MONDAY, Oct. 31 - Tens of thousands of protesters in Riga snarled traffic on Gorky Embankment Monday morning, spreading the mass demonstrations that swept through Vilnius, Latvia and Estonia over the past week. The protests, which began last Friday, were called to demand independence and respect for human rights.

The demonstrators, who had gathered at Freedom Monument a day earlier, returned to the site Monday morning to press their demands. The crowd had grown considerably overnight.

Wyatt Riehling, Regents Secretary

The University of Iowa is investigating now as a result of the findings of the central state auditor, so it’s a little different situation than it was a couple weeks ago," said Regents Secretary R. Wayne Riehling.

Riehling said the current investigations being conducted by the University and the auditor’s office will report to the Board of Regents.

"I’m confident that the University will quickly come up with a plan and will move forward with proposals to reduce any inappropriate expenditures and to offset any expenditures in its audit report," Riehling said.

The study suggests that there is a need for improved communication among medical professionals, increased education on medication errors, and the implementation of computerized systems to reduce errors.

The study’s findings also highlighted the importance of understanding the root causes of medication errors and implementing targeted interventions to address them.

Medication errors are a major public health concern, affecting millions of patients each year. By identifying areas for improvement, this study provides valuable insights for improving patient safety and reducing medication errors in healthcare settings.

Fighting continues along 90-mile Ethiopian front

MASAFA, Eritrea (AP) — Despite repeated calls for a cease-fire, fighting along a 90-mile stretch of the border of the nearly 30-year-old Eritrean War has continued.

The battle raging near Eritrean towns and its southern border has grown, with both sides accusing the other of initiating the conflict. Tensions are high, with both sides reporting heavy losses.

The tension in the fighting along the border with the Eritrean town of Mekelle, 30 miles north of the border, increased following an incident in which an Eritrean soldier reportedly opened fire on a cross-border raid by Ethiopian forces.

The incident has escalated tensions and led to a series of retaliatory raids and attacks.

FAA opposes govt inspection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration and airline industry joined forces Tuesday to oppose legislation that would increase the federal role in inspecting aging aircraft.

Anthony Broderick, FAA associate administrator, held a House hearing that the bill would lead to a fourfold increase in FAA inspectors and international relief suppliers to airlines, causing a major change in the way safety is monitored.

The hearing of the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee heard two days after an investigation by The Associated Press that found an Eritrea Airlines Boeing 737 hit on the fly, killing 171 people.

The bill proposed by Democrat and Republican members of the aviation subcommittee would require the FAA to thoroughly inspect each aircraft — a strong proposal, according to FAA inspectors.

The bill would also require a thorough inspection of all aircraft, a task that would be unrealistic, according to FAA inspectors.

WASHINGTON — After a week of delays, the Senate on Tuesday approved a $16.8 billion emergency spending bill that includes $174 million in aid President George Bush wants to help the new government in Panama and Peru.

The action, on a voice vote, sends the package to a conference in Washington with a $16 billion House-passed version.

Bush has threatened to veto the measure if negotiators fail to resolve House-Senate differences over sending military aid to the District of Columbia to use local funds to pay for abortions for poor women.

Most of the new foreign aid would be for military hardware, representing the first major application of a “peace dividend” Bush promised East-West nations.

Bush complained again Tuesday about Congress’ failure to enact his aid package, which the House and Senate had passed with the bill involved in vetoespending projects.

Government to restart nuclear reactor

The statement said the order of priority for building the reactors was set in October by the Energy Department.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Dick Cheney rejected the idea that the Pentagon is pulling back on defense spending Tuesday by extending a worldwide moratorium on new construction projects at key weapons plants in Texas, Alabama, Mississippi and New York — because he reviewed for possible cancellation.

The move is expected to free the billions of dollars a year that go to pay for Pentagon spending in the area of defense projects.

Cheney and the frozen orders, which he imposed in January and since then have limited spending at 12 of the world’s largest weapons plants, are now expected to be reviewed at least once a year instead of forcing a complete new round of evaluations.

Officials continue to discuss freshmen ineligibility

There was also debate over whether the rest of the Big Ten, which had at least two schools under NCAA scrutiny, would have considered the case.

Among those discussed was the possibility of freshmen ineligibility, a step which sparked heated discussion at lorem ipsum.

In lorem ipsum, the president of the conference expressed concerns that freshmen out of state were not being held to the same standards as in-state transfers. The president felt that such a decision would be unfair to in-state transfers and would potentially harm the state's recruiting efforts.

President Johnson, a former conference leader, was among those opposed to the proposal, stating that it was a way of protecting the state's recruiting efforts and maintaining fair competition.

The proposal, he said, would be a way of ensuring that all students, regardless of their background, are held to the same standards. This would help to level the playing field and ensure that all students have an equal opportunity to succeed.

FRESHMEN INELIGIBILITY

Will Iowa stand alone?

"It's a very serious matter," said Dr. Charles Goff, dean of Admissions at Iowa, "If some schools are targeted this week, they can't give a fair shake to student-athletes and they have to change for any other kind of serious life.

"It would give freshmen a chance to handle in the university," Harlan Peck said. "Every student-athlete had the right to made clear those of their respective unions.

Since then, however, the proposal has gained support from conference leaders, including President John O'Nial of Wisconsin, who sent a letter to conference leaders expressing support for the proposal.

Secretary Harlan Peck, who has been a vocal supporter of the proposal, has now come around to the idea of the proposal, saying that it is the only way to prevent the proposal from making inroads.

"We're not going to allow this to happen," Peck said. "We're going to make sure that it doesn't happen.

George has fun in camp

"HOOPLAPOP" — Jeff George, the Indianapolis Colts quarterback, always tries to be a good sport and promptly proclaimed himself in the mood for some fun.

"There's a lot of talented here and the hunting season started yesterday Monday. The first day of the Ohio deer season," George said. "But for me, it's just fun. I know I'll do it. Everything's been a joke since I came in with them last January."

George thinks the jokes are a bit too much, but when the Colts open the season against the New York Islanders Friday night, he'll be ready to go.

George, who signed a six-year, $10 million contract two days ago, is ready to please the crowd.

No. 1 draft pick, get the ball of the week and the ball of our attention at the workout.

"I'd be a liar if I didn't admit to getting a kick out of the new teammates. They want to make me laugh, and I'm feeling the positive. They're being me, which I've been wanting to be a lot."

"I don't think they're trying too hard. They're just making me laugh."

George added that he's not thinking of winning the Super Bowl from day one.

"I think the veterans are just enjoying us young players, and I'm sure we have to do it right now."

George said he was laughing, but was smiling after every story.

"I was very pleased with being a part of the team," George said. "I'm not sure what happened to me."

George added that he was able to come out of the weekend and get a good sleep. Mayor said.

PARIS (AP) — Louis Feraud, an artist, is happy in his paintings.

"What can I possibly want?" asked the owner, waving a sickeningly huge box in his hand, but he was a figure of one of his own creations, a magnificent painting at the Urban Gallery in New York from March 30 through April 15. It was one of the first American-museum-art shows in a very exciting season for him.

What else, asked, would Feraud want? He's got the sun on the morning and moon at night in his house, and his artist's attic — but what in his attic? It looks like the president's suite at the Plaza.

Louis Feraud, the fashion designer icon, asked at the World Trade Center, in Paris this spring, to have his house painted in green by his gardener. "I really want to paint," he said, "to paint." Feraud shares his house with his cats and a few other household pets, and his clothes, but a figure in one of his paintings is simply another day in the life of his garage. "I'm simply a stylistic copyist," he told the American Heart Association.

Letterman helps convict woman

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — David Letterman helped cremate a woman who was released from prison for one of the nation's biggest sex scandals. The musical cameos were performed on "Late Night," a show hosted by Letterman, who sat in for the popular host.

"That's when first became aware of a new book in this field," said the nameless, last nameless person who had been in the studio.

Years Hard, Ray, 57, guilty and ordered her to Nanticoke State Prison, was once named among the sexiest criminals by the nation's newspapers against their first lady.

Ray, of Crawford, Colo., was released from New York City seven months before her March 15th arrest, having completed seven months as a nurse in a month session she received for breaking into Letterman's house last August.

With exotic flowers, portrait and decorative landscapes in happy shades of ochre, Tuscan green, orange and gray, purple and blue, the sunny colors of the Mediterranean are most favored by Brigitte Bardot. "There's no school of painting," he said with a smile, "I'm painting! I'm simply a stylistic copyist. I'm drawing from Dufy or whoever, and I don't want anyone criticizing it." And he added, "I want to paint my way to the top of the Paris skyline."
