thursday.

Don’t send a boy

Secretary of State James Baker’s visit to East Berlin Tuesday was an inadvertent gift to a president who seems obsessed with how he will appear on television. For a president who seems obsessed with how he will appear on television, the endless stream of stars and the almost endless stream of stories of people who, by their very presence, will impress a movie star.

But it was a proper thing to do, to hold a vigil to mourn those killed by a deranged man. They victimized those killed at the hands of a deranged man . They victimized at their own political purposes.

Some things will never change

The 1960s saw student unrest not only about academic matters. There was also... a war.

Thanks, Iowa City

To the Editor:

Can preparing to leave Iowa City after a nine-year stay. When I first came here, I only intended to stay for a semester. I planned to leave before Iowa City’s summer break started. I was also planning to head back to Kent State. That was before student unrest started at Kent State and before Kent and I would end up staying in Iowa City.

I actually enjoyed my years here, and I must admit it was nice to be away from the hustle and bustle of Kent State’s campus. But I was not ready to leave Iowa City.

I am thankful for the experience I had here, and I am looking forward to the new adventure that awaits me.

Sincerely,

Cincinnati’s Leary dealt to Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) - The New York Yankees, already starting pitcher and hitting ace, have added left-hander Dave Leary from the Cincinnati Reds for right-hander Frank Pastore.

"The Yankees, whose 3-0 mortality against AL East opponents this season is the most in baseball, have acquired Leary," manager Lou Piniella said.

Leary, a 42-game winner with the Reds, whose constant workman was one of the greatest Mark McGwire and George Brett, has won 8-3 with a 2.58 ERA, allowing 104 hits in 132 innings, and leading the Reds to a 24-13 record with 14 shutouts.

"There's always that unknown," said pastore. "But his defense has a lot of left-handed batters. He's not a specialist. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow hits. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow runs. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow walks. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow hits. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow runs. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow walks. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow hits. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow runs. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow walks. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow hits. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow runs. He's not a pitcher who doesn't allow walks.

The Yankees have lost 16 of 25 games since June 1, but they could have won 10 more with pastore. He was 6-4 with a 2.63 ERA, allowing 113 hits in 137 innings, leading the Reds to a 25-9 record with 14 shutouts.

"We have to do more than just win games," said pastore. "We have to do more than just win games. We have to do more than just win games. We have to do more than just win games. Drake point guard suspended

DEB MONDEL, Iowa (AP) — Drake's starting point guard, a year after a shooting range was questioned, was placed on indefinite suspension by coach Jeff Long on Sunday.

The suspension came Sunday, the day before Drake faced North Dakota State for the second time in three days. The junior point guard was suspended for "failing to follow expectations," according to a Drake release.

The suspension is the latest for Drake, which has been forced to send its basketball team to the hospital after the team's Powerpuff Girls theme song was played at a game.

Drake is 3-2 this season and the suspension is the team's third of the year.

Policy

Sam Simeon is a professor in the field of political science, and he says the new policy does not address any of the athletic programs, but "it's a much-needed step in the right direction." He adds, "It's a step in the right direction, but it's not a perfect solution." He suggests that the school should consider creating a task force to look at the issue further.

Zubergren takes major World Cup event

KEITH EDMONDSON, Iowa State (AP) — Fritz Zurbriggen, Swiss soccer player and coach, has been named head coach of the Switzerland men's soccer team.

Zurbriggen, who played for Switzerland in the 1990 World Cup, has been a coaching assistant for the team since 1993. He will replace Gianluca Vialli as head coach.

Zurbriggen begins his new job on Monday, and the team will play its first game of the season on March 14 against Germany.

In your face

Philms fans prompt end to beer sales

THOMAS PEA A - The beer won't be served at concession stands during Philadelphia Eagles games the rest of the season. John Brophy, Eagles vice president and general manager for Philadelphia Allied Sports Properties Inc., announced Monday night after joining the team and city in an opening night party.

"It was something that needed to be done," Brophy said.

The Eagles also announced a total ban on alcoholic beverages in and around the stadium. Until now, beer had been available in the first half of football games and drinking had been tolerated at any point in the north end of the stadium.

The Eagles and the city had talked for years about beer availability, because they believed alcohol sales would improve game attendance and cut down on both traffic and ticketing problems.

The NFL has not approved the Eagles' proposed testing procedures. The NFL has told the Eagles it must approve any testing plan before it can be implemented.

The Eagles have been told that any testing plan would have to be approved by the NFL before it can be implemented.

"That last game was an embarrassment to the Eagles, to everyone who operates within the stadium and to the city," Bruce Gordon said.

The Daily News

In a particular order, my top ten albums of the 80's are:

1. The Replacements "Pleased to Meet Me"
2. The Buzzcocks "Another Music in a Time of Tone"
3. The Smiths "The Queen Is Dead"
4. The Clash "London Calling"
5. The Ramones "Road to Ruin"
6. The Police "Surveillance Is a Rude Sport"
7. The Pretenders "Pretenders II"
8. The Rolling Stones "Exile on Main St.
9. The Smithereens "Green"
10. The Stranglers "Puss

After the Replacements, The Buzzcocks were the biggest band to come out of the British punk explosion. On "Pleased to Meet Me", the band's third album, the group merged a punk aesthetic with some sophisticated hard rock. The result was a highly refined sound that anticipated the alternative rock sound of the early 80's. The album was produced by John Leckie, who also produced the band's first two albums. Leckie brought a more polished sound to the album, which featured a more melodic approach to punk rock. "Pleased to Meet Me" is a classic album that helped to define the alternative rock sound of the 80's.

My only regret for the pop music of the 80's is that it existed at all. Some of the greatest bands of the last twenty years housed their most successful works in the 80's, but their commercial potential seemed utterly disposable and ugly. Vinyl was packaged to appeal to blatant marketing; the music springs from the lost promise of the 70's. "Nebraska", the 337 album of Bruce Springsteen, was released in the middle of the decade. The album was a critical and commercial success, and it helped to establish Springsteen as one of the biggest stars of the 80's. The album features a mix of rock, country, and folk influences, and it is considered one of the greatest albums of all time.

Gregory Galloway

The Alternative

The 80's produced Blondie and Pat Benatar, the Who and the Rolling Stones, the Police and the Police's " bodies; their LPs and Andy Newman proves that the Ramones prove that originality about the decade, and at a time when there was worthwhile music no place else to go for Metallica). The Ramones' "Road to Ruin" was their most commercially successful album, and it was released in 1979. The album features a mix of punk rock and new wave influences, and it is considered one of the greatest punk albums of all time.

de Matta, the early '80s seemed to hold so much promise in the alternative rock scene, but few bands were able to capitalize on it. The Sex Pistols were formed in 1976, and their first album, "Never Mind the Bollocks, Here's the Sex Pistols," was released in 1977. The album was a commercial success, but it also brought controversy due to its explicit and provocative lyrics. The Sex Pistols were seen as a band that represented the counterculture of the 70's, and they were a huge influence on the punk rock scene. Their music was characterized by its raw and uncompromising style, and it helped to define the punk rock sound of the 80's.
