

Nobel

2 U.S. doctors win prize in medicine. Page 7A

Iowa candidates meet in final debate. Page 3A

Writing program broadens horizons. Page 5A

Hawkeyes ranked No. 25 after MSU. Page 1B

Cloudy; Rain Expected

High 52°, low 41°. Rain likely in the morning. North winds.

The Daily Iowan

25 cents

Iowa City's Morning Newspaper

Tuesday, October 9, 1990

Budget Plans Compared

The revised budget deficit reduction package passed early Monday by the House of Representatives differs in key aspects from the one the House rejected Thursday night, precipitating the budget crisis.

| Package element       | Original budget summit packageRejected by the House Oct. 4                                                                                                    | Revised House packagePassed by the House Oct. 8                                                                                                      |
|-----------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Medicare cuts  | $80 billion in cuts over five years, including $28 billion in added cost to recipients; deductible doubled to $150                                             | $42 billion in cuts over five years, including $12 billion in added cost to recipients; deductible up 33% to $100                                     |
| Income taxes   | Reduces deduction by 3% for taxpayers earning over $100,000; raises ceiling on income taxed for Medicare from $51,300 to $73,000; no cut in capital gains rate | No specifics in package; particulars to be decided later by Congress. Democrats may trade a capital-gains cut for higher income tax rate for top bracket |
| Other taxes    | Specific list of excise tax increases already agreed by the White House, including gasoline, home heating oil, cigarettes, alcohol and luxury goods               | No specifics in package; particulars to be decided later by Congress. Gas taxes likely to draw heavy fire in committees                                  |
| Other spending | A variety of cuts in all departments, including significant reductions in defense and farm support spending                                                       | No specifics in package; particulars to be decided later by Congress. Basic structure of cuts expected to be retained                                    |

AP/Pat Lyons

Senate passes emergency bill

Bush, House likely to approve plan to avert government shutdown

By Alan Fram
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Senate passed an emergency bill Monday night that would end the government shutdown, and final approval by the House and President Bush appeared assured.

The Senate passed the measure on a voice vote after daylong negotiations in Capitol back rooms. The House planned to vote on the measure later in the evening and send it to Bush for his signature.

Congressional sources, who spoke on condition that their names not be revealed, said Bush had signaled to Republicans that he would sign it.

The House had approved a slightly different version of the bill early Monday, providing small amounts more for domestic programs than the Senate, and small amounts less for defense programs.

The measure would allow the government to operate normally through Oct. 19. Congressional leaders hope all budget work will be completed by then.

After the vote, the Senate immediately started moving toward final approval of a $500 billion deficit-reduction plan envisioning smaller cuts in Medicare, but possibly higher tax increases, than an earlier version the House rejected last week. This outline plan, which leaves specific spending cuts and tax increases to congressional committees to fill in before Oct. 19, had been agreed to by a House-Senate conference committee.

The Statue of Liberty, museums and national parks have been closed since Saturday because the budget crisis had prevented Congress from approving any spending legislation for the new fiscal year. But the full brunt of the federal shutdown was masked because of the long Columbus Day weekend.

Earlier in the day, lawmakers warned of chaos if the White House and Congress failed to resolve their months-long impasse over the federal deficit.

"We're not just dealing with programs," warned Senate Majority

"We're not just dealing with programs. We're dealing with individual human beings and families, and their hopes and fears and dreams."

George Mitchell
Senate majority leader

Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, urging his colleagues to pass the measure quickly. "We're dealing with individual human beings and families, and their hopes and fears and dreams."

"This has just been playing marshmallow stuff" so far, said Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., the Senate's assistant Republican leader, referring to the limited impact on the government during the Columbus Day holiday weekend.

"Any thoughtful, reasonable person now knows what happens to this government tomorrow."

Debate on the budget began in the early evening. Leaders of both parties had spent the day trying to line up support for the budget and for a separate measure bringing the shut-down government back to life Tuesday morning.

"This is not a shining moment for anyone," Senate Budget Committee Chairman James Sasser, D-Tenn., said of the budget mess as debate began. "And frankly, our countrymen are rightly tired of it."

The House passed the budget outline 250-164 in a post-midnight session early Monday. The measure contains far fewer specific spending cuts and tax increases than the version that went down to defeat last week, putting off those decisions for later in the month.

The vagueness of the new package left some senators unhappy.

See Budget, Page 4A

Brrr... Time to don the parkas

By Julie Creswell
The Daily Iowan

The winds of a drastic temperature change carried a change in attire and attitude with them in Iowa City Monday.

"I wore shorts on Saturday, and today I wore a winter jacket and sweats," said Kimberly Pierce, a junior from Rockford, Ill.

"This kind of weather makes it hard to get going in the morning," Pierce said. "It helps me to be tardy to my classes."

Rhonda Enserro, a junior from Shenandoah, Iowa, agreed with Pierce.

"This kind of weather makes it hard to get going in the morning. It helps me to be tardy to my classes."

Kimberly Pierce
UI junior

"I want it to get warm again. I've felt sick ever since it got cold," Enserro said. "It makes me feel depressed."

Monday's daytime high of 48 degrees, along with periods of drizzle, was a drastic change from Saturday's sunny skies and highs of 78. This severe drop in temperature forced several people to break out their winter coats and begin putting away their summer clothes.

"It was nice on Saturday when we went home so all we took with us was shorts," said Melissa Westendorf, a junior from Tripoli, Iowa.

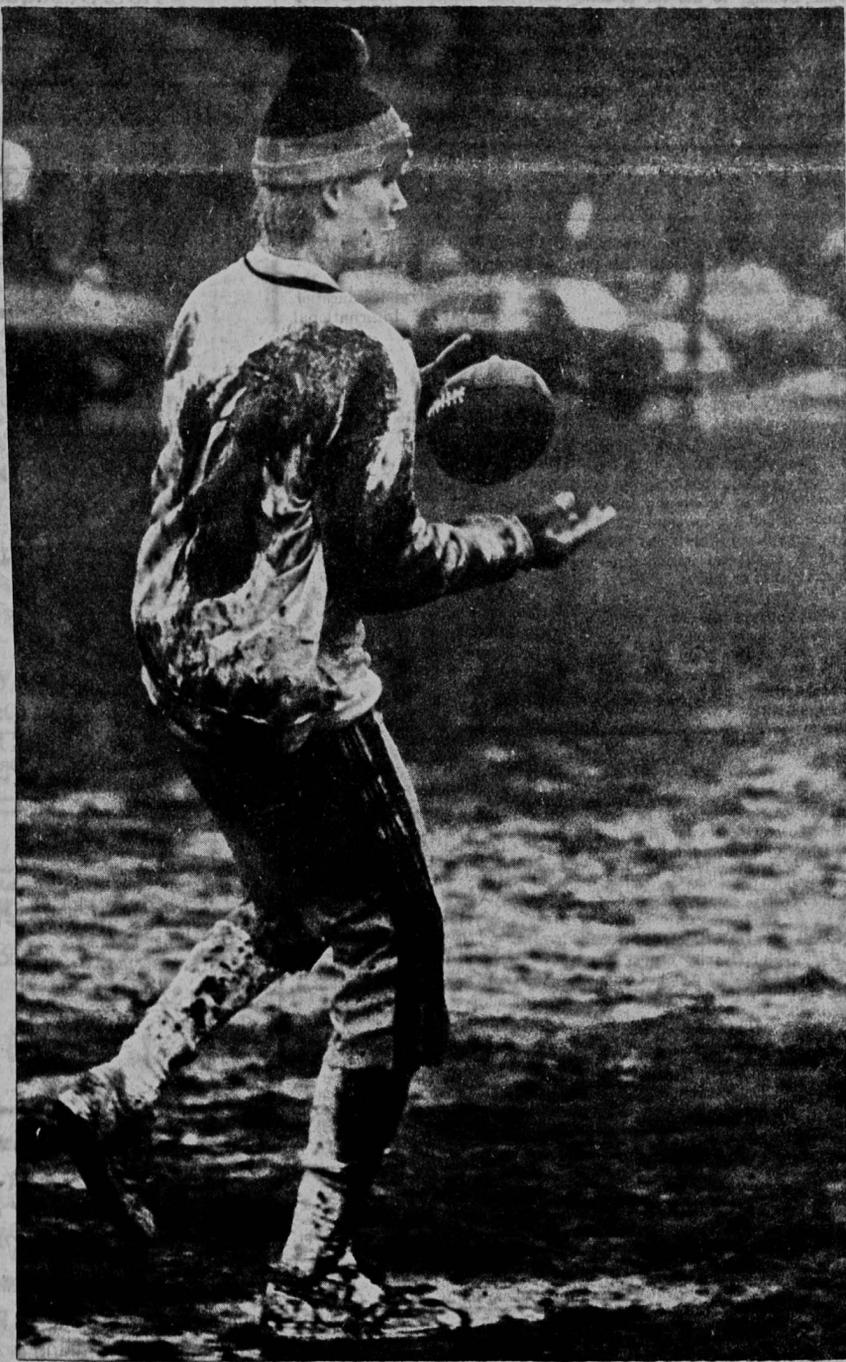

"And we froze to death under a sleeping bag while we were watching a football game," added her boyfriend, Mark Janes, a senior from Davenport. Both said they were forced to wear their winter coats today and were amazed at the number of people they saw walking on campus wearing shorts.

"I saw a few people in shorts today, and I thought, 'God, you must be crazy,'" Westendorf said.

Kelly Bollig, a senior from Bettendorf, Iowa, was one of the "crazy" people who chose to wear shorts to classes on Monday.

"I'm not wearing long pants until it snows or it's the first of December," Bollig said.

"I wore khaki shorts today and froze my ass off. Freezing rain may have to be the limit because I

The Daily Iowan/David Greedy

Monday's cold wind and rain may have kept many people indoors or bundled up in winter coats, but not UI sophomore Ethan Johnston. He and four friends played football on Union Field.

about froze to death today," she added.

The drop in temperatures brought with it a drop in business for Great Midwestern Ice Cream Co., 126 Washington St., according to Chris Graham, a shift manager.

"Usually on a Monday night there are a lot of people in here drinking coffee," Graham said. "They didn't even come in tonight."

But Bill Scott, a weather service specialist with the National Weather service in Des Moines, warned that it might not quite be time to put away the summer clothing. He predicted another temperature change by the end of the week, with weekend highs expected to reach the 70s.

"From last Saturday's high to today's high, we saw a 37 degree temperature decrease," said Scott. "But we should warm up toward the weekend."

"It's going to be considerably cooler than what we have had, but there is still going to be a few warm days left in the year," he added.

Police shoot Arabs in Jerusalem clash

By Arieh O'Sullivan
The Associated Press

JERUSALEM — In Jerusalem's worst bloodshed since 1967, police fired Monday on stone-throwing Palestinians at the Temple Mount sacred to both Jews and Muslims, and at least 19 Arabs died.

The shooting began after Palestinians hurled a barrage of stones from the mount onto thousands of Jews gathered just below at the Western Wall, or Wailing Wall, where the Jews were celebrating the festival of Sukkot. The wall is Judaism's holiest site.

The Arabs were apparently infuriated by rumors that Jewish extremists planned to march onto the Temple Mount, which is revered by both Jews and Muslims but is under Muslim control.

The bloodbath touched off riots in the occupied territories that killed three more Palestinians.

Police Minister Roni Milo said 19 Arabs were killed in Jerusalem and about 140 were wounded. Arab hospital officials at first said 22 were killed, then lowered their count to 18, with 125 wounded — lower than that given by the Israelis.

Milo said 120 Palestinians were arrested.

Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir expressed regret but insisted Israeli forces were blameless.

"We are greatly sorry about the blood spilled in vain," he said.

The single-day death toll was the highest since the Palestinian uprising against Israeli occupation began in December 1987, and the most deaths by violence in Jerusalem since Israeli soldiers captured the holy city's Arab sector in the 1967 Middle East war.

Arab reports said two Palestinians were killed and 62 wounded in later rioting in the occupied Gaza Strip.

A 20-year-old Palestinian was shot to death in the occupied West Bank when he tried to grab a soldier's rifle, Arab and Israeli reports said.

The army ordered curfews in several West Bank towns and refugee camps to contain the violence.

U.S. Secretary of State James Baker said in Washington that Israel needs to "exercise restraint" in handling such disturbances.

The U.N. Security Council convened in New York to condemn the killings. U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar expressed "grave concern" over the incident and said Israeli authorities may have used excessive force.

Iraq's governing Arab Baath Socialist Party threatened retaliation and predicted the "crime" would lead Arabs to "the liberation of Jerusalem and all other holy places" — a reference to Mecca and Medina in Saudi Arabia.

American photographer Mel Rosen watched from a balcony about 300 yards away and said the Palestinians let fly such a torrent of rocks he first thought flocks of birds had

See Israel, Page 4A

Village Inn employee files suit for chemical fumigant injury

By Aaron A. Dolan
The Daily Iowan

A lawsuit has been filed by an employee of the Village Inn restaurant who claims she received physical injuries when an extermination company failed to remove a dangerous chemical from the restaurant after it fumigated the building. The incident resulted in the death of the restaurant's assistant manager and has been the subject of litigation for more than two years.

According to a Johnson County District Court document, Terri Goss filed a lawsuit against W.B. McCloud and Company of Schaumburg, Ill., and Stephen Plath, an employee of the company.

Five W.B. McCloud employees, supervised by Plath, fumigated the Village Inn Restaurant, 9 Sturgess Corners Drive, Oct. 5, 1988, with methyl bromide, a highly toxic pesticide.

After the fumigation, Plath announced that the restaurant was safe to re-enter. The next day, Terry Schneider, 19, was found dead in an employee restroom from methyl bromide poisoning.

Both the company and Plath were charged with involuntary manslaughter. Plath pleaded guilty to the charge on April 20.

Goss, a hostess at the restaurant, also was exposed to dangerous levels of the fumigant, according to the suit.

Court documents state that "the premises were not safe because proper precautions and inspections had not occurred and the covers on the ventilation fans had not been removed."

As a result of exposure to the fumigant, Goss became nauseated and faint, according to the suit. Court documents go on to state that she was taken to the hospital for tests. However, the toxic effects of the fumigant have not yet been determined.

Action on the suit is still pending.

Suspect pleads innocent in Osceola slaying

The Associated Press

OSCEOLA, Iowa — A former county appraiser pleaded innocent Monday to first-degree murder in the death of a traveling evangelist found bludgeoned to death in an Osceola motel.

Robert Benn remains in Clarke County jail in lieu of $200,000 bond. He is scheduled to go on trial Jan. 7.

Benn is charged in the death of Timothy

Peterson, an evangelist whose body was found Aug. 18 in a Super 8 motel room in Osceola.

Documents filed in Clarke County District Court say a teacher from Unionville, Mo., was dating Benn and previously had a relationship with Peterson.

Janet Brown said in court documents she had told Benn about her past sexual involvement with Peterson. Brown said she also told Benn of her past plans to work with Peterson in the entertainment business.

Court records said Benn and Brown were dating and that Benn threatened violence over Brown's disclosure.

Peterson's last gospel singing performance was at Faith United Methodist Church in Russell. Court records mentioned he was going to Osceola to meet a promoter.

Benn was an appraiser for Jefferson County when he was arrested in August.

Parking lot renovation too costly for UI

By Cynthia Taylor
The Daily Iowan

Campus parking shortages are common, but an empty parking ramp next to one of the UI's largest residence halls is not.

An underground parking ramp was part of the package when the UI bought Mayflower in 1983 and converted it from an apartment complex to a residence hall. However, not included in the costs of renovation were funds for bringing the discarded ramp up to standard building codes.

The cost of renovating the ramp could be up to $200,000, a bill the UI doesn't want to foot for 80 parking spaces, according to Maggie Van Oel, assistant director of housing.

George Droll, director of residence services, indicated the costs would be much higher. Because it is underground, the ramp would have to meet stricter standards for lighting, ventilation and fire safety.

The UI looked into the possibility of utilizing the ramp about five years ago, said Droll, but a proposal for its use is not currently in the UI's plans.

This does little to ease the worries of close to 80 students now on the waiting list for parking permits at Mayflower. According to residence services, that number is higher at the beginning of the year because many students have still not found alternative parking.

"Because of the limited parking, students are given permits on a first-come first-serve basis," said Dorene Schmitz, Mayflower hall director. Usually, new students don't get spaces, she added.

Because of Mayflower's location, additional parking lots to serve the residence hall are simply not available, Van Oel said.

"That's why there's Cambus," she added.

Some residents who have not been lucky enough to get a spot in the 144-space Mayflower lot must ride the Cambus system for up to a half-hour to get to their cars in the storage lot near Finkbine Golf Course. The west storage lot on south Riverside Drive cannot be directly reached by bus.

Cambus coordinator Brian McClatchey said Cambus services the large Finkbine lot because it is a combination commuter and storage lot. The smaller lot on Riverside Drive, however, presents a number of difficulties for Cambus operators.

"Such lots are intended for storage only, not regular access," he said.

"We can get students within three blocks of the west storage lot, but direct access causes significant problems."

The buses cannot maneuver in the small storage lot, and the street is not safe for a bus stop, McClatchey said.

Other residents are bypassing the UI parking system altogether in order to be closer to Mayflower, sometimes paying twice as much as students who park in UI storage lots.

One Iowa City resident who lives about a block away from Mayflower rents out her driveway to students for $80 per semester. An annual parking permit for the Finkbine or west storage lots is $72.

Courts

By Aaron A. Dolan
The Daily Iowan

A Davenport man was sentenced Oct. 5 to 120 days in prison with 90 days suspended and two years of probation for assault causing injury.

According to Johnson County District Court records, Randy R. Bloomer, 33, 2305 Scott, Davenport, was charged March 31 for grabbing the wrist of an attendant at Express Stop, located off Highway 1, who refused to sell him beer when she noticed that he was already intoxicated. Records state that the victim suffered pulled tendons and bruises to her arm from the assault.

Bloomer has been given four hours credit for time already served, records state. He has been ordered to pay restitution to the victim and will receive substance abuse evaluation and treatment, according to records.

■ A Coralville man was charged Oct. 5 with leaving the scene of a personal injury accident and failing to report it to the police.

According to Johnson County District Court records, Tim L. Pudil, 1209 Second St., Coralville, struck a man with his car in the alley at 200 S. Clinton St., causing the victim to be thrown onto the hood of the automobile. Records state that at the alley's intersection with Clinton Street, the defendant allegedly slammed on his brakes, causing the victim to be thrown onto the pavement. The victim received abrasions to his hands and knees, according to records. Bail has been set at $1,000, and a preliminary hearing will be held Oct. 16.

■ Three Iowa City men were charged for the Oct. 7 vandalism of a car.

According to Johnson County District Court records, Ryan M. Beams, 19, and Aaron A. Rose, 19, both living at 729 N. Dubuque St. and Sean M. Reilly, 19, N168 Hillcrest, were seen vandalizing a red 1991 Ford with one other man at 12:55 a.m.

Records state that the vehicle was dented in several places and there were footprints in the roof and hood. Damage to the car is estimated between $200 and $500, according to records.

Both Reilly and Beams told officers that two other men did the damage, but a witness reported that all four were kicking the vehicle, records say.

All three have been released on their own recognizance, and a preliminary hearing will be held Oct. 26.

■ An Iowa City man was charged Oct. 6 with third-degree mischief after stopping a vehicle and pounding and jumping on the hood.

According to Johnson County District Court records, Kevin R. Enabnit, 303 Ellis Ave., was arrested for intoxication in the 600 block of Greenwood Drive. Police later received a report that the defendant had allegedly caused $250 damage to a 1988 Chevrolet as it tried to drive into the 600 block of Greenwood Drive. The defendant has been released on his own recognizance, and a preliminary hearing will be held Oct. 6.

Briefs

Three Irish clerics to speak in IC today

Three clerics will speak on "How to Reconcile the Conflict in Northern Ireland" at a luncheon of the Iowa City Foreign Relations Council today.

The Rev. James Mehahey, Anglican Bishop of Derry and Raphoe; the Most Rev. Edward Daly, Roman Catholic Bishop of Derry; and the Rev. Margaret Johnson, Presbyterian Church in Ireland, are participating in a speaking tour of the U.S.

The tour is the first event associated with the formation of the Inter-church Committee on Northern Ireland to gather on a regular basis officials from the U.S. Catholic Conference, the Irish Episcopal Conference and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and Northern Ireland.

Nursing College offers conferences

Mental health nursing and traumatic brain injury will be the topics of two conferences offered in October by the UI College of Nursing through its Continuing Education Program.

The Seventh Annual Mental Health Nursing Conference will be held this Thursday and Friday in Coralville. It will address impairment of function related to substance abuse and mental illness.

The Fifth Annual Traumatic Brain Injury Conference will be held Oct. 25 and 26 at the Five Seasons Hotel in Cedar Rapids. The program will address challenges posed by caring for head-injured patients and their families and will present strategies for maximizing care.

Continuing Education credit is available for both conferences. For more information, contact Nancy Lathrop at 335-7654.

Fulbright deadline approaching

The J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarships Board has announced that the 1991-92 competition for grants for graduate study abroad will close on Oct. 31.

Most grants provide round-trip transportation, tuition and maintenance for one academic year, and a few provide international travel only or a stipend intended as a partial grant or aid.

Each applicant must be a U.S. citizen, should generally hold a bachelor's degree before the beginning date of the grant and should be proficient in the language of the host country.

For application forms and further information contact Fulbright Program Adviser Phil Carls at the Office of International Education and Services, 28 International Center, 335-0335.

VA employee of the month named

Employees at the VA Medical Center, Iowa City, have selected Mary Slay, Pharmacy Service, as employee of the month for October.

Slay, who has worked at the center for 11 years, is being honored for her "constant cheerfulness" and the extra effort she puts forth to help fellow employees with special assignments and projects.

The award entitles her to $100, a desirable one-month parking location and a certificate of appreciation.

Calendar

Tuesday

■ Central American Solidarity Committee will have a general meeting at 7 p.m. in the Union, Miller Room.

■ Johnson County Citizens for Harkin steering committee will meet at 7 p.m. at the Iowa City Public Library, 123 S. Linn St., Meeting Room A. Open to all Harkin supporters.

■ Green political movement in the United States will be the topic of a speech by Howard Hawkins, sponsored by the UI Environmental Coalition, Tallgrass Prairie and Earth First! The event will be held at 7 p.m. in Van Allen Hall, Lecture Room 2.

■ Iowa City ZEN Center holds daily meditation at 5:30 a.m., 6:20 a.m., 4:30 p.m. and 5:20 p.m. at 10 S. Gilbert St., second floor.

■ Gay People's Union will host an outreach/support group at 8 p.m. at Trinity Place, 320 E. College St., off the alley.

■ SHARE support group, for parents who have experienced miscarriage, stillbirth or infant death, will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the First Floor Conference Room of Mercy Hospital, 500 E. Market St.

■ Faith and Feminism discussion will be held by the Lutheran Campus Ministry at noon at Old Brick, corner of Clinton and Market streets.

■ Society for Creative Anachronism will have a medieval dessert party at 6:30 p.m. in the Union, Grant Wood Room.

■ The University Club Luncheon will be held at noon at Days Inn/Ironmen, I-80 exit 242.

■ Amnesty International will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. in Old Brick, corner of Clinton and Market streets.

■ International Association of Business Communications will have a business meeting and speaker at 6:30 p.m. in Jessup Hall, Room 221.

■ "A Whole Summer of Mission ... Sure!" is the title of a meeting that will be held by VISION of the Baptist Student Union at 7 p.m. in the Union, Kirkwood Room.

■ Baptist Student Union will host a study break and open discussion on the existence of God at 9 p.m. in Hillcrest Residence Hall, Riverview Room. Free soda and nachos will be served.

■ "The Lost Weekend" (Billy Wilder, 1945) — 7 p.m.

■ "Five Star Final" (Mervyn LeRoy, 1931) — 8:45 p.m.

■ "Time of the Gypsies" (Emir Kusturica, 1989) — 6:30 p.m.

■ Art
 Exhibits at the UI Hospitals and Clinics include: Quilts by Candace Carmichael in the Carver Links, levels 2 and 3; "Paperworks" by Jocelyn Chateaubert in the Main Lobby; representational pastel and charcoal drawings by Richard Houston in the Boyd Tower East Lobby; screen-printing by Bill Ward in the Boyd Tower West Lobby; photography by Peter Feldstein in the Patient and Visitor Activities Center.

Music

■ Alex Slobodyanik, pianist, will perform from 12:15-1 p.m. in Colloton Atrium of the UI Hospitals and Clinics.

Recitals

■ J. Mark Thompson will give a DMA bass trombone recital at 5:30 p.m. in Harper Hall.

Nightlife

■ Teazer will perform at Gabe's Oasis, 330 E. Washington St., at 10 p.m.

Calendar Policy

Announcements for this column must be submitted to The Daily Iowan newsroom, 201N Communications Center, by 1 p.m. two days prior to publication. Notices may be sent through the mail, but be sure to mail early to ensure publication. All submissions must be clearly printed on a Calendar column blank (which appears on the classified ads pages) or typewritten and triple-spaced on a full sheet of paper.

Announcements will not be accepted over the telephone. All submissions must include the name and phone number, which will not be published, of a contact person in case of questions.

Notices that are commercial advertisements will not be accepted. Questions regarding the Calendar column should be directed to Ann Marie Williams, 335-8063.

Corrections

There was a factual error in an article about the Law School Admission Test on page 1A of the Friday, Oct. 5, DI. Deborah Hoffmann of the Stanley Kaplan Educational

The Silver Spoon

"Looks can be deceiving, it's eating that's believing." — James Thurber

This Week's Special:

Italian Beef Sandwich

Shredded Beef with Italian seasonings, onion & mozzarella cheese on a freshly baked bun. Served with pasta & pepper salad. Buon Appetito!

Only $4.50

405 Second Ave. • Coralville • 338-1323

PIZZA DELIVERY

Do you have time to earn good money? We have a job for you!

Our Delivery Drivers earn up to $8.00 an hour from wages, tips, and gas reimbursement. Plus we offer flexible schedules and 1/2 price meals.

Day and night shifts available full or part-time. Must have your own car and insurance.

You must be 18 years old

STOP IN TODAY!

118 S. Dubuque St., Iowa City
351-4556

BREITLING
1884

OLD NAVITIMER self-winding chronograph. 18 kt. gold, steel bicolor, steel. Leather strap or metal bracelet.

INSTRUMENTS FOR PROFESSIONALS

m.c. ginsberg jewelers

110 east washington/iowa city, iowa 52240
800-373-1702 319-351-1700
Monday-Friday 9:30-6 Saturday 9:30-5:30

The Daily Iowan

Iowa City's Morning Newspaper

|                        |              |
|------------------------|--------------|
| Business Office        | 335-7886     |
| Circulation            | 335-5783     |
| Classified Advertising | 335-5784     |
| Display Advertising    | 335-5790     |
| Newsroom               | 335-6063     |
| Production             | 335-5789     |
| FAX                    | 319-335-6297 |

The Daily Iowan uses soybean ink and is often printed on recycled newspaper. We encourage our readers to recycle their newspapers.

Speaker: Christianity, scientific theory can peacefully co-exist

By Sonja West
The Daily Iowan

Trying to find a tie between biblical creationism and scientific evidence, Owen Gingerich asked his audience to accept the scientific theory only as a beginning to understanding the universe.

Gingerich, Harvard University physics and astronomy professor, spoke to a full house in Van Allen Hall Monday. The public lecture, titled "Let There Be Light: Modern Cosmology and Biblical Creation," was part of the Geneva Lecture Series that sponsors speakers who address Christianity and academics.

Gingerich concentrated on the beginnings of the universe and explained in detail the big bang theory and the search for the age of the Earth. He said that scientific theory explains the origins of the Earth but also provides clues to the existence of a creator.

"The picture of the universe is far more satisfying if we accept the designing hand of a superintelligence," he said.

The scientific explanation only describes "the how" of creation, he said.

"The alternative way would be the way the book of Genesis gives it, which adds the who and the why to the scientific picture," he said.

Gingerich said he disagrees with the creationists' denial of scientific research.

"But (the creationists) are mistaken when they take scientific explanations as such to be anti-God or atheistic. They're wrong when they think the Genesis account can substitute for the how of scientific explanations."

Gingerich said the constantly changing and updating nature of science allows for biblical ideas to remain a possibility.

"I know, just as the Catholic church in Galileo's day did, that there can be alternative explanations for certain observations."

He confronted atheistic scientists with their view of the Anthropic Principle, which hypothesizes about the connection between environment and life.

"They've turned the darn thing around. Rather than accepting that we're here because of a deliberate supernatural design, they claim that the universe simply must be this way because we're here. Had the universe not ended up right, we wouldn't be here to observe ourselves and that was that."

Gingerich said atheistic scientists will constantly argue against the existence of a creator no matter what questions science alone cannot answer.

"I'm personally persuaded that through the eyes of faith one can see numerous messages of the designer's hand in the universe. But I have many good friends who can't see it that way, so I'm doubtful that you can argue someone into faith simply from evidences of science."

Speaker discusses covert activities law

By Jessica Davidson
The Daily Iowan

If you bought an old, used car solely on the recommendation of its owner, your family could probably have you declared incompetent.

According to former CIA agent David MacMichael, Congress is buying new legislation in this fashion from the executive branch regarding the president's power to conduct covert operations.

MacMichael spoke to more than 100 UI students and Iowa City residents Monday night about Title VII of the 1991 Intelligence Authorization Bill.

Title VII addresses the legality of certain actions that occurred during the Iran-Contra affair revealed in 1986 and determines what supervision is needed from Congress.

MacMichael said the bill basically legalizes all the questionable activities that took place.

"This bill is a total surrender to the executive pretensions to power put forward during the Iran-Contra scandal. It is a retreat from any congressional control," MacMichael said.

MacMichael criticized the bill on a number of points, including what he said will be operations to achieve foreign policy objectives instead of protecting national security, allowing unnamed third parties to participate in covert operations and the lack of legal penalties for disobedience.

The U.S. Senate unanimously passed the bill at 3:30 a.m. Aug. 4 without debate. The House version of the bill was passed in committee Sept. 12, but the House conference committee has not decided whether to adopt it.

MacMichael said he objects to covert operations because they are counterproductive, against international law and corruptive of the constitutional process.

"Covert operations result in drastic miscarriages of justice, in the denial of civil and legal rights of U.S. citizens."

MacMichael worked in the CIA until 1983, when he said he "fell into disfavor for continual questioning of the validity" of the Nicaraguan Contra program.

The talk was sponsored by the Central American Solidarity Committee and New Wave.

Avenson: Branstad not to be trusted

Candidates discuss abortion, death penalty in final debate

By Mike Glover
The Associated Press

SIoux CITY, Iowa—Republican Gov. Terry Branstad Monday declared "I will not raise taxes" but Democratic rival Don Avenson charged the governor "is possessed by the idea of being re-elected" and can't be believed.

In a sharp conclusion to their series of campaign debates, the two accused each other of being big spenders, squabbled over the state's economy and charted deep divisions over the death sentence and abortion.

Avenson charged that it was "incredibly unfortunate" that Branstad raised the death sentence issue in the closing days of the campaign.

"This is a governor who has commuted life sentences," said Avenson. "Under the governor's plan, that person would be dead and you couldn't find out if there'd been an injustice."

But Branstad suggested he favored a very limited restoration of the death sentence, to deter people who kill in the course of another crime.

"Today, they have nothing to lose and a lot to gain," said Branstad.

Avenson repeated his pro-choice stand while Branstad said supporting the death penalty and opposing abortion are consistent because both "protect innocent life."

Some of the sharpest exchanges of the third campaign debate between the two came as they fought about tax and spending policies. Each suggested the other was a big spender who would raise taxes.

"I have to set the record straight. Terry Branstad will say almost anything to avoid real issues," said Avenson. "We sent him budgets that were $72 million less than he requested."

Branstad is running a heavy television campaign attacking Avenson for pushing tax increases, and Avenson labeled that effort "all this malarkey" and "a bunch of hokey."

"I don't support raising taxes. I've consistently believed in balancing the budget without raising taxes," said Branstad. "Don Avenson has consistently been a big spender. I just find it amazing that he says he spent less than I recommended."

Avenson charged that Branstad has made big campaign promises that will force tax increases.

"Iowans are tired of politicians who spend more time running for re-election than they do getting the job done," said Avenson.

Avenson suggested that voters should believe few of Branstad's promises.

"I won't make campaign promises I can't keep," said Avenson. "This is the governor who said the lottery is immoral and when he got booted at Hawkeye games, he signed that same thing he said was immoral on the west steps of the Capitol in front of God and the world. Fiscal integrity is more important than making those promises."

"I find it really astounding to hear Don Avenson say he's not promised anything to any groups," countered Branstad. "He's promised just about every group imaginable that he will provide additional spending."

The two offered sharply differing views of the state's economy, with Avenson arguing that the governor has tossed away economic development money on giant corporations, with Branstad countering that he's turned the economy around to recovery.

"The voters of Iowa have a very clear choice," said Branstad. "When I was elected governor, Iowa was facing tough times. I put the focus on economic development. The Iowa economy is coming back."

But Avenson offered a differing view.

"I get angry when I see Terry Branstad chasing jobs you can't raise a family on," said Avenson. "We can do better than that."

The clash Monday night was the last of three between Branstad and Avenson and comes just four weeks before voters have their say on Nov. 6. Most polls show Branstad with a lead in the race, though the margins vary. Both candidates stuck close to the bedrock themes they've sounded throughout the race, breaking little new ground.

Neither made an embarrassing gaffe or scored an overwhelming jab.

Despite questions from a panel of television reporters, the two sounded their basic themes. Avenson said Branstad will do anything to win election, while Branstad said he's charted the course through tough economic times and deserves a third four-year term.

"This is a governor who is possessed with the idea of being re-elected and being the governor of this state," Avenson said.

Branstad argued that he's been responsible for controlling the Legislature run by Avenson.

"What I vetoed is Don Avenson's excesses," said Branstad.

HEALTH CAREERS FAIR

?????
ARE YOU INTERESTED IN A CAREER IN THE HEALTH SCIENCES
?????

Visit with representatives from:

- ORTHOPTICS
- MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY
- NUCLEAR MEDICINE TECHNOLOGY
- PHYSICIAN ASSISTANT
- PHYSICAL THERAPY
- EXERCISE SCIENCE
- DENTAL HYGIENE

Career Opportunities, Education, Entrance Requirements

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 10
1:00-4:00 P.M.
IMU NORTH ROOM

Sponsored by the Division of Associated Medical Sciences

Tough on the outside. Soft on the inside.

The new Upland Game boot from Timberland features genuine handsewn construction. Our unique Timberthane sole provides unmatched flexibility and comfort without sacrificing durability. Add to that a toe overlay of sharkskin to keep the briars at bay and you have a boot tough enough to keep your feet in comfort even in the thickest of thickets.

138 S. Clinton Iowa City, IA. 52240 (319) 337-9444

Clip-n-Save

ZENITH

data systems

Groupe Bull

EDUCATIONAL PURCHASE PROGRAM

MINISPORT™ HARD DRIVE

- 80C88 Processor
- 1 MB RAM
- Crystal Bright Screen
- 640 x 200 CGA
- Serial Port
- Parallel Port
- Weighs 6.0 lbs
- Notebook Size
- FAST lynx
- MS DOS

$1399

Model 20
w/20 Meg Hard Drive
External 720K
3.5" Floppy Disk

SUPERSPORT 286<sup>e</sup>

- 80286 Processor
- 640 x 480 VGA Video
- Fluorescent Backlit Screen
- 1 MB RAM
- Serial Port
- Parallel Port
- PC/AT Compatible
- DOS
- Battery and AC Adapter

$2099

Model 20
w/20 Meg Hard Drive
3.5" 1.44MB Floppy Drive

$2299

SUPERSPORT SX

- 80386-SX Processor
- Zero Wait State
- 16/8 MHz
- 1 MB RAM
- 640 x 480 VGA Video
- Fluorescent Backlit Screen
- Serial Port
- Parallel Port
- DOS
- Battery and AC Adapter

$3299

Model 40
w/40 Meg Hard Drive
3.5" 1.44MB Floppy Drive

$3699

Buy any CPU and get Microsoft WORD & EXCEL for $100

ZENITH
data systems

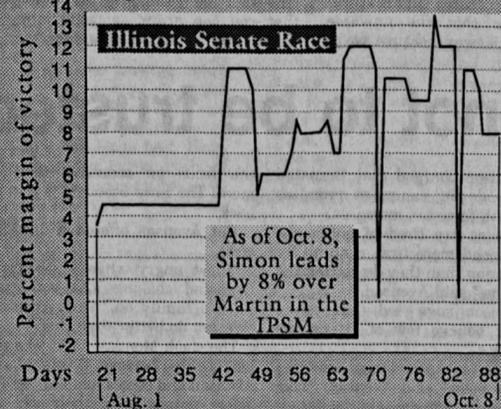

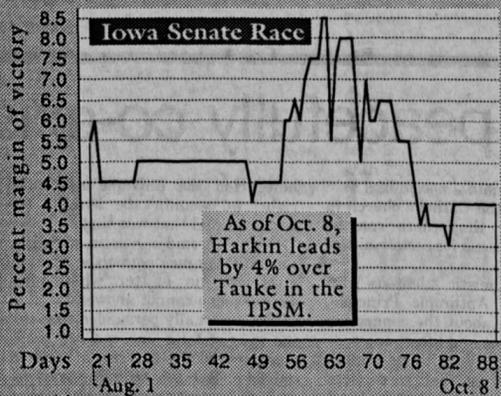

Groupe Bull

Stop by The Computer Fair today from 9:00 AM-7 PM for a demonstration.

For more information contact:
Bob Ross, Account Manager/Education
Zenith Data Systems 612-893-9540
or leave message on Voice Mail
1-800-258-2422 MAILBOX 1442

Clip-n-Save

Iowa Political Stock Market

While Paul Simon's 10% lead in the Illinois race has remained constant since September, Tom Harkin's lead in the Iowa race fell sharply two weeks ago but has leveled off recently. The IPSM predicts Harkin will win 52% of the vote Nov. 6.

Source: IPSM

The Daily Iowan

Iowa Political Stock Market predicts Harkin will beat Tauke with 52% of vote

By Kevin Boot
The Daily Iowan

Incumbent Tom Harkin's stock has leveled out at $1.04 a share after a dramatic plunge last week. Jack Wright, UI political science professor, said that Harkin's fall from a $1.09 high began after challenger Tom Tauke increased his advertising campaign against Harkin. "It seems to us that Tauke may have turned the heat up a few weeks ago and that he may have gotten all that he could out of that," Wright said. "It seems to be in a sort of stalemate now." Bob Forsythe, who is the co-founder of the Iowa Political Stock Market, said each campaign's advertising has negated the other, leaving Harkin to hold onto his lead. The IPSM predicts Harkin will win with 52 percent of the vote.

Budget

"I'm not going to sign onto this fill-in-the-blanks package," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, who supported and helped write the first package. Sasser said of the new proposal, "The best argument is it reduces the deficit by historic proportions over the next five years and gives Congress flexibility on issues and problems that have troubled members and constituents over the last few days." Many lawmakers of both parties believe that in the end the new plan will also contain a cut in the capital gains tax rate and higher income taxes for the wealthy. Bush has wanted to slash the capital gains tax — levied on sales of property — for years, while Democrats have demanded the higher rates on the wealthy as a tradeoff. The new proposal would eliminate many of the specifics from savings proposals that had driven a majority of both Democrats and Republicans to reject an initial package Friday in the House. Gone was one-third of the earlier plan's $60 billion in Medicare reductions — including higher costs and lower benefits for beneficiaries. Specifics on higher taxes for gasoline, home-heating oil, alcohol, tobacco and other items were also deleted. Instead, the new version would pare Medicare savings to $40 billion. New taxes over the five years could total $10 billion more than the $135 billion in the old package, but all decisions about specific spending cuts and tax boosts were to be left to Congress' committees. This approach worked in the House, which approved the new plan despite opposition from most minority Republicans. Like the rejected package, the new plan claims to save $40 billion in the fiscal year that started Oct. 1, and $500 billion over the next five years. House Democratic leaders told their rank-and-file that under the new plan, the Medicare deductible paid by recipients for doctors' costs would rise gradually from $75 to $100, instead of the $150 in the old package. The House also approved, 305-105, a separate measure early Monday providing enough money for the government to function normally through Oct. 19. That is the date by which lawmakers will like to adjourn for the year.

Israel

Continued from page 1A

left their nests in the crannies of the Wailing Wall. Oded Wiener, an Israeli witness, said thousands of Jews fled in panic. "People started shouting 'Where is my child?' and running," he said. "Suddenly I saw this huge, empty plaza. It looked like after a pogrom." Atop the Temple Mount, Muslim cleric Sheik Jamal Alami pointed to pools of blood and told an American reporter, "Your country is giving the Israelis bullets. In 1967, there was no shooting like today. This is a holy mosque, and you tell me, why are the soldiers here?" A 14-year-old Palestinian boy who gave his name only as Safyan said he and other Muslims ran to protect the holy site after mosque loudspeakers warned that Jews were coming. "It's very sad," Police Commissioner Yaacov Terner said of the bloodshed on Israel army radio. But he insisted Arabs started the Jerusalem violence. He said authorities repeatedly assured Muslim leaders no Jewish march would be permitted on the mount. He said caches of stones and flammable material found proved the Arabs had mounted "a planned provocation." Terner said their aim was partly to divert world attention from the Persian Gulf crisis, in which Palestinians have come out in support of Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein. Among those arrested Monday was Faisal Hussein, a leading supporter of the Palestine Liberation Organization who is involved in unofficial peace contacts with Israeli moderates.

"The Kirov has a mystique no other company can boast." — Washington Times

FROM LENINGRAD

THE KIROV BALLET

presents Giselle

With live music by The University of Iowa Orchestra

Monday and Tuesday
October 29 and 30
8 p.m.

The Kirov will present a program of three dances on Wednesday October 31 8 p.m.

"To see the Kirov production of Giselle... is to see the company in all its greatness." — New York Times

This company, in which Baryshnikov and Nureyev first danced, is the legendary source of classical ballet.

For ticket information
Call 335-1160
or toll-free in Iowa outside Iowa City
1-800-HANCHER

The University of Iowa
Iowa City, Iowa

APFW
ASSOCIATED PROFESSIONAL and FACULTY WOMEN

presents

A TALK WITH PRESIDENT HUNTER R. RAWLINGS

October 10,
4:00-5:30 p.m.
Galagan Aud. A.,
Dental Science Building

A Networking Organization of The University of Iowa Women

Clip-n-Save

ZENITH data systems

Groupe Bull

EDUCATIONAL PURCHASE PROGRAM

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                            |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Z-286LP <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• AT Compatible</li> <li>• 80286 Processor</li> <li>• 8 MHz</li> <li>• Zero Wait State</li> <li>• 1 MB RAM</li> <li>• 2 Serial Ports</li> <li>• 1 Parallel Port</li> <li>• 2 Expansion Slots</li> <li>• OS/2 Compatible</li> <li>• VGA Video</li> <li>• Security Latch</li> <li>• 101 Key Keyboard</li> <li>• Small Footprint</li> <li>• Microsoft Windows 3.0</li> <li>• Microsoft Mouse</li> <li>• DOS</li> </ul>           | $1099 Model 20w/20 Meg Hard Drive Monochrome Monitor3-1/2" 1.44 MB Floppy Drive Order # ZMF-286-20                                             | WHILE QUANTITIES LAST               |
| Z-286LP <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• AT Compatible</li> <li>• 80286 Processor</li> <li>• 8 MHz</li> <li>• Zero Wait State</li> <li>• 1 MB RAM</li> <li>• 2 Serial Ports</li> <li>• 1 Parallel Port</li> <li>• 2 Expansion Slots</li> <li>• OS/2 Compatible</li> <li>• VGA Video</li> <li>• Security Latch</li> <li>• 101 Key Keyboard</li> <li>• Small Footprint</li> <li>• Microsoft Windows 3.0</li> <li>• Microsoft Mouse</li> <li>• DOS</li> </ul>           | $1349 Model 20w/20 Meg Hard Drive Zenith FTM 1492 Color Monitor3-1/2" 1.44 MB Floppy Drive Order # ZMF-212-X2                                  | WHILE QUANTITIES LAST               |
| Z-286LP PLUS <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• AT Compatible</li> <li>• 80286 Processor</li> <li>• 12 MHz</li> <li>• Zero Wait State</li> <li>• 1 MB RAM</li> <li>• 2 Serial Ports</li> <li>• 1 Parallel Port</li> <li>• 2 Expansion Slots</li> <li>• OS/2 Compatible</li> <li>• VGA Video</li> <li>• Security Latch</li> <li>• 101 Key Keyboard</li> <li>• Small Footprint</li> <li>• Microsoft Windows 3.0</li> <li>• Microsoft Mouse</li> <li>• DOS 4.0</li> </ul> | $1599 Model 20w/20 Meg Hard Drive Zenith FTM 1492 Color Monitor3-1/2" 1.44 MB Floppy Drive Order # ZMF-212-X2MODEL 40 # ZMF-212-X4 $1799 | UPGRADABLE TO 386/SX $299.00 16 MB |
| Z-386/SX <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 386 Compatible</li> <li>• 80386SX Processor</li> <li>• 16 MHz</li> <li>• Zero Wait State</li> <li>• 2 MB RAM</li> <li>• 2 Serial Ports</li> <li>• 1 Parallel Port</li> <li>• 4 Expansion Slots</li> <li>• OS/2 Compatible</li> <li>• VGA Video</li> <li>• 101 Key Keyboard</li> <li>• Small Footprint</li> <li>• Microsoft Windows 3.0</li> <li>• DOS 4.0</li> <li>• Microsoft Mouse</li> <li>• Toolbook</li> </ul>        | $2199 Model 40w/40 Meg Hard Drive Zenith FTM 1492 Color Monitor3-1/2" 1.44 MB Floppy Drive Order # ZMF-316-X4MODEL 80 # ZMF-316-8 $2499  |                                            |

Buy any CPU and get Microsoft WORD & EXCEL for $100

ZENITH data systems Groupe Bull

Stop by The Computer Fair today from 9:00 AM-7 PM for a demonstration.

For more information contact:
Bob Ross, Account Manager/Education
Zenith Data Systems 612-893-9540
or leave message on Voice Mail
1-800-258-2422 MAILBOX 1442

Clip-n-Save

October Visionary Values

Panasonic CTL 2785S
27" Stereo-Monitor Receiver

- 155 channel cable compatible
- remote control
- 4 speaker sound system
- on screen displays and menu prompts
- parental guidance control

Reg. $850 SAVE $150
NOW $699.00

Optional Stand reg. $200 SAVE $150 NOW $50

Woodburn Electronics

"AFFORDABLE EXCELLENCE... YOU CAN COUNT ON!"

Mon. & Thurs. 7:30-9pm;
Tues., Wed., Fri. 7:30 am-5:30pm; Sat. 10am-4pm
1116 GILBERT CT. IOWA CITY • 319-338-7547
Free set up and delivery We service all brands of electronics

Arts/Entertainment editor
Steve Cruse, 335-5851

Arts/Entertainment

Tuesday, October 9, 1990

Center for New Music revels

By Chris Sagers
The Daily Iowan

Audience members leaving performances of "experimental" new music have often expressed disparate feelings — ranging from admiration to disorientation.

The UI School of Music's Center for New Music, presenting the work of composers as disparate as resident graduate students to ground-breaking masters like Olivier Messiaen, can leave new listeners a little puzzled — but officials of the organization feel that this is only the expected result of any presentation of new art and is, in fact, a part of the center's reason for being. As quoted from the center grant proposal, the organization "embodies (the UI's) commitment to the vital role of the creative arts at the frontiers of human experience."

This year marks the center's 25th anniversary, and the School of Music is planning a whole season of commemorative concerts. According to UI Chairman of Composition D. Martin Jenni, the events look to the future as well as the past: "We're thinking chiefly about the next 25 years, not just doing a retrospective."

Activities will include a concert consisting entirely of works by UI graduate students on Feb. 23, another concert of works by faculty members on Apr. 21 and a third highlighting UI alumni on Nov. 10 of this year, which will include some of the first works ever performed at the center.

Also, according to Marc Weber, former director of the UI Composer's Workshop, this third concert will feature a specially commissioned piece by the center's co-founder, Dr. Richard Hervig.

Hervig is now teaching at the Juilliard School of Music, and UI Professor Kenneth Gaburo will present his last works in residence at the UI, as he will be leaving the school later this year.

The center has been lauded with prestigious recognition and awards since its inception in 1966. In 1973 an NEA grant made it possible for the center to

"We're thinking chiefly about the next 25 years, not just doing a retrospective."

D. Martin Jenni
director, Center for New Music perform at the Guggenheim Museum in New York and to create a CRI recording of new music from the UI, and in 1986 the late Dr. William Hibbard was awarded the BMI commendation of excellence award as the center's general director and co-founder.

Many important new composers have enjoyed residencies at the CNM, including Charles Wuorinen and Libby Larson. Some of the true greats of modern music who have given world or American premieres at the center include Elliot Carter, Luciano Berio and George Crumb.

Jenni said that due to renewed financial commitment from the UI and other benefactors and support from UI President Hunter Rawlings and Peter Nathan, vice president of academic affairs, the center's future looks bright. Long-standing fears of financial barriers and lack of administration support seem to have been dispelled, and the center's resident performing ensemble will remain intact.

This year's ensemble will consist of Maricio Loureiro, clarinet; Shawn LaFrenz and Tony Oliver, percussion; Maurice Gatewood, violin; Craig Hultgren, cello; Caroline Eastburn, flute; Kirk Corey and Robert Fuller, piano; and conductors Myles Hernandez and Daniel Kleinknecht. This group can be greatly augmented, and the center is capable of performing pieces with up to 32 players.

Eric Ziolk, the center's musical director, said that in the next 25 years he hopes to broaden the focus of the CNM. "I want to highlight new works, and I think that's really the purpose of the center," he said. "I would also like to see the inclusion of other disciplines in CNM performances, like poetry readings from the Writer's Workshop or pieces that implement dance."

Ziolk said that center performances will no longer include as many older pieces as in the past and instead will concentrate on the work of today's Midwestern composers. "I think we'll move away from the 20th century classics. The oldest piece in last year's season was written in 1957," he said.

International Writing Program expands creative background

By Staci Sturrock
The Daily Iowan

For one semester each year, Iowa City just may play host to more distinguished foreign dignitaries than any other place in the U.S. with the exception of the United Nations.

In some cases these dignitaries have influenced public policy in their own countries — but they are not politicians in the strict sense of the word. They are writers participating in the International Writing Program.

As Clark Blaise, IWP director, explains, this collection of writers is one-of-a-kind. "There are residency programs at other colleges for one or two writers from overseas, but there is nothing on the scale of 40 writers — for as long a time as we have them here — who are as integrated into the functions of the university," he says.

The program, centered in the English-Philosophy Building, is now in its 23rd year. More than 800 writers from 80 countries have participated in the past. "There are not many countries out there who have writers that we haven't had at least one or two from yet," says Blaise.

Writers are invited to participate in readings at both local and neighboring universities, panel discussions, trips to Iowa sights such as the Amana Colonies and the Mississippi River, and a mini-course for UI students, International Literature Today.

A number of the panel discussions this semester will revolve around the theme "The Woman Writer in the World." According to Blaise, this semester there is a larger percentage than usual of women writers in the program.

"What we are seeing here is how women writers have influenced public policy in some pretty desperate parts of the world," says Blaise. "They are women who have been artists, but they have also been on the front lines."

Ophelia Alcantara-Dimalanta, a poet from the Philippines, says she knew about the program for a long time, and many of her friends had already attended. "It is a privilege to be here, to have recognition and reward for something I've done all my life," Alcantara-Dimalanta says.

The Daily Iowan/David Greedy

A recent IWP panel discussion featured (from left) Ophelia Dimalanta from the Philippines, Ezzat Goushegour from Iran and Jean Arasanayagam from Sri Lanka. The mediator was IWP Director Clark Blaise.

In many parts of the world, participation in the IWP is a sign of success. "The Iowa experience has become almost universal," says Blaise. "It is a recognition of your achievement."

And it is an experience the writers take back with them. Blaise says there are already a number of published works in different languages written about the Iowa experience.

Alcantara-Dimalanta has already written a poem about living in Mayflower, which is where most of the writers reside. "It's about how I was awakened one night by the rattling of the windows. I'm eight floors up, and I'm afraid of heights," she says.

The adaptation to American life-style is inspiring for some. "I felt the urge to start writing poetry immediately," says Jean Arasanayagam, a poet and fiction writer from Sri Lanka. "I went grocery shopping and there were far too many choices. I could almost write a poem about the cereals."

Arasanayagam says she feels "very much at home here... free from tension, fear and anxiety of living in a war-torn country."

Blaise says that for some writers that freedom requires not only cultural adaptation, but a creative adjustment as well. Many of the writers were "writing in opposition to things. Suddenly that pressure is off. It's finding, perhaps, a new kind of discipline for themselves," he says.

Unfortunately for some, that freedom lasts only 11 weeks. Ezzat-sadat Goushegour, a playwright from Iran, says, "I am waiting for political change in my country so I can be there as a human being and have a little freedom."

In the meantime, Goushegour hopes to learn as much as she can about America. "America is not Iowa City. I want to go experience the big cities."

In the International Writing Program, Iowa City has something that no big city can offer. Blaise says, "We try to show them that Iowa City is a unique concentration of writers and writing activities."

Trudeau urged wife Pauley to quit NBC for good

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Doonesbury creator Garry Trudeau says he urged wife Jane Pauley to "walk away from NBC altogether" when she was edged off the "Today" show in favor of Deborah Norville.

Trudeau wanted to satirize the morning program in his irreverent comic strip because "it had a formal, Kabuki-like quality... that would have been a natural for me," he said in a rare interview in the Oct. 15 issue of Newsweek magazine.

But Pauley's broadcast career appears, in retrospect, to have benefited from her move. And Trudeau says writing about his own family in his comic strip would be "a violation (as well as) infi-nately banal."

Pauley has said that she'd like to interview her husband.

Trudeau said he decided to talk with Newsweek to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the strip's syndication. He wisely chose a magazine — Pauley had told People she'd "be really irritated" if he did an interview with a rival television network.

Give another chance.
Give blood.
+
American Red Cross

Here is another Weird Discount
12.063% OFF
Custom Printed
T-Shirts • Polos
Sweats • Hats
Spastic Oyster Design
Not just another pretty name!
338-1196 • 620 S. Dubuque St • Iowa City

NATIONAL COMPUTER SYSTEMS

NATIONAL COMPUTER SYSTEMS
in Iowa City has an immediate need for dedicated, quality individuals to fill the following TEMPORARY PART-TIME AND FULL-TIME positions:

Computer Operators
Data Entry Operators
General Clerical positions

- Starting pay: $5.00 per hour
- 1st, 2nd and 3rd shifts available
- 10% shift differential for 2nd and 3rd shifts
- 6 or 7 1/2 hour shifts available
- Most positions will last 2 to 4 weeks; some will last longer
- Weekend overtime available
- Full training provided with pay

Please Apply At:
JOB SERVICE OF IOWA
1810 Lower Muscatine Road
Iowa City, Iowa

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

fAIR MICROCOMPUTER

- Tuesday, October 9, 1990
9:00 a.m. through 7:00 p.m.
- Main Lounge
Iowa Memorial Union
- Booths and representatives from Apple, IBM, Epson, Zenith, Local Computer Dealers, IMU
Bookstore, ISCA Student User Group, Conduit
- Balloons, Fun, Prizes
All faculty, staff, and students welcome!
- Sponsored by Weeg
Computing Center

Viewpoints editor
Michael Lorenger, 335-5863

Viewpoints

BUDGET NEGOTIATIONS

'Prudence'

George Bush has been on the receiving end of harsh criticism for his decision to veto a measure passed by Congress that would have extended the government's operating budget for another few weeks until budget disagreements are hammered out. But this criticism of Bush's political "gamesmanship" is wholly inaccurate.

Bush did not willingly allow the current fiscal dilemma to develop. For weeks and days before the Oct. 1 Gramm-Rudman deadline, Bush warned Congress that sequestration would be "painful" for all Americans. He convened a much-needed "budget summit" aimed at resolving partisan difference.

And Bush certainly made the necessary efforts to see that a budget acceptable to both Democrats and Republicans was Letting the bureaucracy come grinding to a halt is not where Americans and their leaders want to be at this point. If the system had worked as it was designed, a budget fair to Republicans and Democrats alike would have been passed, and the wheels of government bureaucracy would be turning now.

presented. Any criticism of Bush as unwilling to compromise is off the mark. The recent failed budget agreement had many items that Bush normally would not have supported, but he endorsed them because he knew the deficit-reduction target had to be met. The plan was without, for instance, a capital gains tax cut, which was one of his priorities. And when members of Congress hedged in their support over election concerns, Bush instructed them to vote for the measure and to tell constituents to "blame the president."

To argue that Bush allowed Ellis Island and the monuments in Washington, D.C., to close as a political ploy is to ignore one important fact — Bush has not gained any political advantage in allowing government-run tourist attractions and other offices to close. With the one exception that he is forcing Congress to pass a responsible and fair budget, Bush is gaining nothing politically from his decision.

Certainly, letting the bureaucracy come grinding to a halt is not where Americans and their leaders want to be at this point. If the system had worked as it was designed, a budget fair to Republicans and Democrats alike would have been passed, and the wheels of government bureaucracy would be turning now. However, Bush felt it was better to refuse unacceptable budgets and irresponsible extensions and to allow a minor crisis to ensue than to pass a budget that is unfair to certain segments of society.

The closing of the government, then, is not all bad. Forcing congressional leaders to pound out proposals at 2 a.m. is good if it produces results.

Bush is not playing political games. He is merely taking the necessary steps to ensure that Congress — which felt justified in raising the salaries of its own members last year — makes the needed adjustments to present a reasonable and sound, if not balanced, budget.

Jon Koebrick
Editorial Writer

Opinions expressed on the Viewpoints page of The Daily Iowan are those of the signed author. The Daily Iowan, as a non-profit corporation, does not express opinions on these matters.

Voters suffer from 'taxaphobia'

The campaign for the governorship of Lincoln's state is proceeding in the modern manner, each candidate explaining that the other fellow is a marble-headed fiend and fiscal dipsomaniac. The interesting wrinkle is that, at a first glance anyway, the Democrat seems to be running to the right of the Republican.

First glances can be deceiving, but first glances are most that many voters give candidates. That may be what the Democrat, Neil Hartigan, Illinois attorney general, is counting on.

The Republican, Jim Edgar, Illinois secretary of state, may be counting on the truth of an axiom expressed by a Democratic president. Harry Truman, disgusted by tepid Democratic candidates, said, "Give people a choice between a Republican and a Republican and they will pick the Republican every time."

The heart of the matter, indeed the only thing that seems to matter, is taxes. In June 1989, a temporary (two-year) state income tax surcharge of 20 percent went into effect, with half the revenues for education. Hartigan promises to let it expire next June without any cuts in Hoover, promises businesslike government based on his business principles. It will, he says, be a snap to cut the budget 2 percent ($573 million from $26 billion), trim 2,500 from the payroll of 86,000 and cut administrative costs 10 percent.

The achievement is, perhaps, conceivable. The idea is certainly political. Edgar is counting on doubts about Hartigan's "character," doubts nourished about skepticism about his promises. Edgar thinks voters have been made skeptical by (he does not stress this) Ronald Reagan, George Bush and incumbent Republican Gov. Jim Thompson.

Thompson has been governor for 14 years. Twice he ran vowing not to raise taxes, then raised them. But Hartigan is overreaching when he says Thompson raised taxes 29 times. (To take just one example, Hartigan counts as four tax increases an increase in the annual vehicle-licensing fee that covers four categories of vehicles.) The truth reveals how hard it is to make sense of today's politics of taxaphobia.

Thompson presided over many tax increases but also reduced or eliminated 20 taxes. Before the 1989 surcharge, the growth of state revenues was below the inflation rate. Real revenue each year did not exceed what it was when Thompson took office in 1977. Furthermore, state revenue has grown slower than personal income in Illinois. State taxes take about $57.40 for every $1,000 of income, which is $9.50 less than in 1978.

However, what counts is what voters feel, and there is no accounting for that. Hartigan has done well with an ad depicting Illinois pounded flat by the word "taxes."

Both candidates are better, more interesting men than their taxation-fixation makes them appear. Hartigan, 51, with his coat and his caution off, has honest passions about Illinois ranking 44th among the states in infant mortality, and about the mothers of his childhood neighborhood now living "in two-room flats with a hot plate for company." Watch it, Hartigan, you are sounding like a Democrat.

Edgar, 44, is trying to become the first down-stater elected governor in 50 years. (This year, all six Democratic candidates for office are from Cook County.) He is admirably determined to walk on the risky side of the surcharge issue rather than risk winning in a way that might later add to the tide of cynicism.

Both candidates are stressing what

Both candidates for governor of Illinois are stressing what deserves to be the principal domestic issue of the 1990s: early intervention in the lives of poor children. The public's concern about all sorts of education is almost as strong as its taxaphobia. Almost.

to be the principal domestic issue of the 1990s: early intervention in the lives of poor children. The public's concern about all sorts of education is almost as strong as its taxaphobia. Almost.

No Democrat has won the governorship since 1972. With Illinois listed among the 16 states already in recession, this might be the Democrat's year. But the Democrat who won in 1972, Dan Walker, promised a large budget cut and instead increased taxes. Later, he went to jail.

Both candidates are moving gingerly among voters whose attitudes toward politicians is: Go directly to jail, do not collect taxes.

George Will's syndicated column appears Tuesdays on the Viewpoints page. (c) 1990, Washington Post Writers Group.

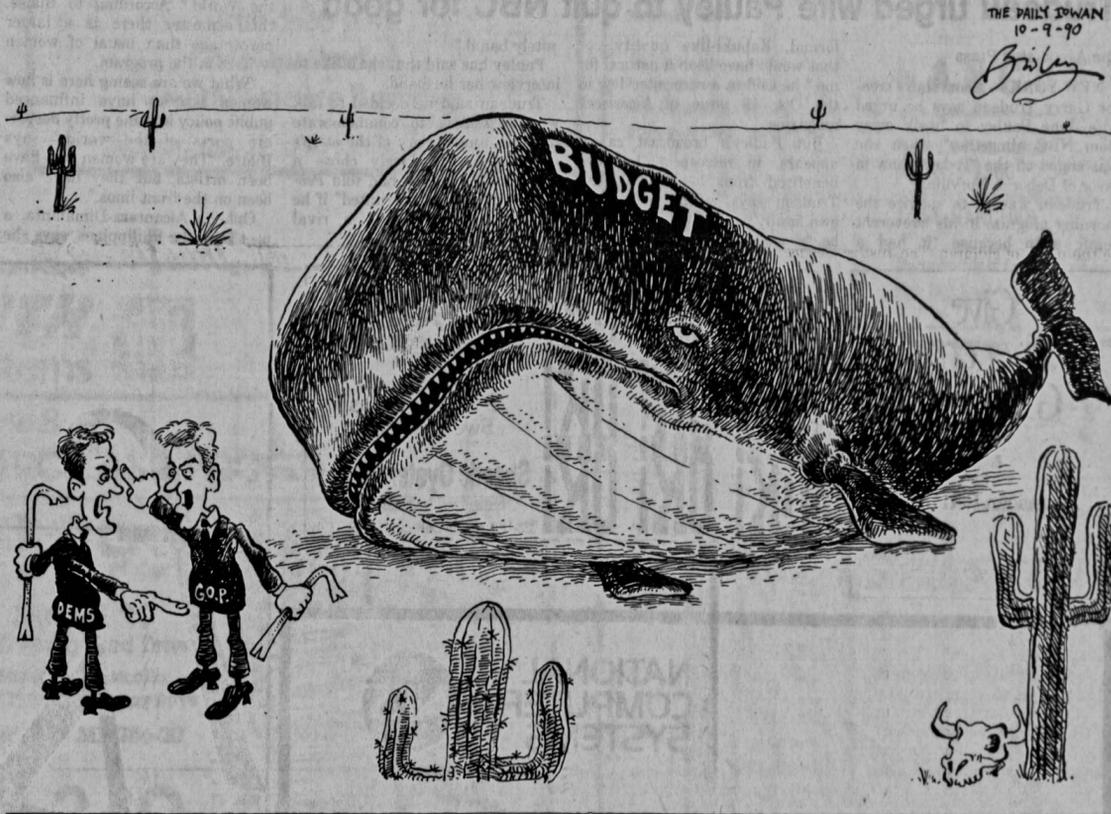

George Will

education. Edgar favors keeping it and talks instead of property tax relief.

Hartigan, a red-haired product of the Irish portion of Chicago's ethnic stew, currently sounds like another man of Irish decent, a down-stater from Dixon. Like Ronald Reagan, Hartigan promises to cut taxes and balance lost revenues by cutting government.

Skeptics are thick on the ground, thanks to (among other things) $2 trillion of debt Reagan piled up. But Hartigan, sounding like Herbert

Concern for safety is no justification for racial harassment

Nick Zimmerman's Oct. 4 editorial ["Safety first," DI] about the description of the residence hall prowler, was ill-conceived, irresponsible and inflammatory. Zimmerman reveals an appalling lack of understanding of the history and current reality of racial prejudice in this country. His editorial contains assumptions that are either dangerously ignorant or willfully racist.

Nobody will deny the seriousness of sexual assault. Nor can the need for apprehending the perpetrator be overemphasized. However, legitimate concern for the safety of women in the residence halls forms an insufficient justification for the harassment of a group of people based upon the color of their skin. Likewise, the fact that he may be genuinely concerned with incidents does not justify Zimmerman's gratuitous attacks on certain BSU members.

Zimmerman's "crucial facts surrounding the situation" need to be examined. He states that "UI security officers are, by law, peace officers, and thus may ask for identification when they feel that a situation merits it." In Zimmerman's rosy world, the police may be always benevolent, friendly and helpful. But in the real world, "peace officers" have often felt that the "situation merits" abusing the rights of blacks and other minorities. Perhaps Zimmerman believes that any time a black male is a suspect in a crime, the situation merits detaining every black male the authorities happen to come across.

The fact is that police, from the time there have been free blacks in the U.S., have used vague descriptions and the excuse that "they all look alike" to justify the detention and sometimes violent harassment of blacks. What Zimmerman refers to as a "minor inconvenience" has been used as a first step in the state-sanctioned oppression of minorities. This is not to imply that UI security is guilty of any such violence. However, blacks have been arrested, brutalized, convicted and even executed on evidence no stronger than the description of the suspect in this case.

These are real concerns, even in "progressive" towns like Iowa City. Why is Zimmerman ignorant of this reality? Perhaps Zimmerman has never had the experience of being followed by a police car as he walked through a predominantly white neighborhood, being stopped and asked his destination. Perhaps no officer has demanded his identification or told him, "Shut up, boy, I'm asking the questions here" when he dared to ask why he was being stopped. Maybe Zimmerman does not know how it feels to be cutting the hedges in front of his mother's house, and to see an unmarked cop car pass slowly by twice, then finally stop in the driveway. Perhaps no officer has gotten out and told him that he is investigating a rape that occurred weeks previously, and that they are questioning all black men of the same general height and weight. Perhaps Zimmerman has never felt the panic of being asked to explain his whereabouts on a date he could even remember.

Guest Opinion

Kevin P. Haughton

A black or other person of color who is detained by the police must always be on guard not to appear arrogant or indignant for fear of exacerbating the situation. At the same time, he or she must be careful not to appear too nervous, for fear of drawing more suspicion upon himself or herself. These may appear to be mere inconveniences for Zimmerman, but they are painful and humiliating reminders that blacks and other minorities continue to be regarded as second-class citizens. Until Zimmerman has been subjected to the humiliation, suspicion and fear for his safety of such a detention, perhaps he should refrain from drawing ludicrous analogies to obeying traffic signals or speed limit signs.

Zimmerman states that "it seems that the only racial tension stemming from this situation is created by the paranoia of the BSU." Renae McNeal and Greg Kelley have articulated concerns for the basic human rights of African-Americans and demands for the preservation of those rights amid the investigation of the incident. Zimmerman's irresponsible use of the term "paranoia" implies that such fears of harassment are unfounded. Even if Zimmerman is not, blacks and other minorities are only too aware that these fears are legitimate.

The most dangerous aspect of the editorial is Zimmerman's suggestion that blacks are refusing to cooperate with or are otherwise attempting to hinder the investigation. His statement that "by cooperating, . . . black males can alleviate suspicion and fulfill their civic duty," combined with his reference to the Student Conduct Code, implies that black males are unwilling to cooperate. He then explicitly states that the BSU is unwilling to help prevent further incidents. These statements are unconscionable and racist. There has been no indication that anyone who was asked to show his identification refused to do so. Further, does Zimmerman believe that BSU is somehow responsible for the UI security's inability to find the "prowler"? Calling for a responsibly run investigation that recognizes individual rights is not synonymous with aiding and abetting the perpetrator.

Police, from the time there have been free blacks in the U.S., have used vague descriptions and the excuse that "they all look alike" to justify the detention and sometimes violent harassment of blacks.

Why then is Zimmerman so eager to attack the BSU members' comments? Does he have an interest in creating the impression that all blacks should be regarded with suspicion? Does he believe that black men are the only ones who commit sexual assaults in the residence halls? Instead of calling others paranoid, perhaps he should examine his personal level of paranoia about black people speaking out against continued oppression.

One wonders where Zimmerman would draw the line between legitimate investigation that "the situation merits" and harassment. Perhaps UI security should just ask all black men between 5 feet 10 inches and 6 feet tall who live in Iowa City to come down to the station and answer a few questions. After all, it would just be a minor inconvenience, and it would no doubt shed great light on the investigation. Anyone who didn't come in voluntarily could be arrested for interference with official acts, if not for the assault itself.

Zimmerman very astutely recognized that the description of the prowler was vague. Unfortunately, he was not able to recognize the predictably racist implications of such a vague description. If he lived on a predominantly black campus and the description was of a man between 5 feet 10 inches and 6 feet tall, I wonder whether Zimmerman would be quick to condone an investigatory procedure that had the effect of placing all white men under suspicion.

Sexual assault is a despicable act, and all reasonable efforts should be made to apprehend those who engage in such an act. However, one hopes that, in their zeal to pursue the guilty, the police respect the rights of the innocent. It is also hoped that Zimmerman's uninformed and inexcusable opinions do not result in further confusion of the issues.

Kevin P. Haughton is a third-year law student at the UI School of Law. Kim Painter is taking the week off. Her regular column will resume next week.

Americans win Nobel Prize in medicine

By Laurinda Keys
The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — An American who performed the first successful kidney transplant and the American who pioneered bone marrow transplants won the Nobel Prize in medicine today.

Joseph Murray, 71, discovered how to master the problem of organ rejection and, in 1954, made the first successful organ transplant, a kidney from one identical twin to another that functioned for 24 years.

The work of E. Donnall Thomas, 70, lessened the severe reaction that bone marrow transplants can cause in the recipients. His work led to a cure for leukemia in 50 percent of cases, and in 80 percent of childhood cases.

"This year's laureates paved the way for transplantation in man," said the award citation from the Nobel Assembly of the Karolinska Institute.

Bone marrow transplants are now used to treat a variety of cancers and inherited diseases, and researchers are investigating their potential use in AIDS and other diseases.

The award citation said Murray "pioneered transplantation of kidneys obtained from deceased persons. . . . The field was then open for transplantation of other organs, such as liver, pancreas and heart."

Murray, who is affiliated with Brigham and Women's Hospital in

"This year's laureates paved the way for transplantation in man."

Nobel award citation

NOBEL
Medicine • 1990

Boston, was in San Francisco for a medical conference when he heard he had won.

"The thing about this that's marvelous is that Don and I both were in Brigham Hospital together," said Murray, a native of Milford, Mass.

"He was a resident in medicine, and I was a resident in surgery. This was after World War II. We both started working in transplants together, but from different angles. It's marvelous to share it with him."

Dr. Carl Gustav Groth, who awarded the prize from the Nobel Assembly of the Karolinska Institute, noted that researchers rather than clinicians usually get the prize, but said the clinical work in transplants was revolutionary.

"This was astonishing to take one organ and move it to another person," said Groth, a transplant expert at Huddinge Hospital near Stockholm. "It was science fiction 30 years ago," he said.

Thomas said this morning from his home in Bellevue, Wash., that he had always thought his work was too clinical to win the prize.

He joined the Fred Hutchinson center in Seattle when it opened in 1975, and it now is considered one of the world's leading bone-marrow transplant institutions.

"There are many scientist-researchers out there who are eligible for this prize," Thomas said. "It's a long shot at best, and it would be a mistake to waste time thinking about winning it."

The prize shared by Murray and Thomas, worth $695,000, is endowed by the will of dynamite inventor Alfred Nobel, who died in 1896.

There have been 142 medicine prizes since the award was first given in 1901. Americans have dominated the prize, winning or sharing it 69 times.

Murray and Thomas did their groundbreaking research in the 1950s and 1960s.

"Murray's and Thomas' discoveries are crucial for those tens of thousands of severely ill patients who either can be cured, or be given a decent life when other treatment methods are without success," said the 50-member assembly.

Murray received his bachelor of arts degree from Holy Cross College in Massachusetts and his medical degree from Harvard.

Thomas received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Texas and his medical degree from Harvard.

Last year, the prize also went to Americans. J. Michael Bishop and Harold Varmus won it for discovering a family of genes that has helped scientists understand how cancer develops.

Bishop and Varmus discovered the cellular origin of retroviral oncogenes, which control normal growth cells and their division.

According to Nobel's will, the prize for medicine goes to someone who has "conferred the greatest benefit on mankind," making the most important medical or physiological discovery during the preceding year.

But in practice, committee officials say it takes years to realize the significance of a discovery and trace who actually made the breakthrough.

THIEVES' MARKET

Art Exhibition and Sale
Sunday, October 14
10 am - 5 pm

Main Lounge, Iowa Memorial Union University of Iowa
Over 70 artists attending
Free Admission

Sponsored by The Fine Arts Council
(319) 335-3393

TRANSITION

A FREE Seminar for SENIOR YEAR Nursing Students

Transition is a one-day program designed to help you make the transition from student to professional.

Saturday, October 27, 1990

This no-cost seminar includes sessions, lunch and breaks. Mayo Medical Center will cover the cost of lodging for out-of-town participants at the Kahler Hotel.

Sessions include:

- Chemical Dependence in the Hospitalized Patient
- Coping Measures for the Oncology Nurse
- Financial planning for the Young Professional
- In Vitro Fertilization
- Transition: From New Graduate to Expert Nurse
- Discharge Planning for Senior Adults: Special Needs for Special People
- Overview of Organ Transplantation
- Preparing for the Job Search
- Technological Advances in Outpatient Surgery

Deadline for registration is Oct. 17, 1990

Call collect 507-286-7030 for registration information and brochure.

Transition is sponsored by Mayo Medical Center Rochester, Minnesota 55903-6057

An Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer

Children's TV advocates urge Bush to sign bill restricting commercials

By Jay Arnold
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A typical child may watch 10,000 hours to 15,000 hours of television before age 18. At the same time, that child may be exposed to 200,000 commercials.

For some youngsters, that may mean spending more time in front of the set than in school.

That's why a coalition of children's advocates and educators wants President Bush to sign legislation that would require TV stations to pay more attention to the educational needs of young viewers, while at the same time restricting the number of commercials on kids' shows.

Broadcasters say they can live with the measure, a compromise that was passed unanimously by both the House and the Senate.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said last week the administration had "very strong reservations" about the bill, which would condition a station's license renewal on how well its programs serve the needs of children. The Justice Department has advised Bush that the bill unconstitutionally intrudes into program content.

The president has not said what he will do. Children's TV advocates fear that he may follow in the footsteps of his White House predecessor, Ronald Reagan, and veto it. To do so, supporters of the bill say, would break his vow to place special emphasis on education.

"President Bush repeatedly has stated that he wants to be the 'education president' and that he wants to put education on the top of the national agenda," said Rep. Edward Markey, D-Mass. "I hope and expect that President Bush will sign it into law."

The legislation, which received final congressional approval last week, would limit commercials during children's shows to 12 minutes per hour weekdays and 10.5 minutes per hour weekends.

After similar restrictions were lifted from broadcasters in 1984, commercial air time crept up to as much as 14 minutes per hour for some kids' shows, while the amount of informational and educational programs for kids declined sharply.

Preliminary oath taken by Souter

By Richard Carelli
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — David Souter, a day away from becoming history's 105th Supreme Court justice, swore Monday to uphold the Constitution and pass it on to future generations "in as vigorous condition as I have received it."

Souter, a 51-year-old judge from New Hampshire, took the oath in a brief White House ceremony in which President Bush praised his first nominee to the high court as "a very thoughtful and caring man."

Bush, alluding to the budget crisis that has trimmed federal services and threatened to shut down the government, invited guests to attend a bare-bones reception afterward.

The impasse has caused a shut-down of all but "essential" government services, reducing the White House staff to about one-sixth its normal size.

Joking that a Spartan gathering might appeal to Souter's Yankee upbringing in New Hampshire, the president said it would be "reception without a lot of largesse."

Souter's oath-taking was a preliminary step. He will not become a justice until he is sworn in Tuesday morning in a separate ceremony at the Supreme Court.

The oath, administered by Chief Justice William Rehnquist, is one all federal employees must take. The chief justice will administer a second oath, taken by all federal judges, in Tuesday's Supreme Court ceremony.

After receiving a warm standing ovation from those in the White House East Room, Souter demonstrated the soft-spoken humility that helped him win easy Senate confirmation.

Monday's ceremony was notable for the praise showered on Justice William Brennan, whose retirement in July opened the way for Souter's nomination.

Brennan often has been reviled by conservatives as a symbol of liberal judicial activism.

But Souter said Monday he hopes to pass on the Constitution "in as vigorous condition as I have received it this afternoon, as it were, from Justice Brennan."

KING STINGRAY'S

DON'T BE A PARTY POOPER
COME TO KING STINGRAY'S
(THE COOL HAIR SALON)

128 1/2 E. WASHINGTON ABOVE REAL RECORDS 351-7012

Credit Internships in Washington, DC

Dr. John McClusky
Washington Center presenting
TODAY
Tuesday, Oct. 9
7-8 pm
317 Phillips
ALL MAJORS INVITED
Cooperative Education
335-1385

American Heart Association

True Value
HARDWARE STORES

BARGAIN OF THE MONTH

4.66 while supplies last
24-Steel Tine Lawn Rake 279216
QUANTITIES LIMITED

True Value
HARDWARE

Lenoch & Cilek
Since 1905

EASTSIDE 1558 Mail Dr. 354-4145
DOWNTOWN 130 S. Dubuque Lower Level Plaza Mall 354-1167
CORALVILLE 208 1st Ave. 354-4111

Diamonds
TO UNITE THE LOVING COUPLE.

You've made a brilliant match. So you both deserve the brilliance of this bride and groom trio. It's a dazzling display from our Art Contempo Collection in precious 14 Karat gold. The fiery, full-cut diamonds are modern channel-set for maximum effect and the engagement ring offers a marvelous center diamond and four as escorts. Bring each other in today. More affordable than you both think.

Designs copyrighted © 1985

HERTEEN & STOCKER
Downtown 101 S. Dubuque
Jewelers 338-4212

HARMONIC LANDSCAPES
WORLD PREMIERE

NINA WIENER
DANCE COMPANY

"Nina Wiener is an image maker extraordinaire . . . she creates mesmerizing works that transport you to rich landscapes of the mind." -Atlanta Constitution

Friday and Saturday
October 12 and 13
8 p.m.
Co-commissioned by Hancher

Pre-performance discussions with Nina Wiener, Hancher greenroom, 7 p.m. Free tickets required.

Senior Citizen and Youth discounts

UI Students receive a 20% discount on all Hancher events and may charge to their University accounts

Supported by the National Endowment for the Arts

For ticket information
Call 335-1160
or toll-free in Iowa outside Iowa City
1-800-HANCHER

The University of Iowa
Iowa City, Iowa

HANCHER

2 American volunteer airmen die in Saudi Arabia jet crash

By Andrea Hamilton
The Associated Press

Two American airmen who volunteered for duty with the multinational force facing Iraq died in a jet crash Monday in Saudi Arabia, and the Navy searched for two helicopters and eight crew members missing in the Arabian Sea.

The Pentagon said search and rescue crews had spotted the wreckage of at least one helicopter late Monday but no bodies had been found.

International forces in the Persian Gulf crisis showed a new measure of teamwork when U.S., British and Australian warships upholding the U.N. trade embargo forced two Iraqi ships to stop and submit to searches.

In one case, the Western ships fired shots. The other ship was diverted to a port after food and other prohibited cargo was discovered.

The official Iraqi News Agency, monitored in Nicosia, Cyprus, said the actions amounted to harassment by "sea pirates."

U.S. military officials said a RF4C Phantom reconnaissance jet crashed in the southern Saudi Arabian peninsula.

The jet belonged to a unit of the Alabama Air National Guard on a training mission, said guard spokeswoman Toni Long.

Long identified the victims as Maj.

Barry Henderson, 40, a senior pilot from Tusculumbia, Ala., and Maj. Stephen Schramm, 43, a master navigator from Birmingham, Ala.

Both were assigned to the 106th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron of the 117th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing and had volunteered for duty in Saudi Arabia, said Long. Their unit had not been activated.

A military spokesman, Navy Cmdr. J.D. Van Sickle, said the crash was under investigation and that he could provide no other details.

The two Marine helicopters disappeared about dawn during a training flight over the north Arabian Sea, east of the Persian Gulf, said

Van Sickle. Naval officers ruled out hostile action and said there was no indication that the helicopters might have collided.

Pentagon officials in Washington said the Marines were from Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The helicopters were operating from the carrier USS Okinawa, one of more than 12 ships deployed in the region after Iraq invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2.

Before Monday, five American service members had been killed in the region since the deployment began. In addition, 13 crew members died Aug. 29 when a giant transport aircraft loaded with supplies for U.S. forces in the gulf crashed and burned shortly after takeoff in West Germany.

The United States leads a multinational force of ships in the region and troops in Saudi Arabia, and the United Nations has imposed a land, sea and air embargo to isolate Iraq and try to force it to withdraw from Kuwait.

The warning shots fired at the Iraqi freighter Al-Wasitti marked the first time a British warship has shot to enforce the embargo.

The British Defense Ministry said the Iraqi freighter had been shadowed by the HMS Battleaxe, the USS Reasoner and the AHMS Adelaide during the night, then called to stop for inspection.

But the Al-Wasitti ignored repeated appeals and at daybreak, the three vessels fired warning shots across the bow of the tanker, the ministry said in London.

It said Royal Marines boarded the 5,885-ton vessel, with a Coast Guard team from the Reasoner following them. It was empty and was allowed to continue on its way, presumably to Iraq, British defense officials said.

The second Iraqi ship, the Tadmur, was ordered to an undisclosed port after boarding team found rice, flour "and other prohibited cargo in substantial quantities," said a statement from the U.S. military command in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

You Are Invited to Visit Us at the

1 9 9 0

Fall Computer Fair

9:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m.
Main Lounge IMU

TODAY

Talk with Company Representatives from:

- Lotus
- Aldus
- Software Publishing Corp.
- Claris
- Hyperglot

REGISTER TO WIN FREE SOFTWARE!

 University Book Store
Iowa Memorial Union · The University of Iowa

 Health Science Store
University of Iowa · University Book Store
Hospital Ramp 3

EPSON® AMERICA, INC.

We are looking forward to seeing you at the 1990 Microcomputer Fair.

Come to our booth and register to win a FREE
EPSON LQ510 printer with font cartridge.

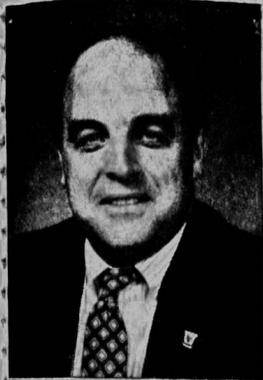

Another font filled offer from EPSON...

...Engineered for the way you work.

EPSON®

WHEN YOU'VE GOT AN EPSON, YOU'VE GOT A LOT OF COMPANY.™

Epson is a registered trademark of Seiko Epson Corporation. Equity is a trademark of Epson America, Inc.
XT is a registered trademark of International Business Machines Corporation.
MS-DOS and GW-BASIC are registered trademarks of Microsoft Corporation.

Barry Alvarez

Alvarez anticipates first visit to pink locker room

By Chuck Schoffner
The Associated Press

Friends will become foes for a few hours at Kinnick Stadium on Saturday.

That's when Wisconsin visits Iowa for the first meeting between the two schools since the Wisconsin staff took on a distinct Hawkeye flavor.

First-year Wisconsin coach Barry Alvarez is a former Iowa assistant and so are his two top aides — defensive coordinator Dan McCarney and recruiting coordinator Bernie Wyatt. Another assistant, Jay Norvell, is a former Iowa defensive back and Alvarez's administrative assistant, John Chadima, held a similar position under Iowa coach Hayden Fry.

To complete the Iowa connection, Wisconsin sports information director Steve Malchow used to be an assistant in the Hawkeyes' sports information office.

All of which puts an interesting twist to a series that Iowa has dominated. The Hawkeyes haven't lost to Wisconsin since 1976, beating the Badgers 12 times and tying them once during that span.

Both sides say they respect the other, but they also say they'll be doing everything they can to win.

"I've got loyalties to these kids we're coaching right here," Alvarez said Monday. "It's no different than playing your brother in a game of pickup basketball. You're competitive and you want to win."

"They're excellent coaches and great friends," Fry said. "They did a heck of a job when they were here. Other than the Iowa game, I want them to win all their games. But I don't want them to win this game. I want them to lose this game and win the rest of them."

Alvarez was at Iowa from 1979-86, then spent three years on the Notre Dame staff before Wisconsin officials tapped him to succeed Don Morton, who won only six games in three years at Madison.

Wyatt and McCarney both left the Iowa staff after last season. Wyatt spent 16 years before the Hawkeyes; McCarney put in 13 years.

Alvarez said he never envisioned entering Kinnick Stadium through the visitor's tunnel.

"I never even got into that visitor's locker room to see the pink wall," he said with a laugh. Fry had the visitor's dressing room painted pink as a psychological ploy because it's a non-aggressive color.

Wisconsin lost to Michigan 41-3 last Saturday and is 1-3. Alvarez said he doesn't think his staff's familiarity with the Iowa program will be an advantage against the Hawkeyes, who are 3-1 after upsetting Michigan State 12-7.

"Iowa is capable of doing so many things," he said. "They are so fundamentally sound, structure-wise as well as technique. They make you play. You can know as much about them as you want and it still won't help you."

See Wisconsin, Page 2B

The Daily Iowan Sports

Tuesday, October 9, 1990

Fifth down

The Big Eight Conference gives Colorado the win but admits refs erred. Page 3B

Reds power past Pirates before paltry crowd

By Jim Donaghy
The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — The Cincinnati Reds sure didn't need much time to regain the home-field advantage and break Zane Smith's spell.

The Reds' 6-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates on Monday gave them a 2-1 lead in the best-of-7 National League playoffs and a four-game winning streak at Three Rivers Stadium.

"I don't think either team has much of an advantage at home," Reds manager Lou Piniella said. "Both stadiums have the same dimensions, both have artificial turf. The only difference is the fans."

Even that wasn't much of an advantage for the Pirates in Game 3 as about 10,000 seats — mostly in the upper deck — were empty.

"Maybe 10,000 people were smarter than I was," manager Jim Leyland said. "I thought we were going to win."

Still it was a disappointing for a club that drew 2 million during the regular season to look around and see so many empty seats. It also had to be just a little embarrassing for baseball.

"It was a day game and it's hard for people to get off from work around here," Leyland said. "I think you'll see a little more support tomorrow."

Neither team did much hitting in the first two games, combining for only 10 runs and 23 hits. But the surprise was how easily the Reds got to Smith, who had pitched like Sandy Koufax in the last two months of the season.

In 10 starts for the Pirates after being acquired from Montreal on Aug. 8, Smith gave up nine earned runs in 75 innings. In Game 3, the Reds got five runs off Smith in five innings.

The power came from unlikely sources, too.

Former Pirate Billy Hatcher hit a two-run homer in the second inning and Mariano Duncan snapped a 2-2 tie with a three-run homer in the fifth and drove in another run in the ninth with his third hit of the game to make it 6-3.

"I knew I wasn't going to start for Pittsburgh so I asked them to trade me," Hatcher said. "They were very nice to me and now everything has worked out for the both of us."

Game 4 is scheduled for 8:27 p.m. Tuesday night as first-game starters Jose Rijo of the Reds and Bob Walk of the Pirates go at it again.

The Pirates didn't get as much support as they expected from their fans or the middle of their order. So far, Barry Bonds, Andy Van Slyke and Bobby Bonilla have combined to go 7-for-34 with no homers and two RBIs in the three games.

Meanwhile, the Reds scored only 20 runs in their last nine regular-season games and showed no signs of breaking out of it in the first two games.

Both teams, however, got their wish in Game 3 as the skies were a steely gray and the shadows of Friday's mid-afternoon start were no problem.

Hatcher opened the fifth with a double and moved to third on winning pitcher Danny Jackson's sacrifice. Barry Larkin, in a 6-for-27 slump, reached on an infield single with Hatcher holding at third.

See Playoffs, Page 2B

The Associated Press

Cincinnati Reds second baseman Mariano Duncan expresses joy along with teammate Barry Larkin, right, after hitting a three-run homer in the fifth-inning against the Pittsburgh Pirates in Monday's National League Championship Series game in Pittsburgh. Pirate catcher Don Slaught lurks dejectedly around home plate. The series resumes Tuesday night with the Reds holding a 2-1 series lead.

Hawks ranked 25th after beating MSU

By Rick Warner
The Associated Press

An early defeat didn't stop Michigan from an early rise to No. 1, while the Iowa Hawkeyes cracked the Top 25 for the first time since the beginning of last season after beating previously No. 18 Michigan State at East Lansing.

Losses by last week's top two teams lifted the once-beaten Wolverines to the top of The Associated Press college football poll Monday. It's the earliest a team with a loss has ever been ranked No. 1.

"It's nice, but we've got a long way to go," coach Gary Moeller said. "If we're No. 1 at the end of the year, then we'll get excited."

Michigan, which has won three straight since losing its opener to Notre Dame, replaced the Fighting Irish as the nation's No. 1 team. The Wolverines moved up from No. 3 after Notre Dame lost to Stanford 36-31 and then No. 2 Florida State was beaten by Miami 31-22 Saturday.

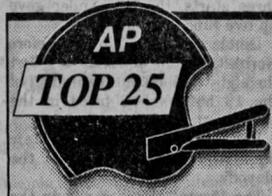

Once-beaten Miami jumped six spots to No. 3 with six first-place votes. Rounding out the Top 10 are Oklahoma, Tennessee, Auburn, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Florida and Florida State.

The No. 8 ranking is the lowest for Notre Dame in two years.

Michigan's ranking could also be good news for Michigan State, which plays the Wolverines on Saturday at Ann Arbor. The last two times the Wolverines were ranked first, they lost their next game.

Michigan was No. 1 in the 1989 preseason poll, but lost its first game to Notre Dame. After taking over the top spot in 1977, the Wolverines were beaten the following week by Minnesota.

Prior to this week, no team with a loss had been ranked No. 1 before November. The earliest No. 1 ranking for a once-beaten school had been Nov. 13, 1950, when Ohio State took over the top spot with a 6-1 record.

| School/Record                | votes |
|------------------------------|-------|
| 1. Michigan 3-1-0 (3)        | 1,453 |
| 2. Virginia 5-0-0 (4)        | 1,384 |
| 3. Miami, Fla. 3-1-0 (9)     | 1,324 |
| 4. Oklahoma 5-0-0 (7)        | 1,244 |
| 5. Tennessee 3-0-2 (6)       | 1,235 |
| 6. Auburn 3-0-1 (5)          | 1,176 |
| 7. Nebraska 5-0-0 (8)        | 1,145 |
| 8. Notre Dame 3-1-0 (1)      | 1,122 |
| 9. Florida 5-0-0 (10)        | 1,017 |
| 10. Florida St. 4-1-0 (2)    | 993   |
| 11. Illinois 3-1-0 (13)      | 796   |
| 12. Houston 4-0-0 (13)       | 763   |
| 13. Brigham Young 4-1-0 (11) | 751   |
| 14. Colorado 4-1-1 (12)      | 705   |
| 15. Clemson 5-1-0 (16)       | 690   |
| 16. Southern Cal 4-1-0 (15)  | 667   |
| 17. Washington 4-1-0 (17)    | 648   |
| 18. Georgia Tech 4-0-0 (23)  | 451   |
| 19. Oregon 4-1-0 (22)        | 424   |
| 20. Texas A&M 4-1-0 (19)     | 395   |
| 21. Arizona 4-1-0 (25)       | 319   |
| 22. Indiana 4-0-0            | 212   |
| 23. Wyoming 6-0-0            | 132   |
| 24. Mississippi 4-1-0        | 93    |
| 25. Iowa 3-1-0               | 86    |

Browns hand Denver 1-point loss

By Dave Goldberg
The Associated Press

DENVER — Bernie Kosar drove the Cleveland Browns to 10 points in the final 3:21 as the Cleveland Browns came back from a nine-point deficit to beat Denver 30-29 on Jerry Kuaric's 30-field goal as time expired.

After Denver had taken advantage of Cleveland turnovers to score 10 points earlier in the fourth quarter to erase a 20-19 Browns lead, Kosar rallied Cleveland. He hit a 24-yard pass to Vernon Joines on fourth-and-2 from midfield, then threw his third touchdown pass of the game, a 24-yarder to Brian Brennan with 3:21 to play.

Then, on the final drive which started with 2:04 left, Kosar completed passes of 15 yards to Joines, 20 to Reggie Langhorne and 15 to Brennan on a third-and-8 play to set up the winning field goal.

Kosar completed 24 of 38 passes for 318 yards.

The win broke a three-game losing streak for the Browns (2-3) and achieved a measure of revenge for the team that lost to the Broncos three times in the last four years in the AFC title game. In fact, Cleveland had lost 11 of its last 12 to Denver.

Denver, which had five turnovers in a loss to Buffalo last week, is also 2-3.

Mark Jackson scored on a 16-yard reverse and David Treadwell kicked a 25-yard field goal as Denver took a 29-20 lead.

Until the late rally, it appeared that Denver would win by the margin of a second-quarter safety, achieved when Denver's Simon Fletcher blocked a punt through the Browns' end zone. It was the third score against the Browns on a punt block in two weeks. They gave up two touchdowns on them last week in Kansas City.

Cleveland overcame that setback to lead 20-19 on two Kosar touchdown passes and a 5-yard run by Eric Metcalf.

Denver's offense was sparked by Bobby Humphrey, the NFL's rushing leader who carried 20 times for 106 yards in his fourth straight 100-yard game.

The Broncos, flat on both offense and defense, got a lift when rookie Alton Montgomery, who had been burned all night after replacing the injured Elliott Smith, picked off a Kosar pass and returned it to his own 31. After John Elway hit Vance Johnson for 34 yards on a third-down play to the 16, Jackson took the ball around the right side for the TD that gave the Broncos a 26-21 lead.

Then, on the first play from scrimmage after the kickoff, Leroy Hoard fumbled and Denver's Dennis Smith recovered, leading eventually to Treadwell's field goal.

Kosar, who had TD passes of 43 yards to Webster Slaughter in the second quarter and 11 to Kevin Mack in the third, came back with a 24-yard TD pass to Brennan with 3:21 left, the fourth offensive TD for a team that had only three in the previous four games.

Denver seemed to take control with nine points in a 35-second span of the first half, the first on Humphrey's 19-yard TD run that made it 17-13, the second when Fletcher blocked Bryan Wagner's punt for a safety.

The Broncos took the opening kickoff and marched 92 yards in nine plays capped by Elway's 13-yard TD run from a shotgun formation on third-and-2. Elway completed all five of his passes for 47 yards on the drive.

Red Sox seek shelter from Oakland storm

By Ben Walker
The Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif. — A new lineup, a new pitcher and a new time to play. Maybe something will help the Boston Red Sox.

Right now, the Red Sox will take any changes in the American League playoffs. They already trail Oakland 2-0 and the Athletics are thinking sweep.

"It can't really get much worse, can it?" said pitcher Greg Harris, one of a handful of Red Sox who showed up Monday for an optional, off-day workout at the Coliseum.

"But we're not panicking yet," Harris said. "I mean, it's not like they've killed us. Look at the hits they've gotten. A lot of bloopers and bleeders."

Harris was the loser Sunday night, giving up three hits while getting only one out. He's part of a Boston bullpen that has allowed 12 runs on 16 hits in 6 1/2 innings. In both games, the Red Sox were close in the late innings until the relievers took over.

Because of the onslaught against the bullpen, the Athletics have outhit the Red Sox 26-13 and outscored them 13-2. Oakland is batting .361 while Boston is just .177, including 0-for-13 with runners in scoring position.

Boston has lost eight straight postseason games and tied a playoff record with six consecutive defeats, a streak that started with a sweep by Oakland in 1988. The Athletics have won their last eight in the postseason.

"I'm sure a lot of people are giving them a lot of credit, as they should," said Wade Boggs, who took 10 minutes of batting practice. "But that doesn't really come into focus as far as I'm concerned."

Boggs is leading the Red Sox regulars in hitting, going 3-for-8. No one else is doing much and Boston manager Joe Morgan said he was thinking about a lineup change for Game 3 Tuesday.

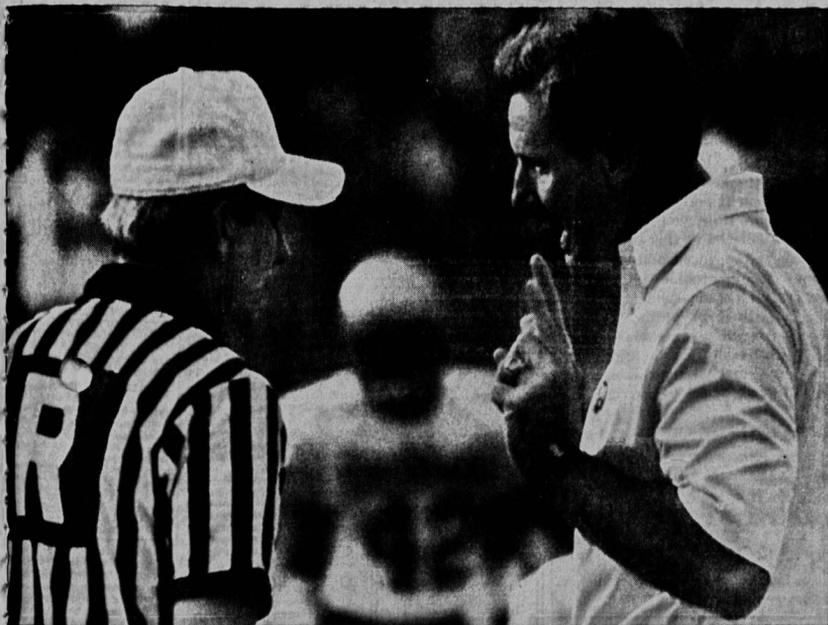

Mike Marshall, who is 1-for-2 in a pair of

Associated Press

Oakland's Lance Blankenship is tagged out at home by Boston's Tony Pena in the ninth inning of Oakland's 4-1 win Sunday.

Associated Press

University of Missouri football coach Bob Stull argues with referee J.C. Louderback after Colorado was allowed to score a final touchdown Saturday on an illegal 5th down, giving the Buffaloes the win on the last play of the game. The seven officials working the game have been suspended.

Fifth down costs Mizzou, refs

By Doug Tucker
The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A play that never should have been run cost Missouri a victory, put seven Big Eight officials on indefinite suspension and could have national championship overtones.

The Big Eight ruled Monday that Colorado's 33-31 victory over Missouri will stand even though game officials inadvertently allowed the Buffaloes a fifth down that produced the winning touchdown on the final play.

"It has been determined that, in accordance with the football playing rules, the allowance of the fifth down to Colorado is not a postgame correctable error," Big Eight commissioner Carl James said in a statement. "The final score in the Colorado-Missouri football game will remain as posted."

While there was confusion in the final frantic seconds, Colorado clearly took five downs to get into the end zone. After spiking the ball on fourth down to stop the clock, quarterback Charles Johnson wiggled across the goal line on fifth down.

The officials, whose collective experience totals 177 years and includes 19 bowl games, were suspended indefinitely beginning with this week's games. Their future in the league was uncertain.

The Big Eight's decision seemed certain to infuriate Missouri fans, hundreds of whom milled about angrily on the field cursing the officials Saturday.

It even could affect the national championship. Now 4-1-1 overall and ranked No. 14, the Buffaloes could get a second consecutive shot at a national title if they repeat as Big Eight champs and return to the Orange Bowl.

Missouri Chancellor Haskell Monroe Jr. had appealed to the Big Eight to declare Missouri the winner, telling James, "I ask for you to take appropriate actions to correct this unfortunate mistake."

"Obviously, we're very disappointed," Missouri athletic director Dick Tamburo said of James' announcement. "As far as we're concerned, our players and our people know we won that game even though Colorado gets the 'W.' Now we just want to get this whole mess behind us."

J.C. Louderback of Arkansas City, Kan., the referee and crew chief for the game, said in a statement: "Through the entire episode, the coaches and players were very professional. In officiating, you work the game for the players and your feeling is the game should be determined by the players, not the coaches or officials on the field.

"It's always a tough feeling when a rule, or an error in a rule becomes a factor in a game. We are human. We erred. And, we feel terrible in regards to the circumstances at the end of the game."

Colorado Coach Bill McCartney, who charged the field was so slick it was unplayable, said he was satisfied with the decision.

"If Missouri had outplayed us and if the field conditions had been fair and an inadvertent mistake by an official had worked in our favor, I would call our squad and coaches together and discuss with them whether we should forfeit because we won unfairly," McCartney said. "But I don't feel like we did."

"It was remarkable under the circumstances that we won the game," McCartney added. "We counted 92 times when our players slipped on that turf. That turf is treacherous and it took us right out of our game. It made the game close and caused the controversy that we're all involved in now."

The other officials were umpire Frank Gaines of Lincoln, Neb.; linesman Ron Demaree of Oklahoma City; line judge Paul Brown of Omaha, Neb.; field judge Terry Turlington of Kennett, Mo.; side judge Scott Koch of York, Neb., and back judge Willie Weisbrook of Lincoln.

Both McCartney and Missouri Coach Bob Stull said they did not know what had happened.

"None of us picked up on the fact we were getting a fifth down. Had we known it was fourth down instead of third down, we certainly would not have spiked the ball to stop the clock," McCartney said. "I didn't remember we had downed the ball on first down."

Stull said he sensed something was amiss. "Everybody said that was fifth down. But my comment was how can that possibly be," Stull said. "There's no way that could happen. People were questioning themselves. But we had a hard time believing that we could be right. You look at the sideline and the down marker and the scoreboard and they all say the same thing. The officials say the same thing."

This week, Missouri faces a nationally ranked opponent for the third consecutive week when it travels to No. 7 Nebraska.

Moore hopes for redemption

By Tim Liotta
The Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif. — Only a healthy dose of postseason success will enable Oakland pitcher Mike Moore to swallow this bitter pill of a year.

"It doesn't matter if I went 1-19 or didn't win a game, the main thing is the team is here and has a chance to get to the World Series," Moore said. "If I win one or two games in the playoffs and then get a chance to pitch in the World Series and do well there, it will make up for a lot."

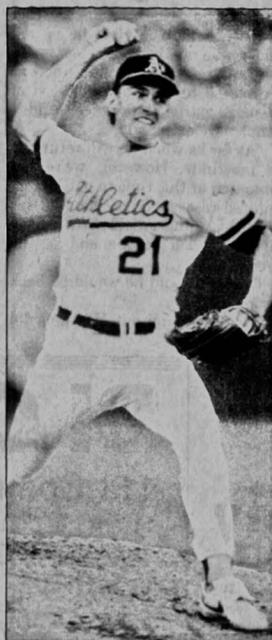

Moore followed up a 1989 season in which he won a career-high 19 games with a career-best 2.61 ERA with a 13-15 record and a 4.65 ERA. Despite his struggles, Oakland manager Tony La Russa named Moore his starting pitcher in Game 3 of the American League playoffs over 17-game winner Scott Sanderson.

"It was a real tough call," La Russa said. "I expect him to rise to the occasion. I've seen him do it and I expect him to do it."

And from what A's pitching coach Dave Duncan has seen of Moore, it figures he will.

"Each time Mike Moore is put in a key situation, he comes through," Duncan said. "Look at the postseason last year (when Moore went 3-0 in three starts). There has to be a motivating factor when Mike Moore pitches."

Apparently, Moore has been occasionally motivated this season, something that was not a problem last year after he signed a lucrative three-year, free-agent contract with the A's.

Mike Moore

"In order to be more than an average pitcher... one of things you have to do is pitch every game like it's the most important game of the season," Duncan said. "You have to personally put significance on each time you pitch. You can't waste games.

"Last year, Mike Moore tried to show he was worth the attention he had gotten and the interest we had in him."

Moore, who at times has lost his velocity and at other times just pitched badly, has no explanation for what happened to him this year. Duncan, however, said Moore has been tabbed for big things next year.

"The ability is there," Moore said. "This year has been hard for me to explain. I guess I can just summarize it by saying I had a bad year. Things fell into place last year and I pitched to my capabilities. This year has been an odd year all along."

His four starts since a wrist injury in early September are clear examples of Moore's season.

After struggling in his first two starts, Moore's outing against Texas on Sept. 28 was billed as a do-or-die start if he wanted to pitch in the playoffs. He responded, giving up one run and seven hits in 6 1-3 innings.

However, in his final start on the last day of the season against California, with the division wrapped up and his postseason start secure, Moore was terrible. He gave up seven runs and seven hits in 3 1-3 innings.

"He came back after that game and said, 'It was hard for me to pitch because there was no significance to it,'" Duncan said.

There ought to be enough significance for Moore on Tuesday as the A's try to take a 3-0 lead over the Red Sox.

THE MILL RESTAURANT

120 E. Burlington

ALL-YOU-CAN-EAT FISH FRY

IOWA CITY YACHT CLUB

Tonight

50¢ Pints 9-Midnight

TKO and THE ROLLERS

HAPPY HOUR

4pm-8pm Mon.-Fri. Burger Baskets $1.75

Tuesday Lunch Special

Blackbeard Spaghetti

$3.00 | $3.50

Watch for our ANNIVERSARY SPECIALS on Friday

13 S. Linn • 354-7430

Micky's Bar & Grill

TUESDAY

CONGLOMERATION
Ham, Turkey, Swiss & Pick Cheese grilled on wheat and teamed up with our best dressing.
$1.99 / pm

Micky's produces:
Margrita Night
$1.25 Refills in your Micky's Pint
Open Daily at 11 am
11 S. Dubuque

magnifico's mostly italian

$1 OFF ANY PURCHASE
($4 minimum)
Expires Oct. 16, 1990

- Lasagna $3.39
- Manicotti $3.39
- Ravioli $3.39
- Spaghetti $2.89
- w/ meat sauce
- Italian Beef $3.49
- Meatball Hero $3.19

Over 30 more items to choose from.
Carry out available • No wait

1925 Broadway, Pepperwood Place
337-6618
By econofoods 10am-9pm

Big East proposes to Miami

The Associated Press

CORAL GABLES, Fla. — The University of Miami on Monday received an invitation to become the 10th member of the Big East Conference, and the school's board of trustees will decide Wednesday whether to accept the offer.

Big East officials have been courting the independent school for several months, and had reportedly been awaiting a signal that Miami would accept an invitation before extending one.

But Miami athletic director Sam Jankovich and university president Edward Foote declined to predict how the 55-member board would vote on the matter.

If the invitation is accepted, the rule of Miami's juggernaut football program in the Big East would be decided later, Jankovich said. Boston College, Pittsburgh and Syracuse are the only Big East schools that play major-college football, and they're independent in that sport.

As a Big East member, Miami might remain independent in football, at least for the time being. There has also been talk of the Big East adding other football schools, or of the league aligning with the Southwest Conference or Atlantic Coast Conference in football only.

There could be a number of options if this thing took place,"

Jankovich said. "But there would be no timetable, and we would just take our time."

Approval of the Big East's invitation by the board of trustees would require a simple majority.

"Until the final decision is made, any speculation about where it ought to go would be premature," Foote said. "I have a board of 50-some people, and they're very strong-minded community leaders. They are the ones who will make the ultimate decision."

Foote and Jankovich declined to say what they will recommend to the board. Foote reportedly would like to join the ACC, but that league has indicated a reluctance to pursue further expansion after recently adding Florida State.

The invitation was announced during a news conference following a meeting of officials from the university and Big East.

"I know Miami is being fair and open-minded in considering this offer," Big East commissioner Mike Tranghese said. "I shall be extremely disappointed if it does not work out, but I have no guarantees."

"We are obviously excited about the prospects of this. We have not talked to other schools; Miami has been the school that has had our interest for a long time."

Tranghese declined to say how soon Miami's membership might take effect. He also dodged a question about further expansion.

"I can't discuss 11, 12, 13 or 14 (members) until I know about 10," he said. "Miami's decision will predicate everything else that we're contemplating."

Representing the Big East at Monday's meetings were Tranghese; the Rev. Don Monan, president of Boston College; Bill Flynn, athletic director at Boston College; Melvin Eggers, chancellor at Syracuse; Ed Bozik, athletic director at Pittsburgh, and Frank Rienzo, athletic director at Georgetown.

The league's other members are Connecticut, Providence, St. John's, Seton Hall and Villanova.

TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT

TUESDAY NIGHT TACOS

Make Your Own ALL YOU CAN EAT TACOS!

Adults: $3.85      Children Under 12: $1.95

5 to 8 pm featuring

Hard & Soft Shell Tacos (Full menu available)

GRINGO'S

115 East College      338-3000

TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT TNT

TONIGHT Pasta - All You Can Eat!

ENTREES INCLUDE Spaghetti, Lasagna, Linguini, Calzone, Mostaccioli, Fettuccine.

FEATURED SAUCES Alfredo, Marinara, Clam and Pesto.

Served with Breadsticks and Italian Bread.

$4.25 4:00 - 7:00 p.m.

"Every night's a special night at IMU River Room"

VITO'S

$1.99 Jumbo Burger Baskets with Fries 4 pm to Midnight

$2.00 Pitchers

49ers lose Roger Craig to knee injury

The Associated Press

SANTA CLARA, Calif. — Roger Craig tore a knee ligament in San Francisco's victory over the Houston Oilers on Sunday and the running back will be out indefinitely.

Coach George Seifert said Monday that the eight-year veteran would not play for at least two weeks after tearing the posterior cruciate ligament in his right knee.

Seifert said he couldn't rule out the possibility that the injury could threaten Craig's career.

"But I think it's remote at best,"

Seifert said. "Knowing Roger Craig and the type of athlete he is and his rehab methods and so forth, and from what the doctors expressed to me, the likelihood of that is extremely remote. And I emphasize extremely.

"As far as when he will return, it is indefinite. However, we're not prepared at this time to put him on injured reserve. So we have to see how this thing unfolds. We'll have a better idea at the end of the week."

Craig, 30, said he would be back soon.

"Don't count me out. How long did my hip keep me out? They said I'd be out six to eight weeks and I didn't miss a game," he said.

Craig sustained a severe hip injury on Dec. 28, 1986 against Miami, but played the following week.

"I'm not ready to count myself out," Craig said. "I'll see how I feel Friday and then I'll make a decision."

It's believed Craig injured his knee at the end of a 13-yard run just after the start of the second quarter, though Seifert said it hasn't been exactly determined when it happened.

Seifert said that there are no plans for surgery. "Most of these injuries are taken care of by rehabilitation, and that's what the doctors feel will be the situation here," he said.

"It's pretty positive that he will be back in a short period of time. But at the same time, you hate to put that pressure on at this time."

Craig had appeared in 114 straight games since his rookie year and is the second-leading rusher in club history with 6,793 yards, trailing Joe Perry's 7,344 yards. He was an All-Pro selection in 1988 and leads the 49ers in rushing this season with 168 yards on 61 carries.

Rangers win behind Nicholls' play

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Bernie Nicholls had a goal and two assists in a three-goal first period as the New York Rangers won their home opener Monday night after two road defeats, beating the Minnesota North Stars 6-3.

Nicholls assisted on a goal by Darren Turcotte at 4:53 for his 800th NHL point, scored his third goal of the season on a power play at 10:53 and assisted on a goal by Mike Gartner at 17:21, the 450th of Gartner's career.

The Rangers made it 4-0 against goalie Jarmo Myllys on Mark Janssens' goal at 1:55 of the second period before Brian Bellows and Mike Craig scored for Minnesota against Rangers goalie John Vanbiesbroeck.

Gartner scored his second goal of the game at 27 of the third period on a power play. Brian Copp scored for Minnesota at 9:57 and New York's John Ogradnick closed out the scoring with 40 seconds left.

Canadiens 5, Whalers 3
MONTREAL — Stephane Richer's fourth goal of the season capped Montreal's four-goal first period. Richer cruised through the slot and one-time Russ Courtnall's pass from the corner hit to the near post past Hartford goalie Kay Whitmore.

Brian Skrudland, Brent Gilchrist and Eric Desjardins also had first-period goals as the Canadiens built their 4-0 lead on only seven shots. Stephane Lebeau scored a third-period goal for Montreal (2-0-1). Kevin Dineen, Ron Francis and Randy Cunneynorth scored for Hartford.

The Whalers drew within a goal when Cunneynorth's long shot trickled through goalie Patrick Roy's legs at 5:0 of the third period. Lebeau got it back at 10:46.

Moeller uneasy after Michigan jump to No. 1

By Harry Atkins
The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Gary Moeller feels like the guy who just got a bright orange tie with green and brown palm trees from his distant Uncle Bernie at Christmas.

Big smile. Thanks a lot, it's great. Then find a place to hide the darn thing.

Moeller had to feel that way Monday after his Michigan Wolverines were named No. 1 by The Associated Press in the weekly college football poll.

It was nice, but definitely not what he needed heading into the annual Big Ten battle with archrival Michigan State.

"I'd be the happiest guy in the world if it were Jan. 2," Moeller said. "I'm not worried about the No. 1 ranking. It's nice, but it's not anything we want to talk about. At the end of the year, that's when you want to talk about those things."

It's only natural that Moeller would want the Wolverines (3-1, 1-0) to keep their minds on Michigan State (1-2-1, 0-1). The winner of this intrastate showdown has advanced to the Rose Bowl in each of the past four seasons.

"Being No. 1 is something you can never get completely out of your mind, and your players can't either," Moeller said. "You want to work to that end in a different way. You do it by keeping your focus on the game in front of you."

The Wolverines have been known to lose their focus after vaulting to No. 1. Top-ranked in the preseason poll a year ago, Michigan dropped to No. 2 before the opener against Notre Dame, then lost to the Irish 24-19.

In 1981, the Wolverines were No. 1 in the preseason poll but lost their opener at Wisconsin 21-14.

In 1977, with Rick Leach at quarterback, the Wolverines spent four of the first six weeks at No. 1 before losing 16-0 at Minnesota.

And in 1976, Michigan was No. 1 for the first eight weeks before falling 16-14 to Purdue.

Michigan's only national championship since the poll's debut in 1936 came in 1948, when the Wolverines went 9-0 in Bennie Oosterbaan's first year as coach. The Wolverines, who had defeated Southern Cal 49-0 the preceding season in the Rose Bowl, didn't make the return trip because the Big Ten had a no-repeat rule in those days.

But that's the kind of talk Moeller hates. He doesn't want his players looking down the road to Pasadena in the middle of October. He wants them focused on Michigan State.

But the players aren't dumb, either. Most of them know how emotional the game with Michigan State will be. It always is, no matter what the records are.

"I don't think rankings have anything to do with it," offensive guard Dean Dingman said. "We could both be winless right now and this would still be a great game. Everybody comes ready to play this one."

Fullback Jarrod Bunch said the No. 1 ranking could prove to be just another burden for the Wolverines.

DI Classifieds

111 Communications Center • 335-5784

11 am deadline for new ads & cancellations.

PERSONAL

FEELING emotional pain following an abortion? Call I.R.I.S. 338-1543. We can help!

TIRED OF LONG LINES? MAIL BOXES ETC.

Is your faxing, packing, shipping and more store.

WE DO:
*Postal services
*UPS
*Packing and shipping
*Overnight *International *Free pick up
*Fax
*Copies
*Keys
*Word processing and resumes
*Western Union

WE CARRY:
*Shipping supplies
*Office and computer supplies
*School supplies

ALL MAJOR CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED

MAIL BOXES ETC.
221 E. Market
354-2113
1/2 block west of Quik Trip

CHAINS, STEPH'S RINGS

Wholesale Jewelry
107 S. Dubuque St.

EARRINGS, MORE

NEED A dancer? Call Tina, 351-0299. Bachelor parties, etc.

PREGNANT?

We are here to help!
FREE PREGNANCY TESTING
confidential counseling
Walk-in 9 am-1 pm M-W-F or 7-9 pm T-Th or call 351-6556
CONCERN FOR WOMEN
United Federal Savings Bldg.
Suite 210, Iowa City

SEX ADDICTS ANONYMOUS
P.O. Box 703
Iowa City IA 52244-0703

FREE BIBLE CORRESPONDENCE COURSE. Send name, address: BCC P.O. Box 1851, Iowa City, Iowa, 52244.

JIM'S Journal merchandise: T-shirts, boxes, mugs. Send for free catalog: Ameriprint Features, PO Box 680, Marshall WI 53559 or call 608-655-4248.

OVEREATERS ANONYMOUS CAN HELP
Meeting times:
Noon Monday
7:30pm Tuesdays
9am Saturdays
GLORIA DEI CHURCH

MALE DANCER available for bachelorette, birthday or any private party. R&R Entertainment, 337-6361.

EXPERIENCE the difference. Quality can make TAN at No. 1. Six, 338-0810.

MAKE A CONNECTION ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY IOWAN 335-5784

FREE SPRING Break Trips to Cancun and the Bahamas.

Organize small group and you travel FREE! Call 1-800-344-8360, for more information.

GAYLINE. For confidential listening, information and referral. Tuesdays, Wednesday and Thursdays, 7-9pm 335-3877.

PERSONAL

BIGAY Monthly Newsletter. Opportunity to meet new friends. SASE: FOR YOU (Dept. B), PO Box 35092, Des Moines IA 50315.

SECULAR Organizations for Sobriety (SOS). Nonreligious alternative to AA. Sobriety meeting: Tuesdays 8pm, 511 S. Dodge, 337-3425.

HESITATING, questioning, struggling with being gay? Gay People's Union discussion group. Tuesday, October 9, Trinity Place, 320 E. College on the alley, 8pm. Everybody welcome.

WOMEN'S Transit Authority is running a two-month pilot project by extending the hours on Thursday, Friday, Saturday nights to 7pm-lam, beginning the weekend of October 18. This project will determine if there is need and adequate volunteer coverage to support longer hours. WTA is looking for both volunteers and riders.

Last Chance To Enter
MISS IOWA - USA
1-800-442-IOWA

PERSONAL SERVICE

RAPE Assault Harassment Rape Crisis Line 335-6000 (24 Hours)

CASH loans information services. SASE, $19.95. L.G. Publisher, Route 1, Box 71, West Liberty, Iowa 52776.

THE COUNSELING CLINIC. Individual, group, family counseling and psychotherapy. Immediate openings available. Call 354-6238.

100 Mini-Cross or diet pills for only $5 (1000 for $14.95). Call 1-800-888-4988.

NEW ADS START AT THE BOTTOM OF THE COLUMN AND WORK THEIR WAY TO THE TOP.

BIRTHRIGHT

offers

Free Pregnancy Testing
Confidential Counseling and Support

No appointment necessary

Mon.-Wed. 11-2;

Thursday & Friday 1-4

Saturday 11:00 am-1:00 pm

CALL 338-8665

118 S. Clinton,

Suite 250

COMPACT refrigerators for rent. Three sizes available, from $39/semester. Free delivery. Big Ten Rentals Inc. 337-RENT.

COUNSELING ASSOCIATES Individual, couple and group experiences for people who wish to examine their lives with an eye toward insight/understanding and change, becoming. Sliding fee scale. Day and evening hours. 338-3671.

TAROT and other metaphysical lessons and readings by Jan Gaur, experienced instructor. Call 351-8511.

Planned Parenthood® of Mid-Iowa
2 South Linn Street, Iowa City, Iowa
354-8000
"You have a friend in us."

Message Board AD BLANK

- Is there someone you need to get a message to?
- Do you want to arrange a meeting time and place?
- Do you need to apologize to someone?
- Do you want to wish someone happy birthday, happy anniversary or good luck?
- Is there someone that you would like to flirt with?
- Do you want to say congratulations?
- Do you want to plan a F.A.C. with your friends?

One day $5 (up to) 24 words.

|    |    |    |    |
|----|----|----|----|
| 1  | 2  | 3  | 4  |
| 5  | 6  | 7  | 8  |
| 9  | 10 | 11 | 12 |
| 13 | 14 | 15 | 16 |
| 17 | 18 | 19 | 20 |
| 21 | 22 | 23 | 24 |

Print name & phone number below.

Name _____ Phone _____

Send completed ad blank with check or money order, or stop by our office.

The Daily Iowan
111 Communications Center
corner of College & Madison
Iowa City, 52242 • 335-5784

PERSONAL

BIGAY Personals Find a pen pal friend or mate SASE: R&M Club PO Box 1772 Iowa City IA 52244

OWN health care professional would like to meet gay or bisexual white male in his 30s or 40s for friendship and possibly long-term relationship. Write 221 E. Market, Box 125, Iowa City IA 52245.

WOMEN'S Transit Authority is running a two-month pilot project by extending the hours on Thursday, Friday, Saturday nights to 7pm-lam, beginning the weekend of October 18. This project will determine if there is need and adequate volunteer coverage to support longer hours. WTA is looking for both volunteers and riders.

Last Chance To Enter
MISS IOWA - USA
1-800-442-IOWA

MESSAGE BOARD

THE MAIL art project says send something to Billy Cave, 403 S. Lucas, Iowa City IA 52240.

AMY, AMY, AMY. I shake my head at one who picks bones just to get attention. Speaking of bones, "Who's the dog here?" "You are." What am I gonna do without you and your humor and your clothes? Whenever I miss you, which will be often, I'll think about... our couch, causing diversions, "Buzz-Kill", singing with Paul and RMO! You're the best!

You know who

CHRIS:

It has been so long since we have had office lounge singing - it's just not the same without you! But don't fret, the counters are clean, the orders are stacked and we're still eating!

WE MISS YOU!! C. K. A and M

BRAT PACK PINT NIGHT 10 pm

TRANSIT

50 YEARS of experience and 100,000 weekly customers is definitely an act to follow. Nobody can ride just once. Try!

ADOPTION

Adoption Perfect choice of parents for your precious newborn. We're young and loving with a pretty home and huge play yard for baby's storybook future. We see your choice of adoption as a loving one.

Let's talk! Expenses paid. Call collect (914) 737-4587

LOVING, secure, happily married couple wants to adopt. Let us help you through this difficult time. Legal, confidential, expenses paid. Call collect: Larry Diane, 415-550-1876.

ADOPTION

ADOPTED two year old seeks baby brother or sister. Please help our daughter's dream come true! Expenses paid. Everything legal/confidential. Call Debby/Josh collect 914-762-5536.

NO MORE WARS, NO MORE BLOODSHED, PEACE UNTO YOU SHALOM, SALAM, FOREVER. —Menachem Begin

HELP WANTED

NOW HIRING registered U of I students for part time custodial positions. University Hospital housekeeping department. Day and night shifts. Weekends and holidays required. Apply in person to C157 General Hospital.

NOW HIRING at Golden Corral. Family Steak House. Part time and full time positions available.

*Flexible scheduling
*Part time vacation pay
*Meal benefits
*Fun work conditions.
*Ask about scholarship program.

Apply at your convenience.
621 S. Riverside

INTELLIGENCE Jobs. FED, CIA, US Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Listings. 1-800-687-6000, Ext. K-9612.

PART-TIME (some full-time) Due to expansion, national corporation has 24 permanent/temporary openings. Earn $7.50 to start. Flexible schedule. Internships/scholarships available. Call Cedar Rapids, 1-377-9290. Monday-Friday, 9-5.

GOVERNMENT Jobs. $16,412-$59,932/year. Now hiring. Your area. Call 1-800-687-6000, Ext. R-9612, for listings.

NOW HIRING cocktail servers. Must have lunch availability. Apply in person, 2-4pm, Monday-Thursday. The Iowa River Power Company, 501 First Avenue Coralville, Iowa EOE

PART TIME janitorial help needed A.M. and P.M. Apply 3:30pm-5:30pm, Monday-Friday. Midwest Janitorial Service 510 E. Burlington Iowa City, Iowa

PART TIME help wanted for Feed Warehouse and Fertilizer Plant. Full days and Ag background preferred. Stutsman's Inc., Hills, Iowa, 679-2281.

EARN $1005 weekly working at home in spare time. Send self-addressed stamped envelope to Kinetics, Box 373, Iowa City IA 52244.

Hardee's.

Hardee's of Plaza Center One is now hiring for all shifts. We offer free uniforms, employee bonuses & incentives, paid vacation after one year, discounted meals & flexible scheduling. Earn up to $5/hour.

Apply in person between the hours of 10am-8pm

LOVING, secure, happily married couple wants to adopt. Let us help you through this difficult time. Legal, confidential, expenses paid. Call collect: Larry Diane, 415-550-1876.

OPPORTUNITIES

Visit our booth at the Microcomputer Fair to find out about office/computer opportunities and free taking.

Tuesday, October 9
10 am - 7 pm

KELLY Temporary Services
The Kelly Girl People - The First and The Best

Power Company

Now hiring night cooks & prep cooks. Apply in person 2-4 pm, Mon.-Thurs.

The Iowa River Power Company
501 1st Ave., Coralville EOE

McDonald's

OPPORTUNITIES

Visit our booth at the Microcomputer Fair to find out about office/computer opportunities and free taking.

Tuesday, October 9
10 am - 7 pm

KELLY Temporary Services
The Kelly Girl People - The First and The Best

Power Company

Now hiring night cooks & prep cooks. Apply in person 2-4 pm, Mon.-Thurs.

The Iowa River Power Company
501 1st Ave., Coralville EOE

McDonald's

HELP WANTED

EARN MONEY typing PC, WP, At home. Full parttime $35,000 year potential. 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9612.

POSTAL Jobs $18,392-$67,125 year. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. P-9612 for current list.

CNAs Full or part time positions available. Competitive salary and benefits. Westside location, on busline. Apply at Greenwood Manor, 605 Greenwood Drive, EOE.

THE DAILY IOWAN CLASSIFIED AD OFFICE IS LOCATED IN ROOM 111, COMMUNICATIONS CENTER (ACROSS FROM THE MAIN UNIVERSITY OF IOWA LIBRARY).

WE NEED reliable, caring people to work with developmentally disabled adults and children in our Iowa City group homes. Flexible hours include overnights and weekends. $3.90 to start; $4.15 available in 90 days. If you are a high school graduate, 18 years old and are interested, please attend applicant orientation Monday at 3pm, Wednesday at 10am or Thursday at 2pm. Systems Unlimited, 1040 Williams St., Iowa City, 338-9212. EOE/AA.

Workers needed at Kinnick Stadium for general, weekly maintenance work and specific assignments during Hawkeye Football games. Starting wage is $4.60 per hour. Registered students may apply to Bill Neal, SW maintenance shop area or phone 335-9461.

Kentucky Fried Chicken.

Friendly dependable people. Please call: 351-5028

econo foods

Full and part time positions. Flexible hours. Over night stockers, video dept, floral dept, bakery, deli, demonstrations. Apply in person at service counter.

TELEMARKETER

Tired of wearing that polyester uniform?

Work for social justice & get PAID to do it. Salary, paid training, immediate openings full/part time.

ICAN 354-8116

TELEMARKETING SALES

National leader in telemarketing industry seeks articulate, enthusiastic individuals. You will be representing Fortune 500 companies selling various products and services. We are offering FT/PT positions with flexible hours. Excellent starting salary $25.25 per hour plus bonuses. For consideration, call 1-800-822-2722 Ask for Mr. Norris

DENTAL ASSISTANT

Dental Assistant position open at River City Dental Care. Part/full-time hours. Experience preferred but will train the right person. If you would like to join our team please call Brenda at 337-6226 or 338-1551.

$4.75/hour IMMEDIATE OPENINGS

WE ARE LOOKING FOR FRIENDLY FACES!

No Shame enters 5th season

By Henry Olson
The Daily Iowan

No Shame Theatre is in the midst of its most popular season ever, and coordinator Doug Dawson would like to take a little credit for it.

"I spent the summer very actively campaigning at events like freshman orientation, so I could talk with parents and freshmen," says Dawson. "We had all the resident assistants come in, so we plug No Shame in the halls. We've been really pushing to get a really wide and varied audience."

No Shame started in 1986 as a way for writers and actors to perform or see their work performed. The weekly shows, at 11 p.m. Fridays in Theatre B of the UI Theatre Building, are a series of skits and songs performed by members of the audience. Basically, No

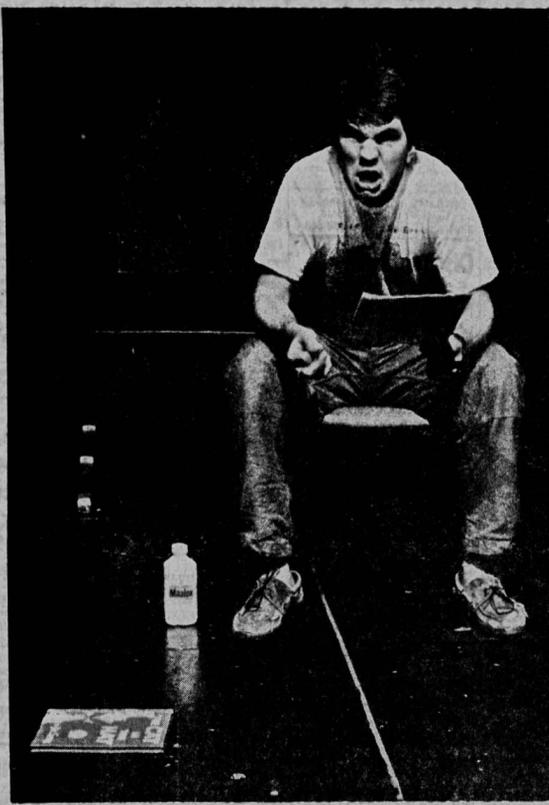

"Our audience includes everyone — which is good because we count on them to provide the entertainment."

Doug Dawson coordinator, No Shame Theatre

No Shame provides a venue in which artists can experiment with and gradually perfect their ideas.

If anything, Dawson's efforts have been too successful. Though he has yet to initiate his publicity campaign, No Shame has had to turn away 60 to 100 people for its performances. "Right now what we're doing is literally selling 147 seats, and cutting everyone else off absolutely. We are, however, considering other alternatives like moving to Macbride."

The increased attendance, however, can only serve to enhance No Shame. "Our audience includes everyone from teenagers to senior citizens, which is good because we count on our audience to provide the entertainment," says Dawson.

John Smick portrays the character Mr. Maxwell during No Shame Theatre in the UI Theatre Building Friday night.

No Shame is in its fifth season this year. Originally a pickup truck in a parking lot formed its stage, and a motorcycle headlight served as its lighting system. From those humble beginnings it has blossomed into a full-fledged student organization with an acting board of directors and has moved into the Theatre Building.

The increased infrastructure within No Shame should not detract from its freshness. "In order to be a student organization, you have to have a board, et cetera. We are getting more structured but we're remaining original and spontaneous," says Dawson.

Performers gain a slot on No Shame's roster through a simple process. At 10:30 on Friday night, the actors who wish to perform give their material to Dawson. He then schedules them for the evening's show. Dawson adds that absolutely no censorship or creative restrictions are involved.

Anybody can perform in No Shame. "Currently, about 75 percent of the performers are theater majors. The other 25 percent consists of everything from high-schoolers to English majors who are testing the theater waters," says Dawson.

Upcoming highlights include "The Best of No Shame," a possible run of "The No Shame Dinner Theatre of Cruelty" and a scheduled visit from someone "who is not the Great Pumpkin" but might be "the Messiah" (i.e. a former No Shame emcee).

The philosophy of No Shame, simply stated, is "dare to fail." "We don't want the fear of embarrassment getting in the way of a performance," Dawson says. Here lies the key to No Shame's success. Its new attendance records prove audiences love watching performers who welcome the chance to make fools of themselves.

Season's Best: Excellent linguini and a somewhat quiet demeanor

By Henry Olson
The Daily Iowan

Welcome back — dear, dear reader. As we continue our fantastic gastronomic voyage, we abandon the folksy comeliness of Hardee's for the understated understatedness of Season's Best Restaurant and Bar at 325 E. Washington St.

Season's Best resounds with silence. My companion and I were quietly acknowledged.

"Two for lunch?" said the hostess as if she were announcing a death in the family.

"By the way," she added in a conspiratorial whisper, "do you have reservations?"

After a prolonged awkward pause, I nervously said, "No."

"That's OK," she said, "I just thought I'd ask."

Then, like Ali Baba, we were on our way into a treasure trove of edible delights.

Our waiter at Season's Best was more than professional. At no time did he fail to keep us satisfied. Without resorting to forced small talk or unnecessary introductions, he made sure that our glasses were filled and that our silverware was replaced.

I ordered the egg linguine with clam sauce and the strawberry lemon mousse. My companion, who tragically had imbibed half a bottle of cough syrup in an effort to battle a nasty cold and consequently was in a Betty Ford kind of mood, ordered the cheese tortellini with a cream pesto sauce.

Our house salads quickly arrived, and frankly, they were uninspired. In a puddle of tasty bacon and white pepper dressing lay a Lilliputian portion of lettuce, a tomato wedge and a cucumber slice. Perhaps Season's Best should pay heed to the consistently timely words of ABC's "Schoolhouse Rock": "Don't drown your food in ketchup or mayo or goo. It's no fun to eat what you can't even see, so don't drown your food."

The entrées, however, more than made up for the oddly viscous salads. My linguine, though spicy, was thoroughly enjoyable; the tortellini with cream pesto sauce was even better. The cream added richness to the sauce while not detracting from the flavor of the basil. Unfortunately, the lemon strawberry mousse had a strange aftertaste, and the strawberries within had seen better days.

The décor of Season's Best is very 1980s. Its forest greens and greys are soothing in a nostalgic sort of way. The dining room is dominated by a sculpture of what seems to be a piece of lead and a piece of iron getting to know each other.

Season's Best is a nice choice for lunch. At fairly reasonable prices, it offers a quiet getaway from the harsh business world. The staff seems very discreet. They hardly cracked a smile as my poor companion stumbled out of the lobby and into the cruel light of day.

'Jonquil' provides humor, drama

By Steve Cruse
The Daily Iowan

Time constraints prevented me — and many others, I imagine — from attending all four of "The WE Plays," which were performed at Hancher on Sunday. Going to only one performance, however, was itself a very rewarding experience.

"Jonquil," the third part of Charles Fuller's sequence of plays about Reconstruction, proved an excellent drama filled with suspense and poignant humor.

The play, set in South Carolina in 1866, was a valuable history lesson about Reconstruction and its effects on both blacks and whites. It dealt, however, with a universal theme — self-assertion in the face of violence. The actions of the main characters — Sally, her husband Calvin, the blind girl Jonquil and several other former slaves — were affected primarily by threats from whites, and how to deal with those threats.

The play's best scenes were the urgent dialogues between Sally and Calvin. After Sally suggested that Calvin should kill a man who attacked her, Calvin said, "I can't kill a white man. . . . Do you want me dead?" — and with slow incisiveness his wife replied, "No. . . . It just would have been nice to talk you out of it." It was a great line, the kind of thing that gets an audience riled up, and Fuller provided many more.

Another good performance was turned in by Curt Williams as Judge Bridges, a clandestine Ku Klux Klan member. Williams brought a deceptively soothing cadence to his character's words.

Fuller was obviously trying to point out historical ironies in these plays; many times racist characters made references to "radical Republicans" and urged white Southerners to vote for Democrats to keep blacks from gaining power.

In spite of the play's tone of impending tragedy, the carnage of the final scene came as a shock. Admirably, Fuller chose not to romanticize the scene but simply to present it as part of the stark brutality of history.

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

Karate epic tops weekend films

By Jeff Wilson
The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD — The karate action film "Marked for Death" slam-banged to the top of the weekend box office while the curious packed theaters to see the erotic "Henry & June," the first movie with an NC-17 rating.

The controversy over the new adults-only rating prompted sellout crowds for Universal's sexually explicit "Henry & June," which took in $868,000 in 76 theaters for a robust $11,427 per-screen average.

The movie is the first released under the Motion Picture Association of America's new rating, which excludes anyone under 18 and replaces the X rating.

The X designation was considered box office poison by the studios because many equate it with pornography and many newspapers refuse to place ads for X-rated films.

On top, martial arts wizard Steven Seagal's "Marked for Death" was the undisputed winner in the turnstile derby with a debut weekend tally of $10.5 million, nearly twice the gross of the No. 2 movie.

Disney's re-release of half-century-old cartoon classic "Fantasia" came in second with $5.2 million, followed by the yuppie tenant nightmare "Pacific Heights" with $5.1 million.

"It came out of the woodwork," 20th Century Fox executive Tom Sherak said of the studio's "Marked for Death."

"One of the arguments about the summer is all the action pictures came out at once," Sherak said. "There is an action audience out there and the action audience is hungry for a movie."

In addition to "Henry & June," two other movies in limited release fared well.

Barry Levinson's "Avalon" took in $184,000 on just seven screens for a $26,424 per-screen average.

The biographical "Listen Up: The Lives of Quincy Jones" took in $83,988 on 26 screens for a $3,230 per-screen average.

The love story "Ghost" was fourth with $4.7 million, and the mob movie "GoodFellas" was fifth with $4.5 million.

Sixth was "Postcards From the Edge," followed by "Flatliners," "Narrow Margin," "Desperate Hours" and "Funny About Love."

Doonesbury

Jim's Journal

Pick the winners... be a winner!

On The Line Rules

Entries must be submitted by noon, Thursday to The Daily Iowan, Room 111 or Room 201 Communications Center. No more than five entries per person. The decision of the judges is final. Winners will be announced in Monday's D.I. GOOD LUCK!

Pick the winners of these college football games and you could win a full color Daily Iowan On The Line T-Shirt

There will be 11 winners weekly, and the top picker this week will also win a $25 gift certificate from Eby's Athletic Company

WEEK FIVE

(check off your picks)

- Wisconsin at Iowa
- Purdue at Illinois
- Ohio State at Indiana
- Michigan State at Michigan
- Florida at Tennessee
- Texas at Oklahoma
- Syracuse at Penn State
- Texas A & M at Houston
- Iowa State at Colorado
- Oregon at Washington

TIE BREAKER:

- Miami (Ohio) at Ohio University

Please indicate score _____

Name _____ Address _____ Phone # _____

Crossword

Edited by Eugene T. Maleska

No. 0828

- ACROSS
- 1 Virginia
  - 5 Hooded merganser
  - 9 Opposite of "Vivel"
  - 13 Hardwood tree
  - 14 Air: Comb. form
  - 15 Saying
  - 16 Plod
  - 17 Smile broadly
  - 18 "Last Tango in _____," Brando film
  - 19 Como recording: 1954
  - 22 Gravestone
  - 23 Macaw
  - 24 Small island
  - 27 Suitability
  - 31 Fr. holy woman
  - 34 Shot from a hidden position
  - 36 Turkey
  - 37 Holbrook or Linden
  - 38 Possessions
  - 40 Wrath
  - 41 Exclamation of regret
  - 43 Natural ability
  - 44 Short sleep
  - 45 Fringed _____ (N.A. flower)
  - 47 Mil. award
  - 48 Actress Jillian
  - 49 Ship's poles
  - 54 Checker recording: 1961
  - 60 Medley of skits

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

AGED IWASA FARD
SODA NAMED EDEN
TWINENGINEPLANE
INTERIOR ELMO
INN LASE
SABANG TIGEREYE
AFEW LUMET LIA
GIANTSALAMANDER
ERR ROUES BELL
REDHEADS SHARDS
UMPS SHE
AMMO HOARIEST
THEARTFULDODGER
OMEN NERVE EAVE
METS TETES ALES

- DOWN
- 1 Rough files
  - 2 Conspicuous success
  - 3 Bolt together
  - 4 Lawful
  - 5 An edible starch
  - 6 _____ Griffin of TV and Wall St.
  - 7 Part of HOMES
  - 8 Defeats an opponent
  - 9 Inflexible
  - 10 Part of a fishhook
  - 11 Exchange premium
  - 12 His, in Arles
  - 15 Separately
  - 20 Let
  - 21 Young, unmarried woman
  - 25 Trice
  - 26 Creature of great size
  - 61 Above
  - 62 _____ mater
  - 63 Prevent
  - 64 Weathercock
  - 65 Equal
  - 66 Unit of force
  - 67 Terminates
  - 68 "_____ Quam Videri" (N.C. motto)

- 27 Regaled
- 28 The Emerald Isle
- 29 Wading bird
- 30 Chassé, e.g.
- 31 Dance of the 30's
- 32 Fiction
- 33 Verve
- 38 Companion
- 39 Mouth: Comb. form
- 42 Height
- 46 Atlas feature
- 50 Yawning
- 51 Transactions
- 52 Multiplied by
- 53 Gin
- 54 Assess
- 55 Level
- 56 Braided
- 57 Lend of tennis
- 58 Transmit
- 59 Three, in Avila
- 60 Half a diam.

Answers to any three clues in this puzzle are available by touch-tone phone: 1-900-420-5656 (75¢ each minute).

The Daily Iowan

Iowa City's Morning Newspaper

Iowa Book & Supply Co.

Downtown Across from The Old Capitol

Iowa's Most Complete Book Selection Featuring 40,000 Titles

