Bush ends vacation, prepares for summit

By Tom Raum

KENNEDYPORT, Maine — President Bush wrapped up 8 days at his vacation home on the shores of Penobscot Bay and heads back to Washington Monday to prepare for a summit meeting in Russia.

White House aides said Bush had no plans to discuss a new constitution for South Africa and paid little attention to the issue of police brutality in the country during his vacation.

Aides said Bush, who is said to be interested in the issues and the situation in South Africa, got up early Monday to read reports on the violence and will use the experience to help him prepare for the summit with President Mikhail Gorbachev.

Aides noted that Bush lacks the detailed knowledge of South Africa that the president of South Africa, F.W. de Klerk, has and that he is not as familiar with the situation as he is with the Soviet Union.

The White House aides said Bush and his top aides are following the developments in South Africa closely, but they are more concerned with the situation in the Soviet Union, where theNov. 1988

Employment Services director clarifies memo

The Associated Press

DES MOINES — The director of the state Department of Employment Services has clarified a memo that led to a controversy among unemployed Iowa residents.

Cheryl Regele confirmed Tuesday that the department's social workers may not use threatening language when communicating with job seekers.

The DoEs director explained that the memo inadvertently contained references to communications she says were made by social workers to job seekers.

"We have no social services staff members who I am aware of that are using threatening language," Regele said in an interview at the department's headquarters. "But that was not our intent, and for that I apologize."

The memo was sent to all DoEs regional offices on Oct. 1 by the state's regional directors.

Regele said she was asked to write the memo by state legislators. A spokesperson for the Iowa House did not return phone calls seeking comment on the memo.

The memo was sent in response to a state senator's request that unemployment representatives be held accountable for job seekers.

The DoEs director said the memo was premature and was sent without the permission of the governor.

Reconvening is being scheduled for a third time later this year, but the governor has yet to sign the bill.

Complete search committee

The Associated Press

RAGU, Iowa — The State University of Iowa, in its search for a new president, has received 280 letters of interest.

"We will do our best to ensure that the next president will be as acceptable to as many people as possible," said the regents' search chairman, John F. McWhorter.

The board of regents announced last week that it would begin its search immediately for a new president to replace Charles A. Dietz, who retired earlier this month after 18 years in the post.

Funeral services scheduled for UI alumna, IC native

The Daily Iowan

KIMMERLE, Iowa — UI officials have announced the dates for the funeral services of Marilyn Kujawski, an Iowa City native who died at her home on Sept. 14.

The services will be held at 4 p.m. today in the University of Iowa's Alumni Hall.

Kujawski, a 1949 graduate of the University of Iowa, was a long-time member of the Phi Mu Omega sorority and remained active in the chapter's affairs.

Kujawski was described by friends and family as a kind and thoughtful person who enjoyed music and the arts.

UI Arthur director dead at 64

The Daily Iowan

MARYHURST, Iowa — Robert Arthur, director of the UI Arthur Museum of Art, died at his home here Saturday after a brief illness.

Arthur, 61, was born in Kewanee, Ill., and received his B.A. and M.A. in art history from the University of Iowa in 1968 and 1971, respectively.

He then taught at the University of Iowa for 26 years before becoming director of the museum in 1984.

Arthur was known for his dedication to the arts and his commitment to the University of Iowa.

The UI Arthur Museum of Art, which he helped establish, now houses one of the largest collections of American art in the world.

The museum's collection includes works by such artists as Georgia O'Keeffe, Edward Hopper, and Grant Wood.

Arthur is survived by his wife, Joan, and two sons, Michael and Robert.

The Daily town

It's a hot, humid summer day. You're just got back from a weekend trip and are out looking for something cool and refreshing. You go to the refrigerator and pull out a cold one, and then you open it up to see what's inside. But when you do, you realize that you've forgotten to pick up the cool drink for yourself. It's too late to go to the store, so you settle for a glass of water instead.

Photo:

A new invention called the Chill Wizzard has been introduced to the market. It's a cooling device that fits into a standard pop can and can keep your drink cold for hours. The Chill Wizzard was invented by John Ker, an engineer from Coralville, Iowa.

Quote:

"I thought of what I should do to cool off in the summer heat," said Ker. "I decided to create something that would work out on the same principle." Ker started working on the invention in his garage, and after months of experimentation, he came up with the Chill Wizzard.

Quote:

"I was surprised by the amount of interest in the product," said Ker. "It seems that everyone wants a cold drink on a hot day." Ker has started a company to sell the Chill Wizzard, and he's hoping that it will be a hit with consumers.

Quote:

"I love the idea of this product," said Ker. "It's a great way to keep your drink cold all day long." Ker is looking forward to the future of the Chill Wizzard and is hoping that it will become a staple in everyone's fridge.

Conclusion:

The Chill Wizzard is a great invention for anyone who wants a cold drink on a hot day. It's easy to use and is sure to be a hit with consumers. Ker is looking forward to the future of the Chill Wizzard and is hoping that it will become a staple in everyone's fridge.

Florida campus life returning to normal

By Ron Word
The Associated Press

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Campus life was returning to normal Monday. Students were more concerned by a buzzing mosquito than a freed skunk, which caused a minoruproar. Students were more worried that the killer bug still might be on the loose.

Students returned to the University of Florida for the second week of 2010 classes. Several Arrests were made when people were caught violating the campus' no-camping policy.

14th person killed

The Associated Press

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A skull was identified as that of a Florida teenager who was killed in a shooting last year.

The victim, 17-year-old Edward Lewis Humphrey, was identified Monday by the Alachua County medical examiner's office.

The skull was removed from the scene of the shooting last year and sent to the lab for analysis, said Dr. Edward Silverman, the medical examiner.

The case is the third murder this year in Alachua County, and the second one involving a teenager.

The first was that of 16-year-old Andrew Johnson, who was shot to death in March.

The third was a woman, 32, who was found dead in a car in April.

Humphrey's death was ruled a homicide.

Search for answers

Four months after the shooting, the Alachua County sheriff's office is still trying to find out what happened.

The waiting has been tough for the Humphrey family, said a neighbor.

"We've been very upset because the police are doing so little to find the truth," said the neighbor.

The neighbor said the family is still waiting for answers.

"We just want to know what happened to our neighbor," said the neighbor. "We just want to know what happened to our neighbor."

Washington—Diplomats are suffering from heat, thirst and hunger since the August invasion of Kuwait and are holding hostage children since the leader promised to withdraw from Kuwait.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz said hostages were being held to pressure the United States to lift sanctions resulting from the shortages in the region.

The skeleton staff at the Iraqi embassy in Washington is boiling swimming pools left for emergency purposes in the event of an international siege, Iraq will not be among the likely bidders.

Iraq was having its own money troubles. The official Iraqi news agency INA also quoted President Saddam Hussein's order to return to Washington to prepare for his return to Baghdad after the invasion.

Foreign ministers of the European Community nations planned to meet in Rome before the summit. Italians, Americans, and Egyptians held hostage since the August 2 invasion of Kuwait.

The skeleton staff at the Iraqi embassy in Washington, D.C., returned from Kuwait and is holding hostage children since the leader promised to withdraw from Kuwait.

Asked about morale among diplomats, one diplomat who recently returned from the United States expressed fear that the embassy standoff would continue.

“We are very worried,” he said.

CIVIL RIGHTS / ACT

Problems abound
An old adage says “it’s the thought that counts.” But good intentions don’t always translate into good policies. The Seminole Tribe of Florida, for example, could have passed an ordinance on this pattern to protect its members from the same sort of harassment that, unfortunately, many Native American women face on reservations. But they didn’t. The Senate passed an act to protect those women on reservations. That’s a good step. But it’s not enough. It’s not enough to have the violence from Inkatha and the violence from the apartheid state is still very much intact, and the news from South Africa has been devastating. Yet the political violence of the past is not going to happen again. The worst part is that they can’t change the law in a hurry.

The article stated that an ink is called “Redwood” rendering it worthless to lumber practices without conclusive evidence, while simultaneously eliminating the court dockets - until last year, when the state jury award to a plaintiff and attorney’s fees. Media distort South African news

On Feb. 2 of this year, South African President F.W. de Klerk announced sweeping changes in South Africa. He has finally decided to release Nelson Mandela, who had been imprisoned in his country for 27 years. As Mandela went free, de Klerk reiterated his commitment to a peaceful transition to majority rule in South Africa. These events have been described as a "package deal" by some analysts, and a social and economic upheaval by others. In this context, it is important to recognize that the media has played a significant role in shaping public perceptions of these developments.

Bush appeals for Middle East peace on Tuesday, the president made a last-minute appeal for a cease-fire, saying, "We have to help raise funds for the next round."

The new plan, a version of Bush's peace plan to the Soviet Union, is based on the Arab peace plan. The Arab Peace Plan for the Middle East calls for a cease-fire in the Arab-Israeli conflict, a withdrawal of Israeli troops from Arab territories occupied in the 1967 war, and recognition of the Arab states.

The Arab Peace Plan also calls for an exchange of prisoners and a reopening of the economy. Bush is expected to meet with Arab leaders in the next few weeks to discuss the issue.

On Tuesday, Bush announced a new policy to "de-escalate" the Cold War with the Soviet Union. The new policy includes a moratorium on testing nuclear weapons and a reduction in the number of nuclear warheads.

The Soviet Union has said it will not accept the moratorium, but Bush has indicated that the United States will continue with its own testing and reductions. The situation remains tense between the two superpowers.

Crime hits 1 out of 4 U.S. homes

Stuart case raises legal issue

By Tony Rogers
The Associated Press

BOSTON — The answers to the issues in which a man convicted of a murder he didn’t commit are eluding the lawyers who are fighting to clear his name.

Stuart, a former medical student who was serving a 15-year sentence, is trying to convince the courts he’s innocent. His lawyer, an assistant district attorney, said there’s no evidence to support the conviction.

Prosecutors consider the case closed.

"There’s not much more to do," said Clay Guida, a professor at the Boston College Law School.

Guida, who was the lead prosecutor in the case, said he remains convinced Stuart was guilty.

"There’s a nagging suspicion," Guida said.

The case involves a string of unsolved murders in the Boston area in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

Three bodies were found in different locations in the city, each with a single gunshot wound.

Stuart was convicted of the murders after a trial that lasted for several months.

"The evidence is very strong," Guida said.

Stuart was sentenced to life in prison.

"I don’t see any reason to doubt the evidence," Guida said.

On Monday, the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court heard arguments in a case filed by Stuart’s lawyer, who said there’s new evidence that could exonerate his client.

Stuart’s lawyer, Assistant District Attorney Thomas Mundy, said new witness testimony could shed light on the case.

Mundy said there’s a possibility that someone else was involved in the crimes.

"There’s a possibility," Mundy said.

The court was scheduled to hear arguments in the case next week.

If the court rules in Stuart’s favor, it could lead to a new trial.

"There’s a lot of uncertainty," Guida said.

Guida said he’s confident the court will rule against Stuart.

"I don’t see any reason to doubt the evidence," Guida said.

The case has drawn national attention, with many feeling that Stuart was unfairly convicted.

"There’s a lot of support," Guida said.

St. LOUIS-Dwight Drabek pitched a gem from start to finish Wednesday night as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0 for their third straight victory.

Drabek, who won his 16th game of the season, allowed six hits and two walks in nine innings while striking out nine. He recorded his 19th career shutout, joining Nolan Ryan and Steve Carlton as the only pitchers in major league history to win 19 games and record 19 shutouts in a season.

Drabek improved to 19-6 as the Phillies won their third straight and matched their season-high winning streak.

In the top of the fourth inning, Drabek gave up a leadoff single to Mark Whiten before retiring the next three batters. Drabek then retired 12 of the next 15 batters he faced.

The Phillies recorded their first hit of the game on a leadoff single by Scott Fletcher in the second inning. The Phillies scored their only run in the fifth inning when Raul Ibanez homered off Jeff Schnaible.

Drabek retired the next 17 batters he faced before giving up a single to Matt Williams in the eighth inning. Drabek then retired the next two hitters, only the third time in his career he had allowed more than one hit in an inning.

Drabek finished with a 2.07 ERA this season, tying for the league lead with 196 strikeouts. He also led the majors in innings pitched with 235.2.

Summer Squall wins Pennsylvania Derby

By Ralph Bernstein

PHILADELPHIA — Summer Squall, returning in racing after a 16-week vacation, rolled from dead last on the first turn to win the $300,000 Pennsylvania Derby at Philadelphia Park on Saturday.

On the backside of the track, horses begin making their way through the backstretch, but jockey Pat Day finally got the Piccadilly winner moving and was steady by 2-1/8 lengths.

Standing My Boy, upset shot on the board and ridden by Ira Ross, finished second to the winner and was two lengths behind Summer Squall.

"The victory was the 11th in 22 starts for the colt, who earned $190,800 and boosted his career earnings to $2,910,758."

Summer Squall, winner of the President after missing second in the Unbridled in the Kentucky Derby, ran 1 1/4 miles in 2:00 1/5 under top weight.

ISU coaches resist tougher standards

The Associated Press

AMES, Iowa — Iowa State football coach Jim Herrman has joined the list of coaches who are fighting to resist tougher standards.

"I don't think just the ACC nor even any college football is going to be able to survive, short of a national championship," Herrman said. "I think we need a little bit of flexibility because we can't exactly control the conditions we're going to face. It's too much of an adversarial situation."
