Counselors console survivors of bus accident

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — Grief counselors consoled survivors Thursday after a bus with a Girl Scout contingent careened off a mountain road and rolled down a rocky slope, killing seven and injuring dozens.

"They were doing pretty well, but they're just trying to cope," said the Rev. Malachy McGinn, who was with the girls at Desert Hospital.

The chartered yellow school bus apparently lost its brakes, causing Wednesday's crash.

Parkinson's disease linked to body defect

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP) — Scientists may have tracked down the long-sought cause of Parkinson's disease with the discovery of a defect in the "energy factories" in muscles of people with the ailment, a researcher said Thursday.

Parkinson's disease, marked by shaking of the hands and a shuffling gait, afflicts some 500,000 older Americans.

The patients suffer from death of brain cells in the portion of brain that causes movement, but the reason for the brain cell loss has not been known.

If the researchers have indeed found the cause, the discovery could lead to simple methods of preventing the disease.

Gas tax increase for highways in jeopardy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 5-cent gasoline tax increase hit a potentially lethal snag Thursday when House Democratic leaders agreed to allow lawmakers to vote on whether they want pork-barrel highway projects enough to raise taxes.

House Speaker Thomas Foley, who favors the tax boost and the transportation spending it would finance, reluctantly bowed to Republicans' demands that they be allowed a shot at stripping away the tax.

"If you want to vote against the gas tax, the bill should be scaled down accordingly," Foley cautioned. That means that without the tax increase many of the more than 450 highway "demonstration projects" across the country would have to be eliminated from the $153.5 billion, five-year transportation bill.

DETROIT — Cecil Fielder hit two home runs and took over the league lead with 29, leading Detroit Tigers over the California Angels 3-1 Wednesday night.

Bob Deer homered for Detroit's first run as the Tigers prevented Langston (14-5) from becoming the first 15-game winner in ball. Ex-Tiger Lance Parrish earned the only run off Walker (7-9).

Deer led off the second inning with a drive into the left-field stands, and then connected again in the eighth, breaking a tie with Conseco for most in the majors.

Orrell scattered seven hits, struck none and struck out five in the third complete game of the season. It was his first complete victory since Sept. 27, 1989. Langston allowed six hits.

Kevin Tapani (8-7) allowed one on five hits in seven innings and Sanderson (10-7) was backed out in the second and lost his fourth straight decision. The Twins have lost four in a row.

Mack hit his 23rd home run with two outs in the second, starting the Twins' outburst. Mack hit his 10th with two outs and RBI singles by Dan Gladden and Chuck Blauch set up Hrbek's seventh career grand slam and 11th home of the season.

Shamir agrees to peace conference

Baker will meet with Palestinians

Barry Schweid
Associated Press

JERUSALEM — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir accepted on Thursday a U.S. formula for historic Middle East peace talks with the Arabs, saying Secretary of State James Baker had assured him the issue of Palestinian representation would be resolved to Israel's satisfaction.

On that basis, Shamir agreed to submit the proposal to the Israeli Cabinet on Sunday. A senior U.S. official said he was confident of approval.

An exultant Baker said a conference with face-to-face negotiations between Israel and its Arab neighbors was "no longer simply a dream."

Shamir told an Israeli television interviewer, "We have agreements with representatives of the United States on the makeup of the Palestinian delegation. There will be no PLO men there; there will be no residents of east Jerusalem and there will be no people from the Palestinian diaspora."

President Bush and Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev announced Wednesday in Moscow that they intended to convene the peace conference in October, and Bush sent Baker to Israel to deal with final sticking points.

Baker said work remained to be done before the peace conference

Police collect evidence, will 'eventually make arrest'

Joleen Mahaffey
Daily Iowan

The city's rash of summer burglaries is receiving full-time attention from the Iowa City Police Department Bureau of Investigations — and officials say an arrest will eventually be made.

"We are confident we will eventually make an arrest," said Sergeant of Investigations Tommy Widmer.

"We have suspects, but we need to put all the evidence together before an arrest is made," he added.

Widmer said that more than one group of individuals is committing the burglaries. "The groups are immature persons — juveniles or parental notification for abortions, said lobbyists and committee aides.

"The majority in this committee are in favor of abortion anyway, so it's not surprising," Rep. Thomas Bliley, R-Va., who sponsored the measure, said after the vote.

RECESSION

7.4% jump in revenues
announcedTom Seery
Associated Press

DES MOINES — The recession appears to have bottomed out in Iowa, a state fiscal expert said Thursday as he released figures showing state revenues rose 7.4 percent in July.

Preliminary figures show the state collected $202.36 million in taxes last month, up from $188.42 million in July 1990.

"It's probably a little better than I thought it would be for the month," said Dennis Prouty, director of the Legislative Fiscal Bureau.

Prouty released his analysis of July revenues Thursday. The Iowa Department of Management will release the official monthly revenue report next week.

July is the first month of the state's fiscal year, and Prouty cautioned against reading too much into the monthly report. It showed personal income tax receipts up 1.4 percent from a year earlier, while sales taxes shot up 15.7 percent. Prouty said much of the sales tax increase was probably due to an additional tax processing day in July 1991.

The state budget for the year is based on an official estimate of revenues rising about 5 percent through June 30, 1992. Prouty said he does not feel that estimate should be changed and that continued dry weather could hurt farm receipts later in the year.

"We're at a period of time where rain is very important to Iowa crops," he said.

But Prouty said he feels the state economy is emerging from recession.

"I would say that we've probably bottomed out," he said. "The economy should be picking up a bit."

Democratic legislators and an aide to Republican Gov. Terry Branstad reacted warily to the July revenue report.

"I don't know if you can put much into one month of receipts at the beginning of a fiscal year," said Senate President Joe Welsh.

Branstad fights proposed federal ban

Associated Press

DESMOINES — Gov. Terry Branstad wants fellow governors to join him in battling a proposed federal ban on the spread of sports gambling.

Branstad is against the measure now being considered in Congress because he feels it would infringe on states' rights and might lead to a national lottery to compete with state games, an aide said.

In a letter to the chairman of the National Governor's Conference, Branstad said the ban would eliminate a potential source of revenue for states caught in a financial squeeze.

"This non-tax source of revenue is used by states to support a wide variety of important domestic programs in such areas as education, economic development and health care," Branstad said. "The revenue is needed in part to offset the continued mandates for new expenditures ordered by the federal government."

Branstad, who twice cited moral grounds for vetoing legislation to establish an Iowa lottery, said in his letter that nearly two-thirds of the states now have lottery programs. Although he has opposed gambling, Iowa now has a lottery, pari-mutuel betting at dog and horse tracks, and casino riverboats.

A bill introduced by Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., would ban states from allowing any type of sports betting, including sports lotteries. The bill would not affect types of sports gambling now allowed in Nevada and Oregon.

Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, is a co-sponsor. An aide, Alex Sachs, said Harkin believes sports gambling is a federal issue because the games are played across state lines.

Iowa's other senator, Republican Charles Grassley, has reservations about the bill similar to Branstad's but has yet to make a decision on the legislation, said an aide, Caran McKee. Grassley is a member of the Judiciary Committee.

Richard Vohs, a spokesman for Branstad, said the governor's stand on the bill is a states' rights issue.

"He doesn't believe Congress should be in this area because it is one that belongs to the state," Vohs said.

Medical examiner confirms murder, suicide in Riverside shooting deaths

BURLINGTON — Autopsies show that a Wellman man committed suicide after killing the owner of the Kalona Sales Barn, a medical examiner has ruled.

Washington County Medical Examiner Dr. Dennis Shimp ruled Wednesday that Walter Jay

Shimp said Kempf shot Mullet in the groin and neck with a 9-mm handgun before turning the gun on himself.

Two local residents, William Ambrisco and Jim St. John, announced on Thursday their candidacies for the Iowa City City Council.

Ambrisco is seeking a third term on the council. He has served since 1984 and was mayor of Iowa City in 1986-87. He is president of Welt-Ambrisco Insurance Inc. and has been active in the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups.

In a press release, Ambrisco said the environment is one of the most important issues now facing the Iowa City community. He cited the "neverending stream of federal and state regulations" affecting drinking water, solid waste disposal and the sanitary landfill.

St. John is running for the Iowa City District A Council Seat currently held by Susan Horowitz. In a press release, he said the most important issue facing Iowa City is funding for the public library, which has suffered recent budget cuts.

"We can balance the interests of business and the environment, and I'm dedicated to doing just that," he said in the release.

"I believe a city that can propose spending $4.9 million on new soccer fields can afford to maintain the tradition of a free public library," he stated.

St. John is currently vice chairman of the Iowa City Committee on Community Needs and is employed by the Johnson County Special Elderly and Handicapped Transportation System. He is also active in I-CARE, Project Green and the Iowa Mountaineers.

The Johnson County Board of Supervisors learned Thursday that the Youth Homes juvenile facility in Iowa City would be receiving less money from the state of Iowa.

Supervisor Dick Myers said the state no longer repays Youth Homes other than its state-reimbursed daily fees. Myers said Johnson County's juvenile justice administration budget was about $90,000 last fiscal year. Of this amount, approximately $20,000 was paid to the state, which then "passed through" the payment to Youth Homes for its operating budget.

Dr. Rypma, a clinical psychologist from Des Moines, began evaluating Schlote after Schlote was charged with the crime in December 1990. Rypma's testimony centered on whether Schlote went to his wife's home on Dec. 3, 1990, with the intent to murder her.

According to Rypma, "I believe that at that moment and time, he lost his ability to make a good judgment. ... For a moment of time he was striking out at her. But wanting to kill her, I don't think that."

COUNTY SUPERVISORS*Board learns of state's decision to reduce funding for Youth Homes juvenile facility

Larry Offner

Daily Iowan

The Johnson County Board of Supervisors learned Thursday that the Youth Homes juvenile facility in Iowa City would be receiving less money from the state of Iowa.

Supt. Carl Dick Myers said the state no longer repays Youth Homes other than its state-reimbursed daily fees. Youth Homes is a non-profit organization, first incorporated in 1972, that operates a residence and temporary shelter for minors adjudicated delinquent or awaiting the disposition of their cases.

Myers said Johnson County's juvenile justice administration budget was about $90,000 last fiscal year. Of this amount, approximately $20,000 was paid to the state which then "passed through" the payment to Youth Homes for its operating budget.

Myers suggested if the state was going to retain the $20,000 appropriated for next fiscal year instead of passing it on to Youth Homes, perhaps the amount could be deappropriated from the county payments to the state and paid directly to Youth Homes.

Contacted at his office, Youth Homes Director William McCarty said budget details are still being negotiated with the state.

Also contacted at his office, 6th Judicial District Juvenile Justice Administrator Paul Nelson said the state had a purchase-of-services contract with Youth Homes. Under the contract, Iowa pays Youth Homes a fixed fee per day for each child ordered by the court into Youth Homes' temporary shelter. The child stays at the shelter while his or her case proceeds through the juvenile justice system.

Nelson said the contract had been in effect for several years, and the state would continue to honor it.

Rypma testified Schlote was not in control of himself at that moment. "I believe that what set him off was a severe set of circumstances — the potential loss of marriage, the potential loss of his child."

The Schlotes have been separated since October 1990. They have a 2-year-old daughter.

After several months of examination, Rypma diagnosed Schlote as having a borderline personality disorder. Rypma testified he had noted a pattern of unstable relationships, a long history of severe mood disturbances, extreme difficulty being alone, frequent suicide attempts and a desperate desire to prevent abandonment. These personality factors led to his psychological diagnosis of Schlote, he said.

Rypma stressed throughout his testimony that premeditation was not a factor in Schlote's attack on his wife.

Upon cross-examination, prosecutors Janet Lyness and Ann Lahey focused on the fact that Rypma's diagnosis changed during his contact with the defendant.

The doctor was also questioned as to whether Schlote's other activities on Dec. 3 were conscious acts, with the exception of the instant when he placed the bathrobe tie around his wife's neck.

The effects of the anti-depressant drug, Prozac, which Schlote was allegedly taking at the time of the crime, were again discussed in the proceedings.

Rypma stated he was aware of the effects of the drug but had not focused on the information in his evaluation of Schlote.

for all these people that are bothering you is to be nice. So when some annoy you, give them about a sidewalk? Well give right.

The rest of these new developments... All I know is that grass is growing species around here. Large campus or the Central Bureaucratic building looks like it's retaining water.

On the Astro is being done well, the business administration being completed so that we're facing the sort of MBAs that American business culture the world (did I say envy?) and Coralville just keeps rosser. What I wouldn't kill everyone didn't have to move would a building, they'd use about all of this is that it is a funny month. It is exactly like September, except the sunsets are a little more orange. You're long to finish your summer and try and enjoy the summer times of change are the fall and spring. This is a major worth his weight his father has down pat - rebirth, yin and yang, alpha beginning and the end, Bob else. But August, August is peace and frisbee. Course, one box has it, probably my toothbrush.

they were friends. Dahmer's story had checked out as far as they could check it out.

"There was nothing to raise the suspicion of foul play," Eggert said. After leaving the apartment, one officer reported to headquarters that the incident involved "intoxicated Asian, naked male. Was returned to his sober boyfriend."

Later, when one officer reported to the dispatcher that they completed the assignment and were available, he said, with more laughter, "It will be a minute. My partner is going to get dressed at the station."

The woman whose daughter and niece initially reported the naked boy later called police to ask what had happened, saying she thought the child was "being raped and molested," the recording showed.

"The boy was naked and bleeding."

She was referred to one of the three officers who investigated and asked him six times whether the naked male was a child. The officer insisted it was not a child.

"Are you positive because this child doesn't even speak English.

My daughter had, you know, dealt with him before, seeing him on the street. You know, catching earthworms," the woman said.

"It's all taken care of, ma'am," the officer said.

He urged residents to report anything unusual that is observed, even if it seems unimportant.

"A lot of times it is the strange information that we get that is the missing piece of our puzzle," he said. "We rely on the people. . . .

We need the public to call us with any information."

SAN FRANCISCO — There they go again.

After enduring a sluggish start for a second straight season, the San Francisco Giants are suddenly winning in bunches.

"When things are working out, you don't question it. You just kiss the blarney stone," reliever Dave Righetti said.

A 10-3 win Tuesday over the Montreal Expos marked the Giants' 10th straight victory, their longest win streak since August 1982. Despite the streak, the Giants, who were idle Wednesday, remain three games under .500.

"I hope we don't forget that, either," catcher Terry Kennedy said. "Last year we started slowly, too, then we made a run. I hope it's not too late, but it was last year."

San Francisco recovered from a disastrous 1990 start by winning 18 of 20 games during a June boom. But the Giants flattened out and wound up in third place in the NL West at 85-77.

Time and some timely player moves have been the biggest factors in this season's midsummer surge, which has seen the Giants go 23-10 since reaching a low point of 16 games under .500 (25-41) on June 19.

"It's a turned everything around is a 162-game schedule," San Francisco manager Roger Craig said. "We've still got a long ways to go, but we're starting to gain ground. We're healthier, we're getting good pitching, outstanding defense and great hitting.

"I just felt this was going to happen," Craig added. "People said I was crazy, that I was too optimistic, but I just have a good feeling about this team and how it's going to go the rest of the way."

At 48-51, the Giants were within three games of .500 for the first time since April 29, when they were 8-11.

The Giants open an eight-game road trip today against the two NL West rivals standing between them and the Dodgers. San Francisco starts the trip with four games in Cincinnati before going on to New York in 1982.

Kevin Mitchell had a homer during the series opener Monday against Montreal.

Williams, with 21, and Mitchell and Clark, each with 19, are all in the NL top 10 for homers, while Clark's 74 RBI leads the league.

"It's not just the middle of the lineup. When you're in a streak like this, everybody is hitting, everybody is pitching and everybody's playing defense," Williams said.

During the streak, the Giants have scored an average of 5.2 runs per game. They have gotten production from newcomer Darren Lewis, batting .339 as leadoff man since his recall July 12 from Class AAA Phoenix.

Kevin Bass and Jose Uribe are both back in the lineup following their activation last week.

during the month, with 10 homers and 20 RBI.

"It's one of those deals ... where you want to get hot together. If we get hot together, we can do damage in a hurry," first baseman Will Clark said. "That has a lot to do with why we're winning now. The guys in the middle of the lineup are driving in some runs."

Clark and Williams each hit two homers and combined to drive in six runs in Tuesday's victory over the Expos, which capped an 8-0 homestand, only the fifth perfect homestand of six games or more since the Giants moved here from New York in 1982.

BASEBALL

Darling becomes an Athletic

BOSTON — The Oakland Athletics acquired right-hander Ron Darling from the Montreal Expos for minor league pitchers Matt Grott and Russell Cormier.

The Expos had acquired Darling from the New York Mets on July 15. Darling was 5-6 for the Mets and 0-2 for Montreal.

Clancy becomes a Brave

HOUSTON — The Atlanta Braves acquired right-hander Jim Clancy from the Houston Astros for minor league right-hander Matt Turner and a player to be named later. Clancy, 35, was 0-3 with a 2.78 earned run average and five saves for the Astros.

Scott hits the skids

DES MOINES, Iowa — Third baseman Gary Scott has gone from the peak to the pits.

Scott, who was the opening day third baseman for the Chicago Cubs after hitting .400 in spring training, probably will be out for the rest of the regular season with a broken left hand after being hit by a pitch in a AAA game Tuesday.

The Chicago Cubs sent Scott to Iowa on May 18 after his batting average dropped to .165.

Nolan Ryan back on DL

CHICAGO — Nolan Ryan's aching shoulder has landed the 44-year-old Texas Rangers pitching marvel on the disabled list for the second time this year.

The move is effective today and will open a spot on the roster for Bobby Witt, who will pitch against the Chicago White Sox tonight.

It is the second time Ryan has gone on the disabled list since pitching his eighth career no-hitter against Toronto May 1.

Ryan reinjured the shoulder in the sixth inning of Sunday's 10-6 victory over Detroit. Ryan came out of the game but gained credit for his 309th victory. He still managed 10 strikeouts for the fifth time this season and the 212th of his career.

Witt has been on the DL since May 27 with a partially torn right rotator cuff.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

UTEP basketball investigation goes to committee

EL PASO, Texas — Texas-El Paso has sent NCAA investigators reviewing the school's basketball program a report more than 60 pages long to counter allegations of 13 rules violations, university officials said Thursday.

Brad Hovious, the school's athletic director, said he also reviewed a draft of the report before it was submitted this week by Richard Adauto III, an attorney who is administrative assistant to UTEP's president.

"The university's answer, from what I read, is an accurate presentation of what happened in the different instances, so it will be up to the (NCAA Infractions) Committee to decide just how serious the matters are," Hovious said.

The Bullet claims he was 'set up'

DALLAS — The Dallas Cowboys former All-Pro receiver, "Bullet" Bob Hayes, said he has proof he was set up on a cocaine dealing charge in 1978.

Called "the world's fastest human" after winning two gold medals at the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, Hayes pleaded guilty in March 1979 to two counts of selling cocaine.

An affidavit Hayes now displays shows that Ben Kimmell, who received a probated sentence, swears the former player "was not a participant" in the drug deal.

The Athletic Director baton is passed

Iowa Athletic Director Chalmers "Bump" Elliott retired Thursday after spending 21 years at the head of Iowa athletics. During his time at Iowa, the Hawkeyes won 12 NCAA and 29 Big Ten titles.

Elliott spends final day as a Hawkeye working

Chuck Schoffner

Associated Press

IOWA CITY, Iowa — Bump Elliott spent his final days at the University of Iowa in an office bereft of any reminder of its occupant.

A wall where pictures once hung was bare. His bookshelves and desk were cleared of the mementos collected over six decades in college athletics. The family photos were gone, too, packed up and taken home.

All that remained were the files Elliott was passing on to his successor.

But if his office was nearly empty, the legacy Elliott leaves behind bulges with accomplishment. His 21 years as athletic director were a period of unprecedented growth and success at Iowa.

Donations and gate receipts poured into the university's coffers as the Hawkeyes won championships in one sport after another. New facilities were built; older ones were expanded and modernized. Even the football team, once a laughingstock, was rejuvenated and made bowl trips an annual ritual.

And while he never diagrammed a play or blew a whistle in practice, Elliott set the tone during this era of success with his knack for hiring the right coach and his calm but firm approach to running the department.

Now, at the age of 66, he's calling it quits. He announced his retirement in February and officially stepped down yesterday.

During Elliott's tenure, Iowa teams won 12 NCAA and 29 Big Ten Conference championships. Carver-Hawkeye Arena was built, Kinnick Stadium was renovated and expanded to more than 70,000 seats, an indoor practice facility for football and others sports was put up, the Hawkeyes' baseball field was built and an all-weather track and field complex was constructed.

Sellouts were routine at football and basketball games and fund raising took off. In 1976, Iowa fans and alumni contributed $455,000 to the athletic department. Last year, those donations hit $43 million from more than 13,000 contributors.

Elliott is clearly proud of what has transpired. But he's not the kind to brag. Never was, never will be. Modesty permeates his character. He just wants to be remembered as someone who created an environment that allowed his coaches to succeed.

"The most pleasing thing to me would be if we have put together a program that has some tradition to it and has consistency to it," Elliott said. "Where coming to Iowa as a coach or as an administrator is not a stepping stone. It's a job or a position that people would like to say is a plum."

"To be competitive, to be hopefully like a Michigan or a Penn State or an Ohio State, Notre Dame, Southern California, Texas — that have good programs year after year — that would be something I would feel very good about."

And he'd like nothing more than to see the Hawkeyes end under his successor, Bob Bowlsby.

"The best thing that could happen is to have the program not only succeed next year and in the future, but even improve," Elliott said. "That to me is as good a thing as I could think of as far as what we did here."

Elliott has been carrying out his duties faithfully to the end. He's spending his last official day on the job at the Big Ten football kickoff meetings in Chicago. Bowlsby, who has been athletic director at Northern Iowa, also is at those sessions. He'll move into his Iowa office Monday.

Although Elliott will be close by, he won't be looking over Bowlsby's shoulder and won't get involved unless asked. He's confident Bowlsby can handle the job.

"I think the most important thing a person can do or have is the quality of being able to work with people," Elliott said. "And I certainly would suggest that Bob has

Rick James free on bail in sex-torture case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Funk rock artist Rick James was free on bail after spending three weeks in jail on sex-torture charges, an official said Sunday.

James, 43, was released Saturday after posting $500,000 bail, said Los Angeles County Sheriff's Deputy George Ducoulembier. The deputy said James' girlfriend, 21-year-old Tanya Ann Hijazi, who faces related charges, was released on $200,000 bail an hour later.

James and Hijazi were arrested Aug. 2 after a 24-year-old Georgia woman told police they held her hostage at James' Hollywood Hills home July 16-17, tortured her with a hot crack pipe and forced her to perform sex acts.

Carl Lewis runs fastest 100 meters in history

TOKYO (AP) — Carl Lewis, who calls himself the old man of track, ran the fastest 100 meters in history on Sunday.

Lewis, 30, blew past fellow Americans Leroy Burrell and Dennis Mitchell in the final 50 meters and shattered Burrell's world record with a 9.86-second clocking.

"It was the most incredible race of all time," Lewis said. "And the great thing was the old man was able to pull it out."

Burrell's record 9.90 was set in the U.S. Championships two months ago in New York — and he almost went under that time Sunday.

On Sunday, Lewis finished second in 9.85. Mitchell was third in 9.91, and the next three finishers broke 10 seconds — the first time six sprinters broke the 10-second barrier in this same race.

Nokes rips Twins as Yanks win

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Matt Nokes homered twice, giving him 20 for the season, and threw out Dan Gladden twice Thursday as the New York Yankees beat the Minnesota Twins 8-3.

New York ended a four-game losing streak and finished its homestand only 3-7. The Twins lost for only the fourth time in 14 games.

Nokes hit a two-run homer to cap a three-run first off Paul Abbott (3-1), and hit a solo homer on a 3-2 pitch from Mark Guthrie leading off the fifth for an 8-1 lead. It was the fourth two-homer game for Nokes since July 3, and his 20 homers are the most by a Yankees catcher since Thurman Munson hit 20 in 1973.

Greg Cadaret (4-4), making his third start of the season, gave up two runs and six hits in seven innings in his longest outing. Lee Guetterman finished, giving up Shane Mack's 12th home run in the ninth. Lee Klink (8-2), the third Oakland pitcher, won despite giving up the tying run in the eighth. Dennis Eckersley pitched a perfect ninth.

With their sixth victory in seven starts and ninth in the last 11, the A's moved back to within four games of first-place Minnesota in the American League West. The Twins play this weekend in Oakland.

Blue Jays 7, Indians 5

TORONTO (AP) — John Olerud drove in three runs, including a go-ahead sacrifice fly in the seventh inning Thursday as the Toronto Blue Jays rallied and beat the Cleveland Indians 7-5.

With score tied at 5, Devon White and Roberto Alomar hit consecutive singles off Jeff Shaw (0-4).

Shortstop Carlos Baerga missed Joe Carter's grounder for an error, loading the bases, and Jesse Orosco relieved. Olerud then flied to the fence in left and White scored without a throw.

Kelly Gruber followed with a sacrifice fly off Shawn Hillegas, Cleveland's fourth pitcher.

Duane Ward (4-3) pitched two innings of one-hit relief and Tom Henke got three consecutive outs to remain perfect in 22 save opportunities.
