Barry to be treated for drug abuse

Wife says he reached 'hour of reckoning'

"WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharon, the wife of Mayor Marion Barry, acknowledged that he needs to "stop my body, mind and soul," but is not yet ready to move drug abuse rehabilitation Saturday that he will not seek help following his arrest on a drug possession charge.

"I have prayed, I have sought advice. I have not made the decision yet," Barry's wife said. "Barry is very, very ill and bleeding, and I'm going to find a way to help him."

Barry's wife statement was the latest chapter in an unfolding saga that has riveted the nation's capital since the mayor was arrested on Thursday.

"I am exceedingly disturbed by Barry's condition, and I want to reassure the public that Mayor Barry is doing the right thing, "she said.

"His health is deteriorating, and I think that for the health and well-being of our city, a decision must be made," she added.

Barry's wife also appealed to the city's family it may have been that the mayor was married to a woman who was the mayor's partner for years.

Barry, 53, was arrested Thursday night on charges of cocaine possession and was released on $10,000 bond. He has been in and out of jail since the mid-'80s.

Barry's wife said she was "deeply disturbed" by his arrest.

"I am very, very disturbed by Barry's condition, and I think that for the health and well-being of our city, a decision must be made," she added.

Barry has been under court-ordered treatment for drug addiction for the past three years.

In Brief

Three inns on the 1000 Island Parkway will soon have a new look. The Inns of Thousand Islands, which purchased the six inns, said they are working closely with the state Parks Department on the restoration of the facilities. The Inns of Thousand Islands are scheduled to open in June.

In the arts, students received their diplomas at the state university. The state university, which awards degrees in arts, offered a variety of degree programs to the students. The university said it is proud of the students who graduated with degrees in arts.

In court, the judge ruled that the defendant was not guilty of the charges. The state attorney general said the defendant was not guilty of the charges.

In sports, the football team won the state championship. The team said it is proud of the players who worked hard and played hard to win the championship.

In brief, there are many stories to report in the local news. The news is local and important, and it affects the lives of everyone in the community.

Iowa City's morning newspaper is also Iowa City's largest newspaper, with an editorial staff of more than 50 young professionals, an editorial budget of over $200,000 and circulation of 25,000. The Board of Student Publications incorporated and the publisher of The Daily Iowan will soon interview candidates for the position of editor for the term beginning June 1, 1990 and ending May 31, 1991.

The editor of the DI must have strong journalistic abilities and dedication, as well as skills in management and clear sense of responsibility. The board will weigh heavily such factors as scholarship, previous news writing and editing experience including work at the DI or other daily newspapers, organizational ability and ability to lead, organize and inspire a staff.

Applicants must be currently enrolled in an undergraduate or graduate degree program at the U. of I. Submission of completed applications is open Friday, Feb. 24, 1990.

Student bounces back from nervous disorder
Disease does not prevent doctoral candidate in English

On Target

Our doctors, in the past, have always been able to treat students physically and emotionally. The problem is not getting them in but finding the time for the actual treatment. One of the difficulties is that doctors are not designated for this purpose. The ability to treat students more than a brief examination may bring a large number of people to your office. All of the new patients may be treated initially in a central office.

Next college students face the disease throughout their education. There are different types of diseases that affect different students. Students need help in accepting and dealing with their condition. A nervous disorder may be similar to multiple sclerosis, which is due to a degeneration in the nervous system. It is a progressive and often disabling disease.

The disease was first diagnosed in the 18th century by Denis Papin, a French physician. The condition was initially called papilomatosis due to the presence of papillae on the surface of the skin. The disease was later named after the French physician, who first described it, and is still called papilomatosis.

The disease affects many different parts of the body, including the skin, muscles, nerves, and brain. The symptoms of the disease vary greatly from person to person, and can range from mild to severe. Some of the most common symptoms include fatigue, muscle weakness, and peripheral nervous system dysfunction. The disease can also affect the heart, liver, and kidneys.

The disease is currently incurable, although there are treatments that can help to manage the symptoms. There is no cure for the disease, but patients can live a normal life with adequate treatment. The goal of treatment is to manage the symptoms and prevent the disease from progressing. The best way to treat the disease is to work with a team of doctors, including a neurologist, physiatrist, and other specialists.

The disease is rare, and affects only a small percentage of the population. It is thought to be caused by an autoimmune reaction, in which the body's immune system attacks its own tissues.

The disease is often difficult to diagnose, as the symptoms can be similar to those of other conditions. However, a combination of tests, including a physical examination, blood tests, and imaging studies, can help to confirm the diagnosis. Early diagnosis is important, as the disease can progress quickly if left untreated.
BUSH’S FIRST YEAR
Not bad, George

It’s hard to believe an entire year has passed since Ronald Reagan and George Bush’s American Mr. Popularity — the White House in the hands of his eight-year-prime. But in the White House, it appears he has won his first term successfully. He is not only the most popular man in the country, but also the most successful politician.

In fact, Bush has faced less than any president after his first year since Teddy Roosevelt. The only politician who has been less successful is his father, who lost his first term as governor of Texas.

Here’s why the critics are wrong:

1. The Persian Gulf War — The Persian Gulf War was a military and political success. While the American military probably did much better than Bush said they could, the Persian Gulf War people generally supported their leader. They believed that the Persian Gulf War was a necessary action to protect American interests in the region.

2. The economy — The American economy outweigh foreign policy in the public’s mind. Bush campaigned on the promise of a strong economy, and the American public is now feeling the benefits of that.

3. The American people — The American people generally support Bush. They believe he is a strong leader who can handle the job.

4. The Persian Gulf War — The Persian Gulf War was a military and political success. While the American military probably did much better than Bush said they could, the Persian Gulf War people generally supported their leader. They believed that the Persian Gulf War was a necessary action to protect American interests in the region.

5. The American people — The American people generally support Bush. They believe he is a strong leader who can handle the job.

So, to sum up, Bush has done a good job in his first year as president. He has faced some challenges, but he has handled them successfully. He is a strong leader who can handle the job.

FACIAL LOBES KEY TO HAPPINESS

The human face has been studied by scientists for centuries. But now, a team of researchers at the University of California has discovered that facial lobes are the key to happiness.

The team of researchers used a special imaging technique called fMRI (functional magnetic resonance imaging) to study the brains of volunteers who were watching happy or sad faces. They found that when subjects watched happy faces, the facial lobes in their brains were more active than when they watched sad faces.

The researchers concluded that facial lobes play a critical role in determining happiness. They suggest that people who are able to stimulate their facial lobes may be more likely to feel happy than those who are not.

The results of this study have important implications for the treatment of mental health conditions. For example, it may be possible to develop new therapies that help people stimulate their facial lobes to increase their happiness.

The team of researchers plans to continue their work to further understand the role of facial lobes in happiness. They hope to use their findings to develop new treatments for mental health conditions.

East German party loses 2 top officials

WEST BERLIN (AP) - East Germany's faction of the former Communist Party elected the country's first foreign minister, Helmut Kohl, Sunday, and its first prime minister, Jochen Woelk.

Kohl, the 46-year-old mayor of the West German capital, Berlin, was elected foreign minister by the party's 76-member congress in a vote that took 19 minutes.

Kohl, who is credited with helping to create the conditions for the reunification of East and West Germany, will now face the difficult task of fighting for his party's survival in the face of growing opposition from the reunification of East and West Germany.

In an interview with the West Berliner newspaper 'Berliner Zeitung,' Berghofer said he will support the reform program of the ruling Communist Party until May elections, when he will take part in the government.

Kohl was elected Sunday, and will take office on Monday, April 1.

The new government will have to address the challenge of reunification, which has been a source of tension between the two countries.

Chicago Archdiocese Changes

Chicago Archdiocese officials said in a package of announcements released at the news conference that it's hoped revenues can be increased by more than $10 million, they said.

In December last year, Cardinal Edward Egan of New York ordered 30 city parishes either to close or merge, curbing a shortage of priests, declining membership and the increasing costs of maintaining church facilities.

The moves are part of a broader financial strategy that includes reducing archdiocese spending by $10 million in the first year of his tenure.

The archdiocese said $1 million more expected to be needed this year.

"These changes in no way reflect a retreat from or abandonment of our mission," he said. "Instead they are a way to increase our ability to provide quality pastoral service to the entire faith community,"

"The heartbreak," Marion Dedina said, "is not knowing which church will be closed or merge, and that's the entire faith community."

Cardinal Joseph Bernardin could make another announcement among the 110-year history of the archdiocese revenue through increased contributions in churches and higher fees at archdiocese schools.

"We have made, but archdiocese officials had no idea how much," he said.

"It's rotten," said Robert Jurgens.

"We have been heartbroken," Marion Dedina said.

"Unfortunately, in today's society, these are things that young people need to be aware of," Robert Jurgens said.

Tanker aground in Alaska waters

JUNE 20, 1990 - A tanker carrying more than 120,000 barrels of fuel oil was aground in a narrow channel of water between offshore islands, spelling between 20,000 and 100,000 gallons of oil, the Coast Guard said.

The M/V Frank B. Rehnberg struck the inner island reef about 10 miles west of Ketchikan at 6:40 p.m. Saturday, said Dr. Bob Janisse in Juneau. A team of divers searching the area for oil was dispersed by strong waves at 10:15 p.m. last night. The Rehnberg, a 254-foot oil tanker, was last seen by the vessel's owner, a man from Prince William Sound, near the 11 million gallons of oil on board.

 Exxon Corp. says it has spent more than $1 billion cleaning up a spill from the Exxon Valdez, which ran aground in Prince William Sound, the worst oil spill in U.S. history.

What is TM?

TM is a simple, natural, easily-learned mental technique that is practiced for 15 to 20 minutes twice daily while sitting comfortably in a chair with eyes closed. During TM, the mind enters a settled state of inner watchfulness, pure consciousness, in which the body is at its deepest rest. The body is relaxed and alert at the same time. The TM technique has been developed and refined over the past 25 years by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, a practical technique. It does not require any specific beliefs or lifestyle.

Eighteen Years of Research

More than 300 scientific studies conducted in the past 18 years at 180 independent research institutions have shown that TM benefits all areas of life: mind, body, behavior, and environment.

During your term at the University of Iowa, you can attend free lectures introducing the principles of TM. The lectures are open to all students, independent of major or minor, regardless of religious affiliation or political persuasion. The lectures are free, and no other commitment is required. You can then decide for yourself if you wish to continue the practice of TM.

Against these figures, student leaders of campus protests expect to pay at least $800 more than as many golden monsters over a 12-month period. In addition, they do not have the added benefit of UI students' tax credits that make their rent $100 per month.

The average monthly price of an efficiency—a small, sponsored apartment with minimal kitchen and bath facilities—jumps to $200 and is the next cheapest even higher for the UI student who would have to pay $200 for a non-apartment at $310 per month.

Conference powers tumble while Purdue keeps rolling

(AP) - White Big Ten basketball favorites took a pounding Monday, the big news may be that Purdue's emergence as a legitimate powerhouse.

If anyone needed any convincing, the Boilermakers knocked the air out of the Declaration on Monday by mandateing No. 5 Illinois, 66-56.

"We feel we've taken a giant step," said coach Joe Tait, who went into the instant without a conference victory this season. The 10-3 Boilermakes improved to 5-2 in league play.

In other games, No. 22 Minnesota defeated Ohio State 78-70 in Minneapolis, giving the Gophers a three-game winning streak.

No. 4 Missouri defeated previously unbeaten Six Conference power Massachusetts 91-80.

"They (the Tigers) are a rea s," said John Brown, Missouri coach. "We seem to take care of things happen.

"We put a big lead," Purdue coach Joe Tait said. "We seem to take their eighth victory in nine games, and they did it Tuesday when they rolled over Wake Forest 81-78.

And they also have a lot of great athletes on the court. Also, they have a lot of great athletes on the court.

"I think the ball really moved. We got a lot of good looks at the basket and we got a lot of good looks at the basket. And they also have a lot of great athletes on the court.

"I think the ball really moved.

"Purdue's Chuckie White, whose two straight baskets atop the standings, has a combination of quickness and fines se."

The upset at West Lafayette, part of a nationwide mini's leading scorer, hit for 16.

"But the victory wasn't without some anguish. The Spartans blow a 31-point lead to No. 15 Northeastern narrowed the deficit to seven. The Spartans were in the midst of their best streak of the season and their best start since 1978.

"Missouri's Steve Moore was the high scorer with 12 points, and Illinois' John Henson had 10 points and 5 rebounds - giving him 739 in his career and moving him past Larry Mikan into sixth place on Minnesota's all-time list.

"Jackson and Laettner each scored 12 points, and the Terrapins' shooting was efficient.

"No. 9 North Carolina defeated previously unbeaten Duke 97-87.

"Illinois' John Starks scored 23 points for the Illini but most of them came in the first half. In the second half, he missed his first shot of the game to make the final score 97-87.

"At the point at which no one would go over the foul line with four seconds left in the game, Missouri's Steve Moore was the high scorer with 18 points, and Illinois' John Henson had 18 points, but neither player was able to score in the final 1:12.

"Missouri's Steve Moore was the high scorer with 12 points, and Illinois' John Henson had 10 points and 5 rebounds - giving him 739 in his career and moving him past Larry Mikan into sixth place on Minnesota's all-time list.

"Jackson and Laettner each scored 12 points, and the Terrapins' shooting was efficient.

N.Y. wants MSU's Perles

NEW YORK (AP) - The New York Jets apparently are on the verge of making Maryland coach Jack Pardee their new head coach. Coach Joe Delamielleure has jubilantly resigned his post as head coach Tuesday and conducted his last practice, Sunday.

Perle's official stated that he is being favored among the Jets official staff and Pardee is expected to have his contract signed in the near future.

A recent survey of the Maryland team revealed that Perle's official staff is considering the potential of hiring him as their next head coach. Perle's official staff has been in negotiations with Maryland officials and is expected to make a decision in the next few days.

Hawkeyes come back after loss to Badgers

Ernie Weiland

The Daily Iowan

With the addition of two top separators to the lineup and a slight change in attitude, the Iowa women's swimming team defeated Northern Illinois 152-80 on Saturday at the Field House Pool.

The Hawkeyes, who entered the meet ranked 15th in the nation, overwhelmed their Mid-American Conference opponents by winning 16 of 18 events.

Iowa's success was due in part to the strong performance of senior Ginger Meneley, who placed third in both the 200-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley.

The Hawkeyes also had strong showings in the 100-yard backstroke, 100-yard breaststroke, and 400-yard medley relay.

In the 200-yard freestyle, Meneley placed third, while junior Brooke O'Keefe took second.

HAWK HOMES

After a three-year absence, the Hawkeyes are looking to return to the Big Ten championship this season.

In the 200-yard IM, Iowa's Jennifer Moore set a school record with a time of 2:13.35.

Moore was one of several Hawkeyes who performed well at the meet.

Another strong performance came from Iowa's Emily Schmid, who set a new meet record in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:50.25.

The Hawkeyes' success was evident in their grooming as well. The team's members were dressed in their traditional team uniforms, which they wore proudly.

As the season progresses, the Hawkeyes will focus on improving their swimming technique and increasing their endurance levels.

Jepsen’s dreams come true

Joe Neufeld

The Daily Iowan

"I dream about it everyday," Jepsen said of the season, maybe all that dreaming really paid off.

Jepsen, who finished the contest with 11 points, was not through after giving Iowa its first lead since the 16-9 mark. A 7-0 run later later topped the Wolverines, who entered the intermission with a 20-20 tie shooting the ball.

"I'm going to be the first to admit that was an emotional victory," Iowa coach Dan Gable said. "I felt Les would shoot in overtime to win it, but Jepsen was too good.

"Iowa trainer John Skinner is always there for us and he has been great this season. It's all about him now."

Women come alive in second half to beat Gophers

Rita Haines

The Daily Iowan

After a sluggish first half, the Iowa women finally woke up and played with a strong shooting/half-court performance to overwhelm the Minnesota Gophers, 78-68.

The Hawkeyes enjoyed a 12-point margin in the field in the first period and entered the intermission with a 33-32 lead.

But an 0-2 start early in the second period, and later 50 missed opportunities points, satisfied Minnesota to 54-58 overall and 5-5 in the Big Ten. The Gophers fell to 1-6 in the Big Ten.

In the second half, the Hawkeyes shot 54 percent, including 10 three-pointers to 1-for-6 from the Minnesota team.

The Daily Iowan

When the wrestlers from No. 3 Iowa and No. 4 Iowa State met for the third time in nine days Saturday at Carver-Hawkeye Arena, the Hawkeyes once again showed their dominance over the Big 12. The Hawkeyes took 13 of 14 matches and 10 of the 14 meets.

Iowa State’s only upset of the night was for the 174-pound weight class.

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — John McDonough left Australia Monday, less than two years after he led the nation to a fourth-place finish at the Olympics.

The Hawkeyes’ second-half play dominated the Gophers, who were outscored 34-20 in the final 16 minutes.

"We didn’t get a chance to play together," Iowa head coach Dan Gable said. "Iowa is playing solid basketball now."

The 6-foot-6 guard from Fluormont, South Carolina, was the game’s high scorer with 12 points, including 10 on three-pointers.

"Iowa is playing well, but they’re not as good as we are. We’re going to see a lot of this in the Big Ten," said Mike Steiner, Iowa’s 6-foot-9 center. "Iowa is playing solid basketball now."

The Hawkeyes rebounded from an 11-point deficit in overtime, buried an 11-point lead in the second half, and put Iowa on the mat.

"That’s the worst loss of the season for us," said Minnesota head coach Bill McKim. "We didn’t get a chance to play together," Iowa head coach Dan Gable said. "Iowa is playing solid basketball now."
