A night with Spike Lee

Director speaks to full house

Spike Lee, director of the film "Do The Right Thing," moves to the Max George of the University of Iowa Tuesday evening to an estimated crowd of 800.

"It really makes you think about what violence means," said UI senior Melissa Bogaard said. "People need to learn to go along with things they don't like. It really teaches you real values, not virtual values."

UI sophomore Dyana Kline said, "Violence is an attention getter."

"On the Right Thing" is about a group of kids who would go to make a change but they have nothing. The racist tension begins with a point at a public gathering where there are a lot of black people in the audience. The movie becomes torture, the language becomes torture. The movie's end were the most memorable. Students andUI students were uncertain about Lee's message.

UI journalist Lee had several several audience members understand the movie two ways. Some loved it, some hated it.

"The Right Thing" was a movie that people were so important to learn the message of it. "We're not saying, 'Hey, I'll burn a house down and we're going to get away with it.'"

"Spike Lee is a great guy," said UI junior Jean Bubash said. "He's not afraid to go out and he's not afraid to be himself."

Newly released Iowa well contamination survey

The results of the survey are that nearly half of the homes surveyed had water with unacceptable levels of pesticides.

The study, which was conducted by the Iowa Department of Natural Resources, surveyed 1,000 rural homes throughout Iowa to determine the quality of well water.

The survey found that 46 percent of the homes had water with unacceptable levels of pesticides, which can cause health problems such as cancer and birth defects.

The study also found that 10 percent of the homes had water with unacceptable levels of nitrates, which can cause gastrointestinal problems.

The survey recommended that residents of these homes should have their water tested for these contaminants and take steps to reduce their exposure to them.

The study also recommended that the state of Iowa should have a program to provide financial assistance to residents who need to have their water tested for these contaminants.

The study was conducted by the Iowa Department of Natural Resources in cooperation with the University of Iowa, the Iowa State University, and the Iowa Water Research Institute.

After more than a reach of testing, the University of IOWA is monitoring that their water is safe to consume.

At the beginning of January, over 200 people who had been detected

Test results show that the chemicals did not exceed the groundwater surrounding the landfill.

"This water is in good shape for almost all of the water that was around there," said UI College of Law faculty members who conducted the test.

There was no indication of any presence of any health adverse effects on the university's community.

Podgers attributes the lack of contamination to distance.

"When you have low levels on the side, the chance of them running off is and being detectable is almost imposs-ible," Podgers explained.

Board approves 8 new classrooms

The Daily Iowan

The Iowa City School Board approved a $550,000 plan to add eight classrooms to two Iowa City elementary schools at their Tuesday meeting. The plan, proposed by the Faculty-Union Committee, will add six classrooms to Pinebrier School, 235 32nd St., and two classrooms to Shimek Elementary School, 1460 Pennsylvania Ave.

Construction is expected to be completed between October 1976 and January 1977.

Board members confirmed the kidnappings and releases.

Bush expected to strengthen narcotics penalties at summit

WASHINGTON—President George Bush may use the four-nation drug summit to seek a tough new approach toward Latin America—and use U.S. military forces to combat a "real enemy," Gen. Colin L. Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"We are not going to get the job done by the president," Mr. Powell said in an interview shortly after retiring from the Army Reserve. "We are not going to get the job done by the president unless the president is prepared to use all the resources at his disposal to get the job done."

The White House said Mr. Bush planned probably would not win approval "in the next several days," the official said Tuesday. But Mr. Powell said it was "likely" that the president would sign a declaration by the four nations.

Mr. Powell said the meeting was "likely" to produce a joint declaration that Mr. Bush was expected to act Tuesday on an emergency declaration request by seven, acre, the capital of Medellin, Colombia, to protest the visit of Mr. Bush, expected to arrive in Colombia late Tuesday.

Mr. Powell said the president was prepared to act without the approval of the Congress, if necessary. "The president is prepared to act," Mr. Powell said. "There is a need to protect the American public."

Mr. Powell said the president was prepared to ask Congress for additional funds for the effort to combat drug trafficking in Colombia, and that the administration was prepared to consider a"blockade" of Colombia's borders.

Fur flies at the polls in Aspen
Proposal to ban furrier industry checkbook

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Residents of this ski town have stayed on the fence on a proposedjudgment Tuesday in on whether the nation'sfirst furrier-free zone may be established. But many people said they would prefer to live in a town that would ban furriers.

Like ski lifts, there was a buzz at the polls as mail-in ballots arrived in the mail. Some people said they were not sure if they wanted furriers banned, while others said they were against it.

But despite the buzz, many people said they would vote against the proposed ban. The furrier industry is a large part of the economy in Aspen, and many people said they would miss the furriers if they were banned.

Coup in Aspen

The residents of Aspen, Colorado, voted Tuesday in a referendum on whether to allow the skiing of certain wild animals. The measure, which was supported by the animal rights groups, was defeated by a narrow margin.

The vote was held against fur because there has been a growing feeling that the animals are not getting enough to eat. The residents voted to keep the animals alive and well-fed.

VINCENT puts proposal on table in baseball talks

NEW YORK (AP) - Commissioner Fay Vincent gave the union a new management proposal Tuesday at the stalled baseball labor talks, and the union will consider it Wednesday - one day before spring training.

In a meeting with the Union's labor relations chief, Vincent described his proposal as "substantially different" from previous ones.

"There's been a lot of waiting," Vincent said. "We have to make a decision on the future of baseball."

Basketball rules intramurals

Key May

Although the NCAA Long-Bureau Snare is in control of collegiate basketball, a new national rule change is being implemented by the Northwest Conference, which will affect the sport at the collegiate level.

The new rule, known as the "Turnover Minus", eliminates the turnover differential for men's basketball games.

The rule states that the team with the lower turnover total will receive a bonus of one point for each turnover they have against their opposition.

In order to be eligible for the bonus, a team must have a turnover total that is at least six points lower than their opponent.

The rule is designed to encourage teams to play more controlled, possession-oriented basketball and to reduce the number of turnovers.

The change was implemented in response to concerns about the role of turnovers in determining the outcome of games.

In addition, the rule will be enforced in all conference games, as well as in the NCAA tournament.

Coaches: Big Ten's wide open

CHICAGO (AP) - A couple of weeks ago, Michigan State was in Big Ten trouble. Now, the Spartans are in a conference championship hunt.

"We've got a lot of things to work on," said Michigan State coach Tom Izzo. "But we're playing better now than we were a month ago."

The Spartans (16-4, 7-3) have won four of their last five games, including victories over Minnesota and Northwestern.

"We're in a good position," said Izzo. "We've got some work to do, but we're in a good position."

Michigan State's success has come on both ends of the court.

"We're playing better defensively," said Izzo. "And we're scoring more points."

The Spartans are currently second in the Big Ten in scoring, averaging 73.6 points per game.

Michigan State will face Nebraska (14-6, 5-5) on Saturday.

Guitarist Ronnie Mack plays Waubee

The Daily Iowan

Iowa City, Iowa — Thursday, April 13, 1989 — Page 8

Ronnie Mack, a guitarist who has been making records and touring for more than 20 years, will perform at the Waubee Cafe on Thursday night. Mack's reputation was solidified in 1967 with the release of his album "The Wham of That Memphis Man," which contained original critical-grade music. Mack has been making records for most of the 1980s. His style influences, a generation for generation, including Eric Clapton and Dianne Reeves, and he has been called "The Godfather of the Memphis Man" by his fans.

The production will use a variety of translations by American critic John Gorka, whose most famous is "Longo's Rock." Mack recently was featured in the New York Activating Competition. The program's goal is to take an informal, organic, and universal look at what these musicians talk about, how they rehearse, how they interact with one another. The series, hosted by Charles Cummings on Monday, will run from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at UI Theatre.

Bowie found innocent of assault

Daily Iowan

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge has dismissed a sexual assault case against rock star David Bowie filed by a woman who claimed he sexually assaulted her.

U.S. District Judge John Conner ruled Monday that he didn't believe the case and that he would dismiss the lawsuit. Bowie conceded he had spent the night with the woman but denied sexual contact. The judge said he would not issue a ruling on the issue.

Bowie is scheduled to stand trial on Nov. 18, 1988, accused of assualt with a blue guitar and hear him and him alone I

The music everything happened in my five years ago. A good friend had me to a concert in New York called "The Roches," which I remember being much better than my very few visits to music. Each time, the Roches' music would come back as the best music I have ever heard.

The Roches were a folk group from New York City who released their first album in 1982. Their music was characterized by harmonious vocal arrangements, cooking and tea making. Their album "Speak" was released in 1990 and was a critical and commercial success.

The Roches' music was praised for its simplicity and honesty. Their songs often featured personal stories and reflections on daily life, and their performances were known for their intimate and soulful nature.

The Roches' music has continued to influence and inspire musicians and fans alike. Their legacy is a testament to the power of music to connect people and bring joy to the world.

The Roches' music is a reminder that music has the power to change the world and make a difference, just as the Roches themselves have done with their music.

Once there was a boy named Tee and a girl named Jay. They had many things in common. And some different passions which kept things interesting between them. Jay loved to dance and Tee seemed to create the music to which she moved. Jay cared for Tee very much. Tee loved Jay when they first met...They endured trials of many kinds. Today things seem to be a little questionable. Jay tried to trust Tee...with love.

To Cory
You’re in my heart and soul.
I Love You! Cory

To My Valentine,
That night in October, I’ll never forget, your handsome good looks and charming will who knew how well I’d get along, talking in love, couldn’t be worse! Whatever the future holds for you & me, I hope friends forever, is what we’ll be.
I love you.
