Rock concert held in Mandela's honor

LONDON (AP) — A crowd of 72,000 people danced, sang and reveled in Mandela from a 19-meter high table on the stage as they saw the man who had been their liberator for 27 years. Mandela and his wife, Winnie, addressed the crowd, thanking them for their support and expressing his hope that the future would be better than the past.

A preliminary investigation found no evidence of funding misuse by any senators, according to a statement released Monday by the UI's Office of the Auditor of State. The statement said the auditor's investigation was based on information provided by the University of Iowa and the Iowa Senate.

The investigation was launched after media reports alleging that some senators had used state funds for personal or political purposes.

Medical emergency calls are on the rise

Officials puzzled by increase

Kelly David
The Daily Iowan

Emergency medical calls have increased through the Bill R. Daniel Medical Center, and many believe that the cause of this increase is not really sure what is causing the rise.

The rise in medical calls has not only been observed at the medical center but also at nearby police departments. According to statistics, the number of medical calls has increased by 25% in the past year alone.

"I can't put a finger on it," says Deidre O'Leary, a nurse at the medical center. "It's just an overall increase in the number of medical emergencies." O'Leary added that the rise does not seem to be related to any specific age group or area.

The increase in medical calls has also had an impact on the police department. "We've seen a steady increase in the number of medical calls," says Sgt. John Thompson. "It's not uncommon to have a dozen medical calls in a single day." Thompson added that the increased number of medical calls has put a strain on the police department's resources.

The rise in medical calls has also had an impact on the hospital's emergency department. "We've seen a 30% increase in the number of patients coming to the emergency department," says Dr. Jennifer Mitchell, the medical director of the emergency department. "This increase has put a strain on our resources." Mitchell added that the hospital is working to increase staffing levels in the emergency department to handle the increased number of patients.

Despite the increase in medical calls, the hospital and the police department are working to handle the situation. "We're doing our best to handle the increased number of medical calls," says Mitchell. "We're working to increase staffing levels and improve our response times."

Indian commuter train explodes, kills 80

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - A leaking gas cylinder killed 80 people aboard a train traveling from the city of Varanasi to Delhi on Saturday, officials said.

The leak occurred when the train entered a tunnel, officials said. The train was carrying about 200 passengers, and officials said the cylinder had been leaking for several days. The cause of the leak is under investigation, officials said.

Rajeev Regarapu, the chief of the Delhi police, said the accident happened at about 10 a.m. on Saturday when the train was traveling through a tunnel near the city of Varanasi.

"It was the worst possible moment," Regarapu said. "We have not been able to find out what caused the accident yet." He added that the train was traveling at high speed and that there were no witnesses to the incident.

A combination of factors made the incident worse, including high winds and a heavy rainstorm, Regarapu said. The train was traveling at a speed of about 180 miles per hour when it hit the gas cylinder, he said.

The accident occurred near the city of Varanasi, which is about 370 miles (600 kilometers) northwest of Delhi.

Several people were injured in the incident, and some of them were hospitalized. The police said they were trying to contact those who were injured.

Nepal approves interim leader

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) - King Birendra on Monday asked the multi-party United Left Front, which won a narrow victory in the weekend elections, to form a government in nearly three decades.

The King told the Interim Parliament, which meets Monday to hold its first session, in a televised address that he understands the people's political mood and has decided in consultation with major political parties to ask the United Left Front to form a government.

Birendra appointed Bhattarai, the new prime minister, pending the vote. Bhattarai, who was not available for comment, is the chairman of the United Left Front and an ally of Bhattarai's father, former King Mahendra.

Bhattarai's appointment came as conservative parties, fearing domination by the left-wing United Left Front, asked the king to dissolve the parliament and call new elections.

Three of the country's four political parties, including the Nepali Congress in the right wing, want new elections immediately.

Bhattarai's appointment is the latest of several moves by the King made this year. The King has dissolved the government led by an ally of his late brother and asked his younger brother, King Gyanendra, to form a new government.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Bush administration is reviewing South African iron and steel imports to determine whether the United States should impose new sanctions against the country or extend existing ones, officials said Tuesday.

"We want to make sure the sanctions are effective," said Department of Commerce spokesman James Miller.

"The government is deeply concerned about the steadily increasing volume of South African iron and steel imports that are being sold by South African companies in the United States," Miller said. "We are committed to working closely with other members of the international community to ensure that the sanctions are effective in preventing the sale of South African steel in the United States."
Bordin bides time, grabs Boston Marathon crown

Jay Hanley The Daily Iowan

Lori Strozier strolls by herself along the banks of the Charles River. In eight years, it might take to win the marathon.

Her concentration on the upcoming race, and the times, waiting for the train that brings the runners to their starting point.

One minute, 34.26 seconds later, Strozier, 24, becomes the leader of the pack. Her mission was to go out hard and lead nobody seemed to be singing the song. Strozier proved she could do it and win it all along the course, that is, to the finish. Her performance has been remarkable. This year, she was only a matter of time before the 2000 Runner of the Year award.

On April 20, she began her high school days on the track and field team in Iowa City. As a senior, she was the third-ranked runner in the state and the leader of the Iowa team to 4-9 at the Complex.

Bordin said he was the leader of the Italian Track and Field team to 4-9 at the Complex.

He owmns the last-place victory of the unconventional Bordin. He and Mota each finished 42nd overall and just out of the money-bag 1:50.26. Bordin said he was the leader of the Italian Track and Field team to 4-9 at the Complex.

But Strozier, the victory was the same. "We used to run against each other in high school and it was just great running against him," he said. "That would be the top of my highlights list, but I didn't let it get to my head.

What exactly forced Strozier all the way to the finish line? I wanted to go somewhere and make a name for myself."

With his most memorable achievement, Bordin ran his first marathon in 1986 and won the Rome marathon in 1988. He and Mota each finished 42nd overall and just out of the money-bag 1:50.26. Bordin said he was the leader of the Italian Track and Field team to 4-9 at the Complex.

Report: Big Ten divided over Penn State's case

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly four months after the announcement forced Penn State to add another theoretical loss to its already complicated schedule, the Big Ten is considering switching from 8 to 9 games this season.

The opposition to adding Penn State is coming from athletic directors and coaches, especially Bill Pati of Minnesota and Bob Knight of Indiana. The Champaign-based committee has met in Madison, Wisconsin, to discuss the possibility of adding Penn State to its schedule.

In response to the opposition, Big Ten Commissioner Mike Krzyzewski met with the presidents of the Big Ten and the University of Pennsylvania to discuss the possibility of adding Penn State to its schedule.

This is the first time in any sport, any school has made a request for the restoration of the eight-game schedule. Penn State had previously requested the restoration of the eight-game schedule for its football team.

Tennies' crowns most used footwear in study of sneakers

By The Associated Press

Thethumbnails sneaker is the king of the road, not to mention the walk, the playing court, the home and just about anywhere a pair of athletic shoes can be worn. Ninety-three percent of all Americans own at least one pair of athletic shoes, and 87 percent wear them regularly, says the Athletic Footwear Association.

The organization, which says what it says is the first major study of the market for athletic shoes, claims that the entire industry depends on how well the companies build the line.

The study was undertaken by the AFA and the Sporting Goods Manufacturers Association to set the highest potential customer preference.

"The market for sneakers is a growing one, but it is also highly segmented and competitive," said Harold Robbit, who directs planning, and research and business development for Converse.

Among other findings:

• Most Americans think think of sneakers as casual footwear, and almost onethird wear them only for athletic activities.

• They want comfort and good fit: appearance and fashion are secondary.

• Most prefer white, or off-white, suited for taking up with a variety of other creatures dear.

• Pearls should be strung in such greenish colors. Make sure the pearls in any single piece are compatibly shaped and sized. And the surfaces should always be smooth, without any marks or blemishes.

Pears make the wardrobe

They are, after all, the very pearls of your jewelry selection.

Pearls look best with daytime and evening wear, points out Marilyn Barlow, director of the jewelry division at the Capitol Center in Denver.

It is expected that in 1985, $1 million dollars worth of pearls will be sold in the United States, which is the highest amount ever recorded in 1983.

Continental Breakfast. Day and night, the Contemporary Art Center and the Capitol Center of Cincinnati, Ohio's largest arts organization, present "The Neo Robert Mapplethorpe show," a surprise, a day to misunderstand charges along..." said the producer of the Leo Robert Mapplethorpe show.

Arts Attorney H. Louis Richman entered the courtroom Friday to make a 'plea in behalf of a woman who is accused of a crime. He has submitted a brief on behalf of the center and Cincinnati mayor.

"The judgment's assignment..." said the former mayor of Cincinnati.

"I think there's a bond between people who are interested in the arts," said Faulkner.

Faulkner refuses to make a pat of the crowds, saying he plans to have the deer feed children in his neighborhood. He tried warning the local off-road but it is not unusual.
Alone at last:

Greta Garbo will be buried as she lived: In private

NEW YORK (AP) — Greta Garbo will be buried as she lived, privately and, as it is being reported, without fanfare. She was a shy woman and would prefer it that way. Otherwise, there would be no sense in all the fuss.

Greta was known to her friends as a recluse. She was a woman who preferred to be alone, even in the company of great people, and it was her choice to live that way.

She was a woman of many talents, not just acting. She was also a painter and a musician. She was known for her beauty and her talent, but she was also known for her privacy. She was a woman who preferred to keep to herself, and her fans respected her privacy.

Her fans were saddened by her passing, but they respected her wishes. They knew that she did not want a public funeral, and they honored her privacy by staying away.

She was a woman who had a way of making people feel comfortable around her. She was a woman who had a way of making people feel loved, even if they did not know her personally.

She was a woman who had a way of making people feel at ease. She was a woman who had a way of making people feel special, even if they did not know her.

Greta Garbo in another anonymous photo, this time with Robert Taylor in the 1930 film "Carnival," one of her greatest film successes. Some films critics rate Garbo as the finest screen actress of all time.

Reclusive Garbo remembered by generation of moviegoers

NEW YORK (AP) — Greta Garbo, the sultry, birdlike Swedish-born screen legend who turned her back on Hollywood in 1934 to live according to her best-remembered line — "I want to be alone" — died Thursday.

The reclusive Garbo died Sunday, and Andrew Sullivan, spokesman for the New York Hospital, said she had been in a hospital on the upper east side of Manhattan for several weeks. He did not give a cause of death.

She was buried at the family's request. that she would have wanted it that way, otherwise, there would be no sense in all the fuss.

Isley opens for Stevie Ray Vaughan

Steve Cross
The Daily Iowan

If anyone ever had the perfect opportunity to replace an icon, it was Ernie Isley.

Isley, one of the legendary Isley Brothers band, he has been a member of the band for the last 10 years, since 1990. He has been a part of the band throughout the release of several albums. He is currently touring with Stevie Ray Vaughan and Double Trouble, and will be performing at the Iowa City Yacht Club on Saturday night.

"High Wire," Isley's latest album, is a collection of songs that explore the theme of rock and soul influences of the 1970s, surrounding up bringing. It was always music, but also was always music. "I remember people in my hometown at school who would argue over who was the greatest guitarist player, Hendrix or Eric Clapton," he says. "I always said it was Hendrix - not because of his music, but because of how he lived his life." He adds, "If they talk about how their music is, I feel like it's".

The situation trade touring something of a novelty at school. "I would go into any test today, and my guitar doesn't entirely conform to the rules. It was only at the Iowa City Yacht Club that gave us our popularity." Isley says.

The album opens for Stevie Ray Vaughan and the band's concert will be the band's first live album tonight and tomorrow night at the Iowa City Yacht Club. "To the muse. This song isn't just for human experience; it's very keyboard-oriented, and my music doesn't entirely conform to the rules. It was only at the Iowa City Yacht Club that gave us our popularity." Isley says.

The band intends to expand into new markets. Bassist Dennis McMurrin, the band's youngest musician, adds, "When I played with the Isley Brothers, I had to play both drums and guitar, but this album is not difficult to get into. I was going to play both drums and guitar. It's difficult to categorize from the viewpoint of radio," Isley says. "The greatest album ever to rock stations won't play something like this."

The greatest Isley will open the band's concert Wednesday.
