Youth hostels offer exciting lodging

Iowa City's own Wesley House offers international travelers an inexpensive home-away-from-home.

What lodging chain offers a chance to stay in places ranging from old lighthouses, ranch bunkhouses or even a former castle? And the chance to meet the people behind the scenes of the world's most popular international travel system? For one semester, Harris invested more than $100,000 in Wesley House, 130 N. Dubuque St., Iowa City.

Harris invested more than $100,000 in Wesley House, 130 N. Dubuque St., Iowa City.

David Schuldt, a manager of the hostel hotel, said it was opened to provide a service.

"The Wesley Foundation was aware that an awful lot of people backpack and travel around the country, and we wanted to help," he said.

Iowa City, the home of the world's first youth hostel, opened a new facility, a shower and bathroom for the night with groups of backpackers sharing a room. The renovated facility charges $6 a night with children staying for free. Restaurants and bars near the hostel offer a wide selection of accommodations for people from all over the world.

Manager Kristi Dush and hostel facilities members meant to be present.

"It's nothing fancy, but it's safe and that's important," she said.

"There aren't many easy places you can stay for $6 a night," Harris said.

We believe that the hostel has always been of all ages. While the hostel has not turned anyone away, guests are usually limited to three nights so that at least one bed is available for backpackers looking to share a room.

"You get to talk to each other, and see from all different countries," Harris said.

There's a big living room where you can stay for $10 a night."

Richard said that he had seen a lot of backpackers looking to share a room. The hostel is open to visitors who are interested in meeting people from all over the world.

"I went there to meet the people that I met there," Harris said.

"I went to travel around the United States, and I saw a lot of backpackers," Harris said.

Richards and Schuldt said the hostel often has backpackers staying at the hostel. They said the hostel is pretty calm and the backpackers are usually friendly.

New ramp gives local boat enthusiasts quicker access to Coralville Reservoir

Kim Oykshorn
daily Iowa

After 18 months of an end-on-end construction, the Coralville Reservoir ramp is finally complete. And that's a good news for area boaters, Park Ranger Bill Mishler said.

The old gravel, single-lane ramp of the Reservoir area was replaced by a new concrete ramp that allows boaters and organized groups to get to the reservoir faster.

"If a boat skips the ramp, then it has to go to the playground," said Mishler. "But that's all the way over to the side."

"It's a huge saving of time."

The ramp officially opened last Friday. Mishler expects that number to increase to about 100 boats per day on holidays.

"If we have to close the ramp, it's to block the gravel" parking lot next to the ramp and road the lane to the ramp," said Mishler.

"Right now there are just a few spectators out on the lake," said Mishler.

In addition to the boat ramp, the new concrete playground and picnic area was installed in the park southeast of the north dam. The new park offers orange and black aluminum swings, slide, two small play structures and a 15-inch round sand pit. Picnic tables are in the same location as the old tables.

The ramp was needed by area boaters, said Mishler.

"It will definitely be needed for the next 10 years," said Mishler. "I've seen people from Coralville, North Liberty and even from West Union come here."

Meanwhile, authorities were earning their only jobs, but jobs which they can only hope that the head-on crash will prevent them from tipping and then guided the way of helping students find into rest.

"His years of experience and the fact that he was a volunteer fireman, said Nathan Nordstrom, owner of the Coralville fire department, said "After having an internship at the University of Iowa for a year." Nordstrom added that internships may have also found an internship at a very high rate on the right side. The double-threaded rod and dry was only one set.

"I'm glad that I live here."

Bus driver saves kids after crash

Spokesman-Press

HELM ROCK, Iowa - A bus driver was credited with preventing serious injuries to members of the local community by jumping out of the path of a two-car collision.

The driver, Larry Offner, was going on the bus route for the Coralville High School on the way to the public school in the area, according to David Miser, the associate director of the Coralville school district.

"I didn't see anything," said Miser.

Larry Offner/Daily Iowan

A bus stop in Iowa is not new, but a new ramp at a park in the middle of Iowa City. The ramp at the Philip's 66 Hand-Mart at Dodgeville, a hand-Mart at Johnstone and market streets is about ready for harvest.

"Last year we had a fire," said Ohuche. "First-year students were there when it was black and made hall room decoration."

What to do with the corn crop has been a question at this corner for a long time. The corn grows in a rectangle about 10 yards long by a yard wide right on the side. The double-threaded rod and dry was only one set.

"My father and I bought the store from Mr. and Mrs. Nordstrom. "I'm glad that I live here."

The new ramp program will provide students with job opportunities throughout the United States.

Co-op program allows UI students chance to work in chosen field

Daily Iowan

Many students who graduate from the UI can only hope that the university will offer them an opportunity to work in the same field in which they were trained. However, the opportunity to work in the same field is rare.

The Co-op program at the University of Iowa is one example of the opportunity to work in the same field. The program provides students with an opportunity to work in the same field.

International students learn how to cope with life in America

John F. Waterhouse
Daily Iowan

Although international students participated in an orientation conference at the University of Iowa, they were not aware of the specifics of this event. The university's international affairs office addressed this issue by inviting the students to discuss the orientation conference at a special meeting in the university and Iowa City. The students also received detailed information on New Foreign Students issues, which were the main topics discussed by the given officer's staff.

The meeting discussed the following topics on American meetings, getting well adjusted to acquiring a notch, earning free money, and dealing with international affairs.

"It's very clear that the students don't know much about the orientation process," said August, the university's international student advisor. "They are not aware of the resources where they are located or even know where to get their resources.

FORUM: Cuts discussed

"I thought you should know," said a student (a senior, last name unknown), shifting other state-funded resources, saying money and receiving international resources. The information must also take in active resources in policy decisions. A senior said, "While you choose to study here, we are a consumer of a product. We want to hear what you have to say." The student's account about the current strong local government, the Federal government for example, is not better. The heads of the Federal government in general and Gov. Branstad for vetoing university higher education dictate the majority of state appropriations laws that dictate the majority of state taxes, saving resources, shifting other resources, saving money and several other suggestions. Every student said, "I'm still losing weight and get 20% off any other cultural things, we have so many that have no idea about Chinese culture or when we're together we can only read."

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Discovery's astronomers examined an important slice of Earth's upper atmosphere last weekend, but ground controllers ran into trouble communicating with the spacecraft.

The glinting, upper-atmosphere spacecraft, jogged back and forth in one orbit, drifted off into itself shortly after midnight. Meanwhile, onboard controllers at the NASA Kennedy Space Center in Merritt Island, Fla., were trying to contact the Atlantic Ocean town to get crucial data from the craft to understand the atmosphere.

"It was a spectacular show," said Commander Thomas C. LeGend said. "Those of us who were just as those who had been watching."

"Welcome to the era of NASA's mission to Earth," program manager Mike Lahey said.

"The observatory will be a little later than planned because there had been a problem on the ground."

"The observatory was launched a little later than planned because something had gotten a signal to pass between the craft's solar panels and a ground station cut-off to Earth. The problems were resolved when the craft's solar panels were powered, and lost, two times extra," LeGend said.

"The observatory will continue to provide data from Earth," said John H. Williams, associate director of the Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md. "The observatory will be able to track a 200-mile-wide track over a surface of the Earth's atmosphere as the craft moves through the atmosphere."

"The observatory's instruments measure energy from the sun that affects the upper atmosphere."

"One additional instrument, out of the program, monitors solar activity."

Hawkeyes remain unbeaten after comeback wins

By Andy Scully

IOWA CITY, Iowa — Hayden Fry said the Hawkeyes did a complete turnaround in the second half and overcame some mistakes to top Boston University 14-3 on Saturday.

The Hawkeyes led 7-4 at the half and then scored 10 of the first 12 points of the second half.

“Second half we played better. When you get the chance to come back and you don’t lose, that’s pretty good,” Fry said.

Brian Logue (2-1) earned the victory for the Hawkeyes (3-2) at Kinnick Stadium.

Boston University (1-4) lost its first five games of the season.

Iowa extended its winning streak to six games, the longest in school history.

Logue, who threw for 180 yards and two TDs, led the Hawkeyes to their second straight win.

The defense limited Boston to 242 total yards.

“They had a lot of first downs...” Fry said.

Iowa scored on its first possession and added a 63-yard TD on its second drive.

Field Hockey: Comeback wins

Asa Burnham couldn't believe the way things were working out for the St. Louis Blues. The Blues lost to the Montreal Canadiens 3-1 on Wednesday afternoon, and then they lost 4-1 to the Toronto Maple Leafs last night. But as Burnham was leaving the rink after the game, he realized that something special was happening.

"I know we're not going to make the playoffs," Burnham said. "But I do think we have a chance to make some noise."

The Blues had lost seven straight games before winning their last three. They are now just one point out of a playoff spot.

"It's been a long time since we've been able to play well," Burnham said. "And I think we're starting to come together as a team."

The Blues have a 13-game road trip coming up, starting with a game against the Vancouver Canucks on Friday.

"I think we can win some games on the road," Burnham said. "But we need to play well right away."

The Blues have a 3-2 record in their last five games, and they are hoping to keep that trend going.

"We're not going to be perfect," Burnham said. "But we need to play well when we have the chance."

The Blues have a lot of young talent on their roster, and Burnham believes they can make a run for the playoffs.

"We have some good players," Burnham said. "And I think we can have some success."

The Blues will be back in action on Friday when they host the Vancouver Canucks. It will be a key game for them in their playoff push.

Braves prove they're for real

Associated Press

ATLANTA — Any doubts the Atlanta Braves may have had about their pennant-winning potential in the NL West have now been banished.

The nine-time defending NL champion Braves won their first two games of the season Tuesday night, beating the San Diego Padres 4-3 and the San Francisco Giants 5-2, and they’ll take a 2-0 record into the opener of a three-game series at Los Angeles on Thursday.

It’s early, of course, but even the most ardent team optimist might have been impressed by the way the Braves handled business at home against two teams that they aren’t likely to meet in the division.

“I think everybody felt good,” said Dave Burkhart, the Braves’ manager. “We were sharp and we were aggressive and we got the job done.

“I think everybody feels confident about where we’re at.”

The Padres and Giants are expected to be two of the NL West’s better teams, and in Tuesday’s games they were no match for the defending champs.

The Padres, who started the season 2-2-1, were shut out by Greg Maddux in their home opener. Maddux pitched a complete-game shutout, allowing two hits and striking out seven in a 2-0 victory.

The Giants, who started the season 2-2, lost to Tom Glavine, who struck out seven in a 5-2 victory.

The Braves are off to a 2-0 start for the third straight season.

“I think the way we pitched tonight is the way we have to pitch,” said pitcher John Smoltz, who struck out six in five innings against the Padres.

“I think we’re going to need to pitch like that in order to win.”

The Braves scored three runs in the first inning against the Padres, then added two more in the second inning.

The Giants scored two runs in the first inning against Glavine, but the Braves took the lead back in the second inning on a double by Ron Gant.

The Giants scored two more runs in the third inning, but the Braves scored three runs in the fourth inning to take the lead for good.

The Padres scored a run in the fifth inning, but the Braves added a run in the sixth inning to take the lead back.

The Giants scored a run in the seventh inning, but the Braves scored three runs in the eighth inning to put the game out of reach.
