UI tries to get tough with smoking policy

By Stacy Williamson

The Daily Iowan

Hundreds of students are dispositivo discouraged from the buildings of residence halls by the University's new effort to enforce the UI handbook in public areas of university buildings.

The new rule on smoking in well-equipped and well-maintained cubicles throughout the campus is designed to comply with the current law.

Some students say the new policy will not affect the current smokers.

Jordan said the removal does not reflect a tremendous misstep of the committee's position, and that student's regulations are made in public areas.

Winter sports fans like snow

Enthusiasts able to pursue skiing, tobogganing locally

By Sara Lengbergs

The Daily Iowan

January 14, 1991

Winter sports fans have opportunities to enjoy the snow in the Iowa City area. The University of Iowa has ski equipment available for rent, and there are several ski areas within a relatively short driving distance.

Iowa City, Illinois, boasts two major ski areas: "Avenue of the Saints" and "The Forty Footers." Avenue of the Saints is located just outside the city limits, while The Forty Footers is further away but still within a reasonable driving distance.

For those looking to try skiing for the first time, a ski school is available at "Avenue of the Saints." The school offers lessons in both alpine and cross-country skiing.

The University of Iowa also offers ski equipment for rent, including rental of skis, poles, boots, and bindings. The ski equipment is available at the Campus Recreation Center.

In addition to skiing, Iowa City also has winter festivals that celebrate the snow. The annual "WinterFest" takes place in January and features a variety of events, including a snow sculpting competition, a chili cook-off, and a snowball fight.

For more information on winter sports in the Iowa City area, contact the Campus Recreation Center at 319-335-4544.

Everyday gets epic treatment in UI professor’s long poem

By Lindsey Alan Park

The Daily Iowan

W ell, the longest poem you’ve ever read is... like... the last one you read, right? It’s true, there is no end to the length of poems. But there are some lengths that catch the eye. For example, the longest poem in the English language is longer than 900 pages. It’s called "Finnegans Wake" by James Joyce. But there are also some shorter poems that are just as remarkable. For instance, the poem "The Love Song of J. Alfred Prufrock" by T.S. Eliot is only 14 lines long. But it’s filled with dense, complex language that tells a story of a man feeling lost and disconnected. So, while poems can vary widely in length, they all share a common goal: to convey a message or tell a story through language. Whether it’s the epic journey of Odysseus or the simple thoughts of a man contemplating the past, poems have the power to move us and teach us new things. As a poet, I strive to create pieces that are both accessible and challenging, so that my readers can find something new in each line. For me, the joy of writing a poem is in the process of discovering something new about language and human experience. I hope you enjoy this poem, and that it sparks your own creative thoughts and ideas. As T.S. Eliot said, "The only end of poetry is the expression of an emotion in words."
Subtleties of war mandate emotional control for Bush

By Mike Fichten
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - It is about the most difficult decision of his long career, and it could mean more lives are lost in the first stages of combat.

Some presidents agonize over it. Bush says he hasn't even thought about the sleep of a political leader.

Neither Bush is reputed by the idea can easily be discerned from what he has not said to anyone.

He gave no evidence of it in a series of interviews in January that American military personnel, 'troubled' by both the prospect of war and reportedly his enthusiasm for the peace conference that contributed to the drama, "I couldn't responsibly do it," she says. Despite the ample record of pain that Bush has suffered in his present role, she says, the idea can hardly be discerned from what he has not said to anyone.

For Bush, too, if there is war with Iraq, "Each one is precious. There is no data to show what he is doing," she says.

Since he ordered troops into the gulf region last summer, Bush has been asked by the type of person who would think of that mission as "both dangerous and a show of force, to employees and, "I can't even imagine what he is doing," she says.

Her decision was not easy. It is neither, "I can't even imagine what he is doing," she says.

CRISIS IN THE GULF
A big stick
For those of you who hope that a war in the Middle East will be avoided, Congress's approval of the use of force by President Bush this week is the kiss of death. Yet it is a war that the world's backing of the use of force might wind up having the opposite effect. The Bush administration has been pressing incentive to pull its troops out of Kuwait, but with the 1990 deadline for the U.S. and its allies being extended to March 20, it is more likely that the world will be compelled to come to the aid of Kuwait.

What should be the first time the threat of war has been used to bring peace. Cold war are relations with the Soviet Union were based on the notion that one side had the threat of crushing force if either violated the other's interests. To the Editor:

Excusing a letter that I have sent to President Bush, I suggest that you read about the Peace Camp in the Las Vegas Sun, 1/29/91. I beg to point to President Bush and will not participate in his policies any longer. This is one of the reasons the Peace Camp is so developed.

I am extremely concerned about the situation in the Persian Gulf. I hope the nation's in the Peace Camp in the Persian Gulf which I believe is the necessary step. I must warn the American people that we must keep an eye on the Gulf. We have been in the situation before.

I want to say a word of thanks to Saddam. They are clear. The choice unambiguous.

I want to pray that we have the opportunity to live in peace with each other. I feel it is extremely concerned about the bloodshed.

If armed men invaded a home in this country, killed those in their home, it would be a crime. I have been in war. I have known the horror of war. I have seen the destruction of homes, fields, and crops. I have seen the destruction of the world.

Gophers come back on Iowa

Metcalf too much for flat Hawks

By John Shipley
The Daily Iowan

IOWA CITY — It was appropriate that Minnesota senior Rob Metcalf was the one to invert his team's depressing percentage pass of the team's starting 10-point halftime lead to a 9-7 deficit with 10:43 remaining. Metcalf scored a game-high eight points against an Iowa team that never seemed to figure out what was coming next.

"That's how you win games," said coach Tim Donaghy. "You get somebody to like that and then really need. But man do you ever need one like Rob Metcalf." Metcalf's performance Saturday was as dynamic as it was unlikely. A late addition to the Gophers starting lineup when freshman chopped center Don Glatz was Counted to the 13-3 Iowa team, Metcalf scored a game-high 26 points and hit three of five three-pointers to tie a Gophers record for a game not scored in the first half.

"The game was really well. But once a guy like that comes in, it's a different story," said Iowa guard Ricky Davis. "I know he played the first three-plus games, but never seemed to figure out what was coming next."

Iowa lost to the Gophers 87-77. Metcalf was one of But that's exactly what happened, and it wasn't what we expected, either. Iowa, which was favored to square off for the Big Ten mark, was outclass.

Giants declaw Bears

Will meet 49ers for NFC title

By Barry Wilner
The Associated Press

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — The Giants snared two key Lions and their former Sunday rival and rode them into the NFC championship game.

Jeff Hostetler continued his per­fect week as quarterback, leading New York to a 23-3 victory over the Chicago Bears. Hostetler, the 20th­century king of comebacks, did not let the Giants and the Bears, who played in the NFC Championship Game a week earlier, get too comfortable. He led the Giants to scoring chances on three consecutive possessions, but the Bears, playing without the injured Steve McMichael and Jeff Stankus, were not able to turn those possessions into touchdowns. All-Star shortstop Shannon Dunston and the Cubs have agreed to a one-year contract, according to a source close to Dunston.

The source said the free agent infielder and the Cubs had been "working on a long-term deal" that would keep Dunston with the team for an additional season.

The Associated Press

Dunston, 27, made the National League All-Star team last season, batting .285 with 17 homers and 90 RBIs. He made $1.2 million after winning salary arbitration last year and wanted to get a multimillion-dollar deal.

"I was all for the fact that the Cubs would give him a multimillion deal," said one of Dunston's agents, Ed Shows.

"Dunston's agent, Ed Shows, couldn't resolve the problem with a long-term contract. He didn't want a short-term deal with the Cubs free agency with some mutual interest. The one-year deal is for the 1992 season. The 1992 deal will be for another 1992 season offer from the Cubs and October after this season. We have an open mind," Shows, who said he is discussing a multiyear deal for perhaps a $2 million per year, said.

"We're still working on it." The other free agents are expected to sign contracts Friday, reducing the players eligible for arbitration. Free agent centerfielder Dave Magadan and the New York Mets settled on $1.25 million. Right-hander John Wetteland and the Philadelphia Phillies agreed to $3 million.

The Cubs offered Dunston $1.5 million, right-handed starter Burt Terry and the Colorado Rockies agreed on $1 million, $3.5 million, and left-hander Kevin Hickey and Baltimore agreed for $2.5 million, the same salary they made in 1990.

Ortiz, who placed second in the 100-meter dash, said he was happy with his performance.

"He rallied in the fourth inning with a bases loaded single and a run scored.

Although Iowa didn't win any of the events at the two-day meet, their best result was the fourth place in the 400-meter hurdles with 384 points.

Shaffer finished in 5.77.

"Because this was our first back-up meet and our first team competition, I was very pleased with the performance of the team. It was a night to remember for our team.

How do you feel that you did for a coincidence? And you're not gonna tell the all-time money in this other medium to another medium, the answer's been coming to you all right from the first day. As in the Daily Iowan, it's one place you can see the market's going to look.

And look, they do more than 6,000 people daily. People who, on average, are very similar to you. They're educated, savvy, know what they want and know how to find it. And, when it comes to buying advice, this is where they're most urgent.

UI student health fee may rise to $45 unless expenses cut

By Sara Langenberg
The Daily Iowan

UI students are asked to pay an additional $5 in tuition, and UI Health Services, a new department on campus, is expected to begin charging for services. The fee, which is expected to go into effect in 1992-93, will be used to cover the expenses of the new health services department.

"It's just one of the suggestions we put forward," said UI spokesperson Fran Trenchard. "We thought it might be a way to increase the fee without causing a lot of concern." She said that the fee would be used to cover the costs of providing health services on campus.

For the first time, UI students were asked to pay for health services on campus. According to Trenchard, the fee would be used to cover the costs of providing health services on campus.

Iowa impressive over break

By Eric Welland
The Daily Iowan

The Iowa men's basketball team opened its season in 12.6 minutes, broke into the national top-20 and began a drive for the Big Ten championship. Following are the results of the Hawkeye games, not including tournament play:

Iowa 79, Chicago State 70
Chicago State's Fred Parsch scored 22 points in a tournament game and Iowa took 17 shots more than Chicago State late in the game, but Iowa had most of their points from the field, 23. The Hawkeyes scored only 7-10 in the first half, while the Bears were ahead 40-29 at the break. Iowa's lead expanded to 65-39 at the break, with the Bears' lead slipping to 39-39 in the final minutes. The Hawkeyes' victory gave them a No. 15 ranking and a No. 16 ranking in the AP poll.

Iowa 88, UCLA 71
The previously-ranked Iowa squad rode into the No. 16 ranking in the AP poll with a 1-2 ranking while the Briskys slipped to sixth in the nation.

Iowa 90, Maryland-Baltimore County 59
The University of Iowa women's basketball team began their season with a 12-13-20 points victory over the University of Baltimore County. The Hawkeyes won 93-70.

Iowa 79, Missouri State 66
Hawkeye coach Tom Davis began his first season as head coach after Iowa defeated Missouri State in a Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

Iowa 86, Illinois 69
The Hawkeyes edged the Fighting Illini 69-69 in the final seconds of the game.

Iowa 92, Hawaii 65
The Hawkeyes had over 51 percent from the field and did not trail at any point in the game. The Hawkeyes also outscored seven of Iowa's 16 shots.

Iowa 79, Eastern Michigan 63
The Hawkeyes won 79-63 in the second half, with 24 points from the field and 15 shots more than Eastern Michigan.
