SSUSCIONAL (India)—Moslems, pro-democracy opponents, and student groups have increased their protests. Last week, they killed at least 10 persons and wounded more than 250 others. Moslems have been protesting a police raid on a mosque in Bangalore, India. The government has arrested more than 1,000 people and opened five new schools.

Moslem protesters have occupied a police station in Bangalore. The government has arrested more than 1,000 people and opened five new schools.

Most of those arrested were under 18 years old.

The leadership, which replaced Communist Party chief, warned that his group would withdraw if the government did not accept the new plan. The proposal was submitted by the CRSG, a committee appointed by the government.

Clinic begins fund for underprivileged

Anne Marie Williams

The Daily Iowan

The Iowa Goldmine Clinic announced Monday the formation of a fund to help underprivileged patients pay for abortion services. "We've had a number of requests from people who aren't able to secure funds," said Suzanne Redmond, director of the clinic on the neighborhood campus.

Redmond said the newly formed fund is called the...

and the VCN have not fully entered into the established audiences. At a time when networks face the necessity of making the programs more attractive to advertisers, the networks are reverting to a strategy of copying the VCN. There is, however, another piece of the puzzle. In the past, the networks have been afraid of the argument that they are not a medium for the Left, and that is the opposite of the argument of the Right. There is, however, another argument that can be made. As the old saying goes, “They, the sharks, are swimming out in the ocean, but I am not afraid of the sharks.”

Joan Gavilan and “The Right: We’ll be back.”

It is important to note that the networks are not just putting out programs that are more attractive to advertisers. They are also trying to change the nature of the audience. They are trying to make the audience more diverse. They are trying to make the audience more liberal. They are trying to make the audience more receptive to the ideas of the Left.

E. Germany

cast year during a peaceful popular revolt, its government has been trying to maintain order by means of political reforms. Chancellor Kohl's government came into power last year after the resignation of Chancellor Helmut Kohl, who had been in office since 1982.

Until Monday, reform-minded groups such as the Green Party, which has long been calling for a more democratic East Germany, had no representation in the new government. But the country's first Reformers of Freedom Party was allowed to join the Cabinet as a result of the elections.

The Reformers of Freedom Party's inclusion in the government is seen as a victory for those who want to bring about political and economic change in the country. The party's inclusion is expected to help ease tensions between East and West Germany, which have been high in recent years.

Student

Student groups have delayed economic reforms and raised concerns about job tenure for workers. The opposition

Krenz apologized for his role in leading East Germany from 1989 to 1990, saying, "We did not consider the needs of a democratic change." The German Democratic Republic was dissolved on October 3, 1990, and reunification took place on October 3, 1990.

TRANSCENDENT MEDITATION

Transcendental Meditation is a simple, natural, easily-learned mental technique that is practiced for 15 to 20 minutes twice daily. It is the first and only technique that produces a deep, restful state of consciousness called the "waking meditative state." By practicing Transcendental Meditation, one can achieve a state of peace and inner freedom that is not simply a matter of superficial relaxation.

One Upon A Time...

And so it came to pass that a great unknown fell upon the Land. For the Great Lords who sit in Washington had caused a steed to be laid upon the People, to cause them their Fain and Suffering. Throughout the land, there was much wailing and gnashing of teeth. For all believed that all was lost, even unto their Mercedes and Cadillacs."

"Times are bad," cried the Media. "You are all about to go down the tube!" And, the people so hearing did believe. And they donned sad-sack and sullen, and spoke with lowered voices and touched whining of hands. But there was amongst them one named Mark the Mist at M.C. Ginsberg Jewlers, who knew well of help, of help in need, of help in shining hour, that he was able to be in love, in hear, near understood his life were so, they were bad, and bad.

And Mark looked for himself a small shield and emblemmed upon it the words "Business is Good!" And he fashioned for himself a small shield and emblemmed upon it the words "Business is Good!" And he fashioned for himself a small shield and emblemmed upon it the words "Business is Good!"

And one who walked midst the crowd, saying, "Wherefore do ye wear such a sign upon your shield saying "Business is Good?" But the Mark of M. C. Ginsberg replied, saying, "I wear this sign because Business is Good!"

Protestors March to Commemorate Roe '90

The Associated Press

Demonstrators marched with homemade signs and posters around the country to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion. At least 9,000 people marched against abortion at the Georgia Capitol in Atlanta, while Washington's annual March for Life also attracted a similar size in the White House complex. The ruling has been kept alive by a series of court decisions that have upheld new restrictions on abortion.

Norma McCorvey, the woman who used the pseudonym "Jane Roe" in the landmark 1973 court ruling, has come back with a new book, "The Razing of Roe: A 50-Year Journey and the New Revolution That Will Convert the Nation." She says the Roe v. Wade decision was a "giant leap forward" for women's rights.

The Roe v. Wade anniversary has drawn renewed interest in the abortion debate, with new efforts to overturn Roe v. Wade. It has also led to a flurry of legislative proposals in both houses of Congress in an attempt to reverse the Supreme Court's decision.

Several issues that have been debated by the court in recent years include the role of the state in regulating abortion, the use of financial incentives to deter women from seeking abortions, and the rights of women to choose to have an abortion.

The Roe v. Wade decision was the result of a long-fought battle between pro-life and pro-choice advocates, with both sides having made significant political and legal arguments in support of their positions. The decision has been widely criticized by pro-life groups, who argue that it violates the right to life, while pro-choice supporters argue that it protects women's rights to privacy and reproductive autonomy.

The Roe v. Wade anniversary has also been marked by renewed efforts by abortion rights activists to expand access to abortion services and to challenge restrictions on abortion.

NYSE experiences largest drop of '90

NYSE (AP) -- Stock prices tumbled Monday in their longest drop since mid-1990, and those in New York's biggest trading center fell 187 points, or 7.47 percent.

Declining issues swamped advances by about 5 to 1 in nationwide trading of New York Stock Exchange-listed stocks, with 267 up, 1,336 down and 128 unchanged.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 177.40 to 4,066.70, for its largest one-day point loss since it took a 190-point drop last Oct. 13.

In 14 sessions since the start of the new year by hitting a low, it has dropped 217.70 points, or 5.27 percent, from its high of 4,284.40 on Jan. 31.

Many observers believe the Federal Reserve is signaling more of the same with a strong push toward monetary tightening.

Crowe will replace Hatfield at Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Jack Crowe, 69, was appointed Monday as head coach at Arkansas, the university announced.

"I always knew I would be a head coach," said Crowe. "I was always interested in being a head coach." He was named an assistant for Kevin Stallings as athletic director.

Crowe is entering his 69th season as an assistant for Stallings as athletic director for former San Antonio Spurs president and general manager. He spent 50 years at the University of Arkansas during his career.

"We are very excited to have someone with his credentials," Stallings said. "He has been a part of the program for the last 20 years." He spent 10 years as the head coach for Arkansas in 1988, both blowout losses.

Crowe's last job was as a scout for the Houston Rockets in 1997 and was associated with the University of Arkansas basketball program.

"I always knew I would be a head coach," Crowe said. "I was always interested in being a head coach." He was named an assistant for Stallings as athletic director.

Announcers run into Super antics at Bowl

ANNOUNCERS of one of the most consistent and prestered games in the land, the Super Bowl, are men who never seem to get too excited. They have been with the TV audience for years and are used to the excitement of the game. But this year, they seem to be a bit more animated than usual.

A Super Bowl is never without its share of drama. TheCantidad, the San Francisco 49ers, and the New England Patriots were ready for the game. The 49ers were favored to win, but the Patriots were determined to prove that they were a strong team.

At the end of the first quarter, the Patriots were leading 10-6. The announcers were pretty evenly divided. Some were predicting a blowout, while others were predicting a tight game. The game was in the balance, and everyone was on edge.

In the second quarter, the Patriots extended their lead to 17-6. The announcers were starting to get a little more animated. They were predicting a big win for the Patriots, and some were甚至 predicting a shutout.

In the third quarter, the 49ers made a comeback, bringing the score to 17-13. The announcers were really excited now. They were predicting a thriller, and some were even predicting a potential upset.

In the fourth quarter, the 49ers tied the game at 17-17. The announcers were really giddy now. They were predicting a highly charged atmosphere, and some were even predicting a potential overtime.

The 49ers finally won the game, 23-17, but the announcers were still pretty excited. They were predicting a highly charged atmosphere, and some were even predicting a potential overtime.

In conclusion, the announcers run into Super antics at Bowl. They are men who never seem to get too excited. They have been with the TV audience for years and are used to the excitement of the game.
