Appeals court ups conviction of American flag-burning defendant

By LEW LEONARD (AP) - A U.S. appeals court Monday upheld the conviction of a Davenport, Iowa, man charged with burning an American flag. The court said the nation's capital was not the site of the "demonstration," which was meant to be a protest.

The demonstration was the latest in a series of events over the past few years in which the U.S. flag has been burned in protest. The Supreme Court has repeatedly upheld the right to burn the flag as a form of free speech.

German-baiter Elly Ellsberg makes the argument that German Communists and the army-mostly non-Kommunist-terrorists in their turn after the defeat of the terrorist group in September 20, 1938, by KGB and Nazi Germany. The story of what happened in the East.

The book begins in the fall of 1932. In a village of Rostov named Nenkovak, outside the Red Army's, at the first clash with the Germans. When the Normandy forces had only a few hours, what they found promised a violent battle. The Russians had gone back, where German women were expected to bear the brunt of the war had been murdered. The Red Army had killed the women.

At a village in the People's Republic of Poland, the German Army did not want to be taken. Germany had been made of German women and children.

At the Institute of Communist Studies, the German's legitimate desire for Germany, was giving rise to the Four Year Plan. In January of 1941, all the women were German women.

Women villages were to be given home to the people, then the roads and main streets under the Red Army, to the German-included dead and wounded, homes and raped and frozen and then this time, the cold blazed out of President's crowd.

This is the kind of President's crowd.

Long before they came to power, many of the Sandinistas worked for a national and international organization called the College, which became the Sandinista Popular Army when it was established in 1962. The Sandinista leadership wanted to use the College as a base for organizing a military wing of the Somoza government, but was denied permission by the Somoza regime. Therefore, the Sandinistas decided to create their own military force, and in 1965, they established the Sandinista National Liberation Front (FSLN).

The FSLN was formed with the aim of overthrowing the Somoza government and founding a socialist government in Nicaragua. The Sandinistas believed that a socialist government would be able to address the economic and social issues facing the people of Nicaragua, and that it would be able to create a more equitable and just society.

The FSLN was a part of the World Communist Movement, and it was influenced by the ideas of Marx and Engels. The FSLN's goal was to establish a socialist state in Nicaragua, and to create a world without poverty and hunger.

In 1977, the FSLN began to fight a guerrilla war against the Somoza government, and in 1979, they overthrew the government and established a socialist government in Nicaragua. The FSLN's victory was a major victory for the World Communist Movement, and it showed that socialism was possible in a capitalist society.

The FSLN's victory was a major setback for the Somoza government, and it led to a period of political and social instability in Nicaragua. However, the FSLN was able to establish a socialist government in Nicaragua, and it was able to implement many social and economic reforms.

The FSLN's victory was a major victory for the World Communist Movement, and it showed that socialism was possible in a capitalist society. The FSLN's victory also had a significant impact on the World Communist Movement, and it helped to inspire other socialist movements around the world.

35 dead as high winds hit Europe

LONDON — Gale-force winds struck Europe on Monday, tearing down power lines and felling trees, disrupting transportation on land, sea and air, and killing at least 35 people. Winds in London knocked down a 13-story high-rise building in the Lea Valley. At least 10 people were killed in Sweden and 10 in Denmark when 600 people were killed in a storm that gusts up to 167 mph. Windy conditions in large parts of Europe were expected to continue through Tuesday. In the Netherlands, eight people were killed and 35 injured when a tree fell onto a car. Twelve deaths were reported in Britain, seven in West Germany and one in Ireland. The storm included extremely strong gales in the Baltic Sea, but fears of a major hurricane were discounted. A powerful storm system has been moving up a path that has affected St. Petersburg, Russia; Helsinki, Finland; and Iceland.

Noriega may testify before del Cid

MIAMI (AP) — A key confidant of Manuel Noriega is negotiating a plea bargain that could put him on the witness stand for former President Bar­more's perjury case, and the defense of two other defendants. The polemics over the Noriega trial are as heated as ever, but a new development this week has added a new twist to the case: Noriega himself may be called to testify.

Noriega, 65, is on trial in a Miami federal court on charges of racketeering and fraud. He has been in prison since his 1991 capture in Panama.

The defense of U.S. Rep. Bob Dole, a Kansas Republican, has been trying to get Noriega to testify in the case of Dole's son, David Dole, who is facing charges of mail fraud and wire fraud.

'RSA' a powerfully performed sellout

The first weekend University Theatre continued its celebration of Black History Month with "The Lovers" by Earnest Thompson. The work, complete with its eight characters, was a powerful performance featuring the talents of the University's finest actors.

"The Lovers" - Republic of South Africa

The story takes place in the late 1990s in the city of Johannesburg, South Africa. The play explores the emotional journey of the characters as they navigate the complexities of life and love in a country still grappling with the effects of apartheid.

"I grew up in the 1980s in South Africa," said director of University Theatre, Dr. Jennifer Burns. "It was a time of great turmoil, but also of great hope. "The Lovers" is a story of two people in a relationship who are forced to confront the realities of their society and their own pasts.

Although the story is set in the past, the themes and messages are relevant today, Burns said. "The play is a powerful reminder of the importance of understanding and compassion in times of conflict and struggle.

The cast was led by senior Susan Mitchell, playing the role of Lefrere, a white lawyer who falls in love with a black student, Jacob. "I think the play is an important work that sheds light on the complexities of race and identity in South Africa," said Mitchell.

The play also featured senior Steve Martin, playing the role of Jacob, and senior Erin Lyons, playing the role of Lefrere's estranged sister, Thenjiwe. "I was really moved by the characters and the story," said Lyons.

The production received a standing ovation from the audience, who praised the actors' performances and the play's emotional depth.

The play will be performed again on Feb. 22 and 23 at 7:30 p.m. in Williams Center. Tickets are available at the door for $10.

Boxing deaths mar start of U.S. Championships

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The deaths of two boxers while training ahead of the opening Monday of the U.S. Amateur Boxing Championships have cast a shadow over the event.

The deaths of two boxers, one of them a top contender for the gold medal, have marred the start of the U.S. Amateur Boxing Championships. The deaths came as the fighters were training in Colorado Springs, where the event is being held.

Steve Lee, 18, of Baton Rouge, La., suffered a heart attack while exercising on a treadmill a day earlier. Thomas Santos, 18, of Miami, suffered a fatal fall from a ring post as he was having his gloves removed.

The Amateur Boxing Association is investigating the deaths and has canceled the first round of the championships.

Deadly Games?

"If a game starts to feel like a public relations job when you first take it on, then it really starts to sound like too much for the money," said Bob Cousy.

"This is one of the known causes of sudden death in athletes," he added.

Cousy said the deaths were a reminder of the importance of making sure fighters are healthy before they enter the ring.

Fehr: no talks until new offers come in

The Daily Iowan

Fehr · C O M M E N T S

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball talks between Donald Fehr left town and said the players union wants to return to the bargaining table before the cliffhanger meeting today.

Fehr was in Phoenix for a meeting of the owners' executive council, which was likely to meet with players on Tuesday before returning to New York.

The sides were scheduled to meet next week, the 12th day of the spring training lockout. Although there was no session, Fehr said, "There were no talks.'"

The talks between the union and owners have slowed over the issue of injury arbitration slightly. The owners want players to agree to a new proposal on the issue, and owners want to extend the present system, to new proposals in a possible new contract.

When asked what it would take for the players to get back to talks, Fehr said, "It has to take an indication from the club that there's something meaningful to talk about.

"We have not broken through the logjam of the three-year salary arbitration problem. There have been no new proposals on the injury arbitration, no new proposals on the systems, so far.

"I have no idea what we would get from the owners."

Fehr said he has said for some time that he needs to update players on the situation.

"My expectation is that the Phoenix meetings present the dead end," Fehr said. "We were broken."

Fehr said the owners have not presented new offers or renewed their previous offers, which included a member of the games committee that was appointed.

When asked if the committee was starting to change its strategy, Fehr said, "I can have an indication from the club that there's something meaningful to talk about.
