Barry arrested on drug charges

WASHINGTON (AP) - Mayor Barry said Friday's arrest of a former associate on drug charges is a setback in his efforts to clean up the nation's capital.

 crate, Barry said he will not make any comment about the case.

The mayor has been under pressure to crack down on drugs in the nation's capital, where drug use is seen as a major problem.

Barry told reporters that he will not comment on the case until more information is available.

He said he is confident that the city will continue to make progress in fighting drug abuse.

The arrest of the former associate is a blow to Barry's efforts to boost the economy and create jobs in the city.

Barry said he is committed to making the city a safer place for all residents.

The mayor has been working with the federal government to secure additional funding for drug treatment programs.

He said he is confident that the city will continue to make progress in fighting drug abuse.

Senior to teach Iowa to high-school students

First day of the new school year.

Next fall, Karl Hacker will be doing something that only five other teachers have done. And he will be doing it for the first time in Iowa.

Hacker, who is a 23-year-old sophomore at the University of Iowa, plans to begin his three-year commitment after he receives his degree in the Critical Language Programs class.

"I wanted to learn a language other than English," Hacker said. "I think it's important to learn something else other than just English, something else that is spoken around the world and outside of Iowa."

Hacker will be teaching Spanish in the spring of the second year and Korean in the spring of the third year.

"I'm excited about teaching," Hacker said. "I think learning about different cultures and being able to work with students who are studying different things is very exciting."

Hacker is one of five other teachers in the state who have taught high-school language classes. Foreign language classes are usually taught in high schools, especially for the first year.

"It's a way to teach the students about other cultures and to understand the differences that exist," Hacker said.

Hacker plans to use a variety of teaching methods, from traditional classroom instruction to hands-on activities.

"I think it's important to let the students have some freedom," Hacker said. "They need to have some freedom to learn and to have some fun whereas teaching the students about different cultures and languages."
Hiring trends indicate minority discrimination is on the wane

Martha Mathiasen
The Daily Iowan

The University of Iowa said the move to prohibit military military recruiting on its campus was a "reaction to the large increase in minority hiring practices from Fortune 500 companies." The move was made by the Department of Employment Relations in 2000.

"Our people, whether minority or otherwise, are pretty well paid," Mathiasen said. "It's been in the interest of an employer to do what it takes to get the best people they can get."

The move came after a meeting with a group of minority hiring managers, including representatives from Microsoft, IBM, and Hewlett-Packard. The group agreed to develop a "diversity action plan" to help address the issue of discrimination in the workplace.

"The idea was to bring together people from different companies," Mathiasen said. "And the goal was to learn from each other and to develop strategies for addressing the problem."

Greenleaf said that fire inspectors have been informed of the building's several deficiencies, and Greenleaf notified the university's fire marshal that he found several problems with the building.

"They were well documented," Greenleaf stated.

"A Pi Kappa Alpha member was present at Thursday's trial gave an indication of the fire hazard that would exist today's deadline," Greenleaf said.

Economy

Economists attributed both the relative stability of consumer prices and the strength of the labor market to the federal policy of "soft money." Although the current rate has been reduced well below the historical norms, the Federal Reserve Chairman made recent comments that interest rates will not fall below 5 percent.

"These numbers indicate that inflation has remained steady over the last seven or eight years and that lower interest rates are unlikely to cause the economy to slip into deflation," Dr.
Martin Fuerstman, said in a recent public presentation of the monthly report.

The administration is using economic growth to bolster transit revenue and help it meet its budget deficit.

"Once Upon A Time..."

And so it came to pass that a great sadness fell upon the Land. For the Great Lords who sat in Washington had caused a snail to be laid upon the People, to cause them much Pain and Suffering. Throughout the land, there was much wailing and groaning of both. For all believed that all was lost, even their Mercedes and Cadillacs.

"Times are 'Bad!' cried the Media, 'You are all about to go down the tubes!' And, the People so hearing did fall. And they dined sadchile and ate, and spoke with lowered voices and much weeping of hands.

But there was amongst them one named Mark the Man of M. C. Ginsberg Jewlers, who was wise and bounteous and did speak the truth, as he was not able to see, hear, understand how but knew them, so was stupid he was.

And Mark fashioned for himself a small shield and enshrouded upon it the words 'Business is Good!' he said, and set his mark, that all might know, with his eyes and his ears, and all as a thief he knew his ways. For 'Business is Good?' But Mark of M. C. Ginsberg replied, saying, 'I wear this sign because Business is Good.'

And men too gladly nodded saying, 'Wherefore is your business good, but we are in such distress?' and Mark replied, 'Thus know your eyes fall on, therefore I cannot read the newspapers that proclaim misery in the land. And thus I speak, therefore cannot I hear the hearty warnings of Mcnich and Leher. Thus also know I am slow of mind, and therefore do not comprehend what Wise men say in Name of M. C. Ginsberg Jewlers, that 'Business is Good.'

Hearing this, the multitude raised their voices, and cried about, 'Mark, Mark Make us one of your Magic Buttons, that we might also feel of our dispute.' And Mark spake brawlingly, saying, 'As a magic, people, You just got lucky!'

If you would like one of Mark's Magic Buttons, just come into M. C. Ginsberg Jewlers. Well be glad to share the magic.
Shuttle to land today despite mishaps

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. -- (AP) -- The space shuttle Atlantis will land today, three days early, for a scheduled wake-up. Atlantis is in good shape after taking a hard landing early Monday, and it was expected to be in good shape for its take-off and landing.

The incident happened Wednesday night, about 3 hours before their scheduled arrival. The landing was expected to be smooth and uneventful.

The incident occurred during the flight's second stage, when the orbiter's first engine failed. The landing is scheduled for 2:55 a.m. EST, just before a scheduled landing at 3:08 a.m. EST.

The shuttle is carrying the American nervoussness experiment, which is designed to study the effects of the experiment on the astronauts.

The experiment is being conducted by the American nervoussness research team, which is based at the University of California at Berkeley.

The experiment is expected to start at 3:08 a.m. EST, and it is expected to last for 6 hours.

The astronauts are scheduled to return to Earth on Friday morning, and they are expected to be in good health.

"That's Andre Tippett," a voice in the back of the classroom whispered.

"It's not," another shouted from somewhere.

When Andre Tippett, the former All-American and current defensive end for Iowa and current star of the NFL's Minnesota Vikings, was sitting in the stands at last Saturday's Iowa-Purdue football game, it looked like he was almost a decade younger than he really is.

But that's why Tippett is in the UI--to be a normal student and a football hero like he was almost a decade ago.

"I made a deal with myself that if I ever got back here to be a football player," Tippett said. "I'm here to have a good time, and I've been able to do that here声音来自某人半开玩笑地说，我已经参加了NPF的三分之一，但在接下来的几年里，人们说，我一直是7分12秒，然后12年，我更喜欢现在的自己。即使我体格健壮、生活自在，我仍然是那个老同学。

ANC may negotiate with South Africa

LUSAKA, Zambia — The African National Congress on Thursday endorsed a possible way to avoid a war with South Africa, saying it was ready to negotiate with the apartheid government in Pretoria.

"We are willing to negotiate," ANC Deputy Secretary-General Alfred Nzo said in a statement that was delivered by Dr. Ruth Mothibedi, who returned to Pretoria on Thursday after a 13-day stay in Zambia. "We are ready to talk with the government of South Africa." South Africa's government was put under house arrest

That makes the ANC's proposal to fight against the states of the African continent, said the black guerrilla group (ANC) which is involved in military operations.

The state of South Africa was put under house arrest.

One dead in airplane collision

ATLANTA — An Eastern Airlines pilot leading her airliner collided with a small twined aircraft that had already touched down Thursday, killing one person and injuring another aboard the smaller plane, officials said.

The 7:50 p.m. collision between the Eastern Boeing 727 and a Beechcraft King Air 100 on a runway at Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport tore off much of the roof of the smaller plane, which was in stable condition and one dead, hospital officials said.

John Brosher, airport spokesman, said both injuries occurred on the smaller plane, which carried to other passengers, and to injuries reported were reported. There were no injuries to passengers.

The collision involved Eastern Flight 111, which originated at Los Angeles International Airport, and a Beechcraft single-engine aircraft returned, citing a "fire."

The state's governor, T. R. Young, immediately ordered a search of all the state's airports.

Bulgarian leader Zhivkov put under house arrest

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Bulgarian leader Todor Zhivkov was put under house arrest Thursday when the government news wire went unreported Thursday.

Bulgaria's chief state prosecutor, Dr. Petar Stojanov, was called to the home of the leader and laid charges of "abuse of power and fomenting unrest," an official said.

Zhadkov, 74, became the leader of the Bulgarian Communist Party in 1954, and held the post until his retirement in 1990.

The leader of the Rural National Front, which represents the Bulgarian peasantry, said in a press conference that "Zeleva" was being accused of corruption and abuse of power.

The upshot of the oat bran ruse is that it's been so far. Peace, as usual.

PRAIRIE MEADOWS BAILOUT

The American public has allowed itself to be duped again. According to the Iowa House of Representatives, the state's taxpayers have thrown a livesaving bungee cord around the neck of a state university. The House of the Iowa General Assembly has voted to bail out Prairie Meadows, a horse track, and it provides a market for hay grown by Iowa farmers and a saving grace for the state Department of Natural Resources. Last year the track lost more than $2 million, state Senator Berl Priebe, an Algona Democrat, said that a resolution authorizing the $2.1 million dispensation of public moneys from the state's general revenue fund to the racing track was a “desperate” move by lawmakers to prop up the state agency's losing horse-racing operation. “I'm disappointed that money is being diverted from education to fund the race track,” Priebe said.

It's hard to predict what the next decade will bring. But if the Weekly World News can do it, we can, too.

The American public has allowed itself to be duped again. According to the Iowa House of Representatives, the state's taxpayers have thrown a livesaving bungee cord around the neck of a state university. The House of the Iowa General Assembly has voted to bail out Prairie Meadows, a horse track, and it provides a market for hay grown by Iowa farmers and a saving grace for the state Department of Natural Resources. Last year the track lost more than $2 million, state Senator Berl Priebe, an Algona Democrat, said that a resolution authorizing the $2.1 million dispensation of public moneys from the state's general revenue fund to the racing track was a “desperate” move by lawmakers to prop up the state agency's losing horse-racing operation. “I'm disappointed that money is being diverted from education to fund the race track,” Priebe said.

Mistrial declared in McMartin molestation case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Judge William Pounders declared a mistrial Wednesday against McMartin preschool educators, clearing 12 women of sexual molestation charges.

Pounders cited the murder trial of Patty Hearst, the Robert McMartin family's daughter, as the key reason for declaring the mistrial. Pounders said 38 of the 40 jurors in the McMartin case were the same as those seated in the Hearst trial.

Pounders, who set aside the jury's guilty verdicts, said the same 12 jurors heard evidence in both cases.

McMartin, a 4-year-old boy, was found dead in the McMartin preschool in late March. Pounders said opening the McMartin case to the public was the primary reason for declaring the mistrial.

Pounders, who has set aside guilty verdicts in trials over the past year, said his decision was based on the high cost and value of the case.

The McMartin presidencies, which have been criticized in recent months, have been known for their high cost and value.

Pounders said he never intended to open the McMartin case to the public.

Research on the rejection of transplanted organs by altering the normal immune system of the patient so that the organs don't appear to be foreign, and creating a new immune system capable of defending the patient against laboratory animals as if they were normal, is progressing rapidly. It is expected that the new method will prevent rejection over current methods of preventing rejection, researchers agree. Nearly all of the study's researchers, Dr. S. Carter Fathman of Stanford University, are convinced that the new method will prevent rejection.

The success of heart, kidney and liver transplant surgery depends on the ability of researchers to suppress the immune system long enough for the graft not to reject the organ — while leaving enough of the defense intact to prevent infection and cause.

Bush to address nation's press for more education programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President George Bush, in his State of the Union address, will call for national education goals guaranteeing pre-school programs for disadvantaged 4-year-olds and requiring states to halve dropout rates by the end of the decade, according to a report.

Bush and the nation's governors, who will join him in promoting the goals, agreed in September at the conclusion of a high-level summit in San Antonio that goals are necessary.

They have been hurriedly working on a consensus in preparation for both Bush's State of the Union Jan. 25 and the National Governors' Association meeting in February.

In a move detailed Thursday by The Associated Press, Bush's aides have told governors that if the goals are not acceptable, they will not sponsor the summit.

A new era in UI athletics is in the offing as the staffs of the Old Iowa and the New Iowa are scheduled to meet Monday evening at the Iowa Memorial Union in Iowa City.

Monday's meeting will be in the main hall of the Union at 8 p.m. to discuss the changes that will take place when the 1969-70 season gets under way.

On hand will be Iowa men's basketball players Lee Jarecki and Mark Moon, who passed away in a car crash last December, and Albin Treble (field hockey). Also taking part are men's basketball coach Glen Patton and men's gymnastics coach Tom Finn in.

Larry Hured, Food Minor's (men's) and Paula Janta's (women's) will answer questions at the forum.

Northwestern suspends three hoopsters

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Three Northwestern basketball players, including Dave Behrman, were suspended by Coach John Porter to face Minnesota Thursday night, Coach Jim Foster said.

Substitute forward Ernie Flanagan was following their involvement in an on-court incident during Tuesday's game which Flanagan said would not lead to further action if the incident is proved.

In any case, the resumed squad Friday in East Lansing, Mich.

Indiana swim coach calls it quits

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — James "Doc" Counsilman is resigning as Indiana University swimming coach, the school announced Thursday, ending a 10-year career in which he became the first American coach to win a string of 30 consecutive Big Ten championships, winning 22 conference titles.

A former swimmer and Big Ten champion at Ohio State, Counsilman arrived at Indiana in 1927 from the Ohio State Teachers College in Youngstown, Ohio. The Hoosiers finished the first of 20 straight Big Ten titles and won 12 other conference crowns in 1937.

In 1950, the Hoosiers began a string of 11 national titles.

Sugar Ray relinquishes WBC title

New York (AP) — If Sugar Ray Leonard fights again, it won't be in a champion.

The former welterweight and middleweight champ says he has retired on what he called terms of "prudence.

"I'm not really worried about Saturday," he said. "At a meet we saw that there will be another champion."

Assistant coach Jim Shepherd said that's the same reason why he decided not to use Sugar Ray Leonard to win the championship.

NCAA revamps college football rules

MIAMI (AP) — The NCAA Football Rules Committee has voted to reduce the width of goal post uprights from 20 feet 4 inches to 10 feet 8 inches and to allow the defense to advance a fairway that happens in or beyond the neutral zone.

The committee, which met this week in Kansas City, decided to reduce the goal post width due to the increased accuracy of kickers on the side of the extra point, and to provide for better blocking from the back of the end zone.

Other changes included —

- Removing the touchback for out of bounds in the game on or beyond forty yards of the participants in the coin toss.
- Prohibiting the use of the "hanging" punt after the 26-second dead during the last 26 seconds of each half.
- Allowing the forward pass to be immediately released in order to conserve time.
- Requiring 10-second penalty and disqualification for a person subject to the rules who intentionally contact an official during a kick or punt.
- Deleting the exception that allowed defensive players to pull or grab the ball carrier's helmet to break a tackle.
- Providing a commercial advertising on football.

Ford leaves Tigers; sets for $1 mil.

COLUMBUS, S.C. — Clemson's Danny Ford, armed with a $1 million settlement, resigned Tuesday and ended an 11-year coaching career that brought the Tigers national prominence and NCAA penalties.

Ford's resignation came less than two days after the NCAA panel in the Atlantic Coast Conference's 14-alleged rule violations case reached a decision between 1984 and 1988 and the Tigers' current program.

The 41-year-old Ford said he "regretted and participated with Clemson" in responding to the NCAA's inquiry, which must be "part of the past." He said, "I don't regret any wrongdoing on my part." Ford said he "felt it was fair and right." Ford added, "I am confident that I never was aware of any rule violations involving this program." Ford resigned from the Tigers on February 25, 1993, following a 2-11 mark in four games, and the 1991 national prominence and NCAA changes made by one recruit who said Ford had told him, "the only way you're going to keep your scholarship is if you loved him." Ford also resigned from the school as he "little or no confidence in his ability to continue coaching." Iowa's two-year probation continued.

"We have honest differences of opinion on certain basic issues," Ford said. "A resolution under any terms would be difficult, if not impossible. The policies being met in the interest of Ford's current and bring the matter to a close." Ford added, "We are confident that an impartial person has been selected to rule in this matter." Ford's resignation had been planned by the NCAA in the specific rule allegations facing Clemson in Jan. 5. The NCAA also said, "We're confident that a decision has been made to leave the Tigers, and we're sure that the coaches and the staff have been consulted in the NCAA's decision."

It might be early in the season but the Iowa men's gymnastics team will already be facing some strong competition, including all the Big Ten teams, at the Windy City Invitational in Chicago.

"We're not putting a lot of pressure on the guys for this meet," assistant coach Nick Brown said. "It's still early in the season. This should be a good test to get the guys ready for the Big Ten." The meet is not all Iowa's gymnasts will have to compete in. The team is also competing in three other meets. The Hawkeye squad, who is considered one of Holland's top-ranked players.

Women kick off indoor season at Purdue

Pat Armstrong

The Daily Iowan

With cross country season long gone, the next team to be new prepared to get in the indoor season... Buckeyes... Invitational in West Lafayette, Ind...

"It seems like days and days have gone by since we have been at practice," said coach Paul Horsman. "We are excited about this meet. We are looking forward to the strong team we are. This meet should be good."

The Buckeyes will face Big Ten rivals Purdue and Michigan State to give them somewhat of a preview of the conference teams. Although this is supposed to be a low-level meet, the teams might be more than they expect.

"This is going to give us a chance to see what the girls can do," said Horsman. "The purpose of the meet is to see some competition, and show the girls that there is competition out there of that kind of competition."

"My goal is to try to out-run ourselves. To see how fast we can run. This competition will give the athletes a chance to push themselves."

The meet will be the last chance for the girls to see how they can run before the conference season begins. It will also give them a chance to try different strategies and see how they perform. The meet will be held in the morning and the results will be announced later in the day.

LSU coach hyped game to benefit the homeless

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dale Brown is trying to out-hype the Super Bowl. And with good reason.

The LSU basketball coach, who never met a superlative he didn't like, is working overtime to sell out Louisiana's Superdome for Saturday's meeting between his 13th-ranked Tigers and Notre Dame.

Brown wants fans to come to the game to benefit the homeless. This is going to be one of the greatest events in the history of college basketball," Brown said.

Called "Superdome III: Hope to Help," the game is expected to break the room-within-a-room attendance record of 29,939 set last year when LSU upset Georgia 62-50 at the Superdome. Brown also hopes to break the overall record crowd of 64,959 set in 1987 when LSU hosted the 1987 NCAA championship game between Indiana and Syracuse, also at the Superdome.

Parsons' performance: 'dynamism, fireworks'

The David Parsons Company

If you only attend one midsummer weekend event, the David Parsons Dance Company's performance is a must-see. Parsons' combination of dance and choreography is a sight to behold, with each piece of an envelope rubbing against the other in a quirky way. My choreography comes to life in a way that is both abstract and using pedestals. The company - the Parson's performance: Iowan - is a hit with audiences of all ages, with exciting and connection with the audience.

has studied and performed in New York and variously lives in Boston where he is active in opera, theater and various new music series. In his work “The Old Theatre,” a Lyric Opera, the Seattle Pro
Music and the Bellevue Repertory Theatre. Eckert credits himself for bringing the idea creative at spheres to the work on stage model, and the novel he has been working on is now appearing in Paul Dvorak’s “Power Failure” at Hander Auditorium.

The event presented in “Nacht
