Equality struggle remains an ideal, according to King

Two years ago today the United States commemorated Roe vs. Wade decision that legalized abortion. The anniversary of that landmark decision is significant because it marks the beginning of a period in the American legal system when the law was not only written by women, but also enforced by them. Today, as we celebrate this milestone, we must remember the sacrifices made by so many to secure reproductive rights for all.

The anniversary of Roe vs. Wade is an opportunity to recommit ourselves to the ideals of equality and justice that underpin our nation. It is a time to reflect on the progress that has been made, and to chart a course for a future where reproductive autonomy is a right for all.

Today, we honor the women who fought for our freedom, and we stand together in solidarity with those who continue to fight for reproductive justice. Let us use this day as a reminder of our commitment to uphold the principles of Roe vs. Wade, and to work towards a world where every woman, regardless of race, class, or economic status, has the right to make decisions about her body and her future.

Wichita 79 — The Clinton administration today announced plans to bring together leaders from around the world to discuss the challenges facing refugees and immigrants. The meeting, which will be held in Kansas City, is expected to bring together representatives from government agencies, non-profit organizations, and academic institutions from around the globe.

The announcement comes as the United States continues to grapple with the issue of immigration and refugee resettlement. While the government has taken steps to address these challenges, many believe more needs to be done to ensure that refugees and immigrants are treated with dignity and respect.

The meeting is expected to focus on ways to improve the process of refugee resettlement, as well as to promote greater understanding and acceptance of immigrants in U.S. society. The Clinton administration is committed to creating a welcoming environment for all who seek a better life in the United States.

Washington, D.C. — President Bill Clinton today announced plans to retire as president in 2020, the year he will be 70 years old. The president, who has been in office since 1993, said he has made the decision to retire after much consideration.

"I have thought about this for a long time," Clinton said in a statement. "I have come to the conclusion that I do not want to run for another term."

The announcement comes as speculation about Clinton's future has intensified. While some have said he could run for a third term, others have suggested he might seek a different role in public service.

Clinton's retirement would mark the end of an era for the Democratic Party and for American politics. His presidency has been marked by both successes and controversies, and his legacy will likely be a subject of debate for years to come.

Rawlings acknowledges vigor, diversity of UI

Leasy Kennedy

The Daily Iowan

Rawlings acknowledged the vigor and diversity of University of Iowa students and faculty during the recent Faculty Symposium, "Fighting for Quality and Diversity," which was held on March 25th. The event was a forum for faculty members to discuss issues related to quality and diversity at the university.

"The university is a very vibrant place," said Rawlings, "with a lot of diversity in terms of background, culture, and academic interests. We need to continue to foster this diversity and ensure that all students feel welcomed and supported here." He added that the university has made significant efforts to increase diversity in recent years, including the creation of the Office of Diversity and Inclusion, which has been working to promote a more inclusive campus environment.

Rawlings also highlighted the contributions of UI students, noting their hard work and dedication to their studies.

"Our students are some of the brightest and most talented individuals in the world," he said. "They bring a wealth of knowledge and experience to our campus and are a crucial part of our community. We are proud to have them here and will continue to support their academic and personal growth in every way possible."

The new committee will advocate campus diversity. President Williams blasted the UI for its lack of diversity. "We hope the slogan is true," said Williams. "We feel very strongly about the UI community to take part in improving the diversity."

The committee will do its best to have a variety of viewpoints, Williams said. "The committee will also be ready to have a variety of viewpoints," Williams said. "A committee of this nature, which is made up of women, men and minorities, has the potential to do great things." The committee will do its best to have a variety of viewpoints, Williams said. The Iowa City-based midwest met is an informal work session Thursday night night of school spirit and long-range school finance plans that the board will need to address.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the board recommended forming a five-member committee, consisting of the school corporation treasurer, the building commission chairman, the principal, the business manager, and a representative of the board of education, to study the long-range financial situation of the school corporation.

The committee will be responsible for preparing a report to be presented to the board at its next meeting on March 1.

Collecting the government out of unemployment benefits can be a fast track to fame, fortune and even jail time, according to federal authorities.

The Iowa Department of Employment and Training is one of the 10 states with the highest percentage of people who have applied for unemployment benefits. Reports released by the Department of Justice revealed that in Iowa alone, 6,900 individuals were found guilty of committing fraud.

There were 1,050 cases of fraud, involving $4,092 in total. Of the 14 individuals charged, 9 have already been convicted and 5 are still under investigation.

According to the FBI, fraud is a nationwide problem. The agency reported that in 1992, $200,000, and for the term beginning June 1, 1993, and ending May 31, 1994.

Clinton to overturn 'gag rule'

Clinton plans to end restrictions on abortion counseling in federally funded clinics.

Pro-choice advocates, however, said it might be too late. 'The gag rule has been in effect for years,' said Karen W. Struckhoff, an attorney with the American Civil Liberties Union. "It's time to act now."

In Washington, D.C., on the first day of the Administration, President Clinton announced that he would end the gag rule on counseling for abortion clinics.

"We are announcing today that we will take steps to end the gag rule," Clinton said. "This has been a matter of public policy for many years."

The gag rule, which was first enacted in 1983, prohibited the use of federal funds to counsel women on abortion. It was first invoked by the Reagan Administration and then by the Bush Administration.

"We are ending the gag rule," Clinton said. "We are ending the gag rule."

The gag rule was a key issue in the campaign and has been a matter of controversy for many years. It was first enacted in 1983 by the Reagan Administration and then by the Bush Administration.

failed to launch. But then the halcion misfired. You reneged on and blamed it on—who else—the Serbian policies, but you were the塞尔维亚 policy. Letters of resignation flooded the Inaugural Committee, and the Senate was filling up over the issue.

And while we watched the Senators-surrounded by the band leader of the White House and a wide variety of others—wondering in what manner they would be able to render the Millennium Games to the world.

Some options would allow United States to sendSerbs a message.

The most telling fact about the disintegration of Yugoslavia is that it has been the most predictable of all the 20th century's crises. This predictable path has been the result of a series of missteps by the Serbs, and the result is a disintegration that was foretold by the Serbs' own earlier failures. This article will examine the causes of the fall of Yugoslavia and how the United States can use this knowledge to send a message to the Serbs.

In 1989, the United States passed the Helms-Burton Act, which froze the assets of any individual who had directly or indirectly engaged in gross human rights violations in Cuba. The act was a response to the ongoing Cuban dictatorship, and it was seen as a symbol of U.S. determination to use economic sanctions as a tool of foreign policy. The act was controversial, and it was widely criticized as being too weak to have any real impact on the Cuban regime. However, it was also widely seen as a symbol of the United States' commitment to using economic sanctions as a tool of foreign policy.

The operation provided about 10 days' worth of fuel for the 1,500 or more people aboard, said Lt. Brian Amsden, a supply officer from Honolulu.

In the Washington, D.C., headquarters department, Thursday's operation involved about $3,000,000 worth of jet engines and fuel, and an estimated 1,000 gallons of aviation and diesel fuel, and about 12 people. The cost: Credit: Will Gore, 46, of San Diego, head of Kitty Hawk's supply department, said the carrier's inventory totals around $325 million.

Salvage tug seen burning super tanker

SINGAPORE (AP) - A super tanker carrying 17 million gallons of crude oil was ablaze and leaking oil after slamming into another ship off the northern tip of Sumatra Island on Thursday.

It was not immediately clear how the vessel collided or how much oil was discharged into the sea. One expert said the small hole could have been prevented and demonstrated the need for tighter law regulation of such accidents.

The spill was the fourth major tanker accident since Dec. 2, and the third in less than three weeks, to toss the oil industry in doubt more than twice the 70 million gallons of oil spilled by the Exxon Valdez in Alaska last year.

The tanker laden with oil from the Manila Navigator, was registered in Singapore and owned by the Amsterdam-based Royal Dutch Shell.

The seven victims were all crew members from the registered tanker Sanko, which was employed by the Danish company to ferry ships.

Singapore, Japan plan "virtual reality" theme parks

SINGAPORE (AP) - Disembodied in rented polyester suits, but the theme parks planned by Japan and Singapore are promised by a new technology that will bring them in much smaller playgrounds.

Using "virtual reality," the high-tech equipment that will send users into a movie or game in their own living rooms, will revolutionize the amusement business worldwide.

SWIMMING: Diving team depleted

From the 8-14 Bethlehem, Pa. Times, the Bethlehem Swimmers have lost four of their five diving teammates due to injuries. The team has been depleted to the point where they have only one qualified diver, John Miller, who is a freshman. The coach, Jim Delaney, said that the team's performance in the swimming and diving events has been greatly affected by the loss of their diving talent. Miller, who is a freshman, has been a key contributor to the team's success in the pool.

Hawkeyes to face Illinois, Illinois St. by Mike Welsh

The 4-4, 3.4 Hawk women's swimming team will face Big Ten rivals Illinois and non-conference opponent Illinois State at the Illinois Institutional today and Saturday in Champaign.

This meet will be held at a time to be announced.

This meet will be held at a time to be announced.

At the meet at 6-9 in the Big Ten and 6-9 in dual meets, no. 1 seat in the Illinois swimming coach is a man with a strong team. "We're going to try to keep it together. By the time we're done with this season, we'll be ready to go," said Coach Term.

In the past, we haven't won this meet," said Wheeler. "I'd like to continue doing what we've done the past and keep it together." Wheeler will be automatic this weekend, the Hawkeyes' squash super.

Patriots convince Parcells to return

Howard Ashman
Associated Press
BOSTON — The word "transition" was never mentioned Tuesday night when Bill Parcells was introduced as New England Patriots coach. It was the kind of night people who played key roles in the Patriots' 3-11 season look forward to: no surprises, no changes of heart.

"I saw the (assistant) coaching staff tonight for the first time," said owner James Orthwein. "If you want to call it a transition, so be it. But I could not care less." New England Patriots owner James Orthwein introduced Jimmy Johnson as new Patriot coach Tuesday night in a ceremony that was long overdue but just right the way Orthwein, who has been in Indianapolis for the last 14 months, described it.

But Parcells had accepted, then rejected, the New York Giants coaching position after the 1991 season but had few doubts about New England.

"I told him I wasn't interested in anything," said Parcells. "But he was relentless. He was relentless. He was relentless. He was relentless. I told him I wasn't interested. But he was determined to bring a championship to New England." Parcells is expected to be introduced as a news conference.

"It's like going to the schoolyard when you're a kid," said Tom Landry, who turned the Dallas Cowboys into Super Bowl champions. "He's kept three promises to retain minority ownership through the Heyward-Bey - Blythe lawsuit. He undertook minority-bypass support for his team. He committed himself to national TV, [and] I started feeling good last July." Sen. "We're going to be a team, from top to bottom. Anyone else that has that agenda... won't be around long." Parcells said he was flattered by New York fan support for his own agenda before he accepted the New England job.

Jackson shows off hip, vows to open with Sox

Joe Mandel
Associated Press
CHICAGO — In his first day as a professional baseball coach, Pat Patterson was introduced in a chandelier-adorned upstairs room of a fancy downtown hotel.

"I'm going to try to do my job here," said Patterson, who was named Monday night as the White Sox first base coach. "I'm going to do everything that Bill (Jackson) taught me when I worked with Chicago in 1986 and 1987."

"I'll play the word champion ship because that's what I'm trying to do," said Patterson. "The hope is that we can go as far as the last place team and see what we can do." Jackson said he would take a coaching position elsewhere if Patterson was not interested.

The Daily Iowan

The UI Museum of Art will hold a reception Saturday night in conjunction with the debut of a "photography exhibit called "Instincts" the collection of German photographer Claude Cahun.

The museum, located on North Hawthorne Drive in Iowa City will hold the reception from 6-9 p.m. The event is open to the public and no tickets will be given.

The exhibition comprises 72 photographs, including works by Willers, Stieglitz, and Dorothea Lange. The museum hopes that the exhibit will "enable visitors to become more aware of the ways in which photography has been used throughout history to document and understand the world and its inhabitants.

Waller and Koontz dominate hardback bestsellers

Associated Press

Here are the best-selling books as of this week, based on data from Publishers Weekly. Reprinted with permission.

HARDCOVER FICTION
1. "The Bridges of Madison County," Robert James Waller (Hawthorne)
2. "Steel Tapestry," Anne Rice (Knopf)
3. "Savannah," Stephen King (Viking)
5. "Vernon Subban's* " (Littman-Beran)
9. "Great Expectations," David Roberts (Poetch)

MOUVES

"Body of Evidence" surprisingly suspenseful

Tasha Robinson

Another day, another look at Madison County. After the media hypes over "the guy that's too much of a poseur by far, the media and the public were quickly disillusioned by his actual practice of photography. The presence of Cahun's work in the museum is somewhat unexpected, as she was known for her theatrical performances and not for her photography. However, the museum hopes that this exhibit will encourage visitors to explore the intersections of art and photography further.

"Instincts" is on view Saturday through Monday at the UI Museum of Art in the UI Arts Center. Admission is free and open to the public.
Dangdippers to release new CD

The Bisman The Daily Iowa

There are two songs on "We never make sense," which very accurately describes the Dangdippers, new album. Theseeventually ruin "We never make sense," but, for that matter, one of their live shows. They have that strange, good music out of some of the most diverse, and unique, genres and eras.

The Dangdippers will be displaying that trend Saturday, Jan. 23 at Iowas, 355 E. Washington St.

The release of their new CD, the first followers in 1989, wins between stations (Dog Gone). Opening the show for the Dangdippers will be the Barneys and former Iowa, now

Minneapolis-based Be Dam.
