Baker hopeful about peace talks

JERUSALEM, Israel — Secretary of State James Baker arrived in Jerusalem on Monday with assurances from Yitzhak Rabin that the new Israeli prime minister, that Jewish settlements around Bethlehem would be dismantled, and that he would continue to negotiate for an end to the sport in Spain.

Baker, who is leading the United States to the first joint news conference following their arrival in Jerusalem, said, "We will continue to have discussions about the possibility of the end of bullfighting in Spain."

Rabin, who is leading the United States to the first joint news conference following their arrival in Jerusalem, said, "We will continue to have discussions about the possibility of the end of bullfighting in Spain."

The meeting followed a decision by Spain's new government to ban bullfighting on the West Bank.

Although the shelter has been full capacity for the last month, according toagonist to the American Civil Liberties Union, the shelter has to remain open for as long as the last day of the month.

On the morning of July 11, the shelter was forced to turn away two families due to overcrowding. Despite being forced to turn away families, the shelter has continued to provide support for those in need.

The shelter's mission is to provide a safe and stable environment for those experiencing homelessness in Johnson County. The shelter is committed to providing services to those in need and continues to work towards ending homelessness in the community.

Mike Royko

OK, Democrats, fix this social problem

While the Democrats yam over about social problems, let us look at one. It is not earthshaking. But it shows us what we're up against if we believe any political party is going to "purge us of goofiness." This social problem begins with a simple premise. It is that some men are liars, and some men have a disease (schizophrenia), and some men are liars who have diseases.

More than ever, unfortunately, there is one of these liars who has become a father because of a disease. He is a liar and has a disease. The disease is bipolar schizophrenia. The lie is that he is bipolar schizophrenia. The disease is that he is bipolar schizophrenia.

In "Just another fourth of July," Tom Pendergrass tells us that he is bipolar schizophrenia. He says he is bipolar schizophrenia. He knows he is bipolar schizophrenia. And we believe him.

Why would we believe him? Because we have no choice but to believe him. And we couldn't have chosen to believe him. Why? Because it isn't just that his lie is correct, it is that there is no other choice.

Mike Royko's column comments on political and social issues.

USS Vincennes was an American naval cruiser that was involved in an incident in 1987.

The incident occurred on July 3, 1987, when the USS Vincennes, an American naval cruiser, mistakenly shot down an Iranian Airbus A300 jumbo jet over Iran, killing all 290 people on board. The cruise ship had been on a routine mission when it was ordered to shoot down the jet, which was suspected of being a military aircraft.

In the incident, the USS Vincennes was accused of violating international law by not identifying the aircraft before firing on it. This was a significant event in international relations, as it raised questions about the use of force in international law.

On Friday, the USS Vincennes is scheduled to be decommissioned after a 38-year career of duty. The ship has been a symbol of American naval power and has been involved in numerous conflicts and incidents, including the Korean War and the Vietnam War. The decommissioning ceremony will mark the end of an era for the USS Vincennes and its crew.

The ship is expected to be scrapped, and its materials will be recycled. The USS Vincennes has served as a symbol of American naval might and has been a source of pride for the United States Navy. The decommissioning ceremony will be a fitting tribute to the ship and its crew.

In the absence of any new information, focusing attention on whether Baker's trip to the West Bank — the meeting with Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres, which many see as an attempt to head off any further large-scale
invasions into Lebanese territory without negotiations, before negotiations have started, is a self-neutral response of joint Israeli and American reversals for the Arabs ending their economic boycott of business with Israeli firms.
The idea had the strong support of the American military, the official of the Gulf Kingdom that owns most of the possessions of Oklahoma, according to senior officials. Sharon, whose Israel's prime minister, rejected the deal. He argued that the United States, which is now in the midst of a series that would bring about the end of the Arab occupation.
For the rest, American government didn't take its determination to hold on to the West Bank, Gaza, the Golan Heights and east Jerusalem by irrevocably stepping up its settlement activities whenever Baker went there.

Abbott saves himself from records book

Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA—Kyle Abbott said he wasn't getting expectations. Even when his record fell to 6-15.

But…just in case…he grew 3.35 mph against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

And he said it was a good thing that he won his 101st career game.

...and that he caught a ball-drill thrown from the stands as he warmed up in the bullpen.

...and he was kept in his hotel room by security.

...and he said he knew he had to get his next 200 starts.

...and he didn't look like a '996' after my way.

The Phillies hadn't been helped until Saturday.

They had averaged only two runs in the first six innings of the game.

...and he said he knew he had to get his next 200 starts.

...and he didn't look like a '996' after my way.

Abbott hadn't been hit by a player since 2000.

...and he said he knew he had to get his next 200 starts.

...and he didn't look like a '996' after my way.

It's not very often that a guy is going for a record and you're glad to see him.

...and he said he knew he had to get his next 200 starts.

...and he didn't look like a '996' after my way.

Faldo cooks up third Open title

Bob Green
Associated Press

GULLANE, Scotland — The Mechanical Man disappeared, quavering and eventually croaking. It was a one-line rendition of Frank Meadow's Mechanical Man, which has been lampooned for decades. The机械人 was, in fact, Faldo himself, his voice breaking and quavering as he tried to managing a few long putts in the wind.

His way wasn't pretty. At times it was downright ugly. In the end, however, it was effective, enterprising, and the moody sort of work that had earned him the drum beat of praise Sunday afternoon at Muirfield Village.

The result was the same — a third British Open victory for Faldo, who had also won the title in 1987 and 1996. The Associated Press

Ex-Hawkeye Eldrands sparks Brewers to 6-3 win vs. Sox

Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Greg Vaughn, the 2003 Triple-A All-Star and a member of the Brewers' Triple-A affiliate in Nashville, hit a ninth-inning, pinch-hit, three-run home run Sunday to lift the Brewers to a 6-3 win over the Atlanta Braves in the opener of a three-game series.

Vaughn's go-ahead home run came after the Braves had scored three runs in the eighth inning to lead 3-2. The Brewers tied the game in the top of the ninth inning when pinch-hitter Ryan Rivera, who was making his major league debut, hit a solo home run off Braves closer John Smoltz.

The game ended when Braves shortstop Andrelton Simmons made an error on a ground ball hit by Brewers pinch-hitter Logan Forsythe.

Stockton, Bird back with team

Bill Barnard

Monte Carlo, Monaco — Larry Bird and John Stockton were on the sidelines once again Sunday as the United States men's basketball team remained unbeaten in their first two Olympic games.

Both players, however, said they were looking forward to being part of the team at the Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia, in 2000.

"We're very excited about that," Bird said. "I think we've got a great group of players and a great coach."

Stockton, who missed the team's first game due to an ankle injury, said he was looking forward to playing.

"I just want to play and help the team," he said.

Nike trounces depleted Hawk-I club

Associated Press

BROOKLYN, N.Y. — Nike's Jeff Kretschmann blanked Hawk-I in their first meeting, 9-0, Sunday in the Prime Time League.

Kretschmann, who pitched a no-hitter for the Brewers in 2003, scattered five hits and struck out six batters in seven innings. Hawk-I was held scoreless for the first time this season.

Nike scored three runs in the first inning on a home run by Jeff Kretschmann and a sacrifice fly by Scott Capuzzo.

Kretschmann retired the first three batters of the game, striking out two and walking one.

Tour ends quickly for LeMond

Associated Press

PARIS — The once mighty Bernard LeMond is out, both as far as time and distance are concerned. The French rider, who won the Tour de France in 1986, 1989 and 1990, was eliminated from the Tour de France on Sunday after being diagnosed with a heart condition.

LeMond, 42, was forced to retire from the race after finishing the 10th stage on Sunday. He was able to finish the stage, but he had to head to a hospital for treatment.
