Anti-abortion activist charged with stalking
CHARLESTON, S.C. - A man was arrested Wednesday night in connection with a clinic that performs abortions.

Cathy Ann Rider was charged at 10 p.m. with stalking according to Ms. McGuire, director of the Charleston County Women's Clinic. She was jailed pending a bond hearing today in the magistrate court of Charleston.

Rider, 41, is accused of telling Ms. McGuire during a phone call on March 20 to get protection and get a federal background check on him.

Police said it was an apparent case of harassment and stalking of a practice that deals with abortions.

At the time of her arrest, Rider was free on bond on a charge of harassment and stalking of advertising and abortion harassment, a $2,500 bond.

FCC adopts guideline to reduce cable rates

WASHINGTON - Millions of cable television viewers may see a 10 percent lower bill next season, as the Federal Communications Commission approved guidelines on cable rates.

The 10 percent decrease is the maximum price a cable TV owner can expect to see in the future. The guidelines bar unreasonable increases in cable TV service, which typically includes sports and satellite-fed channels such as ESPN and HBO, and the Discovery Channel.

President Clinton requested that the FCC's Order for pre-pay cable services be reviewed, and the Commission said it would make necessary changes pending the review.

The bill will apply to all million subscribers who pay more than $10 for cable systems. The guidelines include two restrictions: cable TV owners cannot increase their rates more than 10 percent in a given year; and cable TV owners cannot increase their rates more than twice a year.

In South Carolina, the bill will be 15 percent higher than what is being charged today.

Cable rates

On Thursday, the Federal Communications Commission approved decreases in cable monthly service bills. The bill will average $2.25 for 2,000 cable monthly service subscriptions.

The bill will be $1.34 for 15 million subscriptions.

The bill is expected to pass the House this afternoon, with the Senate vote expected later today.
Hawks to have strong following in Atlanta

Terry Collins

The Daily Iowan

When the Iowa women's basketball team takes the floor in the Dome on Saturday, there shouldn't be surprise to see a crowd of black and gold in the stands, as many devoted fans will make the trip again as they have every year since 1980. "We're going to cheer on the Hawkeyes," said Mary Monahan, a sophomore who is in her first season. "I think it's wonderful for the team, because we're having three出生es who have committed to playing for Iowa, and it shows that they're dedicated to their school."

According to Mary Montgomery, a sophomore who has attended the team's basketball games since her first year, the Hawkeyes have a great success with the fans of the team. "We're going to watch it all the time and show up to all the games," she said.

Now for the Sweet Sixteen, the Hawkeyes are expected to have a strong following in Atlanta. "That's how we've been at Iowa, like a big family," Montgomery said. "We'll have a great experience at the game and will definitely have some fun today."

The Hawks are expected to have a strong following in Atlanta, and the fans of the team are excited for the opportunity to watch the team compete. "We're going to cheer on the Hawks and support them all the way," said Mary Montgomery.

Poll: UI students prefer beer, spend $20 per week in bars

Dave Stefan
The Daily Iowan

This book isn't a hit among most students here at the University of Iowa. In fact, it isn't even enough to purchase a week's worth of beer. But if asked, the book will unfortunately come true for many UI students, however, given the price of a book is often similar to the price of a week's worth of beer.

According to a recent study of the University of Iowa, the average UI student spends $20 each week in bars. This is an issue that is facing the University of Iowa, and it is one that is being addressed.

This week, the University of Iowa will be hosting a seminar that is designed to help students understand the implications of their behavior. The seminar will be held in the Union and will be open to all students.

The seminar will cover a variety of topics, including the impact of alcohol use on academic performance, the effects of alcohol use on mental health, and the legal and social consequences of alcohol use. The seminar will also provide students with the opportunity to discuss their own experiences with alcohol use and to learn from the experiences of others.

In addition to the seminar, the University of Iowa will be providing resources to help students who may be struggling with alcohol use. These resources include counseling services, support groups, and information about treatment options.

The University of Iowa is committed to helping students make healthy choices and to providing the support they need to succeed. We encourage all students to attend the seminar and to take advantage of the resources available to them.

Charges of stalling, incompetence exchanged during House gridlock

DES MOINES - The Iowa House ended its gridlock again Thursday as Republicans and Democrats traded accusations of stalling and inexperience.

Democrats charged Republicans with not being serious about stalling and incompetence.

Republicans charged Democrats with not being serious about stalling and incompetence.

The exchange underscored the partisan tensions in a chamber controlled by Republicans by only a 55-45 margin.

This is another step in the ongoing political battle between the House Democratic Leader Bob Kirkland, a Democrat, and House Majority Leader David Young, a Republican.

Young, who is running for governor, said that Kirkland is preventing the House from conducting business.

A show of hands in two classes is the usual way professors determine if students are awake. Last week Thursday afternoon, revealed that only 12 percent of students at the University of Iowa were awake seven or more hours of sleep the previous night. They are falling short of the seven to eight-hours needed for optimal performance. Most professors use this method to find out if their students are sleeping enough.

Water quality improves; crop yields increase

Summary

State policies for protecting water resources and precision farming were elaborated by a state-University of Iowa and Iowa State University research team at a recent meeting of the National Association of Agriculture Deans.

Water quality includes the reduction of agricultural runoff. The reduction of runoff is essential because the water quality is affected by chemical, biological, and physical factors. The management of water resources is crucial for the protection of water quality. The study concluded that Iowa's stringent policies could increase the water quality by reducing chemical, biological, and physical factors. The management of water resources is crucial for the protection of water quality.

Fledging rock career cropped by 'Kumbaya'

by LORI PARSONS

When you hear the name 'Kumbaya' today, it is the song that black people sing at a talent show. But long before it was remade by The Tokens, 'Kumbaya' was a staple of the rock and roll circuit. It was a popular song among black people, with its catchy chorus and simple lyrics. The song became a hit in the late 1960s, and it was performed by a variety of artists, including the Tokens, who made it famous.

Refugee evacuations suspended from Srebrenica

FALSA, Bosnia Herzegovina (AP) — Tons of thousands of desperate refugees were forced to flee from Srebrenica after the suspension of refugee evacuations was suspended. The suspensions were announced following a meeting to get out for the first time several thousands trapped to death.

Researchers are working on a new model that will predict the number of refugees who will be forced to flee. The model is based on the assumption that the number of refugees who will be forced to flee will increase as the number of refugees in the country's political context.

The Supreme Soviet standing legislature seeks to relieve Bosnian Yeltsin's March 20 decree ordering a referendum on who should wield supreme power—president or parliament. The Supreme Soviet's liberal factions, which control a majority of Parliament's seats, already vetoed the decree and the court previously ruled in a file that was partially uncontentious.

For the 247-member Supreme Soviet to accept additional rulings that could provide legal ground for blocking Yeltsin from calling a plebiscite on April 21 to compete with one ordered by the Congress, Yeltsin's allies, however, have said the president was no longer trying toward holding a rival plebiscite.

The Supreme Soviet also asked the court to overturn earlier Yeltsin decree granting autonomy to the essentially illegal, but powerful, regional "parliamentary representatives" in the country's federal structure.

The ISA Board of Governors said in a statement that the court's decision to uphold the Yeltsin decree was an "unprecedented breach of the Constitution and an attempt to undermine the authority of the ISA Board of Governors.

North Korea found in violation of nuclear treaty

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — North Korea is in violation of an agreement on negotiating nuclear matters, the International Atomic Energy Agency declared today. It ordered the North to the U.N. Security Council to hold a special session to discuss the matter.

The IAEA Board of Governors also cited its failure of the ISA Board of Governors proposal for a referendum.

"What made this group special is that there's a Entwicklung spade of age, from issue, Lenin's 72, to Choco Lobo's 32. From older people you get a giving up of vanity, and maybe you say things in a simpler way. From youth you get something full of heart and strong. We both know..."

Hawkeyes return to site of past relay successes

Doug Cappey Daily Iowan

The Iowa women's track squad returns to action today and Saturday when it travels to the West Coast Relay Meet in Cone Denniston, Mo.

The Hawkeyes will be facing stiff competition from numerous Midwestern teams. Iowa, however, has always competed well at the Relays, taking two events a year ago on the 4 x 100 and 4 x 400 relays.

Junior LeRoy Knowles' tempo probably won't experience the same success they faced last year, as they should be able to match some if not all of their successes.

Leading the way in the Florida Relays, which housed two divisions of competition, was the distance running trio of Ann Joense and Tracy O'Keefe in the 3000 meters. Both of them were reportedly more than $10,000.00.

The 200 and 400 events were dominated by the Florida State runners, who finished second and third with 11:35.8 and 11:40.6, respectively

Japan reportedly more than $10,000.00.

Punk gods and devils anthologized in series

Punk forefathers the Ramones are one of the acts featured on Rhino Records' O.B.I. O.B.I., a collection of all the punk and its predecessors present-day alternative and garage music.

Sonic Youth The Mystic Theater will debut its production of the witty, rollicking musical "La Bête." Set in a 17th-century French court, "La Bête" is a madcap play about modern audiences mind. It was written by David Henry Hwang and opened on Broadway in 1991, where it won an Obie Award. "La Bête" is the story of an evil, disfigured artist who, due to his unbridled passion for beauty, has no choice but to destroy his opponent. His enemies are all beautiful, but with the aid of the artist's wife, he is able to destroy them all.

"La Bête" is a perfect play to perform in a modern setting, as it highlights the conflict between beauty and reality. The cast is comprised of some of the best dramatic actors in the region, including X. Again, a notable character in the longest running play in the world. The play is directed by the Church, and it's a must-see for all theatre fans.
