The Daily Iowan

NATIO.NWORLD

He's sorry

Michael Milken, the international financier who managed Wall Street but became the target of a federal investigation Tuesday to broaden federal tax law. See National World, page 13A.

A DI election special

Tom Harkin and Tom Tauke both have their eyes set on one of Iowa's U.S. Senate seats in the special election. The DI interviewed them both in depth. See pages 6A and 7A.

WEATHER

Rain possible

Warm and windy today. Partly cloudy. 70 percent chance of showers. High around 90.

NITRATE LEVELS SAFER AGAIN; TREATMENT PLANT LIFTS CITY WATER BAN

Investigation of train derailment begins

By Bette Martin

Crews worked to clear overturned Amtrak cars from twisted train tracks yesterday in southeastern Iowa on track owned by the Burlington Northern. The damage was caused by an 800,000-pound train that derailed Saturday night, injuring 91 people and causing $75,000 in damages. The train was traveling at approximately 80 miles per hour. The crew of 24 was looking at the tracks specifically when asnow-covered area obscured the view of the railway. They were traveling at approximately 40 miles per hour when a snow-covered area obscured the view of the railway. They were traveling at approximately 40 miles per hour when they hit a snow drift, causing the train to derail. The train then went off the tracks and overturned, causing $75,000 in damages. The crew was taken to a nearby hospital for treatment and released later that day.

"We will not speculate at all as to the CSU99."

Drucella Andersen

NTSB spokeswoman

Drucella Andersen told reporters, "We will not speculate at all as to the cause of the accident."

The National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) investigators and preliminary findings of the investigation would not be released. Investigators and the NTSB have been working to clear the tracks and resume service. The train was traveling at approximately 80 miles per hour when it hit a snow drift, causing the train to derail. The train then went off the tracks and overturned, causing $75,000 in damages. The crew was taken to a nearby hospital for treatment and released later that day.

"Physiologically, the adrenaline-based reaction to stress is referred to as 'fight or flight.'"

Eric Leaves

Iowa's U.S. Senate seat

At finals week and the end of another academic year, the stress levels of college students are high. The stress can come from many sources, including grades, exams, job interviews, and personal relationships. Many students experience stress in their daily lives, which can be caused by academic pressure, financial stress, or personal relationships. Some students may also experience stress related to physical health, such as injuries or illnesses.

"We will not speculate at all as to the cause of the accident."

Drucella Andersen

NTSB spokeswoman

Drucella Andersen told reporters, "We will not speculate at all as to the cause of the accident."

The National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) investigators and preliminary findings of the investigation would not be released. Investigators and the NTSB have been working to clear the tracks and resume service. The train was traveling at approximately 80 miles per hour when it hit a snow drift, causing the train to derail. The train then went off the tracks and overturned, causing $75,000 in damages. The crew was taken to a nearby hospital for treatment and released later that day.

"Physiologically, the adrenaline-based reaction to stress is referred to as 'fight or flight.'"

Eric Leaves

Iowa's U.S. Senate seat

At finals week and the end of another academic year, the stress levels of college students are high. The stress can come from many sources, including grades, exams, job interviews, and personal relationships. Many students experience stress in their daily lives, which can be caused by academic pressure, financial stress, or personal relationships. Some students may also experience stress related to physical health, such as injuries or illnesses.

"We will not speculate at all as to the cause of the accident."

Drucella Andersen

NTSB spokeswoman

Drucella Andersen told reporters, "We will not speculate at all as to the cause of the accident."

The National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) investigators and preliminary findings of the investigation would not be released. Investigators and the NTSB have been working to clear the tracks and resume service. The train was traveling at approximately 80 miles per hour when it hit a snow drift, causing the train to derail. The train then went off the tracks and overturned, causing $75,000 in damages. The crew was taken to a nearby hospital for treatment and released later that day.

"Physiologically, the adrenaline-based reaction to stress is referred to as 'fight or flight.'"

Eric Leaves

Iowa's U.S. Senate seat

At finals week and the end of another academic year, the stress levels of college students are high. The stress can come from many sources, including grades, exams, job interviews, and personal relationships. Many students experience stress in their daily lives, which can be caused by academic pressure, financial stress, or personal relationships. Some students may also experience stress related to physical health, such as injuries or illnesses.
Branstam strengthens regulations on smoking

DRS. MOONEY & D.- Trudy Branston on Tobacco and Smokeless Tobacco, new regulations on smoking that for the first time include regulations for both the use of tobacco and for the sale of tobacco products.

Branstam, a crawling anti-smoker who has fought to ban smoking in bars and banned cigarette vending machines from state buildings, has passed regulations that will ban smoking in restaurants and bars in the state of Iowa.

"It is a small but important step that could have a big impact," Branstam said.

"It reinforces the idea that the state has a role in protecting the health of its citizens," Branstam added.

Moyers was selected as a recipient, and his appearance was described as "amazing." The award was presented by a university official.

"In a time when many of our colleagues play in a culture of death, our recognition is an affirmation of the real," Moyers said.

"We have a duty to recognize those who help us to be a better person," Moyers added.

State leaders championed the bill, saying that the law would help to reduce the number of deaths caused by smoking.

"It is a small but important step that could have a big impact," Branstam said.

"It reinforces the idea that the state has a role in protecting the health of its citizens," Branstam added.

Cider Deere receives UI business award

Julie Cresswell, The Daily Iowan

Five international scholars addressed the award winners, who were honored for their contributions to the field of religious studies.

The scholars discussed the history of the university, its role in society, and its future as a center for research.

"If we truly want to speak of a woman's place in society, we need to recognize her right to education and to work, and to vote," said the scholar.

"If we truly want to speak of a woman's place in society, we need to recognize her right to education and to work, and to vote," said the scholar.

Deere CEO receives UI business award

Julie Cresswell, The Daily Iowan

The ObjeétW

The Iowa business community recognized the following individuals:

1. Jan Johnson, owner of Johnson County Board of Supervisors
2. Tom Miller, gubernatorial candidate
3. Don Schumacher, Iowa State University
4. Susan Ankeny, Polk County Board of Supervisors
5. Jim DeWitt, Des Moines Register

The ObjeétW

The Iowa business community recognized the following individuals:

1. Jan Johnson, owner of Johnson County Board of Supervisors
2. Tom Miller, gubernatorial candidate
3. Don Schumacher, Iowa State University
4. Susan Ankeny, Polk County Board of Supervisors
5. Jim DeWitt, Des Moines Register
Students get dance lesson on obon odori
Japanese ritual inspires awe

Clare Thomas
For the Daily Iowan

Staff writer Pam Frazer, publisher, Push 'em back, took the lead on Thursday as the Foreign Language House group of seventh and eighth graders learned about the Japanese dance, the obon odori. The eighth-grade students performed at Mason City West Middle School Tuesday duringasket. Work 1990 for disk, our own global

Three students - Michelle Kodis, Andy Wildenberg, and Susan Jansen - danced a series of gestures to the rhythm of a traditional Japanese drum and a recorder. As the drum and recorder played, the students slowly drifted to the center of the room and began to dance. As the music stopped, the dancers froze in their positions, making an outline of a kite. The dance ended with the students holding hands and bowing in unison.

"The more you know, the more anxious you are. Sometimes it helps to be dumb," Jessie Jansen, another UI Japanese major, said.

Iowan

"I've had memories of dancing the odori," said Traver. "I want to share those memories with others."

Kabuki, another UI Japanese major, thinks the Japanese have a beautiful culture and can show a lot of it in the dance. She added that the most important part of dancing is the music, and she is happy to share her culture with her classmates.

"If you're going to dance, you might as well do it well," she said.

With some scrambling and dragging, they cleared the room of chairs and tables. The audience was also an impromptu audience. "It's a one-act comedy about a wayward dramatic character transformation," said Andy Wildenberg, a UI Spanish major, and current president of the Foreign Language House. He said that the two students were "glued" together for the entire four days they had practiced the dance, the children being treated to make-up and make-up. He said that the performers were "tireless" and "amazingly talented."

"The more you know, the more anxious you are. Sometimes it helps to be dumb," said Michelle Kodis, another UI Japanese major, who thought it sounded kind of "dumb."

"The more you know, the more anxious you are. Sometimes it helps to be dumb," said Andy Wildenberg, a UI Spanish major, and current president of the Foreign Language House. He said that the two students were "glued together" for the entire four days they had practiced the dance, the children being treated to make-up and make-up. He said that the performers were "tireless" and "amazingly talented."

"The more you know, the more anxious you are. Sometimes it helps to be dumb," said Michelle Kodis, another UI Japanese major, who thought it sounded kind of "dumb."
Camouflage jacket may link assault, robbery

Jill M. Herman

The Daily Iowan

Unknown assailants wearing camouflage jacket robbed a local business and assaulted a woman in separate incidents in the city. Police are unsure whether the same person committed both crimes, or if two assailants are related, according to Iowa City Detective Mike Horiak.

In the first incident, at about 8:03 p.m., a woman said she was closing the family-owned nail salon on North Gilbert St. when two men entered the business, asked her to look out the window, and then fled.

In the second incident, about 9:10 p.m., a woman said she was walking through the part of the University of Iowa Mall near the Capitol Center and saw a man she recognized as a suspect from the previous assault.

Stress

The Daily Iowan

Amrith the deteared cow. The Amrith was once to be killed in Fairway, Iowa, about 15 miles east of Waterloo, but the cow was spared after the owner was warned not to kill the cow.

Lt. Anatoly Parakhin of the KGB, whose forces are responsible for increased security on the Lithuanian section of the border with the U.S.S.R., said his forces were trying to prevent the Amrith from entering the Soviet Union.

Lithuania

The Daily Iowan

Lithuania issued an angry statement from Vilnius.

"This could be a warning against such a step," Parakhin said. "If this happens, we will be forced to take action against the Amrith." Parakhin added personnel and equipment to guard the republic's border line with a March 21 Kremlin "decision" to strengthen security on the Lithuanian section of the border.

Lithuania hopes to make up for some of the supplies Moscow has cut by spending more on its own security.

"The Amrith is being used out of a preliminary basis new. Eventually we will take control of them back to the Soviet Union," Parakhin said.

Russia

The Daily Iowan

The Soviet government has tightened its economic grip on Lithuania in response to moves to adopt the Lithuanian lita as a unit of account.

The government has threatened to withdraw its financial support for Lithuania if it continues to use the lita. Lithuania has already declared its intention to adopt the lita as its official currency.

"We can no longer allow our fiscus of goods to be used for the freedom of mankind," Parakhin said. "We will not allow the Amrith to escape our control.

"This is a matter of national security," Parakhin added.

The government has ordered the Amrith to be returned to the Soviet Union.

The Amrith was seized by the KGB last week, after it was discovered that the cow had been used to transport illegal drugs.

Ukraine

The Daily Iowan

The Ukrainian government has announced plans to increase border patrols to prevent the Amrith from entering the country.

The government has said that the Amrith is a "security risk" and that it will not allow the cow to enter Ukraine.

"This is a matter of national security," Ukrainian Interior Minister Vitalii Hamel said. "We will not allow the Amrith to escape our control.

"This is a matter of national security," Hamel added.

The government has ordered the Amrith to be returned to the Soviet Union.

The Amrith was seized by the KGB last week, after it was discovered that the cow had been used to transport illegal drugs.

"We can no longer allow our fiscus of goods to be used for the freedom of mankind," Parakhin said. "We will not allow the Amrith to escape our control.

"This is a matter of national security," Parakhin added.
Smoke

health, and it's not just about the nicotine. There is some evidence that...
Tom Harkin

The candidates in on of the interminable Senate races square off in Des Moines in the next few weeks. Harkin, left, has long been a target for Republicans, and Tauke-Harkin is one of the hottest races in the country...
In the oncoming election, the nation’s hottest campaign is one of Iowa’s hottest stories of the decade - clean air. As the second week of April draws to a close, the nation is preparing itself for Earth Day. President Bush is about to celebrate his first Earth Day in office, and the nation is poised to make some significant environmental gains. However, the question of whether the President is really committed to the environment remains unanswered.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.

The debate over the environment has been a long and heated one in America. President Bush has been criticized for his lack of commitment to the environment, and many environmentalists believe that he is not doing enough to protect the planet. However, some believe that Bush is actually making progress on the environment, and that he is taking the issue seriously.

On the other hand, many environmentalists believe that Bush is not doing enough to protect the environment. They argue that he is not doing enough to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and that he is not doing enough to protect endangered species. They also argue that he is not doing enough to address the issue of global warming.
Romanians continue to taunt Iliescu

BUCHAREST, Romania — Thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators marched in Bucharest Tuesday, dispersing by riot police Tuesday afternoon as President Ion Iliescu was summoned to the Soviet Union.

About 10,000 demonstrators waved their flat and crossed one another's path in the city center. Some carried flags of the Soviet Union.

This was the third day of near-constant protest against Iliescu and the Front, which are linked in only lip service to democracy.

Constant protest against Iliescu

Romanians continue to taunt Iliescu

Thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators dispersed by riot police Tuesday afternoon as President Ion Iliescu was summoned to the Soviet Union.

About 10,000 demonstrators waved their flat and crossed one another's path in the city center. Some carried flags of the Soviet Union.

This was the third day of near-constant protest against Iliescu and the Front, which are linked in only lip service to democracy.

Constant protest against Iliescu

Romanians continue to taunt Iliescu

Thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators dispersed by riot police Tuesday afternoon as President Ion Iliescu was summoned to the Soviet Union.

About 10,000 demonstrators waved their flat and crossed one another's path in the city center. Some carried flags of the Soviet Union.

This was the third day of near-constant protest against Iliescu and the Front, which are linked in only lip service to democracy.

Constant protest against Iliescu

Romanians continue to taunt Iliescu

Thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators dispersed by riot police Tuesday afternoon as President Ion Iliescu was summoned to the Soviet Union.

About 10,000 demonstrators waved their flat and crossed one another's path in the city center. Some carried flags of the Soviet Union.

This was the third day of near-constant protest against Iliescu and the Front, which are linked in only lip service to democracy.

Constant protest against Iliescu

Romanians continue to taunt Iliescu

Thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators dispersed by riot police Tuesday afternoon as President Ion Iliescu was summoned to the Soviet Union.

About 10,000 demonstrators waved their flat and crossed one another's path in the city center. Some carried flags of the Soviet Union.

This was the third day of near-constant protest against Iliescu and the Front, which are linked in only lip service to democracy.

Constant protest against Iliescu

Romanians continue to taunt Iliescu

Thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators dispersed by riot police Tuesday afternoon as President Ion Iliescu was summoned to the Soviet Union.

About 10,000 demonstrators waved their flat and crossed one another's path in the city center. Some carried flags of the Soviet Union.

This was the third day of near-constant protest against Iliescu and the Front, which are linked in only lip service to democracy.

Constant protest against Iliescu

Romanians continue to taunt Iliescu

Thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators dispersed by riot police Tuesday afternoon as President Ion Iliescu was summoned to the Soviet Union.

About 10,000 demonstrators waved their flat and crossed one another's path in the city center. Some carried flags of the Soviet Union.

This was the third day of near-constant protest against Iliescu and the Front, which are linked in only lip service to democracy.

Constant protest against Iliescu

Romanians continue to taunt Iliescu

Thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators dispersed by riot police Tuesday afternoon as President Ion Iliescu was summoned to the Soviet Union.

About 10,000 demonstrators waved their flat and crossed one another's path in the city center. Some carried flags of the Soviet Union.

This was the third day of near-constant protest against Iliescu and the Front, which are linked in only lip service to democracy.

Constant protest against Iliescu

Romanians continue to taunt Iliescu

Thousands of anti-Communist demonstrators dispersed by riot police Tuesday afternoon as President Ion Iliescu was summoned to the Soviet Union.

About 10,000 demonstrators waved their flat and crossed one another's path in the city center. Some carried flags of the Soviet Union.

This was the third day of near-constant protest against Iliescu and the Front, which are linked in only lip service to democracy.
AIDS victims donate plasma

The "current products that are out there are considered to be 100 percent safe." - James Reilly

"The fact is that there have been some reports of children having been infected despite screening and treatment. I think donor exclusion is vital. It is far better to be cautious and avoid any problems than to run the risk of a potential exposure." - Dr. Ronald C. Regen, director of medical evaluation for the American Red Cross.

The virus is believed to be spread mainly through sexual transmission, shared hypodermic needles, and from infected mothers to their babies. The virus has also been found in the blood of some IV drug users, and in the United States, 25 percent of IV drug users are infected with the AIDS virus. The virus is also present in certain blood products, such as plasma and some clotting factors.

The American Red Cross and other blood banks have taken steps to prevent the transmission of the virus. They are using sophisticated testing methods to screen blood donated by potential recipients and donors. They are also using a process called "plasma," where the liquid part of the blood is separated from the cells and the cells are discarded. This process is considered to be effective in the prevention of the virus.

Dr. Reilly said that the American Red Cross is doing everything possible to ensure the safety of the blood supply.

The current products that are out there are considered to be 100 percent safe. It is vital to be cautious and avoid any problems than to run the risk of a potential exposure. The virus is believed to be spread mainly through sexual transmission, shared hypodermic needles, and from infected mothers to their babies. The virus has also been found in the blood of some IV drug users, and in the United States, 25 percent of IV drug users are infected with the AIDS virus. The virus is also present in certain blood products, such as plasma and some clotting factors.

The American Red Cross and other blood banks have taken steps to prevent the transmission of the virus. They are using sophisticated testing methods to screen blood donated by potential recipients and donors. They are also using a process called "plasma," where the liquid part of the blood is separated from the cells and the cells are discarded. This process is considered to be effective in the prevention of the virus.

Dr. Reilly said that the American Red Cross is doing everything possible to ensure the safety of the blood supply.
Viewpoints

Volume 122 No. 192

---

IRAN-CONTRA

Begging their pardon

As federal prosecutors continue to pursue the rapidly aging Iran-Contra scandal, an increasing number of observers on both sides of the political spectrum have called for the former president to pardon former national security officials Oliver North, John Poindexter, and many of the related negative charges.

But first, such a pardon seems to be an unprecedented second-chance maneuver to free a group of congressional administration officials. But a pardon would actually free the justice department's investigation, and if they were still on trial.

These indictments in the eyes of Iran and the dissolution of the profits to the Congress no longer pose any threat to the administration. And just as much as the scandal and subsequent congressional hearings have been sufficient to destroy any political capital in the same nature. A pardon will acknowledge some mea culpa, and more guilty verdicts or sentencing of any of the participants will have no further effect on the preservation of property in this or any other administration.

It is also hard to see why anyone would be politically motivated to continue the trial. Liberals have also long announced that there are no crimes committed by the Reagan administration that have been equal to those confessed in the Iran-Contra affair. It is not even clear that some of the alleged crimes were crimes, as such as those committed by the Afghan rebels. The political value of Iran-Contra has, for all practical purposes, run its course.

But future trials will not be nearly as inexpensive; they will be costly. The Congress has already cut taxpayers' billions of dollars, and the appeal process, which could take years to complete, will be a burden of as much as $1 billion.

The decker cases are perpetually bursting with important cases; the American people would be better off if there were more cases for them.

Iran-Contra no longer has any legal, political or economic value. Further prodding of the Bush should pardon North, Poindexter and all the rest.

David B. Sills

Editor/Writer

PERESTROIKA

Too late for Muslims

Gerhaher's gesture to Soviets in persuading Afghan conflict to cease should be welcomed, it is probably late to qualify the Muslims' demobilization. The Soviet Union and Saudi Arabia probably had no diplomatic relations for 60 years. This means that the Soviet regime has attempted to use Muslims publicly in order to discourage other such nation-building schemes into wiping out similar regimes and their political acts in the region.

From a total crackdown on religion, Mikeal Gordon publicly took some restrictions on the churches over the last few years. It is important to note that the Muslim rule of Saudi Arabia was long, and the state was quite sensitive to the demands of the various segments of its population, a reform-oriented leader like Gerhaher would have to be encouraged.

Perhaps he can accommodate the thousands of Soviet Muslims that every year's death rate, but the current lowering of restrictions is the best he can do.

Vladimir Kovalenko

Editor/Writer

Letters

Motivated by Earth Day

To: Earth Day Committee

I would like to recommend the media of Earth Day to promote the 30th anniversary of Earth Day on April 22.

I have long advocated that all offices be closed for a day in order to participate in the Earth Day activities. I would like to see all offices in the state participate in the activities.

It is good to see that such a recommendation will be endorsed by the whole world. It will be good for the people to come together in one auspicious occasion to promote one of the most important ideas in the world.

On Earth Day, there will be a need for closures of all offices and schools for the day, and the entire world will be able to celebrate this great day.

Thank you,

David Sills

Editor/Writer

---

Khrushchev buried Berlin in concrete

In the past greatness of Berlin is evident today not in what you see, but in what you do not see.

This is perhaps most evident in East Berlin. There, you can see the buildings, but you cannot see the buildings. They are covered with concrete.

The comparison of the Berlin Wall to the Berlin Wall is the dead heart of the former capital.

"We will bury you," said Leonid Brezhnev in a Cold War TV world. He was threatening the United States, of course, but in Berlin, the Berlin Wall had a chance to put it in motion.

Standing in the Berlin Wall, Gorbachev has quite given the impression that it was clear that a threat like the Berlin Wall was never to be accomplished with concrete. Now I see that a threat like the Berlin Wall was never going to be accomplished with concrete. Now I see that a threat like the Berlin Wall was never going to be accomplished with concrete. Now I see that a threat like the Berlin Wall was never going to be accomplished with concrete. Now I see that a threat like the Berlin Wall was never going to be accomplished with concrete.

Marlena Corcoran

---

Mandela is underestimated

Mandela has been repeatedly questioned in the last few years about the prospects of legal action against presidents, yet he does not have the voting rights of a 21-year-old white person who through unselfish assistance, for example, in helping to establish the Berlin Wall, he is a potential candidate to be a serious presidential candidate in the next election.

He did not have the voting rights of a 21-year-old white person who through unselfish assistance, for example, in helping to establish the Berlin Wall, he is a potential candidate to be a serious presidential candidate in the next election.

Jesse Jackson

---

Why should someone else look out for you?

Mandela never once sounded like someone else, but rather like a clear-thinking, focused individual.

I see in a man who speaks about negotiation instead of confrontation and sees no reason for that calls for equal protection for all with the same prospects in democratic South Africa. He even sees a possibility for everyone in this pay rally environment filled with talks of hopes and dreams, a peaceful face over the room when he said, "When I was sent to prison 27 years ago, I had no idea that I would ever be a free man again."

Modern society must now face the reality of apartheid in southern Africa. It is unfair, as the media suggest, that Mandela should bear the burden of apartheid. That burden clearly rests with the South African people who represents the poor people of the world.

For 28 minutes this evening hearing voice - who through steadfast effort has attempted to present the moral and material authority of our day, held up a million, in the stadium and some 40,000 at the hall in 104 countries throughout the world.

The U.N. committee did a disservice by deciding to issue a summary of the major report, discounting it too political.

In a few years ago the American news media and society could not have sustained the loss of the late great president without the financial and emotional support of a countrywide event.

The world community should not have to decide the time for dying the American president which saw the world.

"The Haguenau had been held against their wills for years, and now that they are free, their families, THEIR LIVING ANIMALS, with the PROTESTANT CHURCH, have gone free."
BUSH: Sanctions remain despite hostage release

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even though Syria evidently helped lib- erate American hostage Robert Polhill, and Iran may have played a role as well, the Bush administration was not ready Monday to announce any immediate improvement in relations with either country.

The basic message passed to Iran, through a secret hotline, and to Syria, and other intermediaries, was that all seven American hostages remain in southern Lebanon, but that efforts will be made to improve the situation.

The State Department, the White House and the Pentagon were all being careful to avoid suggesting a breakthrough. Secretary of State James A. Baker III, at a news briefing, said that some sort of an agreement could lead to the release of the hostages, but he added that "there's been no indication of a breakthrough yet, but we're working on it."

President Bush and his senior aids received word Monday of Polhill's release from an assistant in a national broadcast speech that was being delivered simultaneously in London, Moscow, Tokyo and several other East Asia capitals.

"The United States wants to assure our friends in South Korea that we are concerned about their safety and security and that we are committed to working with them to make this a success," Bush said.

His aides said that word of Polhill's release, plus the economic sanctions, will be delivered to South Korean President Roh Tae Woo in a secret message sent Monday night from the president in Washington. The United States will be giving up the economic sanctions it imposed against South Korea in its role as a member of the United Nations Security Council.

"The level of our commitment to South Korea is still intact and strong," a senior administration official said.

Meanwhile, the administration is working to improve relations with Iran, which the Bush administration has highly criticized for its support of militant groups in the Middle East and for its sponsorship of terrorism.

The Bush administration has also been pursuing a policy of trying to encourage stability in Lebanon, where the Revolutionary Justice Party, which controls the southern part of the country, has been blamed for the deaths of American hostages.

The administration has been trying to work out a long-term solution to the hostage crisis, with the idea that a political settlement would lead to the release of the hostages.

The administration was not ready Monday to announce any improvements in relations with either Iran or Syria, but it did make some progress.

The United States and Iran, which had not spoken to each other since 1979, have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and Syria, which had not spoken to each other since 1984, have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.

The United States and both countries have been trying to improve relations since the Bush administration took office.
Milken guilty of stock crimes

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Milken, the millionaire financier who ensnared Wall Street in the 1980s but fell in the biggest scandal of the decade, needlessly pleaded guilty Tuesday to breaking federal securities laws and has law. He agreed to pay a record $693 million in penalties.

The former Drexel Burnham Lambert executive admitted to legal violations that included manipulation, manipulation, fraud and deceit. The plea marked a stunning fall for the most important American financier since J.P. Morgan Jr. in the early 1900s, when the mogul was convicted of violating federal securities laws.

"I realize by my acts I have hurt those who are closest to me. I am truly sorry," Michael Milken, 43, said in court. "I have hurt those who have given me the opportunities to achieve and to pursue them." Milken pleaded guilty to a single count of securities fraud.

The plea, which ended months of speculation about Milken's legal fate, was a defeat for the government's efforts to punish the financier. It also signified a major victory for Milken's defense team, which had worked to ensure that the financier would not face a trial.

The plea included a $100 million fine and $593 million in penalties. Milken also agreed to pay $5 million in civil penalties. The plea also included a three-year probation period.

The plea was the result of a secret plea deal between Milken and federal prosecutors. The deal was reached after Milken's attorneys negotiated with the government.

"At the time of his plea, Milken was indicted on 98 counts of manipulation, fraud and deceit," said Assistant U.S. Attorney John R. Machin. "He has now pleaded guilty to a single count of securities fraud.

"It is Michael's hope that history will see his violations in perspective, and that it will be clear that his behavior was confined to the basis of his dealings but on the basis of the contributions that he made in the securities and to the American people.

"I have hurt those who have given me the opportunities to achieve and to pursue them," he said. "I am truly sorry.

"I realize by my acts I have hurt those who are closest to me. I am truly sorry.

"I have hurt those who have given me the opportunities to achieve and to pursue them."
Iowa can't shake Wildcats in finale

Brian Gorat
The Daily Iowan

Iowa was down 23-20 with 2:46 remaining in the second half when the Hawkeyes went on a 9-0 run to take the lead and eventually pull out a 91-88 win over Illinois on Saturday evening.

Iowa Hawkeyes head coach Fran McCaffery was pleased with the way the team handled the pressure of playing a top-five team.

"We knew it was going to be a physical game," McCaffery said. "We've had some really tough matchups this year, including an overtime loss to Michigan State, so we knew our guys were prepared for this." McCaffery added that the team's ability to make big shots when they needed them most was key to the victory.

Junior guard Jordan Bohannon led the Hawkeyes with 22 points, followed by forward Luka Garza with 21 points. Bohannon's performance was especially impressive, as he在过去的一年中表现出了令人印象深刻的表现.

"I knew that our team would be up for the challenge," Bohannon said. "We've been playing well as a team, and I think we were ready for this game." Bohannon's performance received praise from McCaffery.

"Jordan stepped up big tonight," McCaffery said. "I'm proud of his leadership and his ability to make big shots when we needed them most." Bohannon's performance had a significant impact on the game, as he scored 11 points in the final five minutes to secure the victory.

The Hawkeyes improved to 20-5 overall and 9-5 in the Big Ten Conference, while the Fighting Illini fell to 16-9 overall and 8-6 in the conference. McCaffery was pleased with the team's performance, as they were able to come out on top despite a tough fight from Illinois.

"We knew that it was going to be a tough game," McCaffery said. "But I'm proud of our team for stepping up and playing our best tonight." Bohannon's performance was a key factor in the victory, but the team's overall performance was also impressive.

"I'm proud of the way our players executed our game plan," McCaffery said. "They played with a lot of intensity and gave their best effort tonight." The Hawkeyes' next game is on Monday, as they face off against the Michigan State Spartans. McCaffery was looking forward to the challenge.

"We're excited to face off against Michigan State," McCaffery said. "They're a tough team, but we're looking forward to the challenge and we know that we can make a statement on Monday."
Sportsbriefs

No TV for Iowa-IsU

"Iowa State is in a free-falling slide," Femino said. "It's hard to draw a diagram to get lost. We just needed to snap out of it, and we did that. We were a much better team that we were." In the same game, the Cyclones carried a 5-0 lead into the bottom of the seventh inning. The Hawkeyes batted next. Iowa's home opener is Sept. 7 versus Ball State.

Jibs Thorson of Pataskala, Ohio; Marite Janovich of Brantford, Ontario; and field hockey player Leanne Banks said, "It's no big surprise to us. We wanted our guys to go out and compete, and they did." The top four positions on the three-team schedule were played at night, but Bruner said that would cost Iowa $600 to bring in portable lights for the season opener.

ABC is already televising the UCLA-Michigan game at 11 a.m. on Saturday. "It's not a big deal," Bruner, Iowa's associate athletic director, said ABC's offer, saying the cost would be prohibitive. "We're not going to say no to anything," Bruner added. "We're willing to do whatever we can to get the game on the air." ABC is already televising the UCLA-Michigan game at 11 a.m. on Saturday. "It's not a big deal," Bruner, Iowa's associate athletic director, said ABC's offer, saying the cost would be prohibitive. "We're not going to say no to anything," Bruner added. "We're willing to do whatever we can to get the game on the air." ABC is already televising the UCLA-Michigan game at 11 a.m. on Saturday. "It's not a big deal," Bruner, Iowa's associate athletic director, said ABC's offer, saying the cost would be prohibitive. "We're not going to say no to anything," Bruner added. "We're willing to do whatever we can to get the game on the air.

Mickey's OAKLAND A'S • B & G RESTAURANT
WEDNESDAY
HAMBURGER $4.99
HAMBURGER with French Fries $6.99
MARGARITAS ALL DAY 2:00
Open Sat-Thu 11-4
11 S. DeSample

The Men of TKE Present:
3rd Annual
TKE FIGHT NIGHT
Thursday, April 26th
6:00 pm
Downtown Holiday Inn

Major League Baseball Standings

Baseball

The football and baseball All-America teams were unveiled this week at the Iowa Women's Intercollegiate Athletics Awards banquet. These teams included softball player Kristen Rhoades of Iowa City, basketball player Felicia Hall of Houston, La., gymnast Karol Dodd of Los Angeles, Calif., and Cross Country coach Brian Harbuck of Iowa State.

Women receive team honors

Those honored include: softball player Kristen Rhoades of Iowa City, basketball player Felicia Hall of Houston, La., gymnast Karol Dodd of Los Angeles, Calif., and Cross Country coach Brian Harbuck of Iowa State.

Baseball

Iowa State is in a free-falling slide," Femino said. "It's hard to draw a diagram to get lost. We just needed to snap out of it, and we did that. We were a much better team that we were."

In the same game, the Cyclones carried a 5-0 lead into the bottom of the seventh inning. The Hawkeyes batted next. Iowa's home opener is Sept. 7 versus Ball State.

Jibs Thorson of Pataskala, Ohio; Marite Janovich of Brantford, Ontario; and field hockey player Leanne Banks said, "It's no big surprise to us. We wanted our guys to go out and compete, and they did."

The top four positions on the three-team schedule were played at night, but Bruner said that would cost Iowa $600 to bring in portable lights for the season opener.

ABC is already televising the UCLA-Michigan game at 11 a.m. on Saturday. "It's not a big deal," Bruner, Iowa's associate athletic director, said ABC's offer, saying the cost would be prohibitive. "We're not going to say no to anything," Bruner added. "We're willing to do whatever we can to get the game on the air."

Major League Baseball Standings

Baseball

The baseball and softball All-America teams were unveiled this week at the Iowa Women's Intercollegiate Athletics Awards banquet. These teams included softball player Kristen Rhoades of Iowa City, basketball player Felicia Hall of Houston, La., gymnast Karol Dodd of Los Angeles, Calif., and Cross Country coach Brian Harbuck of Iowa State.

Women receive team honors

Those honored include: softball player Kristen Rhoades of Iowa City, basketball player Felicia Hall of Houston, La., gymnast Karol Dodd of Los Angeles, Calif., and Cross Country coach Brian Harbuck of Iowa State.
McCants' knee finds operating room

"It was a minor cleanup ... The knee is in

"If my knee was giving me so much trouble, why didn’t I prevent me from running down those running backs and wide receivers with 4.4 speed?"

Kent McCants
Tampa Bay Rays

Mlb Ump charged with theft

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — National League umpire Bob Engel has charged with stealing $1,000 baseball cards from a retail store, authorities said.

Elgin, 59, was released on $5,000 bail from Kern County Jail Tuesday and is scheduled to be arraigned Tuesday on charges of commercial burglary and petty theft, police said Tuesday.

A security officer at the store told police that Engel just bought some of the cards, valued at $1,000, to a box in a store and later pulled from the waistband of his shorts.

He allegedly removed the cards from a display window and put them in the store's bag.

Engel was detained as he walked out of the store with the bag as shoplifting, police said.

Engel, who completed his first full year in the major leagues in 1996, has been the back up on ways the league attributes Dauglas gave from first to third.

When Bakersfield police asked Engel, who completed his first full year in the major leagues in 1996, was back at the ballpark on Tuesday, where Engel was the backup on various ways the league attributes Dauglas gave from first to third.

 Owners ratify agreement

NEW YORK—The Associated Press—Major League owners ratified their collective bargaining agreement with the Major League Baseball Players Association Tuesday.

The owners held a joint conference call Monday to ratify the four-year deal, which was announced Dec. 23, 1999. The vote does not become official until the commissioner's baseball office receive written notice of approval from the 30 clubs.

A memorandum of settlement was signed March 15 by negotiators for management's Players' Relations Committee and the union.

IT'S TIME FOR DOMINO'S PIZZA™
529 Riverside - 338-0030

Take Your Pick

Get a medium original pizza with your choice of one topping for only...

$3.95

Get a large pizza with your choice of one topping for only...

$5.95

Add Two Crossing For Only $1.00 More

$6.95

Large Two Toppier Plus

Get a large original pizza with your choice of any two toppings plus extra for only...

$8.95

The Daily Iowan — Wednesday, April 25, 1990

SPORTS 3B

2:00 off 16" pizza
1:00 off 14" pizza
2 more toppings
337-6200
PIZZA • SALADS
Beer
Order or Carry Out
We Deliver
M/F $1.19 pm
M/F $0.50 for 2nd
Mon. to Fri. 3:00 pm to 9:00 pm
331 St. Gilbert St.

LIBERTY RESTAURANT
NHA HANG TU-DO
Burning Crayons—a Thai Delicacy

All You Can Eat Lunch Buffet
$4.99
Sunday Buffet
$5.99

Monday-Friday
11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

Saturday Buffet
11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

1:45; 4:15; 7:10; 9:30

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

1:45

35:1 45:9:30

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

12:45:9:30

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

11 am - 2pm

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

11 am - 2pm

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

11 am - 2pm

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

11 am - 2pm

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

11 am - 2pm

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

11 am - 2pm

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

11 am - 2pm

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

11 am - 2pm

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,

11 am - 2pm

101<,

CRAZY PEOPLE
101<,
Arkansas State basketball falls under investigation

JOHN ROB BORO, Ark. (AP) — A three-member panel investigating alleged NCAA rule infractions in the Arkansas State basketball program, and ASU athletic director Charles Thomas, met Saturday to hear evidence and present a statement, but said ASU would have to continue its investigation to complete the process.

Three-time player of the Week candidate Brett Carter, who missed the season opener, was tested by the panel. The statement said on April 17, Assistant Athletic Director Charles Thomas "reviewed with us several cases of alleged NCAA rule infractions which had been brought to his attention.

A later in the statement, and said ASU would have to continue its investigation to complete the process. The investigation is being conducted by the NCAA.

Forbes and his assistant, and said a statement on April 17, Assistant Athletic Director Charles Thomas "reviewed with us several cases of alleged NCAA rule infractions which had been brought to his attention. These allegations were not substantiated by the panel.

The statement said the NCAA’s investigating committee for the 1984 season "will do outside the athletic interests these allegations.

The statement said the NCAA’s investigating committee for the 1984 season "will do outside the athletic interests these allegations.

Berger 1-6, 6-4, 6-1.erg 1-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Their father, Berg,
NHL curbs fighting during playoffs

Officials snub brawling with watchful eye

The Associated Press

The NHL is taking a lot of the fight out of its top teams. The league's commissioner, John Ziegler, has asked the heads of teams to consider using coaches as "security guards" to stem the tide of fighting. The NHL has had a policy against fighting since the 1930s, but no real attempt was made to enforce it until recently.

Steve of all trades

Chicago White Sox star-games project all view positions Monday in the game with the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field. The

Timberwolves earn small 1st-year profit

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) -- Despite having the NBA's highest-scoring management basketball payroll, the Minnesota Timberwolves earned only a modest profit in their second season, officials said.

A handwriting of administrative papers from 20 years ago suggests the team's total income during the 1990-91 season amounted to $1.7 million. That's before the team's $1.7 million operating loss, which was financed in part by selling part of the team to local investors.

"Yes we operated in the black, but the profit was not fantastic," Vice President and General Manager Mike Bell said. "We're in the lower part of the league for profit." Other revenue included about $3 million from the NBA network and about $230,000 from season ticket sales and TV and radio contracts, Bell said.

DI Classifieds

111 Communications Center - 335-5784 11 am deadline with cancellations

PERSONAL

1993 All-Star shortstop John Costello, 29, has pitched in four second-round series, three of which went this season. He once played in the Boston-Montreal series played without a fight.

"There's a lot of hitting a lot of guys, so you've got to look out for yourself," O'Neill said. "But with so much on the line, the players who are out in retaliation when they hit. The pain is as severe, but you would have a lot more fun." In past years, many of the fights were early in the season as a form of posturing -- trying to intimidate an opponent. Now, many fights are as a liability.

"If something doesn't really help in going to another hockey game, then we don't really help in the battle. We don't think that's going to work. We're really going to require that the players fight off to break up fights, we're not going to condone that, or anything," O'Neill said. Paul "Tree" Fuqua, the rival Braves' Andy Van Slyke, have both been charged with murder.

Steve of all trades

Chicago White Sox star-games project all view positions Monday in the game with the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field.

Steve of all trades

Chicago White Sox star-games project all view positions Monday in the game with the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field. The

Timberwolves earn small 1st-year profit

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) -- Despite having the NBA's highest-scoring management basketball payroll, the Minnesota Timberwolves earned only a modest profit in their second season, officials said.

A handwriting of administrative papers from 20 years ago suggests the team's total income during the 1990-91 season amounted to $1.7 million. That's before the team's $1.7 million operating loss, which was financed in part by selling part of the team to local investors.

"Yes we operated in the black, but the profit was not fantastic," Vice President and General Manager Mike Bell said. "We're in the lower part of the league for profit." Other revenue included about $3 million from the NBA network and about $230,000 from season ticket sales and TV and radio contracts, Bell said.

DI Classifieds

111 Communications Center - 335-5784 11 am deadline with cancellations

PERSONAL

1993 All-Star shortstop John Costello, 29, has pitched in four second-round series, three of which went this season. He once played in the Boston-Montreal series played without a fight.

"There's a lot of hitting a lot of guys, so you've got to look out for yourself," O'Neill said. "But with so much on the line, the players who are out in retaliation when they hit. The pain is as severe, but you would have a lot more fun." In past years, many of the fights were early in the season as a form of posturing -- trying to intimidate an opponent. Now, many fights are as a liability.

"If something doesn't really help in going to another hockey game, then we don't really help in the battle. We don't think that's going to work. We're really going to require that the players fight off to break up fights, we're not going to condone that, or anything," O'Neill said. Paul "Tree" Fuqua, the rival Braves' Andy Van Slyke, have both been charged with murder.

Steve of all trades

Chicago White Sox star-games project all view positions Monday in the game with the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field.

Steve of all trades

Chicago White Sox star-games project all view positions Monday in the game with the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field. The

Timberwolves earn small 1st-year profit

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) -- Despite having the NBA's highest-scoring management basketball payroll, the Minnesota Timberwolves earned only a modest profit in their second season, officials said.

A handwriting of administrative papers from 20 years ago suggests the team's total income during the 1990-91 season amounted to $1.7 million. That's before the team's $1.7 million operating loss, which was financed in part by selling part of the team to local investors.

"Yes we operated in the black, but the profit was not fantastic," Vice President and General Manager Mike Bell said. "We're in the lower part of the league for profit." Other revenue included about $3 million from the NBA network and about $230,000 from season ticket sales and TV and radio contracts, Bell said.

DI Classifieds

111 Communications Center - 335-5784 11 am deadline with cancellations

PERSONAL

1993 All-Star shortstop John Costello, 29, has pitched in four second-round series, three of which went this season. He once played in the Boston-Montreal series played without a fight.

"There's a lot of hitting a lot of guys, so you've got to look out for yourself," O'Neill said. "But with so much on the line, the players who are out in retaliation when they hit. The pain is as severe, but you would have a lot more fun." In past years, many of the fights were early in the season as a form of posturing -- trying to intimidate an opponent. Now, many fights are as a liability.

"If something doesn't really help in going to another hockey game, then we don't really help in the battle. We don't think that's going to work. We're really going to require that the players fight off to break up fights, we're not going to condone that, or anything," O'Neill said. Paul "Tree" Fuqua, the rival Braves' Andy Van Slyke, have both been charged with murder.
HELP WANTED

HELP WANTED

HELP WANTED

HELP WANTED

SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS

We would like to inform you that the University of Iowa is planning to hire a new bus driver. We are seeking experienced drivers to help transport students to and from campus. Applications are available at the University Human Resources Office. Please contact Mr. Smith at 356-6639 for more information.

NEEDED

For 12 week acne study, Volunteers ages 12-40 with mild to moderate facial acne. Compensation 356-2274

YARD/RUMMAGE GARAGE SALE

Country Women of Coralville is having a yard rummage sale to benefit the school. The sale will be held on Saturday, July 10th, from 8am to 3pm. Items for sale include clothing, furniture, and books. All proceeds will go towards the school's education and community outreach programs. Come and see what treasures you can find!

EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

The University of Iowa is offering a new course on creative writing. This course is open to all interested students and will meet every Tuesday at 6pm in Room 203. For more information, please contact Dr. Brown at 356-2770.

GIFT IDEAS

River City Engravers offers custom engraving services for a variety of items. From personalized gifts to corporate awards, we have you covered. Contact us at 356-2888 for more information.

FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL

The first day of school is August 1st. Students are required to attend all classes and participate in all activities. Please ensure that your child is prepared for the first day of school.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE

We are selling our house and all contents. Includes furniture, appliances, and electronics. Contact us at 356-2999 for more information.

MSC. FOR SALE

We are selling our house and all contents. Includes furniture, appliances, and electronics. Contact us at 356-2999 for more information.

SPORTING GOODS

We are selling our house and all contents. Includes furniture, appliances, and electronics. Contact us at 356-2999 for more information.

MEETING

The next meeting of the Coralville Historical Society will be held on Tuesday, June 28th, at 7pm. The meeting will be held at the Coralville Public Library. All members are welcome to attend.

ENTERTAINMENT

The Coralville Symphony Orchestra will be performing a concert on Saturday, July 9th, at 8pm. The concert will be held at the Coralville Civic Center. Tickets are available at the door. Please arrive early to ensure seating.

HEAD START

Applications are now being accepted for the Coralville Head Start program. The program is open to children ages 3-4. For more information, please contact the Coralville Head Start office at 356-3000.

EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

The University of Iowa is offering a new course on creative writing. This course is open to all interested students and will meet every Tuesday at 6pm in Room 203. For more information, please contact Dr. Brown at 356-2770.

MUSICIAN WANTED

We are seeking a musician to join our band. Experience in rock and roll is required. Please contact us at 356-3111 for more information.

RESUME

Please submit your resume to the Coralville Public Library. All resumes will be reviewed and kept on file. We are looking for a variety of positions, including entry level and experienced positions.

AUTO DOMESTIC

We are looking for a mechanic to work in our auto repair shop. Experience is preferred. Please contact us at 356-3222 for more information.

MOTORCYCLE

We are looking for a mechanic to work in our auto repair shop. Experience is preferred. Please contact us at 356-3222 for more information.

GARAGE PARKING

We have a parking space available in our garage. The space is available on a first come, first serve basis. Please contact us at 356-3333 for more information.

SUMMER SUBLET

We have a summer sublet available in our apartment. The sublet includes all utilities and is available for the summer months. Please contact us at 356-3444 for more information.

SUMMER JOB

We are seeking a summer job for a local student. The job involves cleaning and maintenance. Please contact us at 356-3555 for more information.
Jacqueline Comito

The Daily Iowan

The Translator explores cultural missteps of an American woman working in Europe

Wordplay Festival is an annual event that highlights the creativity and diversity of Modern and Contemporary Theatre across the United States. The event includes performances, readings, workshops, and discussions, offering a platform for artists to explore new ideas and engage with the audience in a meaningful way. This year's Wordplay Festival promises to be a unique and enriching experience for all attendees, with a focus on contemporary and experimental theatre.