Couple wins radio race to conceive

By Roger Munns

The Daily Iowan

DEBBIE MONEHOFER — After just a week of "Vying," a Des Moines couple detailed two offers in a radio contest, including one that gave them permission to open the race for the first time in as many as 10 couples.

"If the competition is a fluke, it's a remarkable one," said Debbie Monehoffer, one of the directors.

In Iowa City, a radio contest was established in the UI College of Law to help couples conceive. According to the rules, the contest ran for one-week and all couples who responded to the station's initiation in the "Voting," City, which included about 250 people, had the chance to participate without children.

Two couples were among those who responded to the station's initiative in the "Voting," City, which included about 250 people, had the chance to participate without children.

Female condoms latest advance in birth control

By Jessica Davidson

It’s not really a bad idea for Christm.

Women might consider it. A new type of female condom, which is more comfortable than the traditional male condom, gives the woman greater control.

The female condom is a thin, flexible, non-lubricated sheath that is placed inside the vagina. It is made of latex and is designed to fit the contours of the female body. It can be used with a spermicide or as a barrier method on its own.

Female condoms are available over-the-counter in some pharmacies and health care providers.

The female condom is effective as a form of birth control, with an estimated failure rate of 10% to 15% when used correctly and consistently. It is highly effective in preventing the spread of sexually transmitted infections.

Some benefits of using female condoms include:

- Increased control for women
- Can be used with spermicides for added protection
- Can be used with a diaphragm or cervical cap
- Can be used with a vaginal ring
- Can be used with an IUD

Female condoms are available in a variety of sizes and shapes to accommodate different body types and preferences.

In conclusion, female condoms offer a valuable addition to the mix of birth control options available to women. They provide increased control and protection for both partners and can be a preferred method for those who prefer not to use spermicides.

Iowa GOPs optimistic about seats in House

By Mike Glover

The Associated Press

KONTRA - Governor Clinton M. Vosmus, who has been a leader in Republican Party efforts to increase the number of women elected to public office, has endorsed the Republican candidate in the 1st congressional district.

The candidates who have received the backing of Vosmus are John D. McQuaid, running in the 1st district, and Linda McGuire, running in the 3rd district.

Vosmus is the first Republican governor in Iowa to endorse a candidate in the 1st district.

In recent weeks, Vosmus has been traveling to districts across the state, meeting with local Republican Party leaders and discussing the importance of increasing the number of women elected to public office.

Vosmus said he was impressed with the dedication and energy of the two candidates he has endorsed.

"I am proud to support John D. McQuaid and Linda McGuire," he said. "Both candidates have a track record of service and dedication to the Republican Party and to the people of Iowa."

Community theater marks 35th season

By Steve Storck

The Daily Iowan

O f all the benefits which may arise to towns in the future from the Odd Fellows Palace, there is none that compares with the social and educational value of the institution established in 1870.

The Odd Fellows, with headquarters established in the old Odd Fellows Palace at Iowa City, have been a positive force for good in the community ever since. Their activities range from charitable works to community events, and they have always been a source of strength and support for those in need.

Community theater is one such activity. It provides a平台 for local artists and performers to showcase their talents and engage with the community. Over the years, community theater has evolved and grown, becoming an integral part of Iowa City's cultural landscape.

This season, community theater marks its 35th anniversary. It is a testament to the enduring power of the arts and the importance of local organizations in fostering creativity and expression.

Show features diversity of media, views

By Lindsey Alan Park

This season, the theater has collaborated with local artists to create a unique experience that combines the performative aspects of theater with the visual impact of art. The result is a show that challenges convention and invites the audience to engage in a new way.

The show features a diverse range of media and viewpoints, reflecting the many facets of human experience. From playful and lighthearted to serious and political, the show offers something for everyone.

With this season's theme, "Diversity in Media and Views," the theater aims to showcase the varied perspectives and voices that make up our community. Through a range of performances, from acting and music to dance and visual art, the show invites the audience to see the world in new ways.

Tickets are available now, and we encourage you to join us for this unique and exciting experience. Whether you're a seasoned theatergoer or a first-time attendee, we guarantee you won't be disappointed.

The Best of Friends is a show that celebrates the power of art and community to connect and inspire. Don't miss out on this incredible opportunity to witness the magic of theater and art come together.
To the Editor:

Everyone's job depends on the University. The three regents universities' student health services ' reliance on the general fund will be cut by $10 million in mandatory student fees. At the end of the academic year, we are looking at a $1 million surplus. They don't seem to understand that the many nickels that were previously allocated to student health services are not enough to cover even the present costs. If they are allowed to continue drawing out of student tuition each year, what will be left to cover the real costs of living? If you don't have enough money to buy food, you can probably find work as a janitor or a dishwasher. But can these people who are living in the shadows of the regents really expect to get a job? Do they really think that the University's administrators are going to hire them to work in the library or the cafeteria? Not unless they are going to make a serious effort to improve their education and skills. And if they do get a job, they will have to work very hard to make ends meet. The reality is that the regents are not going to provide them with a living wage. They will have to work many hours each week just to survive. And even then, they may not be able to afford the basic necessities of life, such as food and shelter. It is time for the University to take a serious look at the needs of its students and to work with them to find a way to make sure that everyone has a chance to succeed.

READYING FOR WAR

Above: Mike Olsen of Fairfield, Iowa, opted to get a trim Monday before leaving for Fort McCoy, Wis. This time, the unit is a medical clearing company that can assist wounded soldiers in the event of chemical contamination. The 500th Medical Clearing Company, which has been called up to the National Guard, will be activated overseas, but Olsen says he was informed he will not leave for duty until next year.

Above: Lt. student Chris McDonald receives a mandatory immunization. McDonald is one of around 90 students in the unit who will not now complete work this semester. In addition, about 10 members of the 180th company are employed at the US Hospitals and Clinics.

The Iowa women's cross-country team ended their season in a disappointing 11th place at the NCAA Championships in Knoxville, Tennessee. The Hawkeyes finished 12th of 30 teams in a meet that was won by a surprise entry to the NCAA field.

Iowa had a strong effort overall in the meet, and their best runner was sophomore Tracy Dahl. The Hawkeyes had four runners finish with times of 20:00 or seconds behind Dahl, who placed 4th overall in the race. Dahl and her teammates showed improvement from last year, when the Hawkeyes finished 17th at the NCAA meet.

Dahl said, "All my hard work paid off. I was disappointed with my time, but I'm happy with how I raced today. I was surprised to see how well I did." Dahl's time of 19:58 was 81 seconds faster than her previous best time, and she is the first Iowa female to finish in the top 10 at the NCAA meet in 1989.

The Hawkeyes also had strong performances from freshmen Hannah and Emma Salsberry, who finished 20th and 21st, respectively. The team's top five runners were all within 30 seconds of Dahl, and the Hawkeyes finished 11th overall.

After the meet, Iowa head coach Steve Mikesell said, "I'm proud of our team. They worked hard all season and it showed today. Dahl's time was a personal record, and Salsberry ran well for us. We have a bright future with this group."

Injuries pile up early for some of NBA’s finest

By Bill Berard
The Associated Press

Early losses have NBA injuries sliding out like a new trash can, and in one case, a broken bone.

Several key players have been injured in the first two weeks of the season, weakening the depth that could have a major effect on the team’s balance of power.

Dilweg, although averaging nearly 30 points for the surprising Golden State Warriors, has a high ankle sprain that will keep him out for the rest of the season. Injuries include a broken arm, two broken ribs, and a broken ankle.

Mike Davis, starting the first five games with Milwaukee, was getting caught up after a 43-point holdout, another two against the Houston Rockets. Davis came off the bench Sunday and two four-quarter touches in only 30 seconds from the bucket.

"It’s a very physical, violent game, and these bad injuries are going to happen. It seems to happen three or four times a year. But it’s weird that it already happened twice this season."

Charles Barkley

Dilweg made most of second chance

"I can’t believe it, I can’t believe it," Dilweg said with a laugh. "What’s that? Dillweg? "

Dilweg’s coach, Larry Brown, was short on the list of his program’s and the team’s second chance.

When you play with a guy for a long time, you don’t want to let them down. Having that injury is going to happen."

Philadelphia, who is out for the season, was ruled out for the rest of the season with a broken left thumb. Thursday and was placed on the injured list.

Dilweg came off the bench Sunday and two four-quarter touches in only 30 seconds from the bucket.

"It’s fun to be back in there," said Dilweg. In his second season from Duke.
Rocky V a pathetic wallow

By Steve Cruse
The Daily News

Any Questions?

The thing about "Rocky V" is that Rocky (Sylvester Stallone) doesn't know it (or, anyway). The reason, as we have heard daily, is that he's suffering irreparable brain damage following "Rocky IV's" domestic beatdown with the world's best boxer. After decades railing against the drug tradition, the most放入 the ring and 180 degrees.

The reason for this is that Rocky has been in the ring and has not lost his touch on the media. Still, "Rocky V" is a grossly labeled "Rocky" and "Rocky's" brother, "Rocky's" friend, "Rocky's" mentor, "Rocky's" father, "Rocky's" son plays his part. We'd bet not many kids have this problem.

Dad, however, being another long-gone, has an audience of long-gone, and what his dad doesn't know can hurt. In the ring, he's the kid's only meaningful aspect. The movie's best move was to allow the kids to gather "wound and begin cutting Robert DeNiro." Sylvester Stallone has his own personal memories of Rocky and Balboa, but he can't cut on actual, and he's obviously at a complete loss as to what to do next. Not much is left now that Stallone-healing is no longer fashionable. Robert DeNiro's "Rocky V" is a triumphant flag-draped image, and the movie has a heartwarming passage before it.

This movie is essentially one big twist - the desire to return to past glory. The movie's strength is that it's early. Rocky and his entourage, whooping off the plane in fine style. Rocky is in the ring, and the movie has a sense of movement from the theme of a movie about Rocky's real estate part of rock's world. This may have been an intentional move, but somehow it doesn't work.

Milli Vanilli loses Grammy

The Associated Press

LON A M HARE
The band Milli Vanilli was stripped of its Grammy award Friday because the two rappers didn't sing on the V.I.P. album that won Grammy's first award for Best New Artist.

The group won the Grammy for Best New Artist at last year's Grammy Awards.

The Grammy was considered by many as a high point in the music industry awards. It wasn't known at the time of the award.

"This action comes as a result of the continued investigation by the band's producer, record label and the National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences," said a statement issued from the Recording Academy.

Milli Vanilli said during the weekend their own rights over the Grammy and return it to the organization that actually sang on their hit albums. They had planned

Our long national nightmare is over.

Let the healing begin.
