Marble suspended by NBA for substance abuse

The Atlanta Hawks suspended center Greg Marble for 25 games, the longest suspension in team history, after a federal judge ordered him to enter a treatment program for drug abuse. Marble tested positive for cocaine and marihuana in April, ending his 1989-90 season. The Hawks have not announced Marble's return.

Enrollment down

State universities must hone recruiting abilities in future

Brian Dick

The Daily Iowan

If Iowa's three state universities aren't up on recruiting and other attempted recruiting since the past few years, they could face some headaches in regards to a current rider to the state Board of Regents.

The hawkeyes could lose up to 15 million dollars if need enrollment steps are not taken.

"It's too important to maintain our tradition, this fall," Fitzhugh said. "It's just being done. If we have another season of decreasing, we could have to look at increasing steps.

"The strategic plan prepared for the next four years shows the population is decreasing while, it's the elderly population is expected to grow. Estimates show the number of students graduating from Iowa high schools will drop through 1988, having a subsequent decline in college enrollment.

The total number of enrolled students at all universities is expected to drop by 3,000 over the next four years. All enrollment at the UI is expected to drop 700-750 students — down to 30,000 in the fall of 1989. The student revenue, the UI would lose almost $4 million in that five-year period.

To find out possible revenue and student losses, the universities should begin considering other forms of revenue, said Robert D. Deford, director of the Office of Business and Finance.

"At Cabela's straight away, we fed the cholesterol with their ribs, steaks, and silverware, and beginning with dessert and finishing with the salad bar, selected from their huge variety of foods," says Dean Phillip Jones, dean of students and associate vice president of Academic Affairs, and Belinda Marner, UI Office of Student Services coordinator, got a kick out of being among hungry college students.

Dean and Marner, along with a host of other faculty mem-

Baker cautious of normalizing ties with Nicaragua

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State James Baker said Thursday for normalizing U.S. relations with Nicaragua if the Sandinista government wins the election and reserved the right to determine if the election is fair.

The secretary said the government must build a free press, respect minority rights and show respect for the legal system.

He said the United States would insist on "substantial periods of good behavior," including an end to support for leftist insurgents in neighboring El Salvador and normalization with democratic political opposition — before ending economic sanctions and restoring full diplomatic relations.

The secretary praised the government of Nicaragua's chief opponent, the National Opposition Union, for supporting free elections and opposing candidates who "will automatically end" if the Sandinista triumph at the polls.

The leading opposition group — the United Opposition National, headed by Violeta Chamorro — has rejected U.S. aid in its bid to govern the country.

Baker said that the United States is "prepared to normalize a government that wins a free election." But he said conditions that must be met for the restoration of full diplomatic relations, including lifting the trade sanctions. The leading opposition group — the United Opposition National, headed by Violeta Chamorro — has rejected U.S. aid in its bid to govern the country.

Iowa City's morning newspaper is also Iowa City's largest newspaper, with an editorial staff of more than 50 professionals, an editorial budget of over $500,000, and a circulation of 20,500. The Board of Student Publications Incorporated and the publisher of The Daily Iowan will soon interview candidates for the position of editor for the term beginning June 1, 1990 and ending May 31, 1991.

The editor of the DI must have journalistic abilities and dedication, as well as skills in management and a clear sense of editorial responsibility. The board will weigh heavily such factors as scholarship, including lifting the trade sanctions. Paper wants hostages freed Nicosia, Cyprus (AP) — An Iranian newspaper close to President Hashemi Rafsanjani said Thursday all 18 Western hostages in Lebanon should be freed because "they have become a propaganda tool for Iran's enemies." Rafsanjani's Al-Ittihad newspaper was one of the first to take up the cause of freeing hostages seized at the U.S. Marine barracks in Beirut.

The report was the first public statement by an Iranian newspaper in support of freeing all the hostages whose fate has become a political issue within the Lebanese government.

Rafsanjani, an ally of Iranian President Ali Khamenei, has said he supports the Lebanese government's decision to rescue the hostages from a U.S. Marine barracks in Beirut.

The report said that the hostages are in a "state of physical and mental stress," and that it is the duty of the Lebanese government to free them.

The report also said that the hostages are being held by the Islamic Resistance Front, which is a group allied with the Lebanese government.

The report was published in the Al-Ittihad newspaper, which is considered to be close to Rafsanjani's government.

Rafsanjani's government has been under pressure to free the hostages, who have been held for more than two weeks.

The report comes as the Lebanese government has been under pressure to free the hostages, who have been held for more than two weeks.

The month of February is Black History Month in the United States, a time to remember the achievements and struggles of many great Americans. Several notable people in black American history have their beginnings at the UI. The Daily Iowan dedicates this page to them.

Sixties

Looking back 50 years, Iowa State and the world were shocked by the massive social change and upheaval that occurred during the time. The United States was in the midst of a decade-long political and social revolution. The Vietnam War was in full swing, and the civil rights movement was gaining momentum.

A new generation was marching to a different drummer, and the UI was at the forefront of the change. The university was a hotbed of political activism, and students were at the center of the action.

The UI was also a place where important cultural events took place. The university was a hub of artistic and intellectual activity, and students were exposed to a wide range of cultural influences.

The UI was a place where people came together to challenge the status quo and to fight for a better world.

The UI was a place where people came together to challenge the status quo and to fight for a better world.

Our great challenge right now, different from the 1960s, is changing people's attitudes.

President de Klerk agrees to ANC talks

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - President F.W. de Klerk on Monday accepted a proposal by the African National Congress to hold talks and to Joanne Muthele, a delegate from the \"skenit\" for the first round talks between the ANC and the government.

If the talks proceed, they will be the first since 1989, when the apartheid government stopped holding talks with the ANC. The ANC has been linked with the military since that time.

Muthele, who was present in the meeting, said that de Klerk had asked her to come to Pretoria to discuss the situation.

News services have quoted de Klerk as saying that the ANC's acceptance of the proposal is a significant step forward.

White Plains, N.Y. — Ron Berger,-presidential candidate for the Reform party, has canceled his appearance at a black political forum.

Berger, who is an independent and views himself as a liberal, led 14 percent of the vote in the state Democratic primary for governor in 1978.

The Public Agenda for Change, a nonpartisan, black-oriented group in New York City, had invited Berger to an October 7 forum at Fordham University, where the black student body is being backed out over the issue of race.

The group invited Berger to talk about black political issues, but he refused to appear, according to a spokesman.

On Monday, Berger said he was canceling his appearance because of the Fordham controversy.

A Fordham spokesman said the university would not comment on Berger's decision until it had a chance to look into the matter.

Arbitration increases salaries

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball players in arbitration had an average salary increase of $164,666, according to calculations based on published information and figures compiled by the Associated Press. The increase is 45.1 percent over last season's average salary of $422,735.

Last year, the salaries of players in arbitration rose 40 percent. Following a 40 percent rise in 1980 and an average salary increase of 36 percent in 1981, the increase in 1982 marked the fifth consecutive year of double-digit increases.

The 152 players who went to arbitration in 1982 earned a salary of $572,769. Their average salary was $3,800. The highest salary was $6,000, and the lowest was $1,200. The average salary in 1981 was $2,900.

Team effort needed with Krueckberg out

Pat Annear
The Daily Iowan

"What looked like a great finish for Jeanne Kruckeberg yesterday might be a little premature. The Hawkeye top-performer was more than likely not at the top of her game yesterday. The team is still looking for Kruckeberg to give it her absolute best.

"We will still get a good performance from her. I saw her step out, look at her face, and realize she was in pain. She twisted her Achilles tendon."

Unfortunately, the team comes together it will be without Kruckeberg.

"There will still be certain opportunities for us to be competitive. We won't be doing Things she can't do."

Pre-meet injuries hurt Iowa

"Hammond, Ill., marks the site of this weekend's 10th Big Ten indoor track championships, where the Iowa Hawkeyes look to improve on last year's 7th place standing.

"And after last weekend's Iowa Open was not optimistic for the Hawkeyes "We can still be competitive," said Pat Dunn. "But it's an Indoor track championships, where the Hawkeyes look to improve on last year's 7th place standing."

"We've performed fairly well historically in this event - when we were without at least two of the top three lanes - we were able to compete. But there was no chance to compete, it would appear to be a serious loss to the team. And the time-limiting factor came into play."

"Mayhew, a freshman out of Georgia Tech, has an above average performance for the Hawkeyes in the 200-meter, with a time of 21.80, and the 400-meter. His 400-meter clocking was the second fastest time in the NCAA meet held in Indianapolis."

"He has also been a steady contributor for the Hawkeyes, and we're hoping to turn around a few performances this year."

"If we get the possibility of a top-three finish this year, we're more than happy with that result."

"Iowa was the first team to get out of the last year's 7th place standing."

Gymnasts to compete at Illinois

Diane DeMaroo
The Daily Iowan

"Not everything is set regarding the Big Ten for the Hawkeyes. Pat Dunn will be the deciding factor for the men's team in the meet."

"We are going to use the entire team to get back on our feet. There's been some sort of injury to Tim Dunn and they thought he might come out the meet, but apparently they got him ready as possible."

"A few of the gymnasts, including sopomore Paul Batali in the air, are doing a lot of practice. Dunn will have to have the men in his corner, and we'll see how it goes."

"The men's team will be looking to get their third conference title in a row, and they have a good chance of doing that."

"Their last home meet, Illinois, was a 400-meters, and it was a good performance for the team to get back on track."

"We hope that we can be competitive again and give the Hawkeyes a good chance at the meet."

Pistons hope to keep streak alive

Pistons hope to keep streak alive

The defending NBA champions, who started slowly and actually lost to the Miami Heat, are alive before the playoffs.

During the streak the Pistons have won 14 of 21. Two victories over the Magic on Wednesday.

Thirteen far away from LA's rout of the Lakers.

It's intimidating defense that might be the biggest reason for the Pistons' success. Detroit is holding opponents to just over 97 points per game. A recent three-game stretch — two wins over the Heat and Wednesday's win over the Magic — hasn't hurt, either.

"I usually don't say this, but we know this game was over in the first quarter," center Bill Laimbeer said.

The Pistons go for No. 14 on Friday against the Atlanta Hawks, who have lost nine of their last 10.

"They actually think that helps," Greenwood said.

Iowa men's tennis team aims for wins

Keeney
The Daily Iowan

The Iowa men's tennis team will be looking to turn around the problems of the spring season, when they went 3-17 overall and 1-7 in Big Ten play.

The Hawkeyes hope to do that in 1990, but they hope to spread the season with last weekend's move to Penn State.

"That's what we're up and right now," Iowa coach Steve Horton said. "They beat our team, we went to Penn State, we beat a couple of people, and if we can get a few things to work out..."

Horton thinks the story will be repeated this weekend.

"The spring time and the weather are such that," Horton said, "I've been here, so I think we'll do better than last year.

Iowa has dominated the series and leads 13-1, but Iowa State is 3-1 against the Hawkeyes since the 1974 season and easily disposed of Iowa in a tiebreaker, 4-1.

"The Hawkeyes also defeated the Cyclones last spring but season-ending injuries to the Cyclones' duals," Horton said. "Iowa has had little trouble over the years with their in-state oppen-whether or not Paul Buckingham can play.

Buckingham didn't see any action in the beach opening meet due to back problems.

Although the team didn't play well last weekend, Horton thinks they will respond well to this weekend's challenge with his former team.

Horton is wary of Iowa State, but he doesn't think that's how he'll think of his lineup much from last weekend's meet.

"It was a mild lineup back in the fall," Horton said. "We're not the least bit discouraged by last weekend's scores, but a lot depends on..."

Drabek triples salary to $1 million in arbitration

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Doug Drabek had his arbitration case against the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday, giving players a 14-0 record against owners this year, their largest margin since the process began in 1974.

The Pirates had eight players go to hearings, the most since 1974. Billy Hatcher, Bob Lenz and easily disposed of his lineup much from last year, but the Pirates had eight players go to hearings, the most since 1974.

Lendl, Becker pull out wins

STUTTGART, West Germany (AP) - Ivan Lendl and Boris Becker both struggled on Thursday before advancing to the quarterfinals of the Stuttgart Open.

Lendl, who made the finals of the U.S. Open and Wimbledon last year, was able to win the last three games to beat hard-hitting Alexander Volkert of the Soviet Union, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Lendl received a warning for arguing with the umpire over a line call after the 55th game of the first set.

Kantorei choir holds benefit concert for Soviet Union trip

The Daily Iowan

The UI choral group Kantorei and its conductor, William Hatcher, will raise funds for their upcoming concert tour to the Soviet Union when they perform at 8 p.m. Friday, February 23, in the UI City Federal Hall.

Kantorei, the premier vocal ensemble at the UI School of Music, has been invited to join the Leningrad Philharmonic Orchestra in two performances of Mozart's "Requiem" in historic Shostakovich Hall in Leningrad on April 17. In addition, they have been invited to present a capella concerts in Moscow, Leningrad, Tallinn and Tashkent, in the Soviet Union's sister state, Estonia, and in Helsinki, Finland. The entire tour, which Kantorei is calling the "Sing Peace Tour," will last 19 days, May 19-30. The February 23 concert will help raise a portion of the costs of the tour.

The concert program preview the repertoire for the tour. Included are Stephen Foster's "Gentle Lena" and "Black in the Color" and the spiritual "Shine! Shining My Calling My Name," works by 20th-century American composers Aaron Copland and Samuel Barber, and classical works by Orlando Gibbons, Palestrina, Brahms, Rachmaninoff and Prokofiev. Kantorei will also perform "Requiem Mass," and Hatcher, who is director of choral activities at the UI School of Music, "With the incredible events in Eastern Europe and the posture of openness coming from the Soviet bloc, the possibility of sharing our music and culture through this concert tour becomes a really unique opportunity to perform with you first-class choral orchestra," and the added a capella concert locations give us even greater depth in our touring and performing experiences," Hatcher noted that the members of Kantorei had requested part of the proceeds be used to create a permanent fund for international travel so that future generations of UI students may have the same opportunity "They have already been working hard to raise half of the costs," he said.

Activities have included individual concerts engagements over the first 14 days, May 19-30. The February 23 concert will help raise a portion of the concert fees," Hatcher said.
