Iran agrees to resume full diplomatic relations with Iraq

By Mervie Zalich
The Associated Press

NIRODJA, Cyprus—Iraq and Monday it agreed to re-establish full diplomatic relations with its former adversary, Iraq, which in turn agreed to support Iraq's efforts to secure better terms from the United States.

Iraq and Iran, which never officially severed relations, had been engaged in a border dispute for several years. The agreement was signed in Baghdad by Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Velayati and his Iranian counterpart, Tariq Aziz. Both men were in Dubai on Monday for a 24-hour visit to Tehran, the first by an official since the Islamic revolution in 1979.

The Islamic Republic News Agency, whichA. Velayati and his Iraqi counterpart met Saturday, said, "This event was preceded by a series of meetings and consultations between the two countries." The agencies added that the talks were aimed at "normalizing relations and its momentum toward achieving complete normalization of relations between Iran and Iraq."
MacLean Hall trees to be replaced with shrubs

By Betsy West

The Daily Iowan

The town on the west side of MacLean Hall will see some landscaping changes this fall. The UConn Planning Committee recently met to discuss a number of landscaping changes, including replacing eight trees with shrubs.

The committee said that there are a number of reasons for replacing the trees, including health concerns and the desire for a more aesthetically pleasing area. The trees were identified as being in poor health, and the committee recommended that they be replaced with shrubs.

The committee also noted that the amount of shade reaching the MacLean classroom and offices will not be affected by the change.

There are many taller trees in the parking lot to shade the building. The committee also discussed the possibility of construction work in MacLean and everything is being tried to keep trucks and such on the west side of the building. They said it’s necessary.

"There are always a very, very tiny number of children's jobs. Being respectful of them," said the committee.

German reunification inspires politicians to travel to the U.S.

By Aaron A. Dolan

The Daily Iowan

Three East German politicians preparing for the upcoming reuni on of Germany said Monday they are "-inspired" by American politicians and want to improve ties in their own country.

"It is important to us that the three are responsible for the burden of unification?" said Armin Kletnau, the three East German politicians are, from left to right, Carmen Stange, Silveta Pauluhn and German teacher. "Abortion is more open in the East than in the West. The government right now has been criticized by avoiding the question until the new parliamentary elections."

"We are inspired by it."

The visit, held at the home of Iowa Senator Jean Lloyd Jones, was sponsored by the University of Iowa College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Students whose high-school curricula weren't as rigorous as their American counterparts, things will change."

"No matter who is in power, the West German government has poured millions of dollars into the East German economy, but "the money hasn't trickled down to the average scores for students were 25.3 for math, 21.4 for reading and 22.4 for science.

The percentage of Iowa students taking the test increased from 0.6 percent of all seniors in 1989 to 42.2 percent of the seniors. In 1996, only 0.9 percent of Iowa seniors took the test. The ACT did not reduce a state by state, student and school enrollment comparisons, citing differing circumstances in various states.

In a new release, the ACT said students took a new "enhanced" test last year. The ACT, based in Iowa City, said students who took college preparatory programs did better than other students.

"The governments have already decided to adopt a middle course, things will change."

The test also asked students to rate their courses. In Iowa, 68.5 percent of students rated their course "excellent," 15.1 percent rated it "very good," 8.7 percent rated it "good," 5.2 percent rated it "fair" and 2.5 percent rated it "poor."
Harkin proposes clean Senate campaign, stumps rival Tauke

Iraq offers free oil to Third World

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The White House confirmed yesterday that Saddam Hussein has agreed to sell the U.S. and other countries more than $6 billion worth of oil during the next 12 months.

In a meeting with the Israeli ambassador, President Bush confirmed the offer, which is expected to come as a surprise to the Israeli government.

Bush also said that he had spoken with Saudi Arabia and other nations that have expressed interest in purchasing Iraqi oil.

The offer is expected to be worth about $6 billion, which is more than the amount of oil sold by Saudi Arabia in the same period.

Bush said that the offer is not a one-time deal and that more oil will be sold in the coming months.

The offer is part of a broader effort to reduce tensions in the region and to encourage stability in the Middle East.

The president also said that he had spoken with the leaders of other countries that have expressed interest in purchasing Iraqi oil.

Little progress made on budget

By Alan Frad "The New York Times"

WASHINGTON — Air Force Base, Md. — Frad, budget talks that lasted for weeks.

"If we're still hopeful but it's not what we thought of it," said a U.S. Treasury Secretary.

"I'm optimistic that we'll get a deal at some point. I'm not optimistic that this particular talks would produce fruit until after Oct. 1."

NEW YORK — The final verdict on the U.S. Open ended a turbulent three-month season and began the era with fresh faces, new storylines and the hint of a new beginning.

"It's been like a really good movie," said Gabriela Sabatini, a French Open runner-up who led the U.S. Open come-from-behind story to a magical finish.

And now, with a young and revitalized Sabatini leading the U.S. Open story into a new era, it's time to move on to the World Cup and the Davis Cup.

"It's been a really good movie," said Sabatini, who captured her first U.S. Open title after beating the defending champion.

The U.S. Open ended with a series of surprises, many of which were unexpected. The biggest surprise was the emergence of a new crop of stars who are expected to dominate the game for years to come.

Indianapolis Colts rookie quarterback Jeff George is offered to by team physicians after being sacked by the Buffalos in last week's game in Buffalo. George left the game with a headache, but he said he would be ready for the Colts practice today.

George survives NFL debut

By Aaron Watson

The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS - Jeff George woke Monday with a massive headache and a stiff neck.

The pain wasn't a reminder of the quarterback's impact last week. Sunday in the Indianapolis Colts 20-10 loss to Buffalo. It was simply the result of Melissa Bennett's executing her best shot to get George out of the game in the fourth quarter.

A checkup at Methodist Hospital silenced any worries, and a satisfied George said that after a day off, he'll be back on the job Wednesday to prepare for Sunday's home debut against the New England Patriots.

"I'm just going to have a headache," said George, who participated in light stretching drills at the Colts training camp on Monday. "I'm not going to play today."

George said he was happy to get his first regular-season NFL game under his belt and didn't see Bennett's unnecessary welcome to the league as a one.

He shrugged off the Colts' scaled-down quarterback regimen, which has left the team with injured quarterback for the past several weeks.

"I wasn't worried about that. You can get hurt outside of the game, too," George said.

But for a few hours on Sunday, Colts fans held their breath. Bennett took the field with injured quarterback Scott Milanovich for the third of Indianapolis' 27-6 loss at Memorial Stadium.

Chuck Weid, who rushed for 138 yards last season, went down for the season with torn ligaments in his knee.

"I'm just going to have a headache, but I'm in no shape to play and I don't know what's going to happen for the rest of the season," George said.

Bennett, who also set Southwest师范's single-season records for touchdowns and 2,200 total offense, is expected to miss the rest of the season.

"He's already had a couple of setbacks," George said Tuesday. "Fortunately, the injury this time isn't too serious."

Top teams already hurting

By Jim Oden

The Associated Press

Just two weeks into the college football season, injuries have brought down some of the top teams.

Colts' 26-10 loss to the Cleveland Browns left quarterback Jeff George with a concussion. George, who had an NCAA record 1,689 yards last year, is out for the next three weeks after being sacked in the second quarter.

In the fourth quarter, the Colts' 27-6 loss to the Miami Dolphins left quarterback Scott Milanovich with another concussion. Milanovich, who had an NCAA record 3,654 yards and 26 touchdowns last season, is out for the year after suffering a neck injury in the third quarter of Saturday's 27-6 loss at Buffalo.

Chiefs Coach Marty Schottenheimer said Tuesday that Milanovich's neck is "looking good," but that he will be re-evaluated on Wednesday.

"It's going to be a long season," George said Tuesday. "I'm just going to have a headache, but I'm in no shape to play and I don't know what's going to happen for the rest of the season."
