UI law professor says U.S. should follow USSR

By Julie Cawelti

The University of Minnesota professor Gary Gereffi says the United States should follow the Soviet Union's example in seeking a diplomatic resolution to the Persian Gulf crisis.

"In this situation, the Soviet Union has shown the world how to deal with a crisis in the Middle East," Gereffi said. "The United States should follow its example and see what can be done to resolve this conflict without resorting to military action."

By Tonya Telfer The Daily Iowan

While officials across the state question whether Iowa's population is growing, City officials are clearly pleased with the recent growth in the city's population.

Early census counts show a 7.3 percent increase in Iowa City's population since 1980 — the largest increase in the state's largest cities. With a 1980 population of 96,290, $170,000

Pig-killing organism may finally be isolated

The Associated Press

LINCOLN, Neb. — An organism that many scientists have been searching for may have been isolated by researchers at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The organism, believed to be a fungus, is found in the state's soil and is capable of killing pigs, according to Dr. Arthur Miller and William Wooln, both professors of pathology at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, who have been working on the project for several years.

The fungus, when isolated, can be grown in the laboratory and may eventually be used as a vaccine to prevent pig-killing disease.

"We're looking at the future," he said, referring to the number of people in the county who are eligible to vote.

Harkin brings 'victory tour' to 100 supporters at Union

By Tim Woodhouse The Daily Iowan

Abortion and abortion wars were the hot topics at Tim Harkin's "victory tour" Thursday at the UI, where he spoke to a crowd of about 100 supporters at the Union.

Harkin, D-Des Moines, who won Iowa's District 1 by 52,000 votes in the 1984 Senate election, told an enthusiastic crowd he expects to make a "one-man showing in the opera house."

"This year, with our help, we can make a difference. We can make a difference. We can make a difference."

Harkin said, "I think this tax measure is important in students, faculty and anyone who lives in the Iowa City area."

The most emotional point at the rally seemed to be the abortion issue. Harkin prefaced himself to the pro-choice and called abortion "necessary" in the left column.

He then attacked Rep. Tom Pascrell, D-N.J., for his 84th District stance on abortion - calling him "anti-choice" rather than "pro-life."

"We should immediately bring to the floor the legislation that would make abortion legal," Harkin said.

"It is important to students, faculty and anyone who lives in the Iowa City area."

"On the issue of abortion, the government should have clear choice in it."

"I'd say I'm pro-choice." Harkin said, "On the issue of choice, don't say my opponent's pro-choice, he's pro-choice." Harkin, who has served as chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee since 1989, promised to veto any anti-abortion measure to avoid the possibility of a continued funding bill for Planned Parenthood.

Harkin, who prefaced himself to the pro-choice stance and called abortion "necessary" in the left column.

"We are making up our appropriations bill now and whatever is going to be done to make sure that Congress restaura the maximum that the court in the cases of Roe v. Wade and Planned Parenthood v. Casey is the only law that is the only law," Harkin said.

"I'm running for re-election in 1992. I'm going to do is to make sure Congress restaura the maximum that the court in the cases of Roe v. Wade and Planned Parenthood v. Casey is the only law that is the only law," Harkin said.

Besides abortion, Harkin addressed the issue of health care and Medicare, which he called "a leader on that," Harkin's second major topic was "it's not an emotional issue."

During discussion last week, Supervisor Bob Burns opposed the board against adopting an exclusive policy.

"If you try to pick one specific one, you're going to get hung here," Burns said. "Everybody else is going to get hung in the air out of the system."

A MESSAGE FOR OUR DRINKER WHO DRINKS BEER.

Is it fair to balance the budget out of the pockets of America's beer drinkers?

Talks are underway in Washington that threaten to result in a much higher federal excise tax on beer. These taxes place an unfair burden on the working Americans who enjoy beer. Here are a few key facts:

- Current proposals include a 40% increase in the current tax.
- The price of beer would increase by more than $4.00 a case.
- 60% of all beer is purchased by Americans with annual household incomes of $35,000 or less.
- Beer taxes have continued to rise. On average, state beer tax collections have increased by more than 65% since 1953.

If you share our concern about such unfair taxation, call 1-800-337-TAXES. Your message will be sent to Congress by letter or using a toll free conference number. A member of Congress will take your call. You will then receive a local message at Congress.
Iowa house wins part in new Sean Penn film

By John Kerckhoff

The Associated Press

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa- (AP) — Actor Sean Penn has selected a "bombed-out" house on the east side of this Missouri River city for filming this fall's "restored" real estate project of "The Indian Runner." Penn recently bought the house for several days helping make scenes for the movie "The Indian Runner." The project is to be filmed in and near Omaha, Neb., where Penn lives in the house, will stay with his family while filming this movie. Theodore Fitch took the house from Penn, who is staying during the filming, he said. Council Bluffs is across the Missouri River from Omaha.

"We'll be selling the most famous house in Council Bluffs," Theodore Fitch said.

The former residence of the late Jack Kerouac, who wrote "On the Road," seems an appropriate house for the filming of a movie about music. Kerouac, whose work has been authorized by Kerouac's widow, would likely be pleased by the use of the house in the film. The house is near the home of Kas Musser, who is helping make scenes for the movie. Musser and his wife, who live in the house, will stay with Penn, who has been helping make scenes for the movie. Houston plane crash leaves 3 dead

HOUSTON - A Transco airplane crashed on takeoff and burned at Houston International Airport on Thursday, killing three people and injuring 12 others, officials said.

The twin-engine Grumman G-115 footprinted around 5:21 p.m., and airport supervisor Frank Bayer. The fuselage was torn nearly inhalf and a fire erupted at the airport, Bayer said.

"It wasn't immediately known where the aircraft originated or how the flight originated in Houston," Bayer said.

Company officials had no information on the cause of the accident or the flight originated in Houston.

About an hour after the crash, these firetrucks, ambulances and 12 police cars with lights flashing surrounded the wreckage.

The left side of the plane, which was closest to a gray area near the airport terminal, was burned. The right side of the plane, which was farthest away from the terminal, also was burned, but no fire or smoke remained either on the ground or in the area.

Federal judge upholds government takeover

By Paul Reaser

WASHINGTON — A federal judge Thursday upheld the government takeover of Lincoln Savings & Loan, and Los Angeles, an operation of the thrift that failed last April, and its subsidiaries, as revolved to being, "The Federal deposit of Office of Thrift Supervision sought that action as part of an effort to rescue failed thrifts and avoid across the board failures.

Supervisors have that a deal to the saving of Lincoln, separately, in a 11-page ruling, "This was not done without" a special deal," a federal judge in California said Monday that they were not done, "It has been done by an agreement with the California Supreme Court," he said. According to the case, the government already has $1.5 billion of Lincoln and it is the most that could be spent.

In a study to be published today, the National Institute of Health said: "The growth properties of cancer cells are overwhelmed by the normal gene."

However, Baker, the Johns Hopkins Oncology Center in Baltimore, said that the government has to prevent cancer "in distress."

"The concept demonstrated in this study is extremely important," Baker said. "It is not only important to the medical community, but it is also important to the growth of the cell itself.

IF you put the normal copy of this gene back into these cells, the cells stop growing. They just won't grow anymore."

Joshua Baker — Hopkins cancer researcher

The researchers added the pit gene to a colony of cancer cells growing in culture. The result, and Baker said, is that the cancer growth "switched off."

"If you put the normal copy of the gene back into these cells, the cells stop growing. They just won't grow anymore," he said.

Baker said adding the normal copy of the pit gene "turned off" the normal regulation of cell proliferation. The researchers, he said, "is a very important concept in cancer."

The Johns Hopkins Oncology Center said: "The concept demonstrated in this study is extremely important."

It said: "Dr. John Kenyon, 335-5864, said, "The growth properties of cancer cells are overwhelmed by the normal gene."

"The concept demonstrated in this study is extremely important," Baker said. "It is not only important to the medical community, but it is also important to the growth of the cell itself."

Teen guilty of murder cites movies as influence

By Jim Sandor
The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — A jury on Friday sentenced 16-year-old Michael Anderson to life in prison without parole for the 1989 murder of Karen Hotzler, a 17-year-old student at a Pennsylvania high school.

The jury convicted Anderson of murder and the related crime of voluntary manslaughter. He was found guilty of second-degree murder and involuntary manslaughter.

Anderson was found guilty of killing Hotzler, a senior at Hempfield High School, while she was shopping at a nearby mall.

Anderson had earlier pleaded guilty to two counts of first-degree murder for the deaths of Hotzler and another student, also a senior at Hempfield High School.

The prosecution argued that Anderson had acted with premeditation and deliberation in killing Hotzler.

The defense argued that Anderson was suffering from a mental disorder when he killed Hotzler.

Anderson's attorney, David Fischof, told the jury that Anderson was not responsible for his actions because he was suffering from a mental disorder.

Fischof said that Anderson had been diagnosed with schizophrenia and bipolar disorder.

The judge, Robert Dauer, told the jury that he would sentence Anderson to life in prison without parole.

Anderson, who was convicted of murder in 1990, had been serving a 25-year sentence for the murder of his father.

The murder of his father, Richard, had been committed in 1988.

Richard Anderson had been found guilty of murder in 1988 after a trial in which he was found guilty of first-degree murder.

Richard Anderson had been convicted of murder on the basis of self-defense.

Richard Anderson had been serving a 25-year sentence at the time of his death.

HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY

Selective enforcement

Next week the US Student Senate will reconvene for the fall semester. That means opportunity. It means the new senate will have the opportunity to demonstrate courage and intelligence by leading the opposition against the renewal of a racial, assets-funded scholarship that has been categorized as an university for the last two years.

The scholarship in question — ironically titled “Opportunity at the University” — is a non-profit organization available exclusively to minority students. In other words, regardless of how resourceful they might be, regardless of how industrious they might be, regardless of how disadvantaged a student happens to be, if her skin color is incorrect, she will not be given access to those funds for no other reason than the superficial, irrelevant reality of her white skin.

It is an outrageous notion that a student, already disadvantaged a student happens to be (in regard to whether her family has suffered through the Iowa farm crisis, for instance), if her skin color is incorrect, she will be denied the access to those funds for no other reason than the superficial, irrelevant reality of her white skin.

The terms of this scholarship are a blatant violation of the understanding that a student is a person, that she matters. It states that “The University is guided by the prospect that in no aspect of its programs shall there be differences in the treatment of people based on race, color, religion, sex, and any other classifications that deprive the person of consideration as an individual.

Supporters of the scholarship have insisted that the use of race and color is necessary in the pursuit of educational parity because minority students are in greater need of financial assistance than the others. But then why, they ask, the racial class altogether and base the criteria on that need? Let the least privileged students get the scholarships, period.

The creation of a more ethnically and culturally diverse campus will provide a better educational environment for everyone. But as a result of recent minority recruitment progress, it would be a wise step forward toward accomplishing that goal.

In the February issue of the Harvard Magazine, Eric L. Crawford, 335-5863, notes the importance of the University's role in providing an environment for the less fortunate. He points out that poor blacks are likely to perform worse in college than their white peers, which may lead some to believe that blacks have not been given the opportunity to succeed in college. However, this is not the case. The University has provided an environment for the less fortunate, which has helped them succeed in college.

Gorbachev, Yeltsin to meet

By Larry Parsons

The Associated Press

MOSCOW — Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev and Russian President Boris Yeltsin agreed Thursday to meet in Moscow next month to shift the Soviet Union toward a political system that is not hostile to market economic reforms.

Gorbachev made his announcement during talks with Yeltsin that were technically part of the political discussions expected to be held down in Seoul next week. Gorbachev had earlier in the week agreed with the South Korean president to discuss the political system in that country.

The Seoul talks were to try to overcome the obstacle of fundamentally different views between the political leaders of the Soviet Union and South Korea. Yeltsin, who is in Seoul for a meeting of the Group of Seven industrialized nations, announced after his meeting that he and Gorbachev had agreed to hold talks on the political system in the Soviet Union. Yeltsin, who is the leader of the country's new power, appeared without a sign of the nationalist tendencies that have characterized his political career. The United States and South Korea have long been concerned about the stability of the Soviet Union's political system.

European tour shows Hawks improved international play

By Brian Gaul

Daily Iowan

Iowa basketball much Tom Davis and his crew are finding the European tour an excellent preparation for the upcoming season.

"It's been a great tour so far," Davis said. "It was great to see how good we can be." The Hawkeyes are off to a 4-0 start with wins over several top teams in Europe.

"It's been great for us because we've been able to get in some good practices," said forward Roy Miller. "We've been able to work on some of the things we need to improve." The Hawkeyes are currently ranked 10th in the U.S. and are considered a top 25 team by many analysts.

"I think we're going to be a team that can compete with anyone in the country," Davis said. "We have the talent and the experience to be successful." The Hawkeyes will face tough competition in their upcoming games against teams like Kansas and Michigan.

Despite the losses to these teams, the Hawkeyes remain confident in their ability to compete at a high level.

"We're not going to let a couple losses bring us down," Miller said. "We're going to keep working hard and get ready for the next game." The Hawkeyes will face another tough test when they travel to the United Kingdom for a four-game series against some of the best teams in the world.

"It's going to be a great opportunity for our players to see how good they can be," Davis said. "It's going to be a great way to prepare for the upcoming season." The Hawkeyes will return to the United States in December for a series of exhibition games against top teams from around the world.

"We're going to be ready to go when we return," Miller said. "We're going to be ready to compete at a high level." The Hawkeyes will be looking to make a run at the NCAA tournament and are considered a dark horse to make it to the Final Four.

Alvarez shakes up Badgers

By Mike Gene
The Associated Press

MADISON, Wis. — To rekindle the Big Ten-championship dreams some Wisconsin Badger fans had, first-year coach Barry Alvarez had to talk to his players.

So far, so good.

Barry Alvarez, whose job is to finish what his predecessor, Barry Switzer, started, stood up in front of his team on Aug. 17 and told his players that he expected no less than Big Ten championships.

"How many of you like to win?" Alvarez said, according to his team's athletic director, Davey Currier. "If you're going to win, how many of you don't like to lose?"

The team, which finished 4-7 last season, is determined not to lose this season. Alvarez is telling his team every day that they have to win.

"Winning is a way of life," said offensive tackle Mike Holmgren, a senior.

The Badgers finished 2-9 last season and Don Morton was fired at the conclusion of his third year. He compiled a 2-2 record during that time.

There are 28 lettermen back for the Badgers, including 10 who started all nine games. Alvarez already has made some sweeping changes.

For one, Tracy Lowery is back at quarterback after sitting out for a year when he got treated for the constant pounding from Maryland's All-America defensive end Davey Currier. Lowery, a Sophomore, is now a wide receiver. And last year's fullback, Rafael Romerer, is now the No. 1 fullback.

"He's got a big work to do if he's going to win," said Alvarez.

"Like in the first meeting, as late, as morning, as noon and as night, we never did that in the past. It's just totally different."

The team that had Alvarez is the team that's become a secret for the Badgers.

"Like the first meeting, we have to do it every day, no matter what, how they have to do it, as many times as you want, you have to do it," said Holmgren, a wide receiver.

"He's the guy that's everything. He's the guy that's been around. And our bag of tricks, we have all the things in our bag of tricks," said Holmgren.

"We're looking forward to playing against him and seeing if we have a shot at being an awfully good team."
“George was saying, ‘I’ll talk,’ and we were saying, ‘No! there something we can use out!’” Louie Walker, the USC coach, said. Walker then turned around, saying that was how that scenario played out. George did not address what transpired in that scenario, although he was not a member of the executive committee.

“He will remain inactive, period.”

Robert Heilman

The Associated Press

For the second time seen George that Wednesday night before being deposed. However, hinted that members of the executive committee was going to be tested when training started of camp in mid-July. Said there was no indication the day, “It’s a real disappointment,” coach boss.

Miami puts Heat on Cleveland

By Steven Wine
The Associated Press

MIAMI — John "Isaiah" Williams knows he'll receive $52 million over the next seven years. What he doesn't know is whether the money will come from the Miami Heat or the Cleveland Cavaliers.

An offer sheet Williams signed with the Heat arrived at the Cleveland Cavaliers' offices Thursday. Cleveland must decide by Sept. 6 whether to match Miami's offer and keep him. Terms of the package came from sources close to the NBA league offices.

One source said the deal makes Williams the best-paid player in the league for the next several years.

"It's a tremendous package," he said. "Obviously it's dramatically more than what they've offered him.

Officials with the Heat and Cavaliers have declined to comment on whether the Cavs will match Williams' offer.

Sources said much of the money would be paid during the early part of the contract. That was to encourage the Cavs, who signed Danny Ferry to a pact paying as much as $11 million next season and has costly renegotiations with Brad Daugherty and Mark Price.

"They've got to sit down and analyze it and take a look at what's best for the organization," Bartelstein said. "Generally it's dramatically more than what they've offered him.

The estimates, which ranged from $18 million for six years to $26.5 million over the next seven years, were read to Williams' agent, Mark Bartelstein of Chicago, Wednesday.

Bartelstein had denied previous reports that Williams was seeking a contract that would average $16 million per year. He refused to comment on reports of $28 million per year.

The NBA Register lists him as 6-11, a 29-year-old power forward who had averaged 16.8 points and 8.1 rebounds per game last year, his career highs.

His agent, Mark Bartelstein, said he received offers from other teams that were "very similar." Estimates of the value of the Heat's offer weren't the only ones.

Williams, who averaged career highs of 16.8 points and 8.1 rebounds per game last year, said he found the Heat organization appealing. And he liked the money, too.

"If the Cavs he Williams go, he'll be switching from a playoff contender to an expansion team that has won 12 games in its first two years. He doesn't mind.
