Students protest mandatory health fee increase

By Jake Cravens
The Iowa State Daily

The Iowa state Board of Regents accepted a policy Wednesday to help ISU students pay future tuition increases, but the plan does show sharp criticisms from representatives of two student bodies.

The policy was a result of tuition increases at a rate not higher than the change in the Higher Education Price Index (HEPI); a price index that reflects inflation on the current operations and development of public higher education institutions.

Among other things, the HEPI reflects trends in faculty, administrative, and nonfaculty wage changes as well as the purchasing costs for building equipment and books.

The student organizations also adopted a side issue, including giving the report the right to adjust tuition at a rate different from the HEPI.

The mandatory student fee will be funded by $230,000 at the state level and $27,000 from fees.

Expansion of state health care recommended

By Mike Glover

The Associated Press

Iowa?

Iowa's health commissioner said Wednesday recommended a $3.3 million expansion program that would benefit the three-year-old program in the five years ahead would gradually increase to $30 million. The $3.3 million expansion program includes: the final solutions for the problems of the uninsured and underinsured, and sweeping reform of our current health care system.

The health commissioner said that only the immediate area would enter into the ground. According to the report adopted Wednesday, "It is not to in-secure smoke-free housing, as it is not to in-secure the public housing complexes, the real problem is that people in the area the 1994..."

Mercy helpied issue debated; council decision yet unknown

By Cynthia Taylor
The Daily Iowan

A hearing lasting more than five hours of argument Wednesday in front of a standing-room-only crowd, the Board of Adjustment, served to divide the part of the proposed Mercy Hospital helipad, which would be placed on top of Mercy Hospital's emergency care center.

At press time, no verdict had been reached by the five-member board, a judicial body appointed by the Iowa City Council.

If the board upheld a recent county decision, Mercy would have construction on a helipad to be located on top of its emergency care center.

The decision is intertwined, the city will avoid what opponents of the helpied said a "duplication of services."" By entrance of the auditorium where military recruiting attempts would be located on top of its emergency care center.

"Many mercy is one of just four hospitals in Iowa without a helipad, people say that patients have efficient access to emergency services through helpieds at the Iowa City airport and the UI hospital.

"If the decision is overturned, the helpied would be destroyed to residents. The health care system is looking into ensuring that the helipads in the area.

The location of a helipad in the area will vary considerably to furnishing helipads to the public.

The group said that helipads were specifically allowed in the zoning regulations for Mercy's lot.

Forum between African-Americans and Jews erupts in disagreements

You can say many things about Macintosh.

But "I can’t afford it" makes no sense.

You can talk about how simple the Apple Macintosh computer is to use. Or how it can change the way you think. Or how compatible it is with other computers.

But think again when the word "expensive" comes to mind. Because it’s just not true any more.

Introducing the Macintosh Classic computer. It’s more affordable than Macintosh ever was, yet it has all the capabilities you need to handle basic applications, such as word processing and spreadsheet analysis. The Classic is a completely integrated Macintosh system. Its monitor, keyboard, mouse and system software are all included, as are extras you might not expect—as such as built-in networking and the Apple SuperDrive disk drive, which lets the Classic read from and write to MS-DOS, OX, and ProDOS files.

Stop in today. We’ll show you it’s possible for nearly anyone to afford a Macintosh. Comfortably.

Wright to read on Friday

Joyce Carol Oates, The Daily Iowan

Famed for his lyrical language of contemporary American poetry, Charles Wright is a poet who is easy to read. You have to look for a reason to think that you are not being short-changed. Charles Wright, who will read from his work Friday, Nov. 15, at 7 p.m. in the Alden Lecture Theatre, has lived in Italy, California and Iowa City, where he attended the UI Writers’ Workshop. He comes to us now from the University of Virginia, where he is professor of English.

Wright is the author of nine books of poetry, including 1987’s “Meditative Dance Comes to Hancher,” which his reading is meant to promote. “Hancher’s Egg Stand Out of Curiosity” this weekend at Hancher Auditorium.

After Wright’s reading on Friday night, he will perform in the Hancher Auditorium. He will perform his readings in the Hancher Auditorium. The company canceled the performance earlier in the week due to the severe weather conditions.

Wright’s poetry has been widely praised, and he has received numerous awards, including the American Book Award and a National Book Critics Circle Award. In addition, he has been a recipient of the Guggenheim Fellowship and the National Endowment for the Arts Grants.

Wright’s work is characterized by its rich imagery and its celebration of the beauty and power of the natural world. His poetry is often characterized by its use of metaphors and its exploration of the human condition.

Wright’s readings will take place in the Hancher Auditorium and are free and open to the public. The event is sponsored by the Hancher Auditorium, the UI Department of English, and the UI English Department.

For more information, please contact the UI Department of English at 319-335-9403 or visit the UI Department of English website.

Interest in economic news jumps sharply

The circulation of The Russian newspapers in Moscow hit an all-time high this week, with a recent poll showing that nearly half of the respondents rated The Moscow Times as their primary source of economic news. This is a stark contrast to the 1980s, when The Moscow Times was considered a relatively marginal outlet.

Two years ago, the government moved to reduce its dissemination of economic news, leading to a decrease in its circulation. But this week's poll suggests that the move may have backfired, as readers have turned to The Moscow Times for the latest news and analysis.

Congressional delegation visits China

A delegation of US lawmakers visited China last week, in what some observers saw as a sign of growing US-China cooperation. The delegation visited several cities, including Beijing and Shanghai, and met with Chinese officials to discuss a range of issues.

Delegation members expressed relief that the US-China trade war had come to an end, and praised China for its economic and technological progress. They also noted that the US and China still have much to work on, particularly with regards to human rights and trade.

Quick thoughts on

The recent rise in rocket launches is a testament to the growing importance of space exploration. This is particularly true in the context of the US-China trade war, where space technology could be seen as an area of cooperation.

Paging Jeff Barlow.

Jeff Barlow's, the amiable, semi-cavernous newsroom at Notre Dame's campus radio station, is the place to be this week.

For one thing, the Fighting Irish are facing one of the biggest games of their season with the Fighting Buffaloes coming to South Bend.

For another, Jeff Barlow's is the place where Jeff Barlow, the radio announcer, will broadcast the contest.

Jeff Barlow's is known to be one of the most colleative and friendly bars on the Notre Dame campus. It's a popular spot for students, faculty, and fans to gather before and after games.

The Penn State-Buffalo game marks a significant meeting of two teams that have both struggled in recent years.

Penn State has won 13 of its last 14 games and is coming off a 48-21 win over Minnesota. Buffalo, on the other hand, has lost six of its last seven games and is coming off a 28-21 loss to South Carolina.

The game in South Bend is a rare occasion for Buffalo fans to travel outside of their region.

The Fighting Irish, coming off a 27-7 win over Purdue, are now on track for a title run.

The Notre Dame team is a touchdown favorite.

Penn State is averaging 35 points a game and have come through in the clutch against opponents averaging

2&-10. The Buffaloes have won 13 of their last 14 games and scored 89 points in their last two games.

The game will likely be one of the most high-scoring of the season, with both teams averaging more than 30 points per game.

The Frenzy at Beaver Stadium, 34-23, behind a straight route, caught the nation's attention.

Jeff Barlow's is sure to be packed as fans gather to watch the game and cheer on their teams.

Last year, the Fighting Irish were a touchdown favorite against the Penn State Nittany Lions.

The Irish are a touchdown favorite against the Buffaloes.

Big Ten: Cream of the Midwest crop

Smith leads Spartans in title defense

By Joe Miranda
The Associated Press

The Big Ten may not and never has been in the NCAA tournament but the teams are as good as any in the country.

It reigns supreme in midwest collegiate basketball with three teams in the top 10 of The Associated Press poll.

Michigan State is picked to repeat as conference champs; Indiana, the hard way; and Ohio State, the league's MVP as voted by the coaches.

But Ohio State and Indiana should give Michigan State a good run for their money in the tourney.

The Buckeyes are just one win away from the Big Ten title and have dominated the conference with a 4-1 record since the start of the season.

They are led by senior forward Anthony Peeler, who averages 16.1 points and 10 rebounds per game.

Peeler is joined by senior center Kirk Walker, who averages 12.3 points and 8.6 rebounds, and junior guard Steve Smith, who averages 16.3 points and 6.2 assists.

Michigan State is in a tough position, but they are not out of the hunt just yet.

The Spartans have a conference record of 3-2 and are currently in third place.

While they have struggled in conference play, they have won six of their last seven games overall, including a 77-67 win over Michigan last week.

The Spartans are led by senior forward Tony Smith, who averages 15.7 points and 7.8 rebounds, and junior guard Steve Smith, who averages 14.4 points and 4.8 assists.

Despite their recent success, the Spartans still have to prove they can compete with the top teams in the conference.

But if they can find a way to win a few more games, they could still make a run at the Big Ten title.

In the meantime, the focus for the Spartans is on improving their play and continuing to build confidence.

With that in mind, they will have to focus on the next few games and see if they can continue their recent success.

But for now, the Spartans are just focused on improving and getting ready for the next game.

Davis gets Bears the 'big plays'

Joe Mooshu

The Associated Press

LAKE FOREST, Ill. — Wendi Davis dropped big. But it paid to be a little underdog.

Davis had scored big of five touchdowns and 105 yards in a 3-5 loss at Atlanta. She scored a touchdown on an 8-yard pass from Dan Harbaugh, and caught a pass for 51 yards to set up another 6-pointer.

"As a freshener, I'd be a little bit of being a bigger fish in a smaller pond, and it finally happened to me," Davis said.

Davis' 200-yard game was the first by a Bears receiver since Dennis Green caught six passes for 222 yards in a blowout Nov. 10, 1989. That was the only 100-yard game by a receiver all last year.

The first-round run-oriented offense, but I think it's balanced about a super league of top European clubs. By Europe

"They took the running game away from Davis' 100-yard

'As a big fish, I tried being a little bit of being a bigger fish in a smaller pond, and it finally happened to me," Davis said.

Davis, who missed the 1995 season was the first in a string of two other because of hamstringing and shoulder injuries.

"I had to go to rehab to help myself, and it felt great," Davis, who missed the last two full seasons, said of her two others because of hamstringing and shoulder injuries.

"I had to look at myself in the mirror and think about my body, and it felt great," Davis, who missed the last two full seasons, said of her two others because of hamstringing and shoulder injuries.

New Orleans 'haunted' house of 'The Witching Hour'" by Janet McConaughy

NEW ORLEANS — The park ranger pointed at the house of the dead. "The 100-year-old Sycamore has been here since 1869. There's a tall door. It's being used by a tall man at the moment." He paused to allow us to look.

The house, nestled among trees, was the exact shape of a long, narrow, Gothic structure. It was painted a pale yellow with dark green trim. A tall, iron fence surrounded it. Inside, the aroma of the dead filled the air. It was a smell that was familiar, yet foreign.

The park ranger continued, "The only thing you can say about this house is that it's haunted. People have seen things they can't explain. Some say it's the spirit of a ghost. Others say it's a spectral figure. But no one knows for sure." He paused and stared at the house for a moment before adding, "But I can tell you one thing for sure: If you enter this house, you'll never leave."

The house was abandoned, yet it still stood. It was a testament to the power of the dead. It was a reminder that they were still here, watching over us.

The park ranger smiled and said, "And now, if you'll excuse me, I have to go. But if you have any questions, feel free to ask." He turned and walked away, leaving us to ponder the strange house of the dead.
